INAUGURAL ADDRESS

OF

GOVERNOR GEORGE C. PARDEE.

To the Legislature and the People of the State of California:

It is the custom for the Chief Executive of California, upon assuming office, to announce at least the broad principles that will govern his acts during his administration of the affairs of state, and to call the attention of the Legislature and the people to matters which he may deem of special importance. To attempt to do more than this would not be wise on the part of one who approaches the task before him without the benefit of extended experience; and, moreover, the need of a detailed discussion has been met by the message which the retiring Governor, enjoying the advantages of four years of intimate acquaintance with State affairs, has already laid before the Senate and Assembly. That the suggestions for the guidance of the Legislature contained in that message will receive thoughtful consideration, and, wherever possible, will be acted upon, is the earnest desire of him who now succeeds to the Executive office.

Standing here to-day, the new Governor of my native State, the impressive words of my oath of office still ringing in my ears, striving to appreciate fully the responsibilities that rest upon me, realizing faintly my own limitations and the difficulties before me—standing here to-day, I pledge to the people of California, and to you, gentlemen of the Legislature, the best that in me lies for a wise, careful, economical, and yet progressive administration. It is my hope that during the next four years this great State shall advance with even more rapid strides than ever before toward the accomplishment of her splendid destiny.

In order that this hope may be realized, it is indispensable that there should be the most cordial co-operation not only of all public officers, but also of all good citizens. And I shall therefore welcome, at all times, the views, adverse or favorable, of every citizen of California whose interest in the welfare of the State impels him to do his duty and freely express his sentiments.

THE STATE IS PROSPEROUS.

We take office under conditions which are most flattering. California is blessed to-day with a material prosperity for which her citizens may well thank the bountiful mercies of the God who rules the destinies of nations and of men. Almost every interest is thriving as it has not thrived before in many years; our homes are homes of peace and plenty; work and employment abound, and the rewards of industry and enterprise were never greater. Wealth is increasing; and the proportion of the increase which is represented by the $350,000,000 deposited in our savings banks indicates that prosperity is widely distributed among all our people and is not the exclusive enjoyment of a few. Upon such industrial conditions as these we may well congratulate ourselves; and, if we are wise, we shall carefully refrain from any course which might produce a change for the worse.

One of the essentials to a stable prosperity is a reasonable content with the blessings we enjoy and the avoidance of dissensions which would interfere with the steady movement of industry. We may, therefore, well deprecate the efforts of those who, however honest in their mistaken zeal, would strive to create classes among our people where no classes are or ought to be, and who would endeavor to array those who labor with their hands against those whose livelihood is gained in other ways. Under the American flag, with its guaranty of equal rights, there is no room for classes. Labor, without capital and intelligence, can accomplish little; and capital, without labor and intelligence, is equally helpless. But labor, capital, and intelligence, all three working to a common end, can do all things. It is the duty of the State to see that each of the three, so necessary to our welfare, shall be given protection and encouragement, and that none of them shall be sacrificed to the others. But it should be always borne in mind that labor has but little opportunity to look after its own welfare; and, therefore, its rights and privileges should be the more carefully guarded by the State. But the rights and privileges of all persons should be, and will be, preserved and guarded by the State so long as we are true to the American ideal; and any attempt to divide our citizens into classes according to their occupations, or to found political parties upon so-called social distinctions, will be the first step toward the disintegration and downfall which have been the fate of all nations that have entered upon such a course. Greece, Rome, the French Empire, all fell to pieces as soon as classes were recognized in the state. Their fate should always be before our eyes.

THE WRIT OF INJUNCTION.

Complaint is frequently made against our courts for what is alleged to be a too frequent and an ill-advised use of the writ of injunctions.

Properly used, this writ may save property, life, and liberty. Improperly used, it may become an instrument of oppression. Without it, the rights and privileges of individuals would be often imperiled, if not destroyed. I would, therefore, advise great caution in legislating in the matter. While it will be well to look thoroughly into it, I am strongly of the opinion that hasty legislation might be very bad legislation; and the passage of ill-advised or hastily-considered laws on this subject might place us under greater disadvantages than those we now have.

A GOVERNMENT OF DIVIDED POWERS.

The experience of a century has proved that the division of governmental powers between the legislative, the judicial, and the executive departments, each with its limitations well defined, both in our Nation and in our States, was a wise provision on the part of those who framed our constitutions. Sometimes this division of authority leads to vexatious delays, and sometimes the government appears to lack vigor in righting wrongs or instituting reforms. But, in the long run, this division of powers is conducive to that orderly progress which contains the best assurance of the greatest good to the greatest number. It is proper that each of these three departments of government should be independent, and that no one of them should ever attempt to interfere with the lawful prerogatives of the others. It shall, therefore, be my endeavor while at the head of the Executive Department to act in this spirit and respect the independence of each of the other departments. But, on the other hand, there should always be such cordial relations between the concomitant branches of the State government that no one of them should ever hesitate to advise and counsel with, or even offer criticism to, the others. Therefore, I bespeak from the members of the Legislature, both Senate and Assembly, from the other officers of the State government, and from the judiciary, on all occasions, and at all times, a full, frank, and free offering of advice, counsel, and criticism to and of the Chief Executive. And, in turn, I shall take it upon myself to advise and counsel with the other branches of the State government, as custom and the law direct.

PROTECTION OF INDUSTRIES.

Two of the most important industries of the commonwealth are those of mining and agriculture, including under the latter term viticulture and horticulture, dairying, stock-raising, lumbering, and all the industries directly connected with the soil. These are the source of a great share of our wealth, our reputation, and our prosperity. In their development there have been illustrated not only the limitless resources which nature has bestowed upon California, but also the indomitable energy of our people. For, without the latter, the former would have remained as valueless as they were while the land was in the possession of the several races which preceded us. The gold-seekers who were drawn here by Marshall's discovery were pioneers in a double sense: for they not only explored a strange land, but in extracting the precious metal they were compelled to develop a new art. With characteristic American ingenuity, they overcame stubborn difficulties; and so thoroughly did they and their successors master the business that California has since been called upon to supply the world with practical and theoretical mining men.

The triumphs of our agriculturists have been no less remarkable. In this case, as in that of the miner, great natural opportunities were accompanied by formidable obstacles. Our markets are so far away that our crops are transported greater distances than those of any of our competitors. Only a rich soil and a singularly favorable climate, coupled with an enterprise which never permits itself to be conquered, could have made it possible to produce grain for the European markets in competition with the nearer wheat-fields, or to transport our fresh fruits across thousands of miles of desert and mountain to the Eastern centers where they are sold.

It is the duty of the State carefully to foster these great industries, to see that they are not oppressed by unequal taxation or other unfair conditions, and to make liberal provision for the scientific research and training which are necessary to insure our future leadership in these directions. There is an increasing dependence upon science in all the practical arts, and the husbandman and the miner of the future must be better educated than those of the last century.

WASTE OF FOREST RESOURCES.

Another fundamental consideration, to which we can not too often return when discussing what will most surely promote the greatness of our State, is the necessity of protecting our natural resources from needless destruction or waste; and of all our resources there are none which stand more in need of safeguarding than our streams and forests. A large part of California is a semi-arid land, in which irrigation is either a necessity or an advantage; and over great areas of fertile soil the only measure of production is the measure of the water which is available.

The relationship between streams and forests is an intimate one, and the former are best guarded by protecting the latter. Our forests are our great natural reservoirs. Where the mountain sides are clothed with abundant forests, which delay the run-off of the winter rains, the need for artificial reservoirs is not great. It is claimed, too, that the amount of our annual rainfall has steadily diminished as our mountains have been denuded of their forests.

If, in a country as moist as Germany, the preservation of the forests is deemed so important that their ownership can not be trusted to private interests, and their management is one of the most important concerns of the government, how much more important is it for this State, by averting the danger of destruction of its forests, to save itself from such a fate as has overtaken Spain and other semi-arid countries of the Old World!

Our National Government, seeing this great peril imminent, has created a series of forest reserves which will protect forever the headwaters of numerous streams flowing into the San Joaquin and other valleys. But there are millions of acres of timber lying outside the forest reserves. Recently the title to these lands has been passing from the government of the United States to private parties with a rapidity which has excited justifiable alarm. One great manufacturing corporation has acquired no less than 40,000 acres. A single enterprising speculator who has been engaged for several years in buying out smaller owners and the makers of original entries is credited with controlling no less than 1,000,000 acres. Several other investors are each currently reported to have acquired from 20,000 to 100,000 acres. The methods by which these great tracts of timber land have been transferred to private owners are discussed in the last annual report of Secretary of the Interior Hitchcock. He charges that a system of making wholesale entries in the names of persons who are hired for the purpose has been inaugurated by speculators, who immediately acquire the title from the entrymen, and that, in this way, at a cost of only about $2.50 per acre, ownership is acquired of timber which in some instances is worth forty times as much. So long as a fraud is so easy and so profitable as this one has proved to be, it will be practiced; and Secretary Hitchcock announces it as his conclusion that unless certain Acts of Congress, notably the Stone and Timber Act of 1878, are soon repealed or amended, the result will be "the complete destruction of the timber on the unappropriated and unreserved public lands."

DANGERS OF FOREST DESTRUCTION.

The rapid passage from public to private ownership of the forests of California which are not included in the forest reserves will be looked upon with misgiving by every thoughtful person, because it is hardly probable that private interest will tend to such use of the forests as will long insure their preservation. And though, from the legal standpoint, this is a Federal question, the State has a deep interest in its solution. During several sessions, the Secretary of the Interior has appealed to Congress, though, so far, without success, to change the laws which make it so fatally easy for corporations and speculators to acquire the ownership of the forests. Recognizing the vast prospective interest which the State of California has in this matter, it may be wise for the Legislature to address Congress by resolution, setting forth what, in its judgment, ought to be done.

But worse than the rapid cutting of our timber is the utter want of care for the protection of the second growth. Dead and fallen timber, stripped bark and limbs, rejected butts and tops are allowed to lie where they fall. In a short while the ground, exposed to the sun, is covered with a new growth of tiny trees, which, if allowed to grow, would, in half a score of years, cover again with grateful shade the land upon which the rains of winter fall. And thus our streams would still retain the slowly-fed sources of their summer fullness. But, ere this second growth can gain a development that makes it a protection to the thirsty soil, ere it can become sturdy enough to fight its own way, the fallen débris left by the timber-cutter is swept by mountain fires, and the little trees are killed before they have the opportunity to do the work that Nature designed them for. And, in the place of the cool, damp depths of forest-shaded mountain sides, holding, like sponges, the rains of winter, to give them slowly up in spring and summer to the mountain streams and rivers of the plains—in place of this, we have bare, baked mountain sides, gashed and gullied by the winter torrents, which thus run riot and are lost to those who need them most in the heat and dryness of succeeding summer.

Not only so, but in half a century this second growth, having done its work during these years, would, if permitted to exist, itself again become a source of wealth. And thus our friends, the trees, serve a double purpose to our growing wants.

I call the attention of the Legislature to the instant need of some action to protect our present forests and promote the growth of new ones in the place of those no longer ours. Let some protection be given; at least let the danger of fires, as set forth above, be guarded against by all possible precautions.

IRRIGATION AND WATER LAWS.

Legislation which promises to be of inestimable benefit to the arid West has recently been enacted by Congress, whereby the proceeds of sales of the public lands in certain States and Territories may be used for the creation of irrigation works. No State has a deeper interest than has ours in this momentous innovation in national policy; and, in order that we may secure the largest possible benefit with the smallest loss of time, it would be well to provide for co-operation with the Federal authorities, at least in the measurement of the flow of streams, the surveys of reservoir sites and other preliminaries to the practical operation of the Act. This subject, as well as the matter of our forests, I also commend to the thoughtful attention of the Legislature.

Of equal importance is the revision of the irrigation laws, a course of action to which all parties in the late election pledged their candidates. This is a most necessary proceeding, because the evils of the existing system are numerous and very serious; but it is also a difficult undertaking, because it involves numerous legal and economic problems. These, however, should not discourage attempts at reform, but should only incite to greater efforts to accomplish results which would be so greatly beneficial and to which members of the Legislature, as well as the executive officers, stand pledged.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Education is the greatest interest with the care of which the State stands charged. Fully one half of the revenues raised by the State government is expended for education in one form or another; and in this California is merely yielding to the strongly marked tendency in all governments, which, where they once grudgingly gave a small pittance for the education of the people, are now content to see it become one of the largest of the State and local and even National expenditures. New York State, counting State and local outlays, spends $30,000,000 annually upon her public schools; and California, with a record of more than $7,000,000 a year, is, in proportion to population, equally liberal. The cost of our public schools is not far from $5 for every man, woman, and child in California; but the object is recognized as a noble one, and no taxes are paid more cheerfully.

In these matters California is where she belongs, in the front rank of progress. Proportionately, she expends as much for her common schools as any of the States in the Union; or, if there be exceptions, they are but two or three in number. In results obtained, also, we have reason for satisfaction, even if not cause for exultation. But excellence in these matters is marked by an advancing standard, and California can not afford to rest upon the record of what she has accomplished. Already several of the Western States surpass us in the percentage of children who attend school, and it will not do to be further outstripped in this competition.

The welfare and the perpetuity of the State demand that each and every one of its citizens should be educated and intelligent. The public schools are kept up for that purpose. And the State should insist upon its right to have every child within its borders obtain at least some education. And California should be ashamed that so large a proportion of her children do not go to school at all. There may be two reasons for this. One is the overcrowding of the schools in some of our larger cities, and the other is the fact that child-labor is becoming more frequent as our manufactories increase. Of both conditions California may well be ashamed. Let us provide school-room enough for all our children; and then see to it that every California child shall go to school at least six years. The State has a selfish interest in demanding this, while humanity and charity will applaud the act. Above all, California should, once for all, refuse to allow the growth of child-labor within her borders. I commend these matters to the careful consideration of the Legislature.

THE HIGH SCHOOL AMENDMENT.

By the adoption, at the recent election, of a constitutional amendment, the levying of a special State tax for the support of high schools is authorized; and thus there is taken another long forward step. It is the decision of the people, expressed by the ballot, that the State government may undertake the partial support of the secondary schools, and also that these should become, in the fullest sense, a portion of the general system. In dealing with a matter with which they are so well acquainted as they are with the common schools, the instincts of the people can be trusted. But, in the practical application, some difficulties may arise, owing to the unsatisfactory condition of the State revenue system. And for the present, and for some time to come, the advocates of State support of high schools ought to be content with a very moderate special tax.

There are at present one hundred and thirty-nine high schools in the State, and they have an enrollment of more than fourteen thousand pupils. The constitutional amendment and the legislation to follow will cause the establishment of a considerable additional number of schools. On a conservative calculation it is easy to show that if the State should undertake to pay one half the cost of high schools it would add to the existing burden of taxation an amount almost equal to the support accorded to the State University. The proportion of the cost of support of high schools which the State can undertake should, it seems to me, be much less than this.

An additional reason for reaching this conclusion is that our State government already contributes to the support of the schools in larger proportion than other States. The policy has been adopted by all the States of dividing the cost of maintaining public schools between State and local governments. But while the average of all the States shows that sixteen per cent of the total is borne by the State governments, the proportion so borne in California is forty-five per cent, or nearly three times as great. While the State is interested in having good, even the best, schools, still, it would be well, I think, to have a fair portion of their cost assessed upon the localities where they are situated.

INVESTMENT OF SCHOOL FUND.

There is now lying in the State Treasury $1,000,000 of school money. It is the policy of the State to invest this money in such a manner as to produce as great an income as possible. But the law provides that the investment shall be made only in National, State, or County bonds. The returns from National bonds are so slight that it is hardly profitable thus to invest these funds. State bonds are not available, for the reason that nearly all of California State bonds are now held by the School Fund. And, on account of our great prosperity, California's counties are getting rapidly out of debt, and, therefore, their bonds are not available.

In order, therefore, that the School Fund may receive the largest possible income commensurate with safety, I would suggest that the law be so amended that investments may be made in municipal and school bonds of California. Of course such investments would require the most careful investigation of the legality of the securities offered. But, with proper care, the investments would be safe, and the benefits to the schools would be great.

MAINTENANCE OF STATE UNIVERSITY.

The State University, our greatest single educational institution, is in a position where it is compelled to appeal for a more liberal provision for its needs. The people have been generous to the University. But they have imposed upon it demands which are, at present, beyond its ability to meet. It has been costing, until very recently, approximately $300,000 to support the University; and measured by results, no equal amount of money expended for any other purpose produces greater benefits. The higher education has ceased to be regarded as an elegant accomplishment, or the possession of merely the fortunate few. Thousands of bright and ambitious boys and girls, drawn from all walks of life, look upon it as a necessary part of their equipment for future work; and it is no less remarkable how, in all lines of industry, the services of university-trained young men and women are demanded. Science and practical business are coming every day more into touch; and the university graduate is no longer looked upon as an impracticable, useless member of any community.

The University of California stands to-day among the foremost institutions of learning in the United States, if not in the world. Its graduates are holding positions of greatest trust and highest emoluments, and are looked upon, the world over, as among the greatest authorities in mining matters. To our agricultural, horticultural, and viticultural interests the University has rendered services of the greatest value. It has placed itself at the disposal of the farmer, the orchardist, and the vineyardist, and has given them the benefit of a scientific examination of soils and waters; it has helped them fight the pests which threaten to destroy the products of their toil; it has sent its representatives to the Farmers' Institutes, and placed at their disposal all the knowledge that scientific investigation has produced. The University has saved many millions to the State and has added many other millions to our wealth.

The 2,400 students now at Berkeley have taxed to the utmost the income so generously provided. The room which was ample for half the number of students is, long since, overcrowded. It is to be hoped that the Legislature may see its way clear to do something toward providing accommodations and instruction adequate to the army of young people who are now crowding and overcrowding the classrooms at Berkeley and making it necessary to resort to all manner of temporary expedients to provide for the overflow.

I commend, therefore, the University of California to the Legislature and bespeak a careful consideration of its needs.

HOSPITALS AND PRISONS.

California, probably on account of her geographical position and her fame as a land of wealth and easy conditions of life, which serve as an attraction to the restless and idle, has an overplus of inmates in her penitentiaries and reformatories. These unfortunate persons constitute a small army of from 2,500 to 3,000, who are supported at an aggregate expense to the people of about $400,000 a year. There is another army of still more unfortunate ones, numbering over 5,000, who are inmates of our asylum-hospitals; and the burden of their maintenance is annually three quarters of a million dollars. In our two large Prisons, our five State Hospitals, and our Home for the Feeble-Minded, we are presented with problems enough to call for the efforts of the best penologists and alienists. May it not be proper to call to the aid of the State, to an extent greater than has yet been attempted, those who have made a scientific study of these matters, and to get the benefit of their counsel and advice?

It is generally admitted that the management of the State Hospitals for the Insane has been judicious and humane. The cost of support per patient in them is lower than in a majority of asylums in other States, and the percentage of recoveries is creditably high. But there are other things connected with the institutions which are not so satisfactory. The increase of patients is great enough to call for frequent large expenditures to add to the capacity of the hospitals, while, at the same time, there is generally a considerable number of inmates, who, although they are helpless and poor, and, therefore, proper objects of charity, are not in their right place in institutions intended for the treatment and care of the insane. It is much easier to secure the admission of patients to the hospitals than it is to effect their discharge after they have been found to have been improperly placed there. There is ample opportunity for improvement in the method of commitment and the manner of disposing of cases which belong in county hospitals rather than in institutions for the insane. The Legislature will do well to investigate these matters and provide a remedy therefor.

Although the continued growth of our insane population can be counted on with certainty, it would be unwise, I think, to make any addition to the number of asylums, because it is cheaper to add to the capacity of the existing institutions, the cost of maintenance being proportionately less in a large establishment, up to a certain point, than in a small one. In course of time, the main buildings at each of our hospitals will be surrounded by groups of smaller ones, the cottage plan of housing the patients having been tried and found very satisfactory. Thus, the accommodations may be increased indefinitely, without proportionate increase in the cost of administration.

It is probable, however, that it will soon be necessary to make some provision for the separate care of two classes, the criminal insane and those insane and criminals who are afflicted with tuberculosis and other infectious and contagious chronic diseases, and who, therefore, ought not to be allowed to endanger the health of those who are free from such diseases.

To direct the operations of its hospitals, with their large and growing population, the State should enjoy the services not only of the best medical specialists, but of a well-trained corps of nurses and attendants. And this can be best insured by making security of tenure, certainty of promotion, and increase of pay the faithful rewards of faithful work and effort for improvement. Appointments and removals for political reasons should not under any circumstances be made in the State hospitals.

The State Commission in Lunacy, which was established a few years ago, and which shares the powers formerly exercised alone by independent local boards of trustees, has accomplished considerable in the direction of unifying the system, stimulating improvement, and equalizing conditions. Further benefits from the new arrangement may be expected in time.

PRISON GOVERNMENT.

The present method of governing the State prisons, through a Board of Directors, who are appointed for long terms, has brought forth some good results, and the Directors must be applauded for the improvements in discipline and the efforts toward the reformation of criminals which they have made. At the same time, it is admitted by the members of the Board, in their biennial reports, that there is room for changes for the better in a number of ways, most of which will require action by the Legislature. The congregate plan, by which persons of all degrees of criminality, old and young, first offenders and hardened veterans, are mingled, is still pursued. There can be no doubt that this exercises a disastrous influence against the success of reformative measures. Both humane and economic reasons appeal to us to do what we can to bring our penal methods into line with the best thought of the day. And I therefore bespeak a careful consideration of any proposals intended to accomplish this which may be brought before the Legislature. One such proposal will be for the establishment, in a few of the larger cities, of special courts for the trial of juvenile delinquents, and the separate confinement of youthful and first offenders, so that they may not be hardened in crime by enforced association with those who are incapable of reform.

THE NATIONAL GUARD.

There can be no doubt that standing armies, such as are maintained by European countries, may be a menace to liberty, and certainly are expensive and a drag upon material prosperity. In our country they are not needed. On the other hand, the Spanish-American war has demonstrated the necessity of having a trained body of men ready to spring to arms whenever necessity shall demand. And the instant ease with which the National Government was able to put into the field armies of at least partially trained soldiers proved, beyond the question of a doubt, the necessity for an organization of State troops, through which passes a percentage of our young and patriotic citizens. It is idle to say that our National Guard is of no use. The gallant service rendered by the First California Volunteers, taken as a body from our National Guard, to say nothing of those other thousands who volunteered in other commands for service in the Spanish-American war, refutes the accusation of uselessness. I therefore recommend that our citizen soldiery be given due consideration and support by the Legislature.

HARBOR IMPROVEMENTS.

The great commerce that is beginning to flow through our State to and from the Far East, where this nation has recently acquired important possessions, mostly finds its entry and exit through the port of San Francisco. Within a comparatively few years the commerce, which even now taxes to its utmost the facilities there so wisely provided by the State, will wax far beyond the capacity of the present docks. The newly laid transpacific cable, the greatest work of our late lamented fellow-citizen, John W. Mackay, brings us closer to Hawaii, and will, in a few short months, unite us to the Orient. From this will flow still greater benefits; and we must be ready to take advantage of them.

It behooves the State, therefore, carefully to consider the fast approaching absolute inadequacy of the existing facilities and to increase them by some well-devised plan of expansion. Transportation seeks the cheapest routes, and ocean commerce concentrates in the ports where cargoes can be most economically loaded and discharged. California's seaports have strong competitors in the North; and, in order to hold the profitable business we already enjoy and to command as much as possible of the new commerce of the Pacific Ocean, it is necessary to make the most of the opportunities offered by the harbor of San Francisco, and also of other harbors on which the State controls water frontages.

I recommend, therefore, that the wharves and docks of San Francisco, where so much has already been done and so much more is urgently demanded, be given instant attention, and that some plan be devised whereby the present facilities be greatly increased as soon as possible. And, in this connection, it may not be out of place to call attention to the fact that the building of wharves and docks of wood in these teredo-infested waters is, while cheapest in the first instance, far more expensive in the long run. It would be well, therefore, it seems to me, to devise a plan for making all these needed improvements, so that they will last indefinitely and not require to be replaced every few years.

If, in order to execute the improvements, it should be necessary to borrow money upon bonds, to be paid, principal and interest, from the future income of the port, as was done when the ferry building was constructed, it is well worth considering whether this would not be a justifiable and business-like proceeding.

The harbors of San Diego, San Pedro, Oakland, and Eureka should also receive attention at the hands of the State, and some plan be inaugurated for their improvement.

THE BALLOT LAW.

The ballot law, which was adopted in this State in the belief that it would correct the evils which prevailed when the old party ballot was used, has developed a weakness which could not have been foreseen, and legislative remedy is necessary. In its desire to exclude all opportunities for fraud and to obtain absolute secrecy, the Legislature required strict uniformity in the marking of ballots; and the courts have interpreted these requirements with equal strictness. The consequences are that many voters, through carelessness or lack of understanding, make mistakes which are fatal; and the ballots have to be rejected. These are not the results which the framers of the law intended; and some change to prevent the thwarting of the will of so many voters is necessary. But the framing of the needed amendment calls for the exercise of good judgment, lest the attempted cure of one evil create other and worse evils, as so often happens in dealing with matters like this. It seems probable that, in the ballot-machine, which has now been clearly legalized by a change in the Constitution, we shall ultimately find relief from the perplexities of ballot laws which are so frequently too loose or too strict to work well. I need hardly say, however, that the whole question should be approached with great care and handled with extreme conservatism. There is nothing in which, to my mind, haste would make greater waste than this.

RELIEF FOR SUPREME COURT.

The inability of our Supreme Court, even with the help of its assisting Commission, to hear and determine, within a reasonable time, the causes submitted to it, seems to call for prompt relief. I therefore recommend that the Legislature, after asking the advice and assistance of the judiciary, endeavor to devise some better plan, to be submitted to the people in the form of a constitutional amendment, in order that justice may be sooner done and the expenses of litigation may be curtailed.

ST. LOUIS AND PORTLAND EXPOSITIONS.

During the next two years there will held two important expositions of art and industry in which it may be desirable that California should be represented by such exhibits of her products as will most likely prove a benefit by attracting capital and the best class of settlers. The first of these is the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, which will open in the city of St. Louis next year, and the other is the Lewis and Clark Exposition, to be held in Portland in 1905. The former will be international in character, and will equal or exceed in scope any other exposition held in this country; while the second is of great interest to California, because it will be held in the leading commercial city of the neighboring State of Oregon.

I recommend that a modest appropriation be made, under a law so framed that it will be possible to secure the most judicious expenditure of the money and the most efficient direction of the exhibit. We should try to profit by the experience already gained by participation in several expositions, to secure, by good management, the largest measure of benefits with the smallest expenditure of funds.

STATE CIVIL SERVICE.

The platforms of the two principal parties adopted before the recent election contained declarations in favor of the merit system in the civil service of the State. This is an end toward which we should work with discriminating intelligence and steady purpose. The reform is one which must follow, and not precede, the creation of a genuine public sentiment in its favor. Experience has demonstrated that elaborate systems of examination and promotion will not succeed, unless the public thoroughly understands the object which is aimed at and has confidence in the means proposed to attain it. In this matter, gradual progress is the best of all progress, because it is the surest and most enduring. The success which has been obtained in the classified civil service of the Federal government, after twenty years of trial, points the way to the eventual evolution of a similar system under the State government.

APPROPRIATIONS AND TAXES.

At present, the Governor of California is inducted into office under circumstances which greatly militate against his efficiency. Elected in November, he goes into office early in January, only two months afterward. Unable, in this short space of time, to gain the mastery of the intricacies of so great and complicated a business as is presented to him by the manifold affairs of the State; unable even to visit, much less to study, the many State institutions; precluded from informing himself in any satisfactory manner as to the needs of or abuses in any of the many departments of the State government, the Governor, as his first official duty, finds himself face to face with a Legislature, most of the members of which are as inexperienced as he in the business they have in hand. Would it not be better to have the State election held two months earlier, say about September first? If this were done the newly-elected officials would have four, instead of two, months in which to study the situation and inform themselves on their new duties. To do this, would, of course, require a constitutional amendment.

THE NEXT TAX LEVY.

I have reserved till the last a matter which holds as large responsibilities for the Legislature and the Governor as any other, and which calls for renewed serious consideration at each biennial session. The maintenance of so many State institutions, boards, and commissions renders the financial problem a troublesome one at all times. During the next two years it is certain to be unusually difficult. Briefly stated, the situation is this: The tax bill passed by the last Legislature provided a levy for the General Fund much smaller than is usual. Although this rendered a low tax rate possible for the current year, which was very agreeable to taxpayers, it will make a serious drain upon the surplus which had been accumulating in the treasury for some years. Exactly what the conditions are will be made clearer by the following figures, which show the amounts directed by law to be raised for the General Fund for each of the last six fiscal years:

Forty-ninth fiscal year	$2,553,602 00
Fiftieth fiscal year	2,553,602 00
Fifty-first fiscal year	4,000,722 00
Fifty-second fiscal year	2,946,222 00
Fifty-third fiscal year	2,750,000 00
Fifty-fourth fiscal year	1,750,000 00

The cost of conducting the State government does not vary so much from year to year that the General Fund levy can be reduced a million dollars in any one year without causing the expenditures to exceed the revenues. The demands upon the General Fund in recent years have exceeded three million dollars annually. And, even when receipts from other sources than taxation are added, the revenues of the year are still bound to be exceeded by the expenditures, if the levy is no larger than it has been for the last two years, and especially for the fifty-fourth fiscal year.

The present Legislature and the Executive must face the serious fact that the General Fund will be almost depleted by the end of the fiscal year, June 30, 1903, and the new fiscal year will commence with so small a balance that, between July and December, before the taxes for the coming year are paid in, the fund will be exhausted and it will be necessary to resort to borrowing from other funds in order to pay the State's creditors when their claims mature. Later on, the amounts so borrowed must be returned to the funds from which they were borrowed.

Owing to the conditions just described, it is inevitable that the levies for the General Fund for the fifty-fifth and fifty-sixth fiscal years should be much larger than the levy for the fifty-fourth. And State taxes, therefore, will be higher. It is only fair that it should be distinctly understood in advance that this, however regrettable, can not be avoided, and that it will be due, not to any extravagance of the present Legislature, but to the policy of its predecessor in reducing the revenues more than it reduced the expenditures.

In justice to the taxpayers, taxes can not be raised above a certain figure. To keep taxes within bounds, and, at the same time, to rehabilitate the General Fund, it will be necessary for the Legislature to make a sincere endeavor to achieve economy by retrenching every needless expense. The necessity for economy is too plain to be questioned, and while there are many improvements in connection with the State institutions which could be made with good effect—while, indeed, many of them are so much needed as to be really urgent—only so many of them can be undertaken as can be provided for by a reasonable tax rate.

THE GENERAL PROPERTY TAX.

The present situation is such as to suggest a short review of the recent history of our tax system. There is a general feeling that the State revenue system is not working so well as might be expected—certainly, not so well as could be desired. This, perhaps, is not surprising, and at any rate, it is not peculiar to California. Two years ago a special committee of the California Senate made a report on taxation, in which it was said: "From Maine to Texas, and from Florida to California, there is but one opinion as to the working of the present system. That is, that it is inequitable, unfair, and positively unjust."

The particular subject under discussion by the committee was the general property tax, and it was considered from the taxpayers' point of view. From that standpoint, as well as others, it is unsatisfactory. In the case of California, it has failed to raise the revenue which, at a fair rate, ought to have been produced. - And the only conclusion is that much property escapes taxation. For a long time the State has been growing in wealth even more rapidly than in population, as proved by the immense increase in bank deposits, by the growth of commercial exchanges, by numerous heavy investments of capital, and by the general air of prosperity.

And yet assessors have been able to find very little of this newly-created wealth. The total assessment of property has remained almost stationary. And, although we are now enjoying an era of unexampled prosperity, the total assessed valuation is a little less than eighteen per cent greater than it was fifteen years ago. This, every one will admit, is absurd.

The burden of taxation on property which the assessor finds is generally heavy enough—often too heavy—but there is much which he fails to find. This becomes very clear when the proportion of personal property assessment compared with the entire assessment is considered. There was a time, many years ago, when personal property comprised very nearly fifty per cent of the total assessed valuation. That was in the 60's. By 1880 the personal property assessment had gone down, relatively, so much that it constituted only twenty-five per cent of the total. By 1886 it was down to twenty per cent, and in recent years it has been generally about fifteen per cent, though sometimes falling considerably below even that small proportion.

As a community grows in wealth and civilization, the proportion of its wealth invested in forms of property other than real estate and improvements tends to increase relatively as well as absolutely. And yet, the amount of personal property assessed in California is actually less by several millions than it was thirty years ago. As long ago as 1872, the assessors found nearly two hundred and twenty million dollars' worth of personal property. A few years later the assessment had shrunk to a little more than half of that sum, and, although there has since been a slow increase, it amounts, for the current year, to only two hundred millions.

Contrary to the belief, which is entertained by many, the financial troubles of our State government are not due to a large increase in aggregate expenditures, because in recent years there has been no such increase. Eight years ago both receipts and expenditures were slightly larger than they are at present. It is inevitable, in spite of all the economy we can practice, that there should be a progressive growth of expenditures for public purposes, keeping pace with the population, or even outrunning it, and it is clear that, soon or later, our revenue laws must be changed, so as to produce more satisfactory results.

As has been remarked, the complaint is widespread against the workings of the general property tax. And some of the most advanced communities are casting about to see what they can do to supplement this source of revenue or to supplant it entirely as a means of providing for the needs of State governments. In the report of the United States Industrial Commission, the whole subject of State and local taxation is reviewed, and the effects upon industry of the present system are considered. One of the conclusions reached by these investigators, as it has been reached by others, is that the present system does not bear equally upon all classes of property owners, but is very inequitable in the distribution of its burdens. It is contended that the agriculturist, all of whose property, both real and personal, is usually visible to the assessor, is taxed considerably in excess of his fair proportion to other property owners. The escape from taxation of personal property is everywhere a crying evil.

To some of these facts the State Controller of California has called attention in former years. He has suggested certain changes in the tax laws, which might have been made with advantage. But most of these suggestions still await action by the Legislature. They should be taken up, and, where possible, adopted.

ATTEMPTED REFORMS IN OTHER STATES.

Realizing the defects in their tax laws, a number of Eastern States have attempted to reform their tax systems. And more progress has been made in eliminating the general property tax than is known to most persons. In Vermont, taxes on real and personal property for general State purposes are levied only when specially ordered by the Legislature; although school and highway taxes are levied annually. In Connecticut, real and personal property has not been taxed for many years. In New Jersey, the only general property tax is collected for schools. In Wisconsin, practically the same state of affairs prevails; the only general property tax ordinarily levied being for the schools and the State University. Pennsylvania has gone even further than her sister States, and real estate is never taxed, except for county and local purposes. The State of New York, also, is aiming to eliminate the personal property tax; and it has made so much progress that, in the year 1900 the tax levied was only twelve cents on the hundred dollars, the lowest in forty years. In 1901 New York derived a revenue of $5,000,000 from the corporation tax, and $4,000,000 from the inheritance tax.

In the report of the United States Industrial Commission, before referred to, the conclusion is reached, and strongly supported, that it should be the aim of the State governments to abolish the general property tax for State purposes, leaving to the counties, cities, and other political subdivisions the exclusive right to tax real and personal property, while the necessary revenues for the States are raised in other ways. In the course of the argument, the majority of the Commission makes the following assertion:

"The general property tax is better adapted to a new country, or to an agricultural population, where property is homogeneous, and mainly tangible, than to the modern industrial state."

These matters are referred to, not because it is believed to be possible for California to enter at once on a radical reform of its revenue system, but because it is well to take note of impending changes before they are actually forced upon us, and to promote such discussion as will prepare the way for the transition. Even if it were possible, it would be inadvisable, because unjust, to make a sudden revolutionary change, altering the whole scheme of taxation. Such changes should be gradual, so as to give least shock to established industries and to vested interests.

Meantime, much could be done in the line of practical reform by putting forth greater efforts to live up to the tax laws we already have and to force a fair assessment of the different forms of property. There is no reason why the assessment roll should remain stationary when a State is growing rapidly in wealth, and more particularly, no reason why all but a small fraction of the vast amount of personal property should escape the notice of the assessors. A determined effort on the part of the State and county officers to do their duty would soon work a change, the effects of which would be gratifying.

THE DUTY TO THE PEOPLE.

I welcome the members of the Senate and the Assembly to the high duties which, in the name of the people, whose chosen representatives they are, it is their privilege to perform. The opportunity is presented to render service which will be of vast benefit to the State of California; but to take advantage of and improve the opportunity there is needed such a consecration of purpose as will exclude any temptation to labor for the more selfish objects of party or of self. The time in which the work of the Legislature is performed is short; sixty days afford only a brief space in which to deal with the numerous subjects, some of them of great importance, which are certain to be presented in bills and constitutional amendments. The session is too short for effective work if any portion of it is frittered away through inattention to business or is dissipated in needless contentions. There should be no political strifes. We have each and all been elected by the people; we are all their servants, and faithful attention to their affairs—not senseless rivalries—is what they expect at our hands. They will not commend us if we engage in personal bickerings or neglect the public business while trying to thwart one another and gain a supposed political advantage for any party or any person. The familiar saying, that he serves his party best who serves his country best, is applicable at this time; and it is in that spirit, I trust, we shall act during the thirty-fifth session of the California Legislature. If we do so, the fruits of our labors will be certain to be such as, when presented to the people, to gain their earnest approval.

To the retiring Governor I extend my congratulations on having carried on the affairs of state so well. Peace, plenty, and prosperity are ours. During his administration there have been but few internal disturbances of the public welfare. And I now take up the burdens just laid down by Governor Gage with the hope that, like him, I may retire from office leaving California peaceful and prosperous and her people happy and contented.

SECOND BIENNIAL MESSAGE

OF

GOVERNOR HENRY T. GAGE

TO THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

(THIRTY-FIFTH SESSION.)

1903.

SACRAMENTO:

W. W. SHANNON, : : : SUPERINTENDENT STATE PRINTING.

OF

GOVERNOR HENRY T. GAGE.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
SACRAMENTO, January 5, 1903.

To the Senate and Assembly of the State of California:

Inasmuch as my distinguished successor will almost immediately take office, and not being advised of his policy, nor wishing, in any manner, to embarrass his administration, I shall therefore so shape this message that it may be largely a communication in respect to the condition of the State and its affairs, and make only recommendations in regard to matters which I deem necessary and expedient, leaving Governor Pardee and your honorable bodies otherwise unhampered by my views.

Elected in November, 1898, by a large plurality of the votes of the people of California, upon a solemn pledge of economy in the administration of State affairs, and having unfalteringly obeyed the law throughout my term of office, I am now gratified to close my administration with all pledges fulfilled and to pay a tribute of merited commendation to the legislators and State officers who, during the last four years, have ably assisted me in those labors which have culminated in numerous public benefits and advantages, and among others in the creditable record of the lowest tax rate in the history of the administrations of this State. Properly to moderate the expenses of a fast-growing State, with vast resources and numberless needs, and, at the same time, not to hinder its onward development by restrictive parsimony, is no mild problem of statecraft. Nor, in the exercise of necessary and firm restraint, is it easy to avoid the criticism of careless observers, or the denunciation of those whose personal interests may seem to be injuriously affected by the improvement of the State's interests.

During my administration I allowed all proper appropriations to meet the current expenses of government, and provided without stint for every State institution and State need, but I curtailed extravagance by vetoing excessive and inexpedient appropriations, so that the State is now on a business basis and able to pay its demands without either a discount of its warrants or the exhaustion of its General Fund.

In disallowing appropriations I have not evaded any law which required their payment, nor any State exigency which was required to be, sooner or later, faced.

Believing that the farming and stock-raising industries of the State would be best promoted by advancing the interests of the several existing agricultural associations established by law, I approved liberal but not lavish appropriations for their support.

STATE PRINTING OFFICE OPENED—ENACTMENT AND OPERATION OF LAW ESTABLISHING SEPARATE PRINTING FUNDS FOR STATE OFFICERS.

I opened the State Printing Office, which had been closed during the last year of my predecessor's term, and, having allowed sufficient appropriation to pay the current expenses, I approved on March 6, 1899, the Act entitled "An Act to add a new section to the Political Code, to be known and numbered as section five hundred and forty, creating the State Printing Fund, authorizing its use, and prescribing the duties of the Superintendent of State Printing, Controller, and Treasurer, in connection therewith, all relating to State printing."

Section three of said Act provides for the printing of reports of all State officers, boards, and commissions out of their separate printing funds, which funds were provided for in the General Appropriation Bill.

This law was passed in pursuance of my suggestion in my inaugural address, where, on page 9, directing attention to the burdens incident to the State printing, I said :

"The expense of such printing, which should properly be charged against the account of the officers of the departments and institutions ordering the printing, is unjustly arrayed against the State Printer's account. Some proper check should be imposed upon the expense of printing incurred by the various officers, boards, and departments. Each public institution and office should be charged for its printing out of its separate appropriation or fund on hand."

This new law has, with few exceptions, worked well ; for it has caused each State officer to be circumspect and economical concerning printing expenses, and therefore has redounded to the material advantage of the people.

OVER-LEGISLATION.

In my inaugural address and, subsequently, in the first biennial message, I adverted to the evils of over-legislation, and now, after an experience of four years, the belief entertained by me that much damage results to the State from the multiplication of new laws has grown into positive conviction.

The zeal of legislators sometimes makes them forget that a new law is, generally, a displacement of a previously existing right, and that the judicial branch of the government will probably pass upon the legislative enactment in the course of litigation arising out of the process of adjusting the new law to the existing relations. A State is less liable to suffer from a paucity than from a redundance of laws.

It was aptly said by one of the learned Justices of our Supreme Court, in a recent case: "A scarcity of statutory laws and want of facility for passing them are not among the evils of the times."

Statutes require time for their maturity in order to manifest their equitable, or disclose their inequitable, effects.

They need the soil of usage and the water of judicial interpretation for their growth and development; and, when once planted, the legislative plow should be tardily exercised.

The rights and obligations of the people are correlated, and so delicately adjusted that sudden and extensive changes in the laws sunder these relations and hinder the harmonious progress of the State.

The repeal of useless and unconstitutional laws which burden our statute books would be more beneficial than the adoption of a number of hastily-considered new laws and doubtful amendments.

Incidental to this evil of over-legislation is an inclination on the part of legislators to enact general laws to fit special cases in order to evade Section 25 of Article IV of the State Constitution, which prohibits local or special legislation. General laws are often passed which, in fact, are only designed to benefit particular individuals or localities, or to relieve special conditions, but, although the special purpose be good, it often happens that the very generality of the law impairs other and more material rights.

Different conditions, as a rule, require different laws.

It is a matter to be regretted that the constitutional provision against special and local legislation is so wide-reaching in its effects.

While the evil that was intended to be remedied and guarded against by Section 25 of Article IV was a very serious one, still the new evil of the enactment of general laws to fit special cases is more serious, and it would be well for this constitutional section to be so amended as to permit necessary exceptions, thereby doing away with this injurious method of legislative evasion.

GOVERNOR'S TIME TO ACT ON LEGISLATIVE BILLS SHOULD BE EXTENDED.

The Constitution has fixed a most inopportune time for the inauguration of the Governor and the assembling of the legislators.

The newly elected Executive is, under the existing laws, compelled to face a busy session of the Legislature at the very beginning of his official career, before he can inform himself in detail of the State's necessities, or outline a complete policy of State administration.

Added to this impeding disadvantage is the constitutional provision which restricts the time to ten days after the adjournment of the Legislature for approval or disapproval of the numerous important and unimportant bills which are left to the Governor for action by the outgoing legislators, and which increase his many great responsibilities.

During the last week of the session hundreds of bills, many of them very lengthy, and nearly all involving intricate questions of law as well as of policy, are thrust upon the wearied Executive, and it is expected that he can determine these many vexed problems within this narrow constitutional limit of ten days.

Mental as well as physical capacity has its varying limit, and infinite powers are not predicable of Executives.

The Governor should be allowed much more time to examine and intelligently pass upon the various Acts which are submitted by the Legislature for his approval, and which is impossible under the present law.

In the absence of a constitutional amendment remedying this matter, and until the adoption of such a measure, I recommend that the Legislature make use of their discretionary power, and, by concurrent resolution, frame and pass all bills designed for laws and present them to the Governor eight or nine days before the final adjournment. This time would, in addition to the constitutional time, give the Governor eighteen or nineteen days within which to pass upon the numerous measures enacted.

These remaining eight or nine days of partial legislative inaction could be profitably used, among other ways, by the Senate and Assembly in most carefully considering and deliberating upon resolutions and constitutional amendments, pursuing investigations, and acting upon the reports of committees, and the members might also, in their individual capacity, materially assist the Executive by furnishing him with needed information concerning the nature of the bills submitted for his signature.

Where measures, passed by slender majorities, are proper subjects for argument, the Executive, during this interval, might be afforded an opportunity of hearing reasons from both the supporters and opponents of the bills. No higher service could be rendered the State than the adoption of such a course by the Legislature, for it would not only enable the Governor to act more advisedly upon the measures presented, but also prove a barrier to the passage of the many loose and ill-digested laws which are hurried through the Senate and Assembly during the few closing days and hours of the session. At all events, even if the legislators did nothing except to assist the Executive, this interval would be of the highest benefit to the State.

CAREFUL REVISION OF THE ELECTION LAWS A NECESSITY.

The recent election has, no doubt, revealed to your minds various and serious defects in the election laws, which tend to defeat the free expression of the will of the electors.

The necessity of a careful and thorough revision of these important laws which vitally affect fundamental rights being made evident, I am satisfied that from the many amendments which will probably be presented, you will select only those which are constitutional, clear, simple, honest, and best adapted to the requirements of free and intelligent citizens.

In this class of legislation wise counsel will doubtlessly be afforded by my distinguished successor, to whom you will look for the approval of just laws designed to promote these desired ends.

NECESSITY FOR LEGISLATION REGULATING THE DRILLING FOR OIL AND GAS.

Great injury is likely to result to property from the negligent and careless manner of drilling oil and gas wells, as well as from the negligent and careless plugging and filling of such wells after abandonment.

It is quite evident that we shall soon be in great need of some legislation to regulate the conditions surrounding drilling of oil and gas wells. I recommend this matter to your most careful consideration.

LAND FRAUDS—NECESSITY OF VESTING IN THE GOVERNOR POWER OF WITHDRAWAL OF LANDS FROM SALE.

In my message to the Legislature convened in extra session, January 29, 1900, I directed especial attention to the evil of fraudulent speculation in the public lands, and of the open misuse, by land-brokers and speculators, of the rights and privileges afforded by the national and State land laws to bona fide settlers.

In that message it was said that during the last few years thousands of acres of valuable State land had passed under the control of land rings, which lands were sold at prices ranging from four dollars and upward, and were used by the purchasers as scrip for the purpose of obtaining valuable mineral and oil land as well outside as within the State.

This matter did not, however, receive the consideration from the Legislature which its importance deserved, and it was not surprising from this inaction that a few months afterward disclosures should have been made concerning the perpetration of frauds in the acquisition of valuable mineral and oil lands. Had the Legislature then acted upon my suggestion, many valuable claims legally acquired by bona fide appropriators would not have been subjected to the troublesome litigation which ensued, nor would the frauds of the land ring have continued to the detriment of the State and the honest settlers and miners. The quantity of available public land of the State open to entry is small and is fast diminishing, and it is necessary, if any remedy is to be invoked by law, that it should be carried into effect immediately.

I repeat here the reasons and the remedy suggested on pages 16, 17, and 18 of the message at the extra session of 1900, namely:

“Until proper amendments are made to the laws relating to our public land, power should be vested in the Governor to withdraw from sale the school lands, which are now being used as scrip to take the place of the Valentine and Porterfield scrip.

“One of the principal objects of the sale by the State of its public lands to private persons is to encourage its actual settlement and cultivation, and when the intention of our statutes is so perverted through the pernicious schemes of land jobbers, it becomes the high and solemn duty of the legislators to prevent such frauds for the protection of the people.

“Owing to the Act of Congress directing the President to set apart forest reserves upon the public domain of the United States, various reserves covering large tracts of valuable timber and other lands belonging to the State in sixteenth and thirty-sixth sections have been placed within the boundaries of these reserves. As the title to these school sections still remained in the State, they were subject to entry and sale under our State laws, notwithstanding that they fall within the boundaries of the proclaimed reserves.

“In the Act of Congress dated June 4, 1897 (Vol. 30, U. S. Statutes, page 36), the following provision is made for the benefit of actual settlers and owners of land within these reserves, allowing a relinquishment of their titles to the United States:

“‘That in cases in which a tract covered by an unperfected bona fide claim or by a patent is included within the limits of a public forest reservation, the settler or owner thereof may, if he desires to do so, relinquish the tract to the Government, and may select in lieu thereof a tract of vacant land open to settlement, not exceeding in area the tract covered by his claim or patent; and no charge shall be made in such cases for making the entry of record or issuing the patent to cover the tract selected; provided further, that in cases of unperfected claims the requirements of the laws respecting settlement, residence, improvements, and so forth, are complied with on the new claims, credit being allowed for the time spent on the relinquished claims.’

“This provision of the United States statute, together with the condition of our own laws, has been used by the land ring for their own selfish and unlawful purposes.

“Immediately after the proclamation by the President of a forest reserve within this State, applications for State school land within such reserve have been filed, and immediately sold as scrip by local dealers, as well as by dealers in other States, at prices ranging as high as $5 per acre, whereas the State can only receive $1.25 per acre. The land attorneys secure the relinquishment of the entryman or his “assignee to the United States, and file application for other public lands of the United States, even outside of the State of California.

“In cases where the State school lands within the reserves have been patented, the dealers secure under said Act of Congress patents to other lands which they have located.

“By reason of this privilege afforded by the United States statutes and our own lax laws, the school lands within the forest reserves are greatly increasing in value, and much of the land has been cornered by the land attorneys, and is now advertised and sold as scrip.

“If the State is obliged to part under the existing laws with its school lands within these reserves, so that it likewise loses the taxes which would be paid by an actual settler, in the absence of the ability of the State’s officers to detect and discriminate between fraudulent and bona fide land claims, then the people of the State should reap the benefit from the advanced value of such lands, which now go to the land jobbers, by authorizing the Governor to withdraw such land from sale at the minimum price, and to sell the same at an increased price, according to its value.”

OFFICIAL CHAMPERTY.

The covert maintenance of claims against the State by State officers and their deputies should receive a permanent check by the passage of stringent penal laws.

State officers should be content with the compensation provided by law, and their duty to the people does not permit of a secret partnership in claims, no matter how valid, which may be urged by others against the State.

Information secured by a State officer, through his control of State records, should not be attempted to be used directly or indirectly for his personal benefit.

I recommend that it be made a felony for any State officer or deputy to speculate or encourage speculations respecting any claim or demand against the State, or to aid or abet any other person in any suit upon a claim or demand against the State.

WATER AND FOREST LEGISLATION, AND SOME REASONS FOR MY VETO OF SENATE BILL No. 7.

The Legislature, at its last session in 1901, passed a measure, known as Senate Bill No. 7, apparently, but not really, for the benefit of the irrigation needs of the State, which bill, for the reasons here stated, I was compelled to disapprove.

Since my veto a few persons, with the aid of some few newspapers, have misconstrued the reasons for that veto as well as the motives which prompted it, and have pictured said Senate bill as a most beneficent measure, the disapproval of which it is asserted caused irreparable detriment to the State.

So greatly was the matter mooted that, through the same selfish and improper sources, a denunciation of the veto was made a plank in the last State Democratic platform.

Conceding, for the purposes of argument only, that Senate Bill No. 7 was intrinsically meritorious, still it was not a duty, under my oath of office, to approve it because of its merit alone.

It is not enough that legislative measures carrying large appropriations should be intrinsically meritorious in order to receive Executive sanction.

In the signing of appropriation bills the exercise of the Governor's best judgment is required for the protection of the people of the State from heavy taxation, etc. Measures demanding the payment of large sums of the people's money must not only be praiseworthy in themselves, but must be actually just, urgent, and necessary. In performing his duty to the people the Executive can not protect them from heavy burdens if he give approval to every meritorious bill carrying an appropriation which chances to pass the Senate and Assembly. Meritorious bills appropriating several hundreds of thousands of dollars are introduced at every session of the Legislature and receive legislative approval, but not being actually necessary and urgent, the Governor's discretionary veto in such cases is the only protection of the people of the State from onerous taxation. In the exercise of this discretion the Governor must be guided by the exigencies of each case and must take into consideration the amount of standing appropriations demanded by existing laws, as well as claims against the State, both those accrued and to accrue, in forming a proper estimate of the total appropriations which he can approve.

At the legislative session of 1901, when Senate Bill No. 7 was presented, I deemed it my duty to veto bills which had passed the same Legislature amounting to a total of $1,283,365.35, in which sum is included the $107,000 appropriated by the aforesaid Senate bill.

Had I approved all of the bills carrying appropriations which passed the Legislature at that time, such action would justly have deserved very severe criticism.

Now, considering Senate Bill No. 7 upon the assumption that it was a commendable public measure (which, in fact, as presented, it was not), let me ask, Was this bill appropriating $107,000 necessary, urgent, and indispensable at the time of its passage? Have the people of the State suffered a detriment that can not be remedied at some ensuing legislative session? An answer, to these questions, independently of an exposure of the actual demerits of the bill, will disclose the unfairness of those self-seeking persons who, with pen and tongue, have so frequently and unjustly assailed my veto and position respecting the subject of irrigation.

The following is the full text of the bill:

AN ACT TO PROVIDE FOR THE JOINT INVESTIGATION WITH THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT OF THE WATER RESOURCES OF THE STATE, AND OF THE BEST METHODS OF PRESERVING THE FORESTS THEREOF; APPOINTING A BOARD OF WATER AND FOREST COMMISSIONERS TO CONDUCT SUCH INVESTIGATIONS ON BEHALF OF THE STATE, AND MAKING AN APPROPRIATION FOR THE EXPENSES OF SUCH INVESTIGATIONS.

The People of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. There is hereby constituted a Board of Water and Forest Commissioners' composed of three citizens of the State, who shall be appointed by the Governor on or before April first, nineteen hundred and one. No two of such commissioners shall be a resident of the same county.

SEC. 2. Such commissioners shall hold office for the term of two years.

SEC. 3. Before entering upon the discharge of the duties of his office, each of said commissioners shall take an oath or affirmation to support the Constitution of the United States and of this State, and to faithfully and honestly discharge his duties as such commissioner, and shall execute and file with the Secretary of State an official bond, with good and sufficient sureties, to be approved by the Governor, in the pen sum of twenty thousand dollars, conditional for the faithful performance of his duties.

SEC. 4. Such commissioners shall receive no salary. They shall have power to employ a secretary at a salary of not exceeding one hundred dollars per month, and shall be allowed a contingent fund of not exceeding two hundred dollars per month, to defray office and actual traveling expenses, and shall annually account to the Governor for all moneys received and disbursed by them. The said commissioners shall annually, on the first day of September, report fully to the Governor, setting forth in detail the work done and projected during the preceding year, with such recommendations for carrying into effect the purposes of this Act as to them seems best. Such commissioners may receive donations to assist them in carrying out the purposes of this Act, accounting as such commissioners for such donations.

SEC. 5. Said commissioners shall have power to enter into such contracts as may seem best to them with the lawfully authorized representatives of any department of the Federal Government for the purpose of making topographic surveys and a joint investigation of and report on the water resources of the State, the best methods of developing, controlling, and utilizing the same, and the best methods of preserving the forests; provided, however, that their expenditures for such purposes shall not be in excess of the amounts to be expended by the department of the Federal Government in collaboration with which any specific work is done. They may also in like manner and subject to the same conditions make such experiments for preserving the forests of the State as may seem best to them and to the representatives of the branch of the Federal Government authorized to undertake such experiments.

SEC. 6. In order to carry out the purposes of this Act, any person or persons employed hereunder are authorized to enter and cross all lands within this State; provided, in so doing no damage is done to private property. It shall be a misdemeanor, punishable as provided in such cases, for any person or persons to willfully and maliciously remove or destroy any permanent marks or monuments made or erected by any of such persons.

SEC. 7. The sum of one hundred and seven thousand two hundred dollars is hereby appropriated as a special fund for the purposes specified in this Act, and the Controller of State is hereby authorized and directed to draw warrants upon such fund from time to time upon the requisition of two of such commissioners, and the State Treasurer is hereby authorized and directed to pay such warrants; provided, one half of the appropriation herein shall be available in the fifty-third fiscal year, and the remaining one half of said appropriation shall be available in the fifty-fourth fiscal year; and provided further, that the part of said appropriation to be available in the fifty-fourth fiscal year shall not be used until there shall be made to the Governor by the said commissioners a satisfactory report, with maps attached, of their operations during the preceding fiscal year, and the Governor shall certify to the Controller the fact of his having received such satisfactory report.

SEC. 8. This Act shall take effect immediately.

It is apparent from the whole context of the bill that the work of the commissioners, to be appointed under its provisions, was intended to be merely preliminary. The commissioners were not given any powers to preserve the forests of the State, or to protect its water resources, and, from the standpoint of the Constitution, no such powers could have been lawfully delegated by the Legislature.

What necessity and urgency existed, then, of appropriating this large amount of money at the session of 1901? Even the framers of the bill did not contemplate that the commissioners who were to be appointed under it could reach a final solution of the best methods of preserving the forests of the State, and make a report in full of its water resources within less than two years, because by Section 2 of the bill they fixed the term of office for that period of time.

The duties of the commissioners are undefined and the character and limit of their work are left for their own determination. It is discretionary with them not only what methods to employ, but even to determine when the work will begin. The only specific injunctions seem to be, first, under Section 4 of the bill, that the commissioners shall annually, "on the first of September, report fully to the Governor in detail the work done and projected during the preceding year," and under Section 7 it is made a condition precedent for their use of the appropriation of the fifty-fourth fiscal year that they shall make to the Governor "a satisfactory report, with maps attached, of their operations during the preceding fiscal year." Under this latitudinarian measure, who, except the commissioners, could place a limit upon their investigations, or determine when they had finished their labors? Who, except the commissioners, could say at the end of two years what problem in forestry or in irrigation remained unsolved? Is it to be assumed that the next Legislature would abolish this all-wise commission when its report should be presented and the $107,000 appropriated should be expended?

Legislation giving unlimited powers to individuals and commissioners has never been satisfactory. No matter how honest may be the individuals selected to fill public office, still public policy demands that their powers be defined and limited, in order that their private views and interests be subordinated to public duty.

It is evident, therefore, that the only loss sustained by the people of the State by the veto of Senate Bill No. 7 has been the failure to receive the opinions and conclusions of three citizens of unknown lineage, ability, and integrity on the forests and water resources of the State; whereas, on the other hand, the people have been enabled to retain in their pockets the aggregate sum of $107,000. Balancing this loss and profit, is it not fair to believe that the people could afford to wait until this legislative session, when a proper and more definite bill can be passed, if required, which will actually outline definite plans and operations for the preservation of the forests and the conservation of the waters?

If this Legislature should, in its wisdom, decide upon the necessity of creating a forest and water commission, it will be enabled in the light of the indefinite Senate Bill No. 7 to impose proper restrictions upon the powers of the commission and outline with certainty the work to be performed.

But the bill itself is not by its terms sufficiently meritorious, nor such as would directly benefit the people, nor, had it received my approval, could it have effected the excellent purposes of its framers and supporters.

Personally I favor, unrestrainedly, and recognize the necessity for, the passage of efficient laws for the preservation of the forests and the conservation of the waters of the State.

I favor also the passage of laws carrying substantial appropriations to effect these objects, but I do not favor the creation of commissions with undefined powers and unlimited authority to control the work and to expend according to their own private views appropriations made for these necessary and beneficial purposes. Public work must be subordinated to public control. The expenditures of public money must be carefully safeguarded by law and strictly accounted for to the people.

Senate Bill No. 7 was far from being a useful public measure. The bill as framed is objectionable upon the following grounds:

First—There is no special duty imposed upon the commissioners, except in Sections 4 and 7, wherein they are merely required to report annually to the Governor their operations and present maps.

Second—There is no limitation upon their power to contract.

Third—There is nothing in the bill directing the commissioners to do any specific work in any particular manner through which the State might receive practical benefit.

Fourth—There is nothing to indicate the feasibility or possibility of any joint action of this commission with any special Federal board or officer, and there is no special Act of Congress which would make such co-operation effective. In the absence of a specific Act of Congress authorizing such joint investigation and providing for a proper plan of operations, the work of this commission would be of no practical benefit.

Fifth—The bill as framed is objectionable, among other things, in this, that it embraces more than one subject, which subjects are even expressed in the title, to wit: "Providing for an investigation and report on the water resources of the State," and also for an investigation and report on the best methods of preserving the forests of the State.

Such an Act, if passed, would probably be declared unconstitutional and void as opposed to Article IV, Section 24, of the State Constitution.

The extent and vagueness of the powers to be exercised under this measure bring it within the criticism of the Supreme Court of this State, decided in People vs. Parks, 58 Cal. 638, where it was said regarding a bill in no degree less certain nor less extensive in its grant of powers than Senate Bill No. 7, as follows: "Under it may be concealed many subjects which are not expressed in the title"; and again on page 643 of the same report of the case, it is said: "There are powers conferred upon it (the Legislature) alone by the Constitution, and it can not delegate them to any other department of the government or to any agency of its appointment, because it would be confiding to others that legislative discretion which legislators are bound to exercise themselves, and which they can not delegate to any other man or men to be exercised."

The power to conserve the waters of the State and to protect its forests is one eminently reserved to the whole people of the State to be exercised through the Legislature in conformity with the Constitution, and the Legislature can not forego this important function by delegating its exercise to individual commissioners. If the vague powers attempted to be conferred upon the commissioners under the extremely indefinite provisions of this bill could be so realized as to be of practical benefit to the State, the commissioners would necessarily be obliged to decide and determine their own powers and fix the limits under said bill, which functions are purely legislative and, if actually done, would be perhaps void as opposed to the Constitution.

From a sound business view of the matter the bill as prepared was unnecessary in the main, and the appropriation under the circumstances an extravagant and wasteful diversion of the public money. So far as this bill required an investigation of the water resources of the State and the preparation of maps therefor, the history of State legislation upon this subject shows that much of this work has already been done under appropriations made for the State Engineer, an office created by an Act approved March 29, 1878 (Acts 1877-8, p. 634), which office has since been abolished.

The total amount appropriated by the Legislature for the maintenance of the office of State Engineer and the completion of the surveys and work commenced from the creation of the office, March 29, 1878, until 1887, amounted to over $250,000.

The Act creating that office outlined the work to be performed, specifically defined the duties, and limited the scope of the powers of the office created. Mr. William Ham Hall, who very ably filled the office, did much valuable work in the line of that dimly indicated in Senate Bill No. 7. During his term of office, Mr. Hall compiled two large volumes of a report full of valuable historical and statistical information, and also prepared elaborate detail irrigation maps of Southern California, "great central valley maps," and topographical and irrigation maps of said valleys, all of which have been for a long time and still are for sale in the office of the Secretary of State. These interesting publications, secured at an expense of over $250,000 to this State, have been of little practical benefit to the people, and yet the work was done carefully and thoroughly.

In the light of the result of such legislation, it would be as foolish as it is unnecessary for the State to repeat this experience by appropriating more money for more literature.

State legislation upon the important subject of forestry has likewise been unfortunate for the people, because lacking in certainty. Over $95,000 of appropriations have been expended through a Commission or Board of Forestry from the creation of the board by Act approved March 3, 1885, until its repeal in 1893, and the transfer of its property to the Agricultural Department of the State University by Act approved March 23, 1893. The establishment of a Board of Forestry, by reason of the very general terms of the law, was not of such value to the people as to demand its continuance, and the result of this expenditure of money was mainly in adding to the stock of dead State literature in the form of a few consecutive biennial reports.

Nor is the provision in Senate Bill No. 7, requiring the commissioners to co-operate with Federal boards or officers, either judicious in itself or such as would result in practical advantage to the State.

Assuming, in the absence of an Act of Congress that these commissioners could lawfully co-operate with existing Federal boards or officers, the State officers would necessarily be subordinate, both in the methods of operation and in the expenditure of the appropriation. Indeed, the work in such event could only be effected in obedience to the directions and under the regulations of the United States Department of Agriculture. The Federal authorities would, therefore, be supreme, and the work undertaken would be primarily in the interest of the Federal Government and in pursuance of its general policy.

This suggests another reason why such a measure would be unnecessary. The history of congressional legislation upon the subject of the conservation of waters and forests and the reclamation of arid lands shows a well-defined policy of the Federal Government, conformable with the wishes of the people, to assume control and protection at the expense of the Nation, and not of the individual States. In view of this policy, Congress has heretofore for many years made extensive surveys and published valuable maps upon the subject, and vast sums from the national treasury have been expended for these excellent purposes. So generally have the people of the United States accepted and confirmed the policy of the Federal Government in assuming control and expending the national money in this laudable manner, that a plank was inserted in the Republican National Platform of 1900 in the following words:

“In the further pursuance of the constant policy of the Republican party to provide free homes on the public domain, we recommend adequate national legislation to reclaim the arid lands of the United States, reserving control of the distribution of water for irrigation to the respective States and Territories.”

In the proclamations of the Presidents since the time of President Cleveland, under authority of Congress withdrawing public lands from entry and setting aside forest reserves, we perceive the general policy of national control at national expense.

President Roosevelt, in his excellent message to Congress, December 3, 1901, suggesting subjects for examination and legislation, specifically and emphatically approved of this national policy in the following language:

“At present the protection of the forest reserves rests with the General Land Office, the mapping and description of their timber with the United States Geological Survey, and the preparation of plans for their conservative use with the Bureau of Forestry, which is also charged with the general advancement of practical forestry in the United States. These various functions should be united in the Bureau of Forestry, to which they properly belong. * * *

“The forests are natural reservoirs. By restraining the streams in flood and replenishing them in drought, they make possible the use of waters otherwise wasted. They prevent the soil from washing, and so protect the storage reservoirs from filling up with silt. Forest conservation is therefore an essential condition of water conservation.

“The forests alone can not, however, fully regulate and conserve the waters of the arid region. Great storage works are necessary to equalize the flow of streams and to save the flood waters. Their construction has been conclusively shown to be an undertaking too vast for private effort. Nor can it be best accomplished by the individual States acting alone.

“Far-reaching interstate problems are involved, and the resources of single States would often be inadequate. It is properly a national function, at least in some of its features. It is as right for the National Government to make the streams and rivers of the arid region useful by engineering works for water storage as to make useful the rivers and harbors of the humid region by engineering works of another kind. The storing of the floods in reservoirs at the headwaters of our rivers is but an enlargement of our present policy of river control, under which levees are built on the lower branches of the same streams.

“The Government should construct and maintain these reservoirs as it does other public works. Where their purpose is to regulate the flow of streams, the water should be turned freely into the channels in the dry season to take the same course under the same laws as the natural flow.

"The reclamation of the unsettled arid public lands presents a different problem. Here it is not enough to regulate the flow of streams. The object of the Government is to dispose of the land to settlers who will build homes upon it. To accomplish this object, water must be brought within their reach. * * *

"There remain, however, vast areas of public land which can be made available for homestead settlement, but only by reservoirs and main-line canals impracticable for private enterprise. These irrigation works should be built by the National Government. The lands reclaimed by them should be reserved by the Government for actual settlers, and the cost of construction should so far as possible be repaid by the land reclaimed. The distribution of the water, the division of streams among irrigators, should be left to the settlers themselves in conformity with State laws and without interference with those laws or with vested rights. The policy of the National Government should be to aid irrigation in the several States and Territories in such manner as will enable the people in the local communities to help themselves, and as will stimulate needed reforms in the State laws and regulations governing irrigation. * * *

"At the very beginning the Government should make it clear, beyond shadow of doubt, its intention to pursue this policy on lines of the broadest public interest. No reservoir or canal should ever be built to satisfy selfish personal or local interests; but only in accordance with the advice of trained experts, after long investigation has shown the locality where all the conditions combine to make the work most needed and fraught with the greatest usefulness to the community as a whole. There should be no extravagance, and the believers in the need of irrigation will most benefit their cause by seeing to it that it is free from the least taint of excessive or reckless expenditure of the public moneys."

From the above excerpts from the President's message, as well as from our knowledge of the declared Federal policy as expressed in congressional legislation, it is evident that the public water sources and forests should be mainly a matter of National, and not State, protection and expense, because the general welfare and not merely State wealth is principally promoted. While I believe in substantial State assistance for State benefit, I am convinced that continuous and large appropriations of hundreds of thousands of dollars should not be expended by the State, enhancing the burdens of taxpayers, for the promotion of work which the Federal Government is both willing and able to undertake.

At the very beginning of my administration I was so impressed with the policy to which the Federal Government was pledged by the National Republican party that I used in my inaugural address the following words:

"The drought of last year again illustrated the great necessity of the storage of mountain waters and winter rains for irrigation purposes to meet the contingency of dry seasons. The expense of such an undertaking is so far beyond the means of the State, and the advantages are so great to the Federal Government for the irrigation, reclamation, and sale of its public arid lands within the State, that the money to be raised for such purposes properly falls within the domain of Congress.

"The construction of storage reservoirs would induce settlers to take up locations upon the public arid lands, enhancing, through settlement and cultivation, the value of such land, and adding largely to the population and wealth of the State and Nation.

"Our Senators and Representatives in Congress should be requested to introduce a measure to secure Federal aid in this direction."

The truth of these opinions entertained by me in 1899 has been corroborated by the clear enunciation of the Federal policy outlined by President Roosevelt in his message.

In his last message to Congress, in December, 1902, President Roosevelt directed the attention of Congress to the importance of "the inauguration of the system of nationally aided irrigation for the arid regions of the far West," thereby advocating the continuance of the policy of appropriations by the Federal Government for the development and storage of waters on the public lands, and the preservation of the forests which are natural sources of water supply.

At the time of the passage of Senate Bill No. 7, appropriating $107,000, there was awaiting my action Assembly Bill No. 873, passed by the Legislature, appropriating $250,000 for the purchase, for a State park, of a tract of land situate in Santa Cruz and San Mateo counties containing trees known as Sequoia sempervirens. It was represented to me by thousands of citizens, as well as by the promoters of the bill, that these magnificent forest giants were about to be destroyed, and their loss certainly would be irreparable. The bill was argued for its urgency as well as necessity, and the threatened destruction seemed to justify its passage.

The question, therefore, independent of the merits or demerits of Senate Bill No. 7, was to choose between these two measures. On the one hand, was presented to me the probable loss to California of those rare and splendid trees, unequaled for grandeur and beauty by any in the world; on the other hand, Senate Bill No. 7, providing for a preliminary report on water resources and forestry, which report was not required to be presented for a period of two years. To burden the taxpayers with both appropriations on top of the necessarily large appropriations for the maintenance of the State and the payment of State claims, would have been a gross injustice and a misuse of Executive discretion.

I feel, therefore, that I was fully justified in choosing the more necessary and urgent measure, and expressing in my veto of Senate Bill No. 7 the following reason :

“ While this measure might contribute to important and beneficial results to the State, the large appropriation which it carries, when considered together with the large appropriation demanded in the purchase of the Redwood Park under the terms of Assembly Bill No. 873, make it impossible for me at this session to approve both bills, without resulting in great burden to the taxpayers.”

When the intrinsic defects of Senate Bill No. 7 are considered, it will be conceded by impartial persons that the duty of the Executive was, under the circumstances, to disapprove the bill, because no loss could result thereby to the State. The fact that there was no restriction upon the commissioners in the expenditure of the money proposed to be appropriated, and no direction for any specific work, nor limitation upon their powers, justified me in my action. Good State policy demands that the State should neither surrender to individuals the control of its forests and waters for private experiments nor open to speculative ventures the public money. The State is a trustee for all its citizens, and to resign that trust would be to abandon its sovereign functions. Had the necessity for the passage of this bill existed which is claimed by my critics, it is strange that the Senate and Assembly did not overrule my veto, which they had the power and which it was their duty to do in such an event, if my veto was not just and proper. The acquiescence of the Legislature by refusing to pass the bill over my veto is a distinct indorsement of my policy, and it deserves praise for its reconsideration which saved the taxpayers the payment of $107,000 through an idle and ill-considered measure from which the State would have reaped no advantage.

But, at all events, the advocates of this mischievous and expensive bill may console themselves with its loss in the fact that if, unmindful of the public welfare, I had given it my approval, the measure itself might have been nugatory by reason of its probable unconstitutionality.

Such laws as you may choose to pass in aid of irrigation should be drawn in a manner not to interfere with vested rights, nor involve the State, inextricably, with Federal management and control, so as to embarrass and subordinate the rights of the State in its waters ; nor entangle, with Federal questions of control, the interests of farmers, fruit-growers, and other users of water so as to necessitate long litigation in Federal courts for their final determination, and postpone for an indefinite time the enjoyment and exercise of those interests.

In conclusion, I wish to repeat and emphasize the fact that I am heartily in favor of all proper and adequate laws which will conserve the waters of the State and safeguard its forests, and I believe in the allowance of sufficient State appropriations to carry into effect practical State projects and plans; but such appropriations should neither be continuous nor excessive, so as to become burdensome to the citizens, nor should the State attempt to trench upon the domain of the Federal Government nor undertake projects and plans which the Nation is willing to execute and the expenses of which it is willing to assume.

THE CRIME OF LIBEL SHOULD BE MADE A FELONY.

The social, moral, and material interests of the State depend upon the honor of the individuals who constitute it.

Material wealth is but a means to the mental, moral, and physical good of the members of a commonwealth.

Public wealth rests primarily upon public honor, and public honor is the aggregate of the good reputations of the people who form the constituent elements. The people, therefore, have a most vital interest in the subject of their reputations, singly as well as collectively.

Commerce moves with public honor and credit, and public honor and credit rest ultimately upon a series of individual confidences.

The light of a good reputation, though centered in personal character, derives its principal brightness and efficiency from sound public judgment.

Our laws, both civil and penal, are strictly framed and multiplied to meet all emergencies in our supreme effort to protect the material property of our State, its citizens, residents, and temporary sojourners.

Our laws, both civil and penal, are numerous and stringent for our physical protection against death, illegal restraint, and bodily injury. Yet, strangely, the greatest of our constitutional rights, that which we most prize, which alone makes life worth the living, upon which depends the right of enjoying life and liberty and of pursuing happiness (Art. I, Sec. 1, Constitution of California)—the right to be preserved in that good reputation and character which we labor and struggle to earn and leave as a heritage to our children—this supreme right is less fortified in law than our most trivial rights of property.

In England, in the latter part of the eighteenth century, when the press had scarcely a voice and human life and liberty were at the beck of an absolute despot, and when the law concerning seditious libels was formulated in the cabinet of the King, and docilely announced from the bench by corrupt and willing judges, it became necessary for a freedom-loving people to resort to a technical defense in favor of the press by claiming that the jury in cases of libel had the right of determining both the law and the fact.

This position, subsequently enacted in the form of a statute by Parliament in the reign of George III., became a safeguard for press utterances in England.

But in this country the press never was enslaved. Breathing the free spirit of the American colonies, it required no such fiction and no such guaranty. The construction and interpretation of our laws by our courts have always strongly favored those accused of crime. It remained, however, for the majority of the framers of our State Constitution to engraft this English provision in our bill of rights, where it now appears in Section 9 of Article I of the present Constitution, in part copied from the old Constitution, its effect being to give the libeler a superior standing among criminals.

An eminent member of the State Constitutional Convention of 1878, now one of the learned Justices of our Supreme Court, in urging the convention to place the criminal libeler upon the plane of other criminals by allowing the judge and not the jury to determine the law of the case, thus tersely and cogently illustrated the point:

“If a thief robs you of your property he has not done you an irreparable injury, for you can acquire more; but when he destroys your character he destroys that by which you acquire property. I am not speaking of character in the sentimental sense. If he should assail your character, by which you earn your living, then he is in fact destroying your property. In that sense character is the dearest thing we have—the most valuable. Now, sir, the man who steals your property must be tried by the ordinary laws of the country, but the man who steals your character must stand above the law, spit in the face of the law, because he has a peculiar profession.”

Unhappily, this sage advice and appeal was unheeded; hence, the libeler stands to-day in this State guarded, beyond all power of legislative interference, by a constitutional provision which makes him an aristocrat among criminals by reason of the singular prerogative which he may claim on his trial, that the law of libel is not to be taken by the jury from the lips of the court nor from the statutes enacted by the people, but must be determined by the jury according to their own interpretation, whims, and prejudices. Notwithstanding that the assassin of character is thus favored and protected by an extraordinary constitutional privilege, even though his dastard crime may destroy the fairest reputations of man and woman and drive the maligned to suicide or to a madhouse, yet, under our present laws, the punishment of this criminal is confined to a bare fine or a limited imprisonment in a county jail, leaving the alternative mode of punishment and the minimum penalty to the mere discretion of a possibly intimidated superior or police judge or justice of the peace.

If the libeler's privilege be greater than that of any other criminal, in view of the gravity of the crime, should not the grade be raised from misdemeanor to felony?

Public and individual wealth are subordinate to and of less value than public and individual honor and reputation.

Lord Bacon, living in an age of corruption, had a much higher appreciation of the worth of human reputation than would seem to be ours if we judge from the condition of our laws, for he said: "Men's reputations are tender things, and ought to be, like Christ's coat, without a seam."

The present great Emperor of Germany, last November, defending the memory of Mr. Krupp against newspaper defamation of the deceased manufacturer, manifested his abhorrence of the crime of libel in the following strong terms, the force of which must necessarily be impaired in the translation:

"This deed" (speaking of the libel), "with its consequences, is nothing less than murder, for there is no difference between him who mixes and presents a poisonous draught to another and him who, from the safe shelter of his editorial sanctum, with the poisoned darts of his slanders robs his fellowman of his honorable name and kills him by the mental tortures he inflicts."

Howsoever we may cherish our reputations and publicly and privately condemn libel, we have not, as a practical people, given force to our opinions, nor have we sufficiently intrenched ourselves against libelous assaults by the passage of laws meting out penalties commensurate with the gravity of this most flagrant and obnoxious crime.

It is made a felony by our criminal law to steal from the person of another the merest trifle of his personal property, or even, unsuccessfully, to make the attempt.

It is made a felony to creep secretly into another's barn or outhouse with intent to steal the smallest article of value.

But it is only a misdemeanor for one maliciously and deliberately to rob a man or woman of cherished reputation and destroy the honor which years of virtue and honest life have maintained, or foully to invade the privacy of a household and unbosom and distort its family secrets through the dark inuendoes of a cowardly libel.

It is by our law a felony to attempt to rape the lowest courtesan, but audaciously and vindictively to defame the priceless chastity of purest womanhood is simply a misdemeanor hedged around with the quirks and quillets of the law.

It is by our law made a felony to steal a bicycle, horse, mare, gelding, cow, steer, bull, calf, mule, jack, or jenny, and the convicted offender may wear the stripes of the penitentiary for a period extending from a minimum of one year to a maximum of ten years. Still, on the other hand, the penalty for the crime committed by the convicted destroyer of man's or woman's reputation is only a maximum fine of five thousand dollars, with a nominal sum as a minimum, or an imprisonment in the county jail for a maximum of one year, with a fractional part of a day as a minimum—the determination of the penalty, within those limits, resting on judicial discretion.

With such insufficient penalties imposed upon the crime, it is no wonder that the dignity of the press should be debased and that licentious journalism should be rampant.

The majority of the newspapers of the State, especially the rural press, are generally controlled and owned by brave, moral censors—men whose purpose in life is to purify public opinion, suppress vice and crime, and maintain, by public argument, the rights and liberties of the people. Unhappily, a few glaring instances are to be seen of newspapers conducted by morally irresponsible corporations and certain millionaires which represent, in fact, not the pure and free voice of public opinion, but the business and political interests of the owners, who use them as a means for the attainment of their own ambitions and the expression of their private hates and prejudices.

• With few scruples and millions of dollars at their command, and actively interested in many political movements of the State for their own exaltation, these said proprietors have become such ominous elements as to menace the rights of the people and the security of the State.

Capable of misrepresenting public as well as private interests, when they can not dictate to public officers in the performance of their sworn duties, they do not hesitate to resort to vilification. Even State officials, with the many important interests under their administration, may become their victims, if their insatiate and insolent demands be not obeyed by them. A fine to such millionaire publishers, or a limited imprisonment, which does not place upon them the convict's stripes, is not a source of fear, nor can such minor penalties deter them from the course which ambition or revenge may select.

If timorous or pliant men should, under the present imperfect laws, chance to be elected to public office, it may well be foreseen that such officers may become the mere toys or tools of these ambitious publishers.

The reckless and libelous abuse of private character by a few certain newspaper proprietors is made more dangerous when they guiltily combine or conspire to aid or abet one another in defenses against actions for libel.

The rights of citizens should be protected from such conspiring libelers who thus prostitute the purposes and privileges of a free press; hence it is apparent that the punishment now prescribed by law is inadequate to act as a deterrent for so grave an offense.

It is time to reflect upon this menacing and growing peril. It is time that the people should by law assert their majesty. It is time to preserve the sanctity of good character from the wanton and malicious abuse by the harpies who befoul it. It is time to place a public barrier against newspaper intimidation of private citizens, legislators, and other public officers, and to demonstrate that our State government must not be conducted by and for a few newspapers, but by and for the people.

No honest journalist can deem such necessary action subversive of his liberty and privileges or a limitation of the constitutional rights of the press.

While honest criticism of public officers is both a right and a duty upon the part of newspapers, and while it is also a right and duty to expose malversation or incompetency of all public servants, yet libelous abuse and caricature find no justification when, perchance, the policy of a public officer does not accord with the interests or views of the libeler.

If individual reputations may be torn to shreds at the sport or malignant will of a libeler who stands intrenched behind his money bags, yet public officers ought at least to be permitted to conduct official duties without interference and vilification.

If no constitutional law can be devised by the Legislature to reach this desired end, an amendment to the Constitution tending to abate this alarming evil may in the future become a grave necessity.

At least for the present, as a remedy against wanton and libelous assaults upon the reputation of private individuals and public officers, respect for law and decency may possibly be enforced by making the crime of libel a felony, with a maximum penalty of twenty-five years' imprisonment in the State prison and a minimum imprisonment therein of one year.

It seems to me that it would be no injustice to the press of the State, nor curtailment of its proud liberty, to raise the value in law of man's and woman's reputation, especially considering the fact that the privileged libeler may still stand upon his extraordinary constitutional right of having the jurors, and not the court, determine the law.

As it is but just, however, that there should be no special privileges given to one class accused of crime over another, I recommend a constitutional amendment changing Section 9 of Article I of the Constitution, whereby this legal anomaly of now permitting the libeler to submit the law for the determination of the jury be abolished, and the court be given the power to determine the law as in other cases.

PARDONS, COMMUTATIONS, AND REPRIEVES.

Since my first biennial message, January 7, 1901, I have granted seven pardons and five commutations, as specifically set forth, with my reasons, in "Appendix B" to this message, to which reference is made.

This number, added to one pardon and one commutation previously granted, and which are described on pages 38 and 39 of my first biennial message, make a total of eight pardons and six commutations granted during my administration up to the date of writing this message.

Of these, four pardons and one commutation were issued to persons serving in county jails for misdemeanors, and four pardons and five commutations were issued to persons serving sentences for felonies.

There are, besides, over a hundred applications awaiting my decision, while hundreds have been denied by me.

If my sense of duty were to be counteracted by purely charitable feelings I should regret that my record of pardons and commutations has been and will be so very much below that of all of my distinguished predecessors in office. What was said in my first biennial message upon this subject, I repeat as a part of the reasons which have impelled me to so strictly examine the numerous applications presented, and to grant so few of them as compared with the number of those granted by former Executives.

“The tendency of the human mind is not to resist, but to yield to the appeals of unfortunate criminals and their heart-broken relatives. There is a higher duty which the Executive owes to the people. He must not allow his personal sympathies to be swayed. The law-abiding people of the State require protection. Crimes, whether due to weakness of nature or to cool deliberation, must be punished. To liberate criminals upon the appeal of relatives in all instances where the convicts have repented and have served very long and severe sentences, would be practically to declare that crimes should not be punished.”

“In nearly fifty per cent of the cases which have been presented, the applications are accompanied by a petition signed by the jury which convicted the criminal, and by a letter of the trial judge, expressing his opinion that the sentence imposed was, perhaps, too severe, or that the ends of justice would be subserved by the liberation of the convict.

“This means of attempting to shift the responsibility of a severe sentence upon the Executive is not an argument which can have much effect upon me where the trial has been presumably a fair one, and where the evidence tends to prove the guilt of the accused.

“Judges are sworn to do their duty. The trial judge has the case before him, with the living witnesses, whose demeanor and words bear the impress of truth or falsehood. The judge has heard the case, and while the jury may convict, the power of granting a new trial still rests with him.

“Under these circumstances, acting upon the presumption that the sworn officers of the law have done their duty, I have steadfastly disregarded such appeals in clear cases.

"I have patiently examined each case in the light of my duty to the people, and while my heart has many times urged me to sign the paper which would bring joy to the prisoner and to his anxious friends, yet my oath of office and my responsibility to the people to maintain the law have demanded a different course."

GRASSHOPPER PEST.

During the months of June and July and the early part of August large swarms of grasshoppers invaded several counties of this State, doing much damage, particularly in the counties of Placer, El Dorado, Sacramento, Fresno, and Tulare. The counties of Placer and El Dorado were their breeding-grounds, from which places they drifted to adjacent localities and thence southward through the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys, and scattered in moderate swarms through a few of the counties of Southern California. The damage done and threatened in the county of Sacramento was such as to induce the Supervisors of that county to appeal to the State Board of Horticulture, they being unable to agree with the officers of Placer and El Dorado counties upon a joint plan of action. The members of the Board of Horticulture, upon the opinion of the Attorney-General, found that their powers were too restricted to afford adequate relief, and conferred with me upon the proposition of burning the infested lands.

In view of threatened litigation, if this remedy were resorted to, I advised the members to contract with the owners for the burning of the infested lands, upon the understanding that I should recommend to the Legislature an appropriation covering their estimated loss, not to exceed $10,000. This plan was not, however, carried out by the board.

Throughout this serious trouble, the excellent practical work, great knowledge, and tact of Prof. C. W. Woodworth, of the College of Agriculture of the State University, were of great value to the farmers and fruit-growers of the State, and his assiduous labors are worthy of high commendation.

Considering this great danger and its probable recurrence in the future, it would be advisable that the law be amended so as to increase the powers of the State Board of Horticulture so as to deal effectively with similar conditions hereafter occurring.

The following recommendations made by Professor Woodworth, in Bulletin No. 142, University of California publications, entitled "Grasshoppers in California," seem to me very pertinent:

"It will be imperative, if the hopper situation is to be controlled in the State, that the laws be so amended that there will be definite provision giving some one in each locality the power to conduct the local fight against the hoppers. Perhaps the best way in which this can be accomplished would be to definitely enlarge the powers of the county “horticultural boards and specifically make it their duty to look after the hoppers of their county. This has worked very satisfactorily in the grasshopper fights of other States, and there seems no reason why this machinery already created in this State should not be utilized in this way. There will be really no need of creating any new powers, but merely making the powers we have now for fighting scale insects apply also to the fighting of the grasshopper pest. Of course it should be also clearly understood that in this matter these county commissioners shall work under the directions of the competent supervision insisted upon above.

“State Authority.—The experience this year in Sacramento and adjacent counties shows that it is very important for the success of this work that there shall be a central authority, equally powerful with the local authority, whose duty it shall be to undertake work where adjacent districts are in danger and where the local authority neglects or fails to act. As the horticultural law now stands there is no one who has any power to step in between counties and prevent the inaction of one resulting in a loss to the other. When the horticultural laws were framed the insects had in view were the scales, which are very slow and poor migrants, so that there was scarcely any danger in one county from the neglect of the authorities of the other. With the grasshopper the situation is entirely different. This matter would be put in the proper shape if the State Board of Horticulture were given the same powers possessed by the county boards, which at present the law expressly denies it.”

FALSE REPORTS CONCERNING THE EXISTENCE OF BUBONIC PLAGUE IN CALIFORNIA.

In my first biennial message, January 7, 1901, I referred, at some length, to the subject of certain false and exaggerated reports concerning the alleged existence of bubonic plague in San Francisco, which, through the interest, ignorance, or recklessness of a few persons, were indiscriminately published in the year 1900, and thereafter intermittently continued.

The falsity of the reports has been frequently proved, but, unfortunately, through the ill-designed efforts and action of Dr. J. J. Kinyoun, assuming to represent the United States Marine Hospital Service at San Francisco, and of the members of the San Francisco Board of Health, much damage nevertheless accrued to the various commercial, industrial, and other productive interests of the State, injuring alike the laborer, merchant, farmer, and fruit-grower.

The temporary quarantine established over the State, June 16, 1900, through the interest, ignorance, overzeal, or possible vindictiveness of Dr. Kinyoun, for a time checked many of our exports and, besides, injured the fair name of our State for health.

For several weeks previous to the said quarantine, after a long and careful personal examination and inquiry in San Francisco, entailing much labor, in which I was assisted by many impartial, eminent physicians, bacteriologists, and representative citizens, I arrived at the true conclusion that no case of bubonic plague had been found to exist in San Francisco or elsewhere in the State.

On June 13, 1900, in response to a telegram of inquiry from the Honorable John Hay, U. S. Secretary of State, I telegraphed to him an exact and detailed report of the situation, together with my conclusion that no case of bubonic plague had existed or was known to exist within our State.

This telegraphic report, which will be found on pages 9 and 10 of my first biennial message, was signed and concurred in by eminent bacteriologists, medical experts, and prominent citizens. However, through the misleading reports of Dr. Kinyoun and his local medical allies, notwithstanding all my efforts as Executive and long and frequent explanations to the United States authorities at Washington, it was difficult to convince the Surgeon-General of the United States Marine Hospital Service of the true condition of the health of San Francisco.

I do not wish, in any manner, to impugn the motives or scientific knowledge of the eminent Surgeon-General for his temporary bias, because he was personally distant from the scene and unacquainted with the methods and policy pursued by Dr. Kinyoun and his assistant plague-advocates. Besides, I am satisfied that if we had been so fortunate at the time as to have had his personal investigation and diagnoses of the various cases upon which Dr. Kinyoun acted, there would have been a summary removal of Dr. Kinyoun and a prompt vindication of the health of the State.

The situation was rendered more critical and my actions for the abatement of the general scare and false rumors obstructed by the policy pursued by a few reckless, selfish, and unpatriotic proprietors of newspapers within this State, who, urged by personal malice, prejudice, or hidden interested motives, published in their personal organs that the plague was in reality epidemic, and that the health of the people would be endangered through the removal of the Federal quarantine.

While the general press of the State sustained my position, yet the fulmination of these false and defamatory publications by this dissident and hostile minority strengthened the position of Dr. Kinyoun and his assistants, and the same vicious reports being circulated widely in other States imperiled our commerce by hampering the exportation of our various products and industries. Dr. Kinyoun, encouraged in his unjust policy by the pernicious assistance of these few newspapers, continued his one-sided examination of the health conditions of San Francisco, and whether through inexperience, ignorance, or other cause, labeled as plague-stricken nearly every unknown case of death examined by him and found in the Chinese quarter, and characterized as either true plague or a suspicious case many Chinese invalids who were afflicted only with tuberculosis, venereal diseases, and the like.

The roll of so-called plague cases was increased. The report was unjustifiably heralded throughout the world that bubonic plague was epidemic in our State, and Dr. Kinyoun, in an endeavor to vindicate his own outrageous blunders as a physician, on the 16th of June, 1900, publicly announced the Federal quarantine of this State in defiance of the law and the rights of the people of California.

The following telegram sent by me to the President on the day of the quarantine explained in clear terms the character of Dr. Kinyoun's acts against our State:

Telegram from the Governor to President McKinley.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., June 16, 1900.

The President, Washington, D. C.:

Dr. Kinyoun, the Federal Quarantine Officer of this port, claiming to act under your authority, has unreasonably and unnecessarily quarantined this State in opposition to my full and fair report to the Honorable Secretary of State, under date June 14, 1900, and also among other things, in opposition to the opinion of Judge Morrow, of the United States Court, rendered yesterday, dissolving the quarantine.

Through Dr. Kinyoun's conduct in the past, as well as his present action, the reputation of the State, the rights of citizens, as well as the rights of foreign subjects, are outrageously impaired. The following is a copy of his last orders served upon the various transportation companies:

"OFFICE OF MEDICAL OFFICER IN COMMAND,
"MARINE HOSPITAL SERVICE, SAN FRANCISCO, QUARANTINE,
"SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., June 15, 1900.

"Santa Fe Railway Company, San Francisco, Cal.:

"GENTLEMEN: In accordance with the law of March 27, 1890, and the regulations made thereunder and promulgated by order of the President under date of May 21, 1900, you are hereby notified and directed until further orders not to issue transportation to any one leaving San Francisco for other States or Territories of the United States, unless on presentation of certificate signed by a Marine Hospital officer. Inspectors of the Marine Hospital Service now stationed at the State borders have been instructed to allow no passengers coming from San Francisco to pass the borders of the State on any common carrier unless a certificate is furnished. This has been made necessary on account of the lifting of the quarantine by order of the Federal court, thereby allowing people who have possibly been exposed to the infection of plague to leave this city for other States.

"Respectfully,

"J. J. KINYOUN,

"Surgeon M. H. S. Quarantine Officer, A. M. R."

I am informed that Dr. Kinyoun transmitted dispatches yesterday to Washington, through official channels, wherein are contained unwarranted statements and improper reflections. He has been advised by the United States District Attorney that his course is unjustifiable, and he refuses to withdraw his last order of general quarantine without further instructions from Washington.

On behalf of the people of California, I respectfully protest against his actions, and request immediate relief for the people of this State, the traveling public, and the commercial interests of the coast.

Your most obedient, humble servant,

HENRY T. GAGE,
Governor of the State of California.

Two days thereafter, namely, on June 18, 1900, upon the order of President McKinley, the quarantine was released; but, although the President acted promptly upon being advised of the true situation, the publicity of the matter gave a plausible reason for some of the States, notably Texas, to quarantine against our products and to hinder travel.

Notwithstanding the summary removal of the quarantine, Dr. Kinyoun did not abate his injurious policy of falsely representing to the Surgeon-General of the United States Marine Hospital Service the existence of plague in San Francisco, thus proving himself a continuous source of peril.

So hostile had Dr. Kinyoun become to the acceptance of any proof against his theory of plague that I am satisfied it was largely through his instrumentality and that of the San Francisco Board of Health, and to uphold their false positions, that three biased alleged experts were subsequently sent from Washington to our coast to make a report to Surgeon-General Wyman whether the plague was epidemic as previously reported, and whether the action ordering the quarantine was justifiable under the circumstances.

It was a very singular coincidence that, at this time, in conjunction with this increased harmful activity of Dr. Kinyoun and the arrival of these alleged experts, certain large capitalists in control of a transcontinental railroad line and of shipping and other interests in the Northwest, were most industriously disseminating the injurious reports of the plague at San Francisco, and were using them as an argument to induce the United States Government to change its transport service from San Francisco to Seattle.

On the 26th day of January, 1901, in the middle of the busy session of the Legislature, I was suddenly notified that these alleged plague experts were sent by the United States medical authorities at Washington and were already in San Francisco secretly making a one-sided examination of the alleged plague with the assistance of Dr. Kinyoun and his plague allies. Alarmed at this grave menace to the general interests of our citizens in the event that this partisan medical body should give publicity to their prejudiced findings, and indignant that our State should be so discourteously treated, I telegraphed as follows to the President:

Telegram from the Governor to President McKinley.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, SACRAMENTO, CAL., January 28, 1901.

The President, Executive Mansion, Washington, D. C.:

I have been informed that Treasury Department has sent a commission of experts to this State to examine the pretended plague cases heretofore reported, as well as present health conditions, which commission is now about to commence investigations, ignoring the State authorities in the matter, and proceeding in line with reports heretofore made by Dr. J. J. Kinyoun to Surgeon-General of Marine Hospital Service.

I hope that in this matter of vital interest to the people of California there is no intentional discourtesy on the part of the officer directed by the Treasury Department to supervise this investigation.

In this matter, which concerns deeply the welfare of this State, I respectfully request that co-operation with the State authorities by such experts should be advised, in order that the State may select eminent home bacteriologists and physicians, as well as, if deemed necessary bacteriologists and physicians from other States and countries, to examine the same suspected cases, so as to arrive at a correct and impartial conclusion,

I dislike much now to call your attention to this matter, but the irreparable injury heretofore done to this State by unfair and ex parte examinations warrants this appeal.

Your most obedient, humble servant,

HENRY T. GAGE,
Governor of California.

On January 30, 1901, I received in reply a telegram from the Honorable the Secretary of the Treasury, which, while disclaiming discourtesy, was sufficiently indefinite as to justify my belief that the course outlined by the United States medical authorities would be effectively carried out. This I inferred especially from the following sentence of Secretary Gage's telegram, declining State co-operation in the examination of the suspected plague cases, to wit:

"It is expected to ascertain the facts, and the department does not feel it should hamper the commission in its method of investigating and getting at the facts."

Inasmuch as all my efforts with the United States medical authorities were unable to secure up to that date a fair and impartial investigation of the health conditions of the State, so serious did the situation become that on January 31, 1901, I transmitted a special message to the Legislature, then in session, setting forth the gravity of the matter and appealing for necessary legislation and, among other things, I said:

"The previous inaccurate reports respecting the existence of bubonic plague in this State, which has resulted in the injury to the reputation for health, as well as in the injury to its citizens, industries, and commerce, have been the consequence of a system of ex parte investigation, without opportunity of State examination or superintendence.

"The repetition of such investigations upon secret lines, without public scrutiny under State authority, as have been heretofore pursued, will imperil the welfare of every citizen and inhabitant of this State, and will bring distress to the farmer, orchardist, horticulturist, manufacturer, tradesman, merchant, as well as to all our marine and land transportation companies.

"The meanest criminal, under the Constitution of the United States, can not be denied the right of being confronted by his accusers, listening to their testimony, and subjecting them to cross-examination; and shall it be contended that the great State of California shall be unjustly denied a similar privilege in the opportunity of facing those who, impugning the public health, as the result of a secret and one-sided examination, might choose to cast an irremovable blemish upon the State's sanitary condition, on which the personal rights and property of her citizens in a large measure depend?

"The State being denied a hearing, I conscientiously believe, therefore, that legislation is immediately and urgently needed by which our State may assume that general and unrestrained control over the subject of the public health within its borders which so vitally concerns her, and which is her inalienable right by virtue of her sovereignty."

Meanwhile the experts, jointly with the assistants employed by Dr. Kinyoun, proceeded with their ex parte examination, and not until they had practically finished their outlined course did they apprise me of their presence and of a wish to meet me. The first official notice received from these supposed impartial experts was on February 1, 1901, when I received at Sacramento, while the Legislature was still in session, a formal letter signed by them, dated San Francisco, January 29, 1901, in which letter were contained, with other things, the following:

"Among the orders given to the commission is one stating that the members of the commission are to pay respects on a suitable occasion to the Governor of the State. In the meantime, the members of the commission are undertaking their investigation with as little publicity as possible."

And in fact, there was so little publicity, and it was such a dark-lantern proceeding, that no officer of the State nor unbiased expert was permitted to be present.

The day following, February 2d, I caused a courteous letter to be mailed to said experts, stating, among other contents, that I should be pleased to receive the members of the commission at the State Capitol at such time as the members might deem proper. To this letter I received no reply until February 13, 1901, when I received a letter signed by the experts, expressing their wish to have an opportunity of calling upon me, and requesting me to indicate a time and place.

Although it appeared very singular that these Government experts did not seem to know that official duty ought to have directed them to call at the Executive Department at Sacramento when a matter of such supreme importance to the people of the State was being investigated by them and was depending on their decision, nevertheless, on the receipt of this letter I caused to be mailed a reply reciting the contents of my previous invitation, and named for their convenience February 16, 1901, at 2 P. M., at room 380 of the Palace Hotel, in San Francisco, as the time for meeting.

They attended at this time and place, there being present, at my request, a few representative citizens.

The meeting was purely formal on their part, the experts refusing the proffer of State assistance and evading direct and pertinent inquiries, thereby making it clear that they had already finished their formal duties, and had arrived at a conclusion in accordance with the prejudiced views of Dr. Kinyoun.

On the following day, February 17, 1901, being convinced after another interview with these supposed experts, that their report was completed, I telegraphed the President, setting forth copies of my letters of invitation to them, and among other things, saying:

"The time and place last appointed was the first opportunity given me to meet the members of the commission. At this interview I tendered these gentlemen every assistance the State could render them in the premises, and expressed the desire to be permitted to investigate the question at issue jointly with them. To-day, however, they inform me that their report will be ready for transmission to Washington to-morrow.

"Thus the State has been denied every participation in this investigation, while at the same time the commissioners have been constantly aided by Dr. Kinyoun's assistants. This the commissioners admitted in an interview with me yesterday. Should their report to the Department state that the plague exists here, such conclusion will be regarded by our people as the result of an unfair, unjust investigation. Before such report receives the approval of the Federal authorities at Washington, or be made public, I most earnestly and respectfully request that a reinvestigation be had at once, in which case the Government may appoint three commissioners and the State of California three others, all to have power to select a seventh member in case such commission be equally divided in opinion. The decision of such a commission would and should be regarded and treated by every one as decisive. If this most important but humble request be denied us, then we respectfully submit that before the commissioners' report be made public, and prior to taking any action thereon, the representatives of this State to be sent from here should be accorded a personal hearing in Washington, to the end that undue alarm and consequent injury may be avoided. Whatever differences of opinion may at this time exist as to the existence or non-existence of plague, no one can honestly be of the opinion that the disease is epidemic in San Francisco, nor can anybody seriously contend that ample protective and preventive measures can not be taken in the premises, without even spreading great or any alarm among the people and without disturbing our commercial affairs. I take pleasure in assuring you, notwithstanding anything that may have been said to the contrary, that California wishes to co-operate with the Federal authorities in this most important matter, having in view not only our own but the welfare of the whole people, and I implore you to afford our State an opportunity for such co-operation."

To this telegram the Honorable the United States Secretary of the Treasury replied as follows :

Telegram from Hon. Lyman J. Gage, U. S. Secretary of the Treasury, to the Governor.

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 19, 1901.

His Excellency the Governor of California:

Replying to your telegram of the 7th instant to the President, while the Department does not deem it necessary to join in a new commission as you propose, it is not its purpose to make public the report of the present commission till you are advised of its purport, and even then the matter will be very seriously considered before any action is taken. The Department is in accord with you in your desire to prevent unnecessary alarm and to consider measures with the least possible publicity or disturbance of commercial affairs, and will pursue this policy both with regard to its commission in California and its action at this end. In other words, it will endeavor to prevent undue publicity, and desires to, if possible, avoid publishing any report. The Department accepts with pleasure your suggestion to send a special representative of the State, believing he can familiarize himself with the situation here, and trusting it will result in co-operation.

L. J. GAGE, Secretary.

Realizing that it would be difficult to select, immediately, a representative who would be sufficiently familiar with all the facts to explain the situation to the Federal authorities at Washington, I sent a telegram, on February 19, 1901, to the Secretary of the Treasury, stating, among other things, that if the matter of action on the report of the experts could be deferred until after the adjournment of the Legislature, then sitting, that I would personally present the matter to the Treasury Department. This proposition did not, however, meet the views of the Secretary of the Treasury, who intimated his disapproval of a delay, in a telegram to me dated February 21, 1901, expressing, however, assurances that it was the wish of the Department to avoid publicity and cause the least possible detriment to commercial interests.

While these matters were pending between the United States Treasury and the Executive Department of the State, early in February, it was deemed advisable by the Surgeon-General to remove that very objectionable character, Dr. Kinyoun, whose attitude was so exceedingly adverse to our State interests as to jeopardize the harmony existing between the Executive Department and the United States Marine Hospital Service. Dr. J. H. White was selected in place of Dr. Kinyoun in this particular matter, and while his honesty of purpose can not be gainsaid, it is to be regretted that his personal views were limited and biased by the previous report of the so-called experts that plague was actually epidemic in San Francisco—a report ludicrous by lapse of time and in the light of subsequent events.

Dr. White's personal reports, therefore, to the Surgeon-General, were at least unconsciously colored, and, notwithstanding his tact and wish to impartially investigate the conditions, his course was impeded by the publication of the substance of the report of the alleged experts, and of the personal opinions of Dr. Kinyoun, who had not as yet been removed from the State, in those few sensational newspapers whose proprietors upheld, for their own selfish interests, the false rumor of the prevalence of plague.

After several consultations with Dr. J. H. White, the Federal officer in charge at San Francisco, I felt that the Surgeon-General of the U. S. Marine Hospital Service might not recede from the position taken, and that some compromise was necessary for the best interests of the State, notwithstanding the fact that plague did not exist. Money was needed also, in the event of an emergency, for the State to rid itself of the odium of plague caused by the said numerous publications; hence, on February 19, 1901, the Legislature passed an Act entitled "An Act to prevent the introduction and provide for the investigation and suppression of contagious or infectious diseases and appropriating money to be used for such purpose," wherein the sum of $100,000 was authorized to be expended by the State Board of Health under the direction of the Governor for the investigation and suppression of bubonic plague and other infectious and contagious diseases.

Upon the 25th of February, 1901, the United States medical authorities still insisting upon their position that the plague was epidemic in San Francisco, I telegraphed the Secretary of the Treasury, as follows:

Telegram of the Governor to the Secretary of the Treasury.

SACRAMENTO, February 25, 1901.

To HON. LYMAN J. GAGE, Secretary of Treasury, Washington, D. C.:

In reply to your dispatch of date February 21, you are aware that a dispute originally arose between the Federal authorities and the State authorities in reference to health conditions of California; and whereas, since then, the Federal authorities have made investigations in which the State authorities were not allowed to participate; and whereas, the commissioners who prosecuted the investigations for the United States, under such circumstances, have concluded that the health conditions of San Francisco need certain attention; and whereas, heretofore I expressed my views in regard thereto by message to the Legislature of California; still, in view of all of the circumstances and conditions, believing that it will be for the best interest of all concerned, first having been assured by your office that your Department would take the steps hereinafter referred to, if requested, and in the performance thereof would, among other things, be particular to avoid publicity, and that the management would be pursued with the least possible detriment to our commercial interests; and believing that, if the Federal authorities be given control in the premises, all other States of the Union may be better satisfied, and that all general quarantine of this State and of its cities will be thereby avoided, and that all quarantine of other States against this State may be avoided, and so forth, I therefore respectfully request the United States authorities to take charge of the matter within this State and deal with the situation from the standpoint of the report of its commissioners, but without cost or charge to this State, at the same time assuring you of my hearty co-operation.

I thank you for your courtesy, and await your reply.

HENRY T. GAGE,
Governor of the State of California.

On the following day I received from the Secretary of the Treasury this reply, namely:

Telegram of the Secretary of the Treasury to the Governor.

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 26, 1901.

His Excellency the Governor of California, Sacramento, Cal.:

Acknowledging receipt of your telegram of the twenty-fifth, the Department wishes to express its appreciation of your courteous attitude in the matter under consideration, and desires to submit to you the following suggestions, namely, that in the work to be performed, while all ordinary expenses incurred in the payment of its own officers may be met by the Department under the law in accordance with usage, the chief burden should be borne by the City of San Francisco. The Mayor and other necessary local authorities should be notified, as were you, with a view to an understanding as to this matter. No municipality has ever depended financially upon the Government under like circumstances, though there have been numerous parallel cases during epidemics of yellow fever. Even if the Department should be willing, contrary to its announced policy, the matter would have to be brought before Congress for an appropriation, which is now practically impossible, and would moreover give undue publicity. Surgeon White will be the agent of the Department, in charge of the whole situation, which, in view of the return of troops in the near future from the Philippines through San Francisco, will be doubly necessary. Please answer as to above suggestions.

L. J. GAGE, Secretary.

The necessity becoming urgent of appointing representatives from our State to consult with the United States medical authorities at Washington, and remove the existing tension, on February 27, 1901, I appointed able and distinguished citizens—Messrs. John P. Young, Henry T. Scott, T. T. Williams, and W. F. Herrin—to act as Special State Health Commissioners and proceed to Washington and communicate with the authorities in charge concerning the health conditions of San Francisco and of the State. On March 1, 1901, I duly issued commissions to these citizens, and, also, on the same day, issued to the accomplished Mr. Fremont Older a separate commission to represent both the City of San Francisco and the State with the aforesaid commissioners. My selection of the commissioners was most fortunate, for these gentlemen succeeded, as far as it was possible, in convincing the Federal authorities that the health conditions of the State had been misrepresented by those who had reported the plague as epidemic in San Francisco. The work of the commissioners was completed with much tact and wisdom, and I deem it necessary to append their report for the purpose of explaining the work done under State direction for the relief of the people in conformity with the requirements of the Federal authorities. This report is annexed to this message, and also the special report of the State Board of Health, dated August 27, 1901, which are marked "Appendix A," and reference is made thereto.

It will be seen from the annexed report of the Special Health Commissioners that an arrangement was made with Dr. J. H. White, representing the United States Marine Hospital Service, the Mayor of San Francisco, and the State Board of Health, whereby a joint investigation and cleansing of Chinatown was undertaken under the direction of the Federal medical authorities, the expense of which was to be sustained by the City and County of San Francisco and the State jointly in certain agreed proportions, as shown on page 7 of the report of the commissioners.

In pursuance of this agreement, it appears from the report of the State Board of Health, dated August 27, 1901, set forth in Appendix A, that the work of disinfecting, cleansing, and fumigating Chinatown under the supervision of Dr. J. H. White, representing the United States Marine Hospital Service, was commenced by the State Board of Health April 8, 1901, and occupied upward of seventy days, during which time numerous cases of alleged plague were examined.

In every instance where a complete diagnosis was made by Federal officers, in the presence of State officers, the suspicion of plague was fully disproved, which has been since admitted to be the fact by Surgeon-General Wyman through his dispatch to me dated June 18, 1901, which is herein set out at length. This frank official opinion of the Surgeon-General not only rested upon the experience of that joint investigation, but is equally true when applied to the subsequent conditions. What stronger or more conclusive proof in the premises of the non-existence of plague can be adduced than the well-known and recorded fact that during all the time since 1900 there have been fewer deaths in Chinatown in proportion to its population than in any other portion of San Francisco? Is it not the height of absurdity to claim there is an epidemic of plague raging in a given place which presents a smaller death-rate than any other locality? And it is an indisputable fact that the comparative death-rate in San Francisco is exactly as I have here stated it, notwithstanding that the Federal records made early in 1900 contained the report that plague was then epidemic in that city.

The members of the State Board of Health in their aforesaid report summarize their labors as follows:

"The State has scrubbed an area equal to 525 acres, and in addition thereto, fumigated about 30,000,000 cubic feet of dwelling apartments.

"Have seen 307 sick cases and autopsied 103.

"Total cost to date, $37,518.

"Number of days cleansing Chinatown and visiting the sick, 142.

"During all of which time we have not observed a single case of bubonic plague."

In concluding their report they say:

"At the beginning of this work the Federal authorities who co-operated with us were of the opinion, based upon reports of others, more or less trustworthy, that bubonic plague was prevalent among the Chinese of that city, and that it would be readily found as soon as proper investigation was had. During this period of fumigation, disinfecting, and

"cleansing, no effort was omitted on our part nor on the part of the "Marine Hospital representatives to locate and identify the presence of "plague.

"At the conclusion of the work, as thorough and searching as it could "possibly be made, no case of bubonic plague was found, nor was any "indication of its having been there discovered. If plague had existed in "San Francisco just prior to this sanitary investigation, it would have "been there during the months of April, May, and June, because no efforts "had been made to suppress it and no precautions taken to prevent its "spread.

"It is safe, therefore, to say that the evil reports of the presence of "that disease in San Francisco were based upon error in diagnosis upon "the part of incompetent investigators. We take great pleasure in "assuring you that plague does not exist in San Francisco, and that it "never has had lodgment there, nor elsewhere in California."

The people of the State owe a debt of gratitude to the members of the present State Board of Health and their assistants for the zealous, painstaking, and successful discharge of their many difficult duties in this connection.

During the progress of this work of cleansing Chinatown, Dr. White, observing the low mortality and small number of sick among the Chinese in proportion to their numbers, and failing to find a single case of plague, on May 18, 1901, wrote to me deducing an unfavorable conclusion from these good sanitary signs and intimated a bare and unfounded suspicion that the sick and dead were being secretly removed by the Chinese from San Francisco to other towns and cities. Upon this hypothesis he requested leave that he should be authorized through his agents to investigate sickness and deaths in any other town or city in this State.

This demand seemed so unjustifiable, that on May 28, 1901, I telegraphed him as follows:

Telegram of the Governor to Dr. White, U. S. Marine Hospital Service.

SACRAMENTO, May 28, 1901.

DR. J. H. WHITE, Surgeon Marine Hospital Service,

No. 420 California Street, San Francisco, Cal.:

You will please take notice that the State authorities have not requested you nor any other officer of the Federal Government to investigate or participate in an examination of the health conditions of the State outside the limits of the City and County of San Francisco, and that the State Board of Health is complying in every respect with the conditions requested by the Federal authorities, and is fully carrying out the agreement with the U. S. Treasury Department.

I have always been ready and desirous of making the most searching investigation into the health conditions of San Francisco and other points within this State, but the investigation should be conducted on fair and honest lines by those representing the Federal Government and the State.

I decline to allow you to assume control of State health affairs, and pursue secret and hidden investigations. The State authorities are now and always have been abundantly able to look after the health concerns of the State without interference. Your mere suspicion from the improved health of the Chinese district that the sick are being removed from San Francisco, is not only unwarranted as a conclusion, but I know it to be unfounded in fact. I, therefore, decline to authorize your agents, whose responsibility to me is unknown, to do as you have proposed and requested. If there is any city, town, or district within this State where you yourself desire to make examination, let me know, and I will send some one suitably qualified professionally to look over the matter with you. But one-sided secret examinations, such as have been witnessed in San Francisco, to its great detriment, and to that of the State, will not be permitted elsewhere.

If you desire to have a conference with me at any opportune time, I will be pleased to comply with your wish, but communications by mail or telegraph are unsatisfactory.

HENRY T. GAGE, Governor

That the exceptional good health of the Chinese in San Francisco should lead to the inference of suppressed plague was an exceedingly novel position, which, had it not emanated from a high medical authority, might have been characterized as grim humor.

That the humor of Dr. White's position was not perceived by his superior officer will appear from the following telegram afterward received from the accomplished Surgeon-General:

Telegram from U. S. Surgeon-General Wyman to the Governor.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 18, 1901.

His Excellency GOVERNOR GAGE, Sacramento, Cal.:

Dr. White has arrived, and reports work of cleansing and disinfecting Chinatown, San Francisco, nearly complete, and that he is satisfied the work has been done by your agents under his advice in full compliance with the understanding. A few unfit habitations remain to be condemned; that work is in progress by the San Francisco supervisors, and all will be completed within a few days. It is a matter of mutual congratulation that no cases have been found during the progress of this work, and that the outlook is so encouraging. For our mutual protection and interests I believe it very essential that the supplementary work indicated in Dr. White's telegram to you of June 7th should follow, as it will cause continued satisfaction and prevent comment and criticism of both the State and Service, which would otherwise be likely to follow. The bureau here is able, by reason of its central position, to know the sentiments which prevail, and a quiet performance of the labors suggested by Dr. White is in many points advisable from every standpoint. I have read this telegram to the Secretary of the Treasury, who coincides therewith, and if necessary will communicate with you himself. Will you kindly wire your views?

WALTER WYMAN,
Surgeon-General, M. H. S.

Our previous experience with the blundering investigations of Dr. Kinyoun justified me in refusing to permit his successor to pursue ex parte examinations throughout the State; hence, I transmitted the following letter to Surgeon-General Wyman:

Letter of the Governor to U. S. Surgeon-General Wyman.

DR. WALTER WYMAN, Surgeon-General M. H. S., Washington, D. C.:

SIR: I am much pleased to receive through yourself assurances that the agreements made by this State have been performed "in full compliance with the understanding," and likewise greatly value the statement, emanating from such high scientific authority as yourself (especially having before us the past grave blunders of others not having had your wide experience), that now it is certain and a matter of mutual congratulation "no case" (of plague) "has been found during the progress of this work," which result was by me at all times confidently expected.

The State authorities have made thorough and extraordinary investigations, and I am fully advised as to the health conditions of California, and know there is no occasion at this time for the further investigation suggested by Dr. White, and am most happy to report that it will not be necessary for your Department to be further burdened.

However, if it is your pleasure, as a mere precautionary measure, to make further autopsies, or if there is any city, town, or district within this State which you, through your Department, desire to inspect, please be good enough to name such competent persons as you desire and I will most cheerfully send others qualified professionally and in every particular to co-operate and look over the situation with them, and thereby further your highly commendable purpose in that regard. But one-sided or secret examinations (not at all times participated in by the State), such as have, in the past, been witnessed in San Francisco, to its irreparable detriment and to that of the whole State, you can readily see, from the result of your own recent searching and valuable examination, should not, and can not, be again permitted.

I appreciate most deeply your kind offices and shall be glad to co-operate with you in future.

Respectfully yours,

HENRY T. GAGE.

For some time after the cleansing of Chinatown no claim was made of the discovery of additional plague cases. But the restive spirit of science was subsequently manifested through the investigations of a certain bacteriologist whom Dr. Kinyoun had left as a legacy to Dr. White; hence reports of alleged cases have been since occasionally published as the result of his ex parte investigations.

These reported sporadic cases have been more numerous whenever it was imagined that the vigilance of the State Board of Health had relaxed, and they have been verified only by those medical gentlemen who, at an early stage, favored the theory of Dr. Kinyoun and whose pride of opinion has prevented them from being convinced of their self-deception.

Perhaps it would be only fair to say, that the medical investigators, in most instances, who have contended that plague existed in San Francisco or elsewhere in this State, have been honest in their opinions and purposes, but that their judgments have been warped, their experiments have been hasty and incomplete, their inductions partial and inaccurate, and their conclusions, therefore, necessarily illogical and untrue.

Since writing the foregoing, I have had the great pleasure of meeting in San Francisco that very able gentleman hereinbefore referred to, Surgeon-General Walter Wyman, for many years last past and now having charge of the Marine Hospital Service of the United States, and whose recent visit to California to personally inspect the health conditions of the State will, assuredly, reveal to him the ignorance and vicious conduct of Dr. Kinyoun and his plague adherents. Surgeon-General Wyman is not only a highly distinguished public officer, but also a medical scientist appearing to have very conservative views, and I think it is therefore safe to predict that he and his proficient and accomplished assistant, Dr. Glennan, will save us from all further annoyance of threats of improper quarantine and of inaccurate reports growing out of reckless investigations.

One of the dearly-learned lessons taught by this unfortunate plague scare is the duty of our people, while always respecting Federal prerogatives, sacredly to guard the State in the future against all encroachments upon its rights.

FUNDS FOR THE PREVENTION AND SUPPRESSION OF INFECTIOUS AND CONTAGIOUS DISEASES.

Out of the fund of $100,000 provided by the Act of February 19, 1901, and the fund referred to in the Act approved March 23, 1893, for the prevention and suppression of infectious and contagious diseases, the State Board of Health has, during this administration, necessarily expended to this date the sum of $72,911.76, leaving a balance of $66,623.05, as appears from the following report received from the State Controller at the time of this writing:

CONTROLLER'S DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
SACRAMENTO, 2d Jan. 1903.

HON. HENRY T. GAGE, Governor of California, Sacramento:

SIR: In answer to your inquiries:

First—"Balance in fund appropriating money to prevent introduction of contagious diseases, approved March 23, 1893, when Governor Gage took office".....	$39,534 81
Second—"The amount of the fund appropriated by the thirty-fourth Legislature for the prevention of the introduction and for the investigation and suppression of contagious and infectious diseases, approved February 19, 1901".....	100,000 00
Third—"The amount drawn against these funds to date".....	72,911 76
Fourth—"The amount of money for which vouchers have been filed".....	72,911 76
Fifth—"The balance remaining in the appropriations at this date".....	66,623 05

Yours respectfully,

E. P. COLGAN, Controller.

The careful and efficient work done by the State Board of Health in the sanitation of Chinatown, as well as in dispelling the reports of plague, convince me of the great importance of permanently providing for a like emergency disease fund to be at the disposal of the State Board of Health, subject to the conditions in the aforesaid Act of February 19, 1901 (Stats. 1901, page 10).

The Governor of this State, in conformity with the said Act of the Legislature, should always have an emergency fund of from $100,000 to $150,000 in readiness to deal properly with sudden and dangerous disease epidemics of all kinds which might hereafter be brought from other States and foreign countries.

CHINATOWN A MENACE—NECESSITY OF STATE ACTION.

Notwithstanding that the reports of plague in the Chinese quarter of San Francisco have been unfounded, this part of the city will always be somewhat of a menace until better sanitation is there enforced. Its uncleanly state, and the mode of life and habits of many of the Chinese residents, seem to me to need legislative inquiry and appropriate legislation whereby unwholesome conditions may be abated and the various underground places, as far as possible, abolished; and perhaps it might be well, furthermore, to give careful consideration to the advisability of future measures looking to a change in the location of Chinatown.

CIVIL WAR CLAIMS.

On January 4, 1899, in my inaugural address, I called attention to the unsettled claims of the State against the General Government, for the furnishing, equipping, and paying volunteers during the Civil War, amounting to over $4,000,000, and I recommended that our Senators and Representatives be requested to urge the passage of a law refunding to the State the money so advanced.

Since this recommendation in my inaugural address, I am pleased to note that the State Controller has referred to this important matter especially in his report dated December 1, 1902, where he states that under the Act of Congress, approved February 14, 1902, he hopes that something may be accomplished, and further says that he has been in correspondence with the Auditor of the War Department, and expresses confidence that, with the assistance of our representatives in Congress, success may be expected.

I have little doubt, if the matter be actively attended to by our Senators and Representatives, that Congress will acquiesce, by proper measures, in this just return of the money advanced and expended by the State in defense of the Nation.

One of the serious obstacles to the allowance of this claim, hitherto existing, has been the delegation of these claims to special agents and lobbyists for collection, with a promise of a percentage upon the recovery of these claims. That a great State, having honored and able representatives in Congress, should deputize collection agents, upon promise of commissions, to urge a just and equitable claim against the General Government, is a reflection upon the character of the demand itself, as well as upon the policy of the State.

It was owing to this circumstance, mainly, that a measure, introduced in Congress in 1898, failed to receive approval. Actuated by this conviction, on March 17, 1899, I vetoed Assembly Bill No. 651, having this object in view, entitled "An Act to authorize the Governor to appoint agents to collect from the United States the money advanced by the State of California for the benefit of the United States in aiding the State volunteers mustered into the service of the United States during the rebellion, and allowing them compensation therefor, if successful."

In that veto message (Assembly Journal, 1899, page 1661), I said, among other things :

"If these claims of our State be founded in equity, and I am convinced that they are, the Federal Government will recognize their validity, and will pay them upon proper efforts in Congress by our Senators and Representatives, whose duty it is to secure for the State its legal and equitable demands. If the money belongs to the State, it should collect it through the proper official channels, without employing brokers or appointing partners to share in the collections. The honor of our State ought not to be impugned through the acts of delegated lobbyists, while prosecuting its claims against the National Government."

CLAIMS AGAINST THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT ARISING OUT OF THE SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR—PAYMENT OF VOLUNTEERS.

Early in the year 1900, the late Adjutant-General, W. H. Seamans, under my instructions, assiduously began the difficult task of bringing to a settlement the unpaid claims against the United States Government which arose out of the Spanish-American War, and which were pending under my predecessor's administration.

The payment of an unsettled balance, which had been presented through Governor Budd, was suspended on account of specific objections urged by the United States War Department, and this claim required a new specification of items and statement of differences, and a renewal of the demand, which accounts are still undetermined and awaiting the action of the War Department.

These accounts are for transportation, subsistence, pay of naval militia, and incidental expenses, aggregating $18,177.98, which are particularly set forth in the last report of Adjutant-General Stone.

In addition to these undecided claims there were collected and prepared, after much care and labor, accounts due many of the California U. S. Volunteers to the Spanish-American War for duty from the time of their enrollment and assembling to the date of their actual muster in the United States service.

The State has not paid nor provided for the payment of these services, but under an Act of Congress, approved July 8, 1898, and as amended March 3, 1899, the United States Government made provision for their payment. By Section 6 of the amendatory Act, it was provided that all claims for such services should be presented in itemized form to the Treasury Department on or before January 1, 1902, or be forever barred.

In view of the fact that comparatively few of the officers and soldiers of the U. S. Volunteers were aware of the provisions of these Acts of Congress, Lieutenant-Colonel Peeler, of the National Guard of California, was detailed on special duty to collect receipts and vouchers from such of the volunteers whom it was possible to reach. Claims and vouchers were finally secured aggregating the sum of $58,244.86, but it was impossible by reason of the death, absence from the State, and general dispersion of the volunteers to present complete claims of all the volunteers entitled to pay.

These collected claims were itemized as required by the Acts of Congress and according to the rules of the War Department, and were presented in person in November, 1901, to the department at Washington, by Adjutant-General Seamans. I am much grieved to state that the previous ill-health of Adjutant-General Seamans, added to the rigors of an Eastern winter, resulted in his death on January 3, 1902, a few days before these claims were finally settled, whereby the State of California lost an excellent public officer, a gallant soldier, and an honorable citizen.

On January 7, 1902, the Auditor of the U. S. War Department, by settlement No. 17,333, issued a check to my order in the sum of $58,151.26 in payment of the claims of the volunteers, which, allowing for excusable errors, was, in substance, a full settlement of the claims as presented by Adjutant-General Seamans.

There being no mode provided by law for the custody and deposit of this large sum, it being held as a trust fund for the numerous volunteers whose vouchers had been presented, and, being satisfied that the payments would necessarily extend over a long period of time by reason of the death and dispersion of the various claimants and of many assignments, I deemed it advisable to place the sum in the care of the State Treasury as a special deposit and cause payments to be made therefrom by checks signed by the Governor, and countersigned by the Adjutant-General, drawn against this special deposit.

It transpired, in fact, as I anticipated, that many of the original claimants had assigned their claims, some had left the State, others were in the army in the Philippines, and a few had died, their heirs presenting the claims of the deceased. Duplicate registers of the accounts and of their payments are kept in the offices of the Governor and Adjutant-General. The present condition of this fund appears in the following reports made to me by the State Treasurer and Adjutant-General, to wit:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
SACRAMENTO, CAL., December 31, 1902.

HON. HENRY T. GAGE, Governor of California:

DEAR SIR: AS "custodian" of the Special (war with Spain) Fund, I beg to submit the following report of transactions in said fund, ending with the close of business on above date:

Number of Governor's warrants paid	2,459
Amount received from Governor for disbursement	$58,151 26
Aggregate amount of warrants paid	53,425 26
Balance on hand, subject to draft	$4,726 00

Respectfully submitted,

[Official seal.]

TRUMAN REEVES, State Treasurer,
By D. A. MOULTON, Deputy.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE,
SACRAMENTO, January 1, 1903.

C. I.

His Excellency HENRY T. GAGE, Governor of the State of California, Sacramento, Cal.:

SIR: I have the honor to report to you as follows concerning the disbursement of the fund for the pay of California U. S. Volunteers, Spanish-American War of 1898, from the date of their enrollment to date of their muster into the United States service, or rejection, ending with the close of business, December 31, 1902:

Amount collected from U. S. Government and deposited by Governor Gage with the State Treasurer as "Special Fund (war with Spain)"-----		$58,151 26
Checks issued and paid-----	$53,425 26
Balance in treasury, subject to check-----	4,726 00
		$58,151 26
Checks issued-----		$53,969 26
Checks outstanding, not presented-----	$544 00
Checks paid-----	53,425 26
		$53,969 26

Very respectfully,

GEO. STONE, Adjutant-General.

N. S. BANGHAM, Assistant Adjutant-General.

In view of the want of statutory provision for the custody of this money so collected, I respectfully recommend that a law be passed providing that the State Treasurer be the custodian, holding the same on special deposit, and payable on the checks of the Governor and Adjutant-General as heretofore. I also join in Adjutant-General Stone's recommendation (among many other good suggestions of that very capable officer) in his last report, for the purpose of a law, which should be made expressly retroactive, as follows:

"That an Act be passed by the Legislature authorizing the payment of money due deceased members of the California Volunteers from the date of enrollment to the date of muster in, or rejection by the medical examiner, to the heirs of such deceased persons, upon proper verification, without obtaining letters of administration."

UNPAID BALANCE OF STATE'S MONEY IN THE CALIFORNIA STATE BANK OF SACRAMENTO.

Since the year 1895, there has remained on deposit in the California State Bank of Sacramento the sum of $1,267.99, being an unpaid balance of the appropriation authorized by an Act of the Legislature entitled "An Act to appropriate money to pay the National Guard of California for services rendered by order of the Governor, to enforce the law, in eighteen hundred and ninety-three and eighteen hundred and ninety-four," approved February 25, 1895.

This money has been for this long time deposited in bank unused and has not been drawing interest. While the bank has been at all times anxious and willing to pay said sum to the proper officer, yet there seems to be no one legally authorized to collect the money. I recommend that an Act be passed designating some public officer or officers to collect the money and providing for its proper disposition when so collected.

LOSS TO STATE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY BY CLOSING STATE FAIR.

The assassination of our great and beloved President, William McKinley, occurred during the progress of our State Fair, and at my suggestion, the Directors of the State Board of Agriculture caused the fair to be prematurely closed out of respect for the memory of our lamented President.

I am loth to make any recommendations concerning appropriations, in view of the fact that their reasonableness and expediency must be determined by my distinguished successor; but, in this case, I promised the Directors that I would recommend an appropriation in an amount sufficient to cover the actual loss sustained.

Upon inquiry as to the items of loss, I received from the Directors, through their Secretary, the following communication, and therefore, in accordance with my promise, I submit the matter for your determination :

SACRAMENTO, CAL., November 17, 1902.

HON. HENRY T. GAGE, Governor of California, Sacramento, Cal.

DEAR SIR: In response to your request for information with respect to the loss sustained by the State Agricultural Society by reason of closing the fair on Saturday, September 14, 1901, caused by the death of President McKinley and out of respect to his memory, I am pleased to report as follows:

The exact amount of the loss sustained can not be definitely stated, but it consists of admission fees which would have been received and rebates which the Society was forced to pay to persons who had purchased privileges. These items are, as nearly as they admit of definite statement, as follows:

Admissions to the Park, one day	$2,325 00
Admissions to the Pavilion, one day	1,500 00
Rebates paid to purchasers of Park privileges	1,708 75
Rebates paid to purchasers of Pavilion privileges	42 00
Loss on sale of daily programmes and cost of printing same	150 00
One-twelfth music contract	163 00
One-twelfth gas and electric light contracts	100 00
One-twelfth Morse Police Patrol contract	70 00
One-twelfth forage	75 00

The amounts stated above as rebates are the actual amounts paid. The admission fees and sales of programmes are conservative estimates, based upon previous experience, and proportionate to the previous attendance during the fair of 1901.

The above amount represents a clear loss to the Society, as all of our fixed charges had already been incurred, consisting of advertising, help, music, and other contracts, and they were in nowise reduced by the shortening of the fair. The closing of the gates on this day was a serious loss to the Society, and has occasioned us much financial embarrassment. We earnestly trust, through your favorable recommendation, that these losses will be reimbursed.

Very respectfully,

GEORGE W. JACKSON, Secretary.

STATE HOSPITALS FOR THE INSANE.

The several State Hospitals for the Insane are well managed by the respective boards, and the result is a most marked improvement in their condition since my assumption of duties.

Under the excellent superintendency of Dr. Crane, the State Hospital at Agnews has become a model asylum, and the former unhappy scandals and reports of horrors existing under previous administrations are no longer heard nor tolerated.

More than a year ago Dr. Crane expressed a wish to resign from his arduous duties on account of impaired health, but he was persuaded to continue in charge of the Hospital until early in December, when, I deeply regret to say, his ill-health compelled him to tender his final resignation, which is a great loss to the inmates of the hospital, whose best interests he had at heart and who received his most tender care and attention.

I am much pleased to state that my plan suggested to the several Trustees, and by them executed, of employing women physicians to attend the female patients, has been productive of much benefit, and has relieved these institutions from the odium existing under some other administrations.

Respecting this matter, I beg leave to direct your attention to what was said in my first biennial message, namely:

“Female Physicians Appointed.”—At the inception of my administration I perceived the necessity of employing female physicians in the State Hospitals for the Insane, on account of the large number of female patients. I laid the matter before the Lunacy Commission, and am pleased to say that the plan met with the hearty approval of the members of the commission, and two female physicians were appointed, after due examination as to their qualifications—one being assigned to Napa and the other to Stockton, and duty required them to visit the other State asylums.

“The appointment of these female physicians was only made possible by the reduction by the Lunacy Commission in the salaries of the officers and employes of the asylums, by reason of the amendment to the law passed pursuant to the proclamation at the extraordinary session in 1900.”

THE STATE PRISONS.

From reports received this day from the wardens of the State prisons at Folsom and San Quentin, it appears that there are incarcerated in San Quentin 1,490 male prisoners and 23 female prisoners, and in Folsom 788 male prisoners.

The management of these prisons is fully described in the last biennial report of the State Board of Prison Directors, dated November, 1902, where the board, considering the reports of the wardens and clerks of San Quentin and Folsom prisons, among other pertinent matters, say:

“These reports show in detail the financial condition and operation of the prisons and contain other statistical information, which obviates the necessity of our going into the same matters or making a more extended report to you at this time. As will be observed from a perusal of the reports, both prisons are in excellent financial condition and the best of discipline among the prisoners is preserved. Two years ago the reports of the officers at San Quentin showed that a large sum of money had been saved during the two previous years from the sale of grain bags, and their report this year shows the same thing to have continued, and, we believe, as expressed to you in our report at that time, that the manufacture of grain bags at the prison at San Quentin has been a vast benefit to the farmers of this State, not only in preserving the price of all grain bags at the lowest possible figure, but also in preventing combination

"among the dealers. It is our pleasure to report again that the opium traffic at San Quentin is still under control and has in fact been practically completely destroyed, and during the two years last past there has been no opium found in San Quentin prison. * * * The officers of both prisons have been faithful in their attention to duties, and we are pleased to report that most perfect discipline prevails in both prisons."

THE STATE REFORM SCHOOLS.

Upon the assumption of my duties of office and for several months afterward, the condition of the Preston School of Industry was very unsatisfactory.

Notwithstanding the efforts of the Board of Trustees, the inmates were undisciplined and the school was fast becoming demoralized.

Reluctant to make sudden changes where I believed that the officers were apparently capable and their efforts well directed, still, after a personal visit and inspection, I was convinced that the condition of the school could be materially improved by a change in the superintendency, if a proper person could be found. After considering many names submitted for selection, I recommended Rev. C. B. Riddick, of Alameda County, to the trustees, who, accepting my suggestion, appointed him Superintendent.

I have had much reason to be gratified at the selection of this gentleman, whose integrity, capacity, and industry, always above reproach, have resulted in a complete moral and intellectual reformation of the school. The last report of the Preston School of Industry gives a detailed account of its management and present condition, which as well reflects credit upon the Trustees as upon the Superintendent.

I am pleased, also, to say, that the Whittier State School is much improved, and that the disagreements, which existed under the previous management and obstructed, in some degree, its advancement, have been altogether removed, and, under its present officers, careful attention is given to the education of its inmates, and a strict moral discipline maintained.

INSTITUTION FOR THE EDUCATION OF THE DEAF AND THE BLIND.

The Directors of the California Institution for the Education of the Deaf and Blind, and the Superintendent, appear to have zealously performed their duties.

On account of some unknown cause of infection, a serious epidemic of smallpox broke out in May, 1901, endangering, for a time, the lives of the inmates. Through the perfect disinfecting and cleansing measures employed by the State Board of Health by my order, and the skill and care of the physician in charge, the disease was within a comparatively short time effectually suppressed without a single death.

INDUSTRIAL HOME OF MECHANICAL TRADES FOR THE ADULT BLIND.

The good management of the Industrial Home for the Adult Blind under the present Board of Directors, has resulted in making the Home one of the model public institutions, and I take pleasure in quoting from the seventeenth annual report of the Directors the following excerpt to show what has been accomplished:

"When the present board and Superintendent Sanders took charge of the institution, June 1, 1899, its shops had long been closed and its inmates idle. As they rely upon their wages for clothing and comforts, their condition had become forlorn to a pitiful degree. The management preceding us had left a deficit of nearly $9,000. The commerce of the Home had of course been diverted to other channels, and the task of recovering it by reopening the shops, putting the blind at work and finding a market for their product, was of extreme difficulty. But the experience and keen administrative ability of the blind superintendent, Mr. Joseph Sanders, proved equal to the emergency. The shops were reopened November 1, 1900. From that time to October 31, 1902, the inmates earned and were paid wages amounting to $6,859.49. The receipts of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1902, were $13,250.21, or $1,104.18 per month. The commercial operations of the Home since that date show a steady increase in manufactures and sales. That there is room for the product of the blind inmates is evident when it is known that only ten per cent of the brooms used in California are the product of domestic white labor. In the trade the Home brooms rank as first class. The inmates are urged to keep up the standard of their product, and it is a pleasure to know that their skill is equal to the demand made upon it. * * * The officers and employes of the institution have been attentive and faithful to their duties during the year that has just passed; and are as good a corps of employes as are to be found in any institution of the State."

THE STATE BOARD OF FISH COMMISSIONERS.

I have received the following important communication from the State Board of Fish Commissioners, which, considering the excellent and economic management of the Board, deserves your careful consideration:

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., September 29, 1902.

HON. HENRY T. GAGE, Governor State of California, Sacramento, Cal.:

SIR: Your State Board of Fish Commissioners have the honor to invite your attention to the following pertinent facts relating to the maintenance and improvement of the work under our jurisdiction, for reasons that are herein set forth.

First—The amount of our appropriation is totally inadequate to meet the growing demands of a valuable industry and make necessary hatchery repairs.

Second—To maintain the standard of the two principal hatchery stations for the propagation of salmon and trout, located respectively at Sisson and Tahoe City, we require additional funds to make such repairs and improvements, as will insure permanency to the fine results already accomplished, besides placing the buildings and grounds in a condition commensurate with the dignity of a great State.

Third—The scope of our work has so broadened that we are unable under our present appropriation for support and maintenance of hatcheries to place them in the condition that their importance to the general good demands.

Fourth—The amount of money necessary to accomplish these ends would make but a very slight draft upon the general funds of the State, while the output of these stations could be increased fully fifty per cent.

After making a careful study of all the conditions and questions involved, it is the judgment of this Board that a special appropriation of $10,000, to be devoted to hatchery changes and improvements, such as duplicate flume system, additional ponds, a dwelling house for the superintendent of Sisson station, and the purchase of additional land on which it can be located, and the proper fencing of the State's property at Tahoe, would be a sum sufficient to meet these necessary requirements.

The Sisson station is the most important. We have there a larger number of stock fish than ever before in the history of this commission. The success of a station depends upon the guaranteed supply of pure water. That we already have in abundance, and sufficient to double our present output, but we have not the means to construct the necessary flumes and ponds. We have but a single flume, and that poorly protected. Any interruption to the flow of water or temporary breakdown, would result in the loss of millions of fish that have cost the State a large sum to advance to their present state of perfection. Therefore, a flume system in duplicate is imperative. It would be an additional safeguard and good business judgment to locate a modest dwelling for the superintendent on the grounds, following the custom of the U. S. Commission and many States of the Union. Our pond system should be increased, so we could cut out and abandon some of the expensive spawn-taking stations operated in remote sections. We would secure a higher percentage of strong fry, because dangerous and expensive transportation of eggs would be avoided. Our forces could be concentrated, and in every sense would the conditions be improved, and the main purpose for which this commission was created more nearly fulfilled.

Our State already ranks high in the matter of fish propagation. We desire to maintain that standing. Our work furnishes a cheap food-supply to thousands. The poor people of our State are more largely benefited than any other class. In San Francisco our markets are selling food fish every day in the year at retail twenty-five per cent cheaper than they are selling in the New York markets at wholesale.

In the face of increased demand, our salmon supply is steadily increasing since artificial propagation began. At the beginning of the present "close season," September 10th, there was the largest run of salmon in the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers known in ten years.

This commission planted 400 striped bass (Fingerlings) near Benicia, in the Straits of Carquinez, some eighteen years ago. We are now marketing of this delicious food fish about two million pounds per annum in San Francisco. We have brought about the same conditions in the planting of shad.

We are planting millions of trout fry annually, which afford not only food, but healthful sport for thousands of our people. We are devoting more attention to the propagation of Eastern Brook trout (Fontinalis), a most desirable food and game fish, one that will flourish in the smaller streams, especially in the meadows of our high plateaus, where no other trout will remain. We are maintaining and increasing the supply of Rainbow trout in the headwaters of the Sacramento, in the McCloud, and in the Truckee rivers, three of the most famous trout streams of the world, that bring to their attractive banks anglers from all parts of the Union.

The planting of black bass has not received the attention it deserves, because of lack of funds. This valuable fish should be more widely distributed through the barren lakes and reservoirs of the State at the lower elevations, where trout will not flourish, so that a desirable and convenient food-supply would be placed within the reach of many more of our people.

As this Commission has never appeared before the Legislature with a deficiency in any of the funds over which it has control, and has carefully and scrupulously guarded every cent of expenditure, and because we desire to continue this record, and at the same time increase the scope of our work for the benefit of all our people throughout the State, as well as to maintain the high personnel of the employes of this Board, we most respectfully ask your assistance toward bringing about these desired ends, by presenting this matter to the Legislature of the State.

We have the honor to remain,

Yours respectfully,

CALIFORNIA FISH COMMISSION.

H. W. KELLER,

W. W. VAN ARSDALE,

W. E. GERBER.

CHAS. A. VOGELSANG, Chief Deputy.

SAN FRANCISCO HARBOR IMPROVEMENTS.

The cramped condition of the San Francisco Harbor for the accommodation of the increased shipping which existed at the beginning of my administration has been fortunately removed through the passage of the laws at the extra session of 1900, which permitted the extension of State piers and wharves to a distance of about eight hundred feet, and gave discretion to the Harbor Commissioners to execute leases whereby the rents from such contracts may be applied, in whole or in part, for the construction of new wharves and bulkheads or breakwaters, or the work to be paid for, in whole or in part, from the rents and revenues. Leave having been granted in December, 1900, by the Honorable the Secretary of War to extend the pierhead line to the increased limit provided for in the amendments passed in 1900, many new and substantial wharves have been constructed, thereby affording ample room to meet the increased shipping. It was deemed necessary, in July of last year, for the State Harbor Commissioners to change the pierhead line north of China Basin and Mission Rock, and after submission to the Federal officers, the Honorable the Secretary of War, on October 10, 1902, notified me of the approval of the change in the communication following :

WAR DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, October 10, 1902.

SIR: Referring to your letter of July 24th last, in the matter of modification of the established harbor line in San Francisco Harbor at points north and south of China Basin and Mission Rock, I beg to advise you that the subject has been under consideration by the San Francisco Harbor-line Board, which has held a public hearing and afforded parties interested an opportunity to present their views.

The report of the board, dated September 29th ultimo, shows that so much of the application as related to the proposed change south of the basin and rock had been withdrawn by the applicants, and the board has recommended that the pierhead line north of China Basin and Mission Rock be changed as follows:

"Beginning at the intersection of the pierhead line, approved March 24, 1890, with a line drawn at right angles to the bulkhead line (approved on the same date) and from a point on said bulkhead line 100 feet northerly (measured along the bulkhead line) from its intersection with the northerly side of Channel street produced; thence easterly along a continuation of the said line drawn at right angles to the bulkhead line, to a point 800 feet distant from the bulkhead line; thence northerly, at right angles to the line just described, to a point on the pierhead line approved March 24, 1890, distant 20 feet northerly (perpendicular distance) from a line parallel with the northerly line of Bryant street and 980 feet easterly from the westerly line of Spear street."

The recommendation of the Board has been approved by the Chief of Engineers and the Department.

Very respectfully,

ELIHU ROOT, Secretary of War.

HON. HENRY T. GAGE, Governor of California, San Francisco, California.

The various and profitable improvements following from the amendments of 1900 are described particularly in the last two reports of the State Harbor Commissioners, and are worthy of commendation.

CALIFORNIA REDWOOD PARK.

I have received the following communication from the California Redwood Park Commission, which I submit for your careful consideration:

"The commissioners appointed under the provisions of an Act entitled 'An Act providing for the creation and management of a California Redwood Park, making an appropriation therefor, and creating a board of five commissioners, with power to make purchases and to manage said California Redwood Park,' report that under the provisions of the Act they have acquired thirty-eight hundred acres of land containing the species of tree known as Sequoia sempervirens in the Big Basin, Santa Cruz County, as provided in Section 1 of the Act above alluded to.

"The bill provided that the sum of $250,000 should be appropriated out of any money in the State Treasury not otherwise appropriated, which sum should be subject to the control of the commission and to be used solely for the purchase of lands suitable for a park; that of the entire sum of $250,000 but $50,000 should be available on the first day of January, 1902, and the sum of $50,000 to become available thereafter on the first day of January in each year to 1906.

"In making the purchase, the commissioners report that the owners of the property accepted the certificate of the commission, that the purchase had been made, and that the purchasers were entitled to the sum already available, and would be entitled to the sums to become available on the first days of January in the years mentioned in Section 2 of the Act; that the title of the property was approved by the Attorney-General, as provided by law, and that deed to the land was placed in escrow in the Anglo-American Bank, San Francisco, and a fully certified record of the entire transaction filed with the Secretary of State.

"The object of the creation and acquirement of a park containing trees of the species known as Sequoia sempervirens was clearly declared in the Act creating the commission to make provision for said purchase. It was made incumbent upon the commission to select land from a tract of land commonly known as the Big Basin, situated in “Santa Cruz County, State of California, on which are growing trees of “the species known as Sequoia sempervirens, and which, in the judgment “of said commission, is suitable for a park, the purpose being to pre“serve a body of these trees from destruction and maintain them for

“the honor of the State of California and for the benefit of succeeding

“In making the selection and in consummating the purchase which “followed such selection, care has been taken to acquire a compact, “solid body of land which, in the judgment of the commission, is most “suitable for a park and for the fulfillment of the purpose of the law.

“The forest thus acquired is in many respects the most distinctively “forested body of land to be found in the State of California. It is in “fact the only forest region designated by the Act itself suitable for “the purposes to which it will hereafter be devoted.

“In the delineation and acquirement of this body of forested land,
“the commission has kept steadily in view the legislative intendment,
“and in the accomplishment of results we believe it has discharged its “duty strictly in accordance with the wishes of the people of the State
“of California, as expressed through its legislative and executive de“partments.

“The redwood forests of California may very justly be classed among “the botanical wonders of the world. They constitute one of the leading “attractions to tourists, and the possession and preservation of this “park will undoubtedly augment the volume of annual tourist travel
“to this State. In this way the park becomes a valuable adjunct in “the way of advertising the natural resources of the State, thus more “widely disseminating a knowledge of its natural advantages and its “desirability as a place of residence. The possession and proper main“tenance of this park will, therefore, become a contributor to the rein“forcement of the capital and population of the State.

“It is a matter worthy of comment that this typical forest is found “located within a direct distance of fifty miles from San Francisco, the “chief metropolis of the State, and when lines of communication are “completed, which its existence as a public recreation ground will call “into being, it is within practically three hours’ railroad time of San “Francisco. In the early future it will be practicable to visit it, and “enjoy its beauties, by the expenditure of only one day’s time. This “attribute of accessibility will augment its importance as an element
“of interest to those who visit it for pleasure and for scientific research.
“Your commissioners will immediately address themselves to the task
“of securing an extension of transportation lines into the Big Basin,
“and into the margins of the park. In this way only can the benefits

“Having, in pursuance of a deliberative Act of the Legislature, acquired

"this magnificent property, its wise administration will become at once a question of legislative policy. Your commission is in possession of facts which will justify the opinion that it will be made easily accessible at a very early day. Supplementing this general accessibility, it will become necessary to construct roads and trails through the park, and for this purpose a legislative appropriation will be necessary.

"The duty of the preservation of this park attends its ownership by the State, and this will involve an expenditure of money for the preservation of this forest, now the property of the State, and in order that such roads and trails as will make it accessible to the public as a public recreation ground may be constructed, this commission respectfully requests at your hands a recommendation to the Legislature for an appropriation in the sum of $15,000, to be expended in the preservation and improvement of the park for the next two years, to become available in the sum of $7,500 on the first day of July, 1903 and in a like sum of $7,500 on the first day of July, 1904."

THE UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA.

The people of the State are justly proud of the University of California, which is the crown of the common school system, and they do not grudge reasonable taxation for its betterment.

I am glad to report that, under the present Board of Regents, and especially under the excellent management of President Benjamin Ide Wheeler, the University has made more rapid progress than ever before in its history.

In proportion to its growth, and the increased number of special departments of study, the financial requirements of the University have, necessarily, augmented. To meet these immediate demands I deemed it proper to suggest, at the last session of the Legislature, in lieu of other proposed measures, that a continuous appropriation biennially of $200,000 should be provided to assist in the maintenance of the University and be carried in the General Appropriation Bill. Accordingly the Legislature passed the measure entitled "An Act to provide a continuous appropriation for the support and maintenance of the University of California, to be an item of the General Appropriation Bill," which I duly approved on March 15, 1901.

Inasmuch as the appropriation, under the provisions of this Act, was not to commence until the fifty-fifth fiscal year, I therefore approved a separate appropriation for the sum of $200,000, payable in three separate installments during the years 1901 and 1902.

Under this allowance, together with the two per cent ad valorem tax allowed for its maintenance, it is perhaps possible that the needs of the University will be fully met, and that the sad spectacle observed under previous administrations of officers of the University lobbying to secure the passage of needed appropriations will not again be witnessed.

If the present allowances be found inadequate to meet the future necessities of the University, I am confident that my able successor in office, being both an alumnus and a regent, and therefore acquainted with its various details, will probably devise some proper and feasible means which will afford it sufficient support without unnecessary burdens upon the people.

CALIFORNIA POLYTECHNIC SCHOOL.

At the last session of the Legislature an Act was passed, approved March 8, 1901, for the establishment, in San Luis Obispo, of the California Polytechnic School, specifying as the purposes: "To furnish to young people of both sexes mental and manual training in the arts and sciences, including agriculture, mechanics, engineering, business methods, domestic economy, and such other branches as will fit the students for the non-professional walks of life."

An appropriation of $50,000 was provided for the purchase of a site in San Luis Obispo County, and for the construction and furnishing of necessary buildings and its maintenance.

By the terms of the Act, the government of the school is vested in a board of trustees, consisting of the Governor, the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, and five trustees appointed by the Governor, to hold for a term of years.

On January 31, 1902, I appointed as trustees, Messrs. S. C. Smith of Bakersfield, E. J. Wickson of Berkeley, Warren M. John and Wm. Graves of San Luis Obispo, and F. A. Hihn of Santa Cruz. On September 24, 1902, I appointed Mr. R. M. Shackelford of San Luis Obispo to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Graves. The board met, selected and purchased, as a site, a tract of land of 281.04 acres in San Luis Obispo County, just outside the city of San Luis Obispo, for the sum of $7,709.30. Plans and specifications for the erection of buildings upon said land have been filed with the State Controller, wherein the estimated cost of the work is $41,268.00, contracts have been let, and the construction of the buildings is now in progress.

BUREAU OF LABOR STATISTICS—A FREE LABOR BUREAU RECOMMENDED.

Upon my induction into office I considered, and still consider, that the office of Commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, established by the statute approved March 3, 1883, was intended to directly benefit the laboring classes of the State by supplying the State government with such proper information as should enable it to ascertain the condition of these classes and to provide legislative remedies for their amelioration.

Influenced by this consideration, I departed from the plan of my distinguished predecessors by selecting the appointee directly from the ranks of labor, and I rejoice to state that, from the present excellent management of the bureau, I have had no cause to regret my selection.

On page 7 of the ninth biennial report of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the commissioner said:

“ In its original conception this bureau was created in the belief that “ it would in a degree be an exponent and protector of the rights and “ interests of the wage-earners ; that it would be a department of the “ State government in close and intelligent sympathy with their affairs “ to which they might turn for advice and information, and for such “ assistance as could be consistently rendered to them. This being the “ case, it would seem logically to follow that the administration of the “ bureau should be in the hands of such as come from wage-earners “ themselves, and who are conversant, by reason of personal experience “ and association, with those subjects with which the work of the bureau “ deals. Plain, however, as this proposition seems to be, it has remained “ for our present Governor, Henry T. Gage, to be the first in this State “ to take official cognizance of it ; and while the excellence of his choice “ for the office of commissioner may well be a debatable matter, his “ sympathy with the originally conceived idea of the plan and scope “ of the bureau is shown by the fact that its entire staff, under his “ administration, have come to their respective places direct from among “ the wage-workers of the State.”

While the office thus created has furnished valuable information to the State, yet in its practical effect it has not been of immediate use to the laboring classes, principally because the powers of the Commissioner being limited by the statute creating the office to the collection of statistical facts, there were no means by which aid could be afforded to the unemployed in cases of stagnation of labor arising from various industrial causes. The history of industrial depressions in this State shows recurrent periods when surplus labor resulted in idleness in certain lines of employment, while, at the same time, labor was greatly in demand in different lines.

There is, then, an actual need which has been emphasized by the demand of the State Federation of Labor, for making the office of Labor Commissioner of practical use and benefit to the wage-earners.

For this purpose I recommend that a free labor bureau be established as an adjunct to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, which should be under the direct supervision of the Labor Commissioner, and that a sufficient continuing appropriation be allowed for the compensation of necessary assistants and for the payment of contingent expenses.

In the preparation of such a law stringent provisions should be inserted respecting the performance of the duties of the commissioner and his assistants, and providing a remedy in cases of grievance, so as to make the bureau, among many other advantages, an impartial and effective agency for securing work for deserving employés.

ARBITRATION OF DIFFERENCES BETWEEN EMPLOYERS AND EMPLOYÉS.

In this connection the serious industrial differences in this State, as well as the recent unfortunate condition of the coal miners of Pennsylvania, and the effective moral influence of President Roosevelt, resulting in the temporary adjustment of grave trouble between the employers and employés, it would be well to consider the passage of a proper and efficient legislative measure, or, if necessary, a constitutional amendment, framed for the amelioration of such difficulties. It is true that arbitration can not be made compulsory, but measures may be framed whereby the parties to a controversy may be induced to submit their differences to an impartial council or board, which, when so stipulated, may be made binding.

I am aware that a statute is now in effect entitled "An Act to provide for a State Board of Arbitration for the settlement of differences between employers and employés, to define the duties of said board, and to appropriate the sum of twenty-five hundred dollars therefor," approved March 10, 1891, but this statute has proved to be inadequate for the purposes intended, and excepting the expenditure of a portion of the small appropriation by the first and only appointees under the statute, it has been for years an unused law.

In the event of the enactment of a new measure, I recommend that the Governor and Labor Commissioner be made members of such council of arbitration.

The interdependent relations of employers and employés in our commercial and industrial structure are so intimate that the unjust impairment of the rights and privileges of either tends to social and industrial disorganization. As a progressive and liberal people we ought to work harmoniously, and good faith and honesty are the essentials of co-operative harmony.

While the State laws can not trench upon the contracts of individuals nor imperatively fix and adjust upon an equitable basis the rights of employers and employés, yet some fair measure may be passed which, with the assistance of a just and healthy public opinion, will invite and induce the disputants to submit their controversy to the calm decision of a tribunal of arbitration.

CONDITION OF PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS GENERALLY.

All other public institutions are in good condition and greatly improved since my installation in office.

While some complaints have been made and some friction has, at times, marred the harmony and efficiency of one or two public boards whose officers held for terms under my appointment, still while mild reasons existed for a change, which would have been exercised had I been vested with the power of removal, I can correctly state that upon investigation it was shown that these conditions were exaggerated through the sensationalism of a few hostile newspapers.

Similar conditions existed, and perhaps even in a more intense degree under my very able, painstaking, and honorable predecessor, Governor James H. Budd, whose administration generally was a great credit to the people of the State.

I am convinced that the following remarks of Governor Budd, in his second biennial message in regard thereto, are well applicable to my administration and those differences occurring thereunder, viz.:

"I leave State institutions in far better condition and under better laws than they were when I became Governor. It is impossible, however, that some of the seventeen State institutions shall not be disturbed occasionally by some outbreak or petty quarrel among officials. The correction of these is not possible until the Legislature grants more powers to the Governor. Now, when a trustee is appointed the Governor's power ceases entirely."

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS AND MUNICIPAL CHARTERS.

I venture to call your attention to a matter which, by reason of its disintegrating tendency, seems to me to be portentous of future probable peril to the local sovereignty of the State.

Constitutional amendments, proposing large grants of power, especially to municipalities, have been so often loosely worded by their framers in the Legislature, that after adoption by the people, when judicially construed, it becomes evident that excessive power has been ceded, thereby limiting the sovereign functions of the people.

I strongly favor the right of cities and towns to be free from legislative interference in those purely local concerns which are necessary for their maintenance as municipal bodies. I have a most sincere affection for city and town government.

I subscribe heartily to the following views of De Tocqueville, in his work "Democracy in America," Chapter V, namely: "Municipal institutions are to liberty what primary schools are to science; they bring it within the people's reach; they teach men how to use and how to enjoy it. A nation may establish a system of free government, but without the spirit of municipal institutions it can not have the spirit of liberty."

But the municipal institutions which De Tocqueville had in view and of which he wrote were different from the local sovereignties, like a few of the cities of this State, which, constructed through broad constitutional statutes, are demanding with their every pace new and larger grants of power.

Our State is sovereign in its local sphere because the people constituting it are sovereign, but it still owes a binding allegiance and is inseparably united to the Nation because the whole people of the United States, as sovereigns, have an equal interest in its welfare, just as the people of California have an equal interest in the welfare of other States.

So, on the other hand, the people of the northern, central, and southern counties have an interest in the City and County of San Francisco, in the cities of Los Angeles and Oakland, and other cities of the State, and the people of these cities and towns, in turn, have an interest in the welfare of those counties and their subdivisions.

In other words, every citizen of California is deeply interested in every part of the State's extensive area.

The pride and jealousy of locality, arising from residence and business interests, which exists among the people in every part of the State, if over-indulged and intensified, may cause them to overlook their wider and more patriotic interests in the development and progress of the State and Nation.

In order to harmonize these jealous and frequently conflicting local interests, and at the same time perpetuate our constitutional rights and privileges, it is necessary that such portion of the people's power which properly constitutes the State's sovereignty should remain perpetually intact. It should not be frittered away by inattentive constitutional concessions nor loose judicial construction.

Every law is either a grant of power or a limitation of right.

Professor Ordonaux, in his excellent work on Constitutional Legislation, says: "Every law, being in the nature either of a command or a prohibition, is a displacement of existing civil relations in which society as well as individuals have acquired rights, and its possibilities to work harm must be duly estimated as well as its power to do good."

Laws of a broad and flexible character definitely limited to purely local needs and concerns are both proper and necessary for the growth and welfare of a municipality; but irrevocable, ambiguous constitutional charters are a lurking peril to the supreme interests of the State.

The members of the Constitutional Convention of 1878, although having the right idea of preserving municipalities from legislative interference with their local interests, did not design that the State should suffer by the provisions inserted in the Constitution providing for municipal organization.

Yet the gradual addition to the Constitution of incautious constitutional amendments relating to municipal charters has tended to abstract from the necessary power of the State.

Constitutional amendments are easily passed at each session of the Legislature, for, unlike laws, the Governor has neither the power of approval nor of disapproval.

When passed by resolution of the Senate and Assembly and submitted to the people, comparatively few voters really understand the character and purpose of these amendments, when appearing by title and number upon the ballot; hence, as a rule, the electors vote upon them in a very perfunctory manner.

Whether carried or lost, these constitutional amendments generally receive a smaller portion of the popular vote than the several State candidates of the two leading parties. In this apathy of the electors danger is concealed.

While moderate decentralization is essential to municipal liberty, immoderate decentralization leads to disintegration.

Our great and free republic grew from the sovereignty ceded by the several American Colonies, and the strength of the Colonies themselves rose from the cession of rights by the free cities and towns within them. The several elements necessary for statehood which had existed in the municipalities integrated in the State, and the several national elements which had been claimed and controlled by the colonies, were surrendered to and integrated in the republic.

"One nation out of many" has been the proud boast of the freest people on the earth. The reverse policy is now rapidly proceeding.

The municipalities are constantly gaining the sovereignty which the State is losing. Once enfeeble the State by undue and unguarded cessions of its local sovereignty, and instead of sustaining its well-poised balance between the people of the State and the Federal Government, it will become a mere political shadow, unable on the one hand to resist the centripetal force of federalism, or, on the other, the centrifugal force of municipalism.

This policy is not in accord with the form of government which our patriotic forefathers founded, nor is history wanting in illustrations where such a policy has wrought ruin to free political institutions.

I regard this excessive growth of municipal power as a peaceful mode of secession from the State and an unconscious blow against the State's integrity, and, indirectly, an unpatriotic assault upon national existence.

The disruption of the Achaian league, which for one hundred and forty years gave freedom and enlightenment to Greece, was achieved by the craft of Roman statesmen, who, perceiving the love of power and decentralizing tendencies of the cities which formed the federal league, greatly enlarged the power of the cities at the expense of the central sovereign power, until the league, reduced to a name, left the several cities unprotected, a separate prey to Roman tyranny.

In the light of such an example, disproportionate and careless cession of its sovereignty to municipalities is not consistent with the best interests of the State. Municipal leagues exist at the present time throughout the United States whose common object is the extension of municipal powers, and in consequence the limitation of State power.

In view of this massing of opinion toward decentralization, it behooves patriotic legislators to be cautious and conservative in the drafting of constitutional amendments which have for their object the augmentation of municipal power, considering the special provisions of our State Constitution.

A law passed by the Legislature is easily repealed at an ensuing session when found to work injury, but a constitutional amendment hastily passed by the Legislature and inconsiderately adopted by the people, however injurious in its effects, is very difficult to abrogate.

As these amendments inflexibly affect fundamental rights, and as the Governor has no voice in their passage, it becomes your solemn duty to investigate more closely these proposed amendments than proposed laws, and to place them far above and beyond the power and influence of lobbies.

CONCLUSION.

My career in office has not been one of pleasurable ease, nor have I ever sought, at the expense of public duty, my own aggrandizement.

Mistakes may have been made sometimes, perhaps, through want of that diplomatic tact which graces many in public life, and which too often deceives, but for such, and all mistakes, wherever made, I shall be answerable to the judgment of my fellow-citizens in the quiet and just criticism of private life.

Having, however, always kept before me as my guiding light what I conceived to be and cherished as the people's interests, upon this, the eve of retirement, I feel that, actuated by a sense of right and justice to all my fellow-citizens, I have striven with my best and for the best.

HENRY T. GAGE,

Governor of the State of California.

APPENDIX "A"

REPORT OF THE SPECIAL HEALTH COMMISSIONERS

APPOINTED BY THE GOVERNOR TO CONFER WITH THE FEDERAL AUTHORITIES AT WASHINGTON
RESPECTING THE ALLEGED EXISTENCE OF BUBONIC PLAGUE IN CALIFORNIA.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., September 16, 1901.

HON. HENRY T. GAGE, Governor State of California:

SIR: The commissioners appointed by you on the 1st day of March, 1901, to visit Washington in order to confer with the Federal authorities in relation to the alleged prevalence of bubonic plague in the Chinese quarter of San Francisco, and to the more or less positive declarations of intention to place the State of California under quarantine, and who were subsequently invited by you to assist in an advisory capacity in carrying out the agreement reached to cleanse Chinatown, have the honor to report as follows:

In the course of a conference held in your office on the 27th of February, 1901, participated in by the members of your commission, it was developed that a misunderstanding had arisen concerning the attitude of the Executive of the State of California toward the Federal health authorities. Misrepresentations had been made by irresponsible papers, which created the impression in Washington that there was a disposition on your part to obstruct the operations of the United States Marine Hospital Service, and these were being seized upon by peoples having rival interests and were employed as arguments to force the abandonment of San Francisco as a military headquarters, and as the chief base of the Philippine transportation service. Statements were made that the existence of bubonic plague would make the imposition of a quarantine necessary, and it was openly asserted that such action would be followed by the removal of the transport service and military headquarters from an alleged plague-infected city.

At the conference referred to, you laid before your commissioners all the correspondence which had passed between yourself and the Federal health authorities on the subject of the alleged existence of the plague in San Francisco. It plainly disclosed the fact that there was no ground for the assertion freely made that you were placing obstacles in the way of taking precautions; on the contrary, we found in it earnest professions of a desire to co-operate with the Federal health authorities in order to set at rest the alarming and injurious rumors which were being circulated regarding the prevalence of the disease. In a telegram of February 25, 1901, you said to the Hon. Lyman J. Gage, Secretary of the Treasury, in reply to a dispatch from him regretting your inability to visit Washington and confer with the department regarding the matter:

"I therefore respectfully request the United States authorities to take charge of the matter within this State and deal with the situation from the standpoint of the report of its commissioners, but without charge or cost to this State, at the same time assuring you of my hearty co-operation."

We found that your attitude respecting the assumption of the cost of the preventive measures was prompted by information, conveyed in a semi-official manner, that there was a considerable sum of money at the disposal of the health authorities of the United States, to be used in emergencies such as that which confronted the State. But we noted that the Honorable Secretary of the Treasury assumed that "while all ordinary expenses incurred in the payment of its own officers may be met by the department under the law, and in accordance with usage, the chief burden should be borne by the City of San Francisco." "No municipality," he added, "has ever depended financially upon the Government, under like circumstances, though there have been numerous parallel cases during epidemics of yellow fever." In the course of the conference it was made clear to us, while the Legislature at its session in 1901 had fortunately made an appropriation for health purposes to be expended under your direction, that you did not have the legal right, even if the desire existed, to permit any portion of it to be expended except by State officials. It was also made apparent by telegrams received from Washington that our Senators, instead of assisting in clearing up the situation, were accentuating its gravity by accepting without challenge the allegations that bubonic plague prevailed in San Francisco, and by absolutely disregarding all the evidence which tended to show that the disease did not exist in San Francisco at the time and had not existed.

Accordingly, as the result of the conference of February 27, 1901, and in response to the professed desire of the Secretary of the Treasury, it was decided by you to send a commission to Washington to go over the matter with the authorities in that city and to avert, if possible, the threatened quarantine. The commission left this city on March 3d and arrived in Washington on the 7th. On the morning of the 8th the Secretary of the Treasury was waited upon and your position was fully presented by Mr. W. F. Herrin, who spoke for the commission. He made clear to the Honorable Secretary that, while you were convinced there was no ground for the assertion that there was or had been bubonic plague in San Francisco (an opinion shared by the members of the commission), you were desirous of co-operating with the Federal health authorities in making their investigations, and in taking such precautions as would serve to allay any apprehension that might have been created outside of California by the alarmist reports published in certain papers, and which had been telegraphed all over the world.

The spokesman of the commission also called the Honorable Secretary's attention to the fact that through misapprehension or design the special commissioners appointed by the Treasury Department for the purpose of ascertaining the existence or non-existence of bubonic plague in San Francisco, did not call upon you until after they had concluded their labors, although you had urged that "co-operation with the State authorities by such experts should be advised in order that the State may select eminent home bacteriologists and physicians, as well as, if deemed necessary, bacteriologists and physicians from other States and countries to examine the same suspected cases, so as to arrive at a correct and impartial conclusion;" and had urged as a reason for making this appeal: "The irreparable injury heretofore done to this State (California) by unfair and ex parte examinations."

These and other representations made to the Honorable Secretary influenced him to accede to your very reasonable request that the State should be permitted to protect its interests, and your commission was referred to the Supervising Surgeon-General, Marine Hospital Service, to discuss with him the outlines of a plan of action. A satisfactory agreement was soon reached, the nature of which is disclosed by the following correspondence:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF THE SUPERVISING SURGEON-GENERAL, MARINE HOSPITAL SERVICE,
WASHINGTON, MARCH 11, 1901.

MR. JOHN P. YOUNG, Chairman Committee Representing the Governor, Mayor of San Francisco, and Business Interests of California, Washington, D. C.:

SIR: I transmit herewith a letter, dated March 9th, from the Surgeon-General of the Marine Hospital Service, outlining the understanding which has been arrived at between yourselves and this department, as a result of the conference on March 9th.

In transmitting the same, I wish to express the appreciation of this department of the visit of your committee and its spirit of friendly conference. I trust, also, that the results so earnestly desired by both yourselves and the department will be speedily achieved and by methods that may be effective without causing undue alarm.

The department will appreciate an acknowledgment.

Respectfully,

(Signed :) O. L. SPAULDING, Acting Secretary.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF THE SUPERVISING SURGEON-GENERAL, MARINE HOSPITAL SERVICE,
WASHINGTON, March 9, 1901.

The Honorable the Secretary of the Treasury:

SIR: Referring to the conference held in accordance with your instructions, after the meeting in your office this forenoon with the representatives of the Governor of California, the Mayor of San Francisco, the press, the railroads, and the business interests of San Francisco, I have to inform you that an understanding has been reached, stated somewhat informally as follows:

The visiting representatives have expressed a desire for hearty co-operation of the State and city authorities interested in the work, which is made necessary in view of the report of the commission; and they desire, while this work shall be done by the city and State authorities, the services of some expert officer of the Service to give advice as to the methods to be pursued, agreeing that his recommendations shall be carried out, and that the work shall be begun at once.

I have informed them also that so far as can be seen at the present time the principles enunciated in my telegram of January 9, 1901, to Surgeon White, copy of which is inclosed, are about what should be adopted at the present time, with the understanding that it is possible that future developments may require more radical measures, though it is not expected.

It is understood also that the burden of expense falls upon local or State authorities though, of course, the department will meet the salaries and incidental expenditures of its own officers.

It is the desire of the Treasury Department, as well as of the bureau, that these affairs shall be conducted with the least possible interruption to commerce and the least possible excitation of alarm.

Surgeon White, now in San Francisco, is the officer of the Service who will be the representative of the bureau and of the department in this matter, and who, it is understood, is entirely acceptable to all parties.

Respectfully,

(Signed:) WALTER WYMAN,
Supervising Surgeon-General M. H. S.

One inclosure, copy of January 9, 1901, telegram to Surgeon White, San Francisco, Cal.

(Telegram.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 9, 1901.

DR. J. H. WHITE, Occidental Hotel, San Francisco, Cal.:

Regarding plague in San Francisco, you might say situation not acute. Experience in Oporto, Santos, Glasgow, and climatic conditions in 'Frisco make it more a matter of future menace—as instanced in British Medical Journal of December 1st, page 1614. It was present in Calcutta two years before acknowledged. Therefore, more to prevent future catastrophe than from present alarm, measures should be taken as necessity arises, nor need they be (taken) in such manner as to excite alarm, but should include inspection, isolation, and disinfection, as in smallpox (in same manner).

If assured of this, publication would be unnecessary. Use this as your judgment dictates.

It is proper to call attention to the telegram which forms a part of this correspondence, as it was freely charged in the press, and by medical journals, that your commission had induced the Federal health authorities to consent to the suppression of facts. It will be noted that the date of the telegram to Dr. J. H. White was January 9th, and that in it Surgeon-General Wyman advised him to take his measures in such a manner as not to excite alarm; and that publication would be unnecessary. This is all your commission asked, and it preferred the request in the full assurance that the only harm that could be done would be that caused by the dissemination of statements calculated to injure the reputation of California by fastening upon it the reputation of being subject to plague.

The arrangement thus reached by your commission was promptly reported to you, and at your request, on our return from Washington, we met in the office of Hon. James D. Phelan, Mayor of San Francisco, to consult with you and that official respecting the mode of carrying out the agreement. At this meeting you indicated the extent to which you thought the State should go in meeting the views of the Federal authorities. Mayor Phelan, however, was unable to make any specific promises on behalf of the city, but expressed a willingness to do all in his power to comply with the demands which would arise as the work of cleansing Chinatown proceeded. The conclusion was reached by those in consultation that the pledge made for you by your commission should be promptly redeemed, and Dr. J. H. White of the Marine Hospital Service, who was in waiting, was called in and asked to outline his plan of campaign. He said that he should require the cleansing, disinfection, and fumigation of the district known as Chinatown; that it would be necessary to provide and maintain a crematory to dispose of the rubbish; a laboratory for bacteriological purposes; a building available for use as a detention barracks; a hospital for any subjects that might be discovered, and a morgue and hall of tranquillity. As Dr. White's large experience in such matters qualified him to speak understandingly, his opinion as to the probable cost of carrying out the cleansing, disinfection, and fumigation, which he said would be necessary, was asked. He answered that he had given the subject some attention, but could not make a close estimate. He thought, however, that the work would necessitate an expenditure of at least $100,000.

It being impossible at this meeting for Mayor Phelan to definitely state what part of the expense of cleansing Chinatown, and for providing the facilities which Dr. White had demanded, could be assumed by the City of San Francisco, another consultation was arranged for the ensuing day, April 2d. At this conference the following agreement was entered into between yourself, on behalf of the State, and Mayor Phelan, on the part of the city:

"The State will clean up Chinatown in its own way and with its own money. Will fumigate and disinfect until $25,000 of State money is spent.

"City will erect and maintain a crematory to dispose of rubbish found by the State.

"City will erect and maintain laboratory.

"City will provide and maintain detention barracks and hospital.

"City will provide morgue and hall of tranquillity, and maintain same."

Although this agreement imposed the greater part of the burden of cleansing, disinfecting, and fumigating the Chinese quarter of San Francisco upon the State, your commission, considering the exigency and the possible consequences of delay, heartily approved the arrangement entered into, and urged that the work be proceeded with at once, in order that the pressure which was undoubtedly being exerted to have the Federal authorities erect a quarantine against California should be relieved. At your request your commission consented to continue acting in its advisory capacity, and agreed with you that it was desirable to have an efficient corps of physicians, acting under the direction of the State Board of Health, to assist in the examination of every alleged case of bubonic plague brought to the attention of the Federal authorities while making their investigations in this city. The importance of this course of action was demonstrated by the results, which fully justified the position taken by you from the beginning, namely, that there was no ground for the charge that cases of genuine bubonic plague had been found in San Francisco.

Although your commission, at the conclusion of this meeting of April 2d, announced to Dr. J. H. White, the official designated by the Federal health authorities to direct and supervise the work of cleansing, disinfecting, and fumigating Chinatown, the readiness of the State to proceed, he postponed the commencement of operations until April 9th. On the morning of that day a force of forty-three men, subsequently largely increased, was put to work, and the instructions of Dr. White were rigidly adhered to, your commissioners taking pains to hear from him at frequent intervals, in order to learn if everything was proceeding according to his desires. The process adopted, as prescribed by Dr. White, and the progress of the work, are fully described in the accompanying report of the State Board of Health, of August 27, 1901. In all 1,185 buildings, containing 16,888 rooms, and numerous hallways, stairways, sinks, yards, basements, sub-basements, water-closets, and roofs were cleansed, disinfected, and fumigated. Fifteen hundred and eleven loads of garbage, or 4,533 cubic yards, were removed by the State force. The carting and burning of this material were done at the expense of the city. The number of men employed daily on all the work ranged from 130 to 150. That the business was done expeditiously and economically will be inferred from the fact that it was accomplished for about one fourth the amount estimated by Dr. White. Those in charge are to be especially commended for the economies practiced in the purchase of supplies. We find from the reports rendered by the State Board of Health that by disregarding the recommendation of Dr. White to purchase sulphur, bichloride of mercury, dutch ovens, etc., in large quantities, a considerable saving was effected. Thus the work of disinfecting and fumigating was thoroughly performed with 300 pounds of sulphur, although the Marine Hospital Service estimated that thirty tons would be necessary. Fifty pans were bought, and twenty only used, but the requisition of the Federal official called for 200.

In addition to the work of cleansing, disinfecting, and fumigating, the State Board of Health undertook the important duty of assisting the Federal health officers in their search for suspicious cases. A doubt having arisen in the minds of Dr. White and his staff regarding the accuracy of the number of sick Chinese reported in the quarter, a corps of five physicians was employed by the State Board of Health to make a house-to-house canvass. These physicians made a daily report of the work performed by them and also a report of a Chinese whom they found sick, giving a history of each case and a diagnosis of the disease. Each block in the quarter was covered by the State's physicians eight times, and in all of the seventeen blocks only 307 sick cases were reported. A morgue was established by the Marine Hospital Service at 638 Merchant Street, and any Chinese man, woman, or child dying in the City and County of San Francisco was, by the order of Dr. White and his associates, immediately removed thereto and treated as a case of bubonic plague until the autopsy proved the contrary. Under an order issued by the City Board of Health of San Francisco, no Chinese person dying in the City and County of San Francisco could be buried until a certificate of death was countersigned by either of the three physicians in charge of the morgue and laboratory conducted by the Federal officials. At all the autopsies the State was represented by one or more physicians, and no autopsy was held without a representative from the State Board being present. The State had as its bacteriologist Dr. S. M. Mouser, who conducted a very thorough and complete investigation in all cases that were considered in any way suspicious.

The wisdom of these precautions was soon made evident. Many cases were reported which were pronounced suspicious by the physicians employed by the Marine Hospital Service, but although between April 8th and August 27th 103 autopsies were performed, not one case was found which could be pronounced bubonic plague. The report of the State Board of Health, which gives the clinical history of these cases and the circumstances attending the autopsies, indicates that there was an eager desire on the part of those who contended that bubonic plague existed in this city to establish that fact. In one instance an attempt was made to quicklime a body in order to destroy the evidence which would conclusively prove that the deceased had died of pulmonary tuberculosis, which fact had been ascertained at the autopsy. Had not the State Board's physicians taken the attitude they did, the evidence is strong that it would have been pronounced a genuine case of plague. Many other circumstances are cited tending to show that there was a disposition manifested to keep up the impression that bubonic plague had prevailed in the city and that it was still present, but the watchfulness of the State Board's representatives prevented any misunderstanding on that point. And in view of the necessity of thorough watchful-ness in this matter, your commission, at its last meeting with you, approved the continuance by you for at least six months of measures to secure complete information as to all suspected or alleged cases of plague, and generally to see that the health conditions of Chinatown were not in any way misrepresented. The monthly expenses of such measures were then estimated at about $1,000, and your commission entirely approves this and all other expenses incurred by the State authorities in this whole matter. It is significant in this connection that the latest case of bubonic plague alleged to have been discovered in this city was on April 8th, the day before the State Board commenced its active investigations. After that date no case was discovered, although many were asserted to be such until an autopsy disproved the assertion.

The commission heartily commends the attitude taken by you in your answer to the telegram from Walter Wyman, Surgeon-General, Marine Hospital Service, dated June 18, 1901, which seems to have closed the incident, and in which he says: "It is a matter of mutual congratulation that no cases have been found during the progress of this work" (that is, the cleansing of Chinatown and the investigation of the character of every case of sickness found within its limits), and suggests that certain supplementary work recommended by Dr. White should be carried out. Your declaration that "there is no occasion at this time for the further investigations suggested by Dr. White" is fully concurred in by us, and we trust that the determination expressed by you that "one-sided or secret examinations, such as have in the past been witnessed in San Francisco, to its irreparable detriment and to that of the whole State, * * * can not again be permitted," will be rigidly adhered to.

In conclusion, your commission desires to express the opinion that the result of the steps taken by you has been to wholly disprove the allegation that bubonic plague has existed in San Francisco. Had the same precautions been taken before April 8, 1901, that were adopted after that date, we should not have been menaced with quarantine, nor would we have had imposed upon us the expenditure of a large sum of money, every dollar of which was extorted by the necessity of warding off the evil consequences of the false reports concerning the health of the city and State. There can be no reasonable doubt that the autopsies made prior to April 8, 1901, would have had the same result as those made after that date had there been present doctors who were not interested in creating the impression that San Francisco was plague-infected. The fact that no plague has been found since April 8, 1901, and the further fact that the disease, although it was alleged to have made its appearance on March 6, 1900, did not become epidemic, and that no two cases of what was termed bubonic plague appeared in the same house, should carry conviction to every candid mind that San Francisco is and has been absolutely free from the disease, and that those who said it existed were either mistaken or deliberately misrepresented the facts.

JOHN P. YOUNG,

Commissioners.

FREMONT OLDER,
Commissioner of the City of San Francisco and of the State.

In signing the above report I desire to express the opinion that in the earlier reports of the existence of plague, the Mayor and Board of Health and other officials of San Francisco were sincere in their belief that the reports of physicians that the plague was here were true. I am of the opinion, however, that later on the judgment of the Board of Health became corrupted by its dislike to confessing mistake and by its desire of proving that its erroneous conclusions were justifiable.

Certainly no blame should attach to officials for taking precautions against disease which excellent authority declared existed. At the same time no excuse should be made for physicians and others who attempted to palm off as plague diseases of a non-contagious character.

THE DISINFECTING, CLEANING, AND FUMIGATING OF CHINATOWN, IN THE CITY AND COUNTY OF SAN FRANCISCO, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, BY THE STATE BOARD OF HEALTH.

HEADQUARTERS OF STATE BOARD OF HEALTH,
ROOM NO. 11, FERRY BUILDING,
SAN FRANCISCO, August 27, 1901.)

The work of disinfecting, fumigating, and cleaning of the district known as Chinatown, in the City and County of San Francisco, was commenced April 8, 1901, by the State Board of Health, under the supervision of the Marine Hospital Service of the United States, Dr. J. H. White in charge. The district known as Chinatown and mapped out by Dr. White consisted of the following seventeen blocks:

Block 132, bounded by Pacific and Jackson, Powell and Stockton streets;

Block 133, bounded by Jackson and Washington, Powell and Stockton streets;

Block 134, bounded by Washington and Clay, Powell and Stockton streets;

Block 135, bounded by Clay and Sacramento, Powell and Stockton streets;

Block 136, bounded by Sacramento and California, Powell and Stockton streets;

Block 110, bounded by Broadway and Pacific, Stockton and Dupont streets;

Block 111, bounded by Pacific and Jackson, Stockton and Dupont streets;

Block 112, bounded by Jackson and Washington, Stockton and Dupont streets;

Block 113, bounded by Washington and Clay, Stockton and Dupont streets;

Block 114, bounded by Clay and Sacramento, Stockton and Dupont streets;

Block 115, bounded by Sacramento and California, Stockton and Dupont streets;

Block 89, bounded by New Montgomery avenue and Pacific, Dupont and Kearny streets;

Block 90, bounded by Pacific and Jackson, Dupont and Kearny streets;

Block 91, bounded by Jackson and Washington, Dupont and Kearny streets;

Block 92, bounded by Washington and Clay, Dupont and Brenham place;

Block 93, bounded by Clay and Sacramento, Dupont and Kearny streets;

Block 94, bounded by Sacramento and California, Dupont and Kearny streets.

The blocks on the west side of Stockton street were not cleaned in their entirety; only portions of said blocks are occupied by Chinese, and in no instance was it necessary to invade the premises on the Powell street boundary.

On April 4th the following communication was received at this office from Dr. J. H. White, viz.: "The work of disinfecting, fumigating, and "cleaning the district known as Chinatown will commence at the south-east corner of Stockton and Pacific streets, and follow a southeasterly "course, on account of the prevailing winds."

The State Board of Health was prepared to begin work on April 5th, when Dr. White made a request for postponement until April 8th. At nine o'clock on the morning of April 8, 1901, we commenced work with a force of forty-three men on block 111, beginning on the corner of Stockton and Pacific streets, as per instructions of Dr. White. Under the instructions of the Marine Hospital people we requested the Chinese to clean their premises, preparatory to having them fumigated, by means of the following process: "All rooms to be fumigated with five per cent "sulphur dioxide for forty hours, with all contents in place. This to be "followed by all textiles to be subjected to a steam disinfection for twenty "minutes in a temperature of 215° Fahr. All goods that could not be "disinfected by steam to be soaked in bichloride of mercury solution, "1 to 1,000, or in five per cent carbolic acid solution. All other things "that do not come under these clauses and incapable of disinfection, such "as foodstuffs, were to be carried to the crematory and burned."

These orders were countermanded and the following plan was substituted, viz.: The floors and walls waist high in the rooms in the various premises to be washed and scrubbed with a saturated lye solution, 1 pound to a 4-gallon bucket of water, and the remaining portion of the walls and ceiling to be sprayed with a 1 to 800 solution of bichloride of mercury. We were obliged to pursue this plan in all storerooms until such time that it was found to be of such character of work that it would be impossible to complete the large storerooms and warehouses short of seven or eight months. By request and after consultation with Dr. White, we were permitted to fumigate those storerooms which contained goods that were not damageable by means of sulphur process of fumigating. In those storerooms and warehouses which contained goods which were easily damaged we were permitted to use a formaldehyde gas.

The men were divided into squads of five each, one of said squad being known as the captain or foreman. These squads were in charge of physicians employed by the State Board of Health, who gave instructions as to the work to be performed and saw that it was properly done. After a building was cleaned with the lye solution, the physician in charge of the squad performing the work in said building would report the same to one of the physicians acting as inspector on the staff of Dr. White, and he in turn would inspect said building and mark it ready for spraying. The building then would be taken in charge by the spraying squad, whose duty it was to spray the walls and ceilings with a bichloride of mercury solution, 1 to 800. After this character of work was completed the building was again inspected by the State Board of Health inspectors, and by them reported to the inspectors on the Federal staff, who in turn inspected the building and approved the work by marking upon each door of the rooms of the building "O. K." and "Bich.," which meant that the rooms and building had been cleaned, fumigated, and disinfected to the satisfaction of the physician acting as inspector on the staff of Dr. White.

This character of work was carried on until all of the 1,185 buildings in the district were completed; in all, 16,888 rooms were cleaned, disin-fectured, and fumigated, besides numerous hallways, stairways, sinks, yards, basements, sub-basements, water-closets, and roofs. Dirt and filth from these buildings were carried to the street and alleyways, where it was covered with quicklime by a force of men employed by the State, after which it was carted off to the crematory and burned; in all, 1,511 loads of this garbage, or 4,533 cubic yards. The carting and burning of this material were done by the City Board of Health at the expense of the city.

All the dark rooms, alleyways, and stairways were subjected to a coat of whitewash by a squad of men working under instructions of our inspector and at the expense of the State Board. In conjunction with the above, a plumbing inspector was employed, who made a thorough investigation of all the plumbing in the buildings in the district, and where defective plumbing was found notice was served upon the owners or their representatives, and with few exceptions the necessary repairs were made to the satisfaction of our plumbing inspector.

At this point we desire to note that the following plumbing fixtures and materials were used to place the plumbing in a sanitary condition:

- 97 new water-closets were put in.
- 186 new galvanized sinks.
- 46 automatic flush tanks.
- 36 new porcelain urinals.
- 28 slop-hoppers.
- 37 new iron and lead traps.
- 1600 feet cast-iron sewer pipe.
- 27 feet galvanized vent pipe.
- 1200 feet galvanized water pipe.
- 137 water-closets were repaired.
- 48 sinks were repaired.
- 81 slop-hoppers were repaired.

During the work a request came from Dr. White asking that a squad of men be formed, to be known as the "flying squadron." This squad was organized and put in charge of one of the State physicians. The duty of this "flying squadron" was to clean and fumigate the buildings in which alleged cases of bubonic plague had existed; this squad cleaned in all some 34 buildings. The average number of men employed daily on all the work ranged from 135 to 150. The number of physicians employed as inspectors was 6.

A doubt having arisen in the minds of Dr. White and his staff as to the number of sick Chinese reported in the Chinese quarters, a corps of five physicians was employed by the State Board to make a house-to-house canvass in the district known as Chinatown, and to ascertain the truth of this doubt. These physicians made a daily report of the work performed by them, and also a report of the Chinese whom they found sick, giving a history of the case and their diagnosis of the disease. These reports were made in duplicate, one being placed on file in this office, and the duplicate sent to the office of Dr. White. Each block in the district was covered by our physicians eight different times, and in all of the seventeen blocks only 307 sick cases were reported to this office. Few cases of acute sickness were found, most of the cases being of a chronic character, the majority of whom were suffering from pulmonary tuberculosis.

Herewith is a statement of the deaths among the Chinese and Japanese of this city since 1897, as tabulated by the statistician of the City Board of Health:

Fiscal Year.	Estimated Population.	Male.	Female.	Total.
1897-98 -----	18,000	397	57	454
1898-99 -----	18,000	453	53	506
1899-1900 -----	18,000	454	72	526
July, 1900, to Dec., 1900, inclusive -----	18,000	-----	-----	214
Jan., 1901, to April 30, 1901, inclusive -----	-----	-----	-----	151

A census taken by the State Board of Health, as to the number living in the district known as Chinatown, amounted to 14,281 men, women, and children.

A morgue was established by the Marine Hospital people at 638 Merchant street, in the quarters formerly used as the City Morgue. Any Chinese man, woman, or child dying in the City and County of San Francisco was by the order of Dr. White and his associates immediately removed to this morgue and treated as a case of bubonic plague until the autopsy proved the contrary. The morgue and laboratory of the Federal authorities were conducted by Drs. Flint, M. White, and Ryfkogle. Dr. Flint performed all autopsies, and under an order issued by the City Board of Health of San Francisco, no Chinese person dying in the City and County of San Francisco could be buried until a certificate of death was countersigned by one of the above-named gentlemen, showing that the case was not one of bubonic plague. The morgue and laboratory at the present time are under the direct charge of Drs. Blue, White, and Currie. At all the autopsies the State has been represented by one or more physicians, and no autopsy has been held without a representative from this Board. Specimens were removed from the bodies of those autopsied for the purpose of making bacteriological investigations. The State has as its bacteriologist Dr. S. M. Mouser, who conducts a very thorough and complete investigation in all cases which are considered in any way suspicious.

The hours for holding the autopsies were arranged for 10 A. M. and 3 P. M. daily. From April 8th to August 19th, 93 autopsies have been performed. Many of these cases were looked upon as very suspicious by the physicians employed by the Marine Hospital Service; but at all times the State Board, through its representatives, has never found a case which could be pronounced as one of bubonic plague, and the report of the State Board's bacteriologist shows the result of a complete investigation.

The following cases have been selected as the ones which were looked upon as suspicious by the physicians in the employ of the Marine Hospital Service.

Woo Poy Wing, 822 Clay street, male, 32 years old, laborer, died at above number on the 7th of April. This case was seen by Dr. Lawlor on the 17th of March, and he obtained a history of pulmonary tuberculosis of over one year's standing. Autopsy made by Dr. Flint revealed the following facts: Glandular system, submaxillary (anterior and posterior), cervica, supra clavicular, right axillary, all negative. Left axillary, found one gland enlarged to the size of almond. The right inguinal glands just felt. The left inguinal just felt. The peritoneal cavity was filled with a cloudy, straw-colored exudate, which contained numerous flocculi. A remark was made at this point that this was very characteristic in plague, and that it was hardly necessary to go on further with the autopsy. At the suggestion of the State's representative, the autopsy was completed, with these findings, viz.: Anatomical diagnosis: Pulmonary tuberculosis, acute peritonitis, tumor of cæcum, intestinal perforation, and arterio sclerosis. Bacteriological diagnosis, negative. Had it not been for the demand on the part of the State's representative at the autopsy this would probably have been reported as a case of plague.

Mark Owau Wing, alias Mae Quon, 735 Jackson street, male, 35 years old, laborer, died April 27th. This case was seen two days before death, and the cause of illness was given as spitting of blood. From a history of the case, a diagnosis of pulmonary tuberculosis was made. Anatomical diagnosis: Pulmonary tuberculosis; chololithiasis; acute parenchymatous degeneration of the kidneys. Bacteriological diagnosis: By the Federal people, distinctly bipolar-stained bacilli; by the State authorities, the bacteriological examination showed a negative result.

This was the case which they endeavored to make out as one of plague, and had it not been for the firm stand taken by our physicians there is no question but that this would have terminated as a pronounced case of bubonic plague. At the autopsy Dr. Flint made no statement concerning plague until he removed one enlarged gland from the right axilla. The right lung was removed and found to be tubercular. Dr. Flint then endeavored to remove the left lung, but found it so firmly adhered and diseased that it was impossible to remove it through the abdominal opening, and he stated that he did not desire to mutilate the body by making an opening in the chest walls. He further stated that this was a case of pulmonary tuberculosis, and with this diagnosis the State's representative felt satisfied and left the morgue. Later on in the afternoon Dr. Flint was found going through Chinatown in company with a police officer to the building in which the deceased Chinaman had resided, at 735 Jackson Street. The room which he occupied was sealed and locked, but no quarantine was placed on the building. Dr. White immediately made a request that the room be fumigated, which was complied with. That evening the State's representatives demanded that the order given by the Federal people to quicklime the body for burial be countermanded, and a further and more complete autopsy be performed. Our request to non-quicklime the body was granted, as well as postponement of time of burial. The following morning Dr. Flint was interviewed and requested to explain his position in this case. He stated that he desired to await the result of a bacteriological investigation before giving an anatomical diagnosis. He said that if the State desired to make a more complete autopsy they could do so, he would not, but finally admitted that both lungs were completely destroyed by tuberculosis, and the left lung to such an extent that it was impossible to remove it. No further autopsy was insisted on after this admission. We learned that they had inoculated a guinea-pig, but the guinea refused to succumb to their bacilli. The result was that they finally admitted that no evidence of plague had developed from their bacteriological examination, although they were positive in the beginning that they had found bipolar-stained bacilli. The bacteriological investigation made by the State's physicians on the above case gave a negative result.

Mrs. Augusta Feller, white, female, died at the City and County Hospital on April 24th. Anatomical diagnosis: General acute peritonitis; hypostatic congestion of the lungs; cloudy swelling of the liver, kidneys, and heart; chronic fibroid myocarditis. Bacteriological diagnosis: By the Federal people, bipolar-stained bacilli, plague; by the State's authorities, pneumococci.

This was, in the opinion of Dr. Flint, a typical case of plague. This woman resided with her family at 140 Berlin street, and was taken sick on April 15th, while nursing her husband, who was suffering from traumatic pneumonia, the cause of which was a fractured rib produced by the kick of a cow; and on April 19th, on account of the distressed financial circumstances of the family, she was removed to the City and County Hospital and placed under the care of Dr. Charles Rosenthal until the time of her death, and was attended by Dr. Alfred McLaughlin before her removal to the hospital. From Dr. Rosenthal the State received the information that this was a case of acute peritonitis, with double lobular pneumonia, and he signed the death certificate, giving the above-named diseases as the cause of death. Dr. Pillsbury, who made the autopsy in this case, could not verify the statement of Drs. Flint, Ryfkogle, Kellogg, and others, who claimed that they found plague bacilli. Drs. B. F. Williams and Doddsworth, internes at the City and County Hospital, were present at the autopsy. On the findings of Dr. Flint and others the ward at the hospital in which the woman died was quarantined, pending a more complete bacteriological examination on the part of Dr. Flint and his associates. These physicians were so positive regarding their diagnosis in this case that they went out to the residence of the deceased woman with the intention of taking some of the blood of the sick husband for examination and to Haffkine the children. Upon their arrival at the house, and after getting a history of the husband's illness and injuries, they failed to carry on any further investigation, or to Haffkine the children. They inoculated a guinea-pig with specimens removed from the body of the deceased woman, but the result proved negative. After holding off a bacteriological examination for a week or more, they finally admitted that they had been mistaken, and countersigned the certificate of death, giving as a cause of death acute peritonitis with lobular pneumonia, and ordered the quarantine raised on the ward. The State's representatives had informed the Federal people and their associates that they could give them a complete history of this woman's case from the date of her very recent confinement when she gave birth to a child, up to and including the time of her death, and that they were positive as to their position that this was not a case of bubonic plague. The Federal people and their associates ordered this body quicklimed for burial, yet they permitted a public funeral from an undertaking establishment in the Mission, and published the date and hour of the funeral in the daily papers.

Lee Yick Wau, 622 Jackson street, male, laundryman, 42 years old, suddenly died April 27th. This case was not seen before death, but an investigation before the autopsy was performed revealed the fact that the man had died from the effects of an overdose of Chinese medicine. Dr. Flint stated, before the autopsy began, that this certainly was one of the supposed hidden cases of plague, so often mentioned. At the request of the State's representatives, a complete autopsy was made of the stomach and intestines, and when no cause was found to account for the acute pathological changes in the stomach and intestines, the State's representatives gave the cause as above mentioned, and thus another case was proven to be based on fallacy. Anatomical diagnosis: Acute gastro-enteritis; phthisis; chololithiasis; chronic pleurisy, and chronic interstitial nephritis. Bacteriological diagnosis, negative.

Wong Do Gap, 828 Sacramento street, male, age 40, died May 13th, at the Oriental Dispensary. This case was seen many times clinically for more than one month, and a diagnosis of tubercular adenitis was made. Anatomical diagnosis: Acute hemorrhagic gastro-intero colitis, caused by chewing and swallowing Dr. Flint's clinical thermometer, chronic nephritis; edema of the lungs; cervical tubercular adenitis of the glands of the left axilla. Bacteriological diagnosis: Federal people found bipolar-stained bacilli, and inoculated a guinea-pig; result proved negative.

Lei Lum or Gee Mon Sui, 625 Dupont street, age 43, laundryman. Autopsied at public morgue, July 7th. Spleen examined by Federal doctors on same day, and pronounced suspicious of plague. This case was reported July 1st, and seen clinically. A diagnosis of pulmonary tuberculosis and stenosis of trachea made. Obstruction in trachea was due to a cicatrix, resulting from a cut in throat with suicidal intent. Patient committed suicide on the 6th, and was examined as above stated. Cultures and inoculations proved bipolar-stained bacilli to be diplococci.

Mon Lung, 4 Clay avenue, child, age four months. This case was treated at the Presbyterian Mission by Dr. Minnie Worley for more than two weeks for pneumonia. Autopsy revealed bipolar-stained organisms in smears from spleen. These appeared to State's representative to be streptococci, not bacilli, as claimed by Federal doctors. Cultures and inoculations proved organisms to be streptococci and the cause of pneumonia.

To the Honorable Board of Health of the State of California:

The undersigned begs to report that on July 6, 1901, he was present at an autopsy of a Chinaman named Lee Ah Wa (?) made by employes of the U. S. Marine Hospital Service, and has since made cultures and inoculations with tissues from the body of said Chinaman, making the usual bacteriological investigations, which led him to the conclusion that said Chinaman died of septicemia hemorrhagica, and not of bubonic plague.

Respectfully submitted,

S. M. MOUSER.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16, 1901.

Case 64, known as "Saina," a Japanese diva, of 845 Washington street. This was the second body autopsied on July 9th; the first being that of "Moiyo," also from the same place. This case was reported by Dr. Blue at 10 P. M. on July 8th as very suspicious of bubonic plague. Drs. Lawlor and Stone visited the case about midnight on the same day, and found the patient suffering with a fever ranging from 101° to 102° , moderately rapid pulse and breathing, and enlarged inguinal femoral glands on both sides. The glands were about the size of an almond not hulled, surrounded by a slight periglandular edema, and tender upon pressure. The skin over glands on right side showed a well-defined puncture mark, which had been made by Dr. Ryfkogel for the said purpose of withdrawing blood from glands for bacteriological examination. The history of the case previous to visit of Drs. Lawlor and Stone is this: The patient became sick the latter part of June. Dr. M. Regensberger was called in to treat the case. He made the diagnosis of typhoid fever and gave treatment for same, but since the patient did not show signs of improvement under this treatment, Drs. Carpenter and Evans were called in consultation. Both of these doctors heard murmurs over area of heart, but were not satisfied as to their diagnosis, and therefore a third consultation in the form of a bacteriologist, Dr. Ryfkogel, was called in, who at once pronounced the case bubonic plague, and then made the puncture above-mentioned to confirm his diagnosis. The post mortem showed the following: A chancre on the right side of vulva, the inguinal femoral groups of glands enlarged and surrounded by a non-hemorrhagic periglandular edema. Some of the glands ready to break down by fibrinous necrosis. Smears made from the glands showed the bipolar stained organism only to be present in set of glands on right side where the puncture had been made. The smears made from glands on left side were negative. From the cut surfaces of tumefaction about glands a serous exudate flowed, or rather oozed. The peritoneum, intestines, mesentery and its glands, stomach, and kidneys were found to be normal, not even injected nor hemorrhagic. The spleen was about double its size, soft, pulp structureless, and upon capsule being cut flowed out. Smears made of spleen did not show bipolar-stained organisms. The heart did not show any lesions, not even thickening of valves, although a few atheromatous plaques faintly showed in aorta, this proving that the consulting doctors who heard murmurs as stated above were mistaken. The lower lobes of both lungs were greatly congested, and upon being cut a serous, sanguinous, frothy exudate flowed from same. It should be added here that smears were made from this exudate of lungs, from the heart's blood, and from the mesenteric glands, but none of these smears showed bipolar-stained organisms; this proving clearly that the organisms found in the right group inguinal femoral glands were not found in blood of subject. This is in direct contradiction to findings of bacilli in suspected plague cases elsewhere; the spleen being the organ where the bacilli are found most abundantly, and if at all present, are found in this organ. This is in accordance with the ideas of the Federal doctors, because frequently no other organ in a case is examined.

Cases 63 and 68 were similar in every respect to above cases.

To the Honorable State Board of Health of the State of California:

The undersigned begs to report that at the request of your honorable Board he has made a thorough bacteriological investigation of three Japanese women who died at 845 Washington street, and has arrived at the conclusion hereinafter stated:

These women were named, respectively, Miss Moiyō (No. 63 of autopsies made since April 4th by medical men connected with the U. S. Marine Hospital Service), Miss Saina (No. 64), and Miss M. Kawamura (No. 68). These women were all inmates of a house of prostitution, and were similarly situated as to their habits and mode of life. The post mortem appearances were in many respects similar, except that in case 68 there were marked evidence of syphilis, copper-colored spots appearing on the skin of nearly all parts of the body. There was in each case some enlargement of the inguino-femoral glands, but in no case was the gland broken down or in a state of suppuration.

There were no marked changes in the axillary or cervical glands.

In cases 64 and 68 there was a little enlargement of some of the mesenteric glands. In each case the spleen was somewhat enlarged and friable. In all three cases were found short, rather thick micro-organisms, staining more deeply at the ends than in the middle. Guinea-pigs inoculated with portions of tissue from these dead bodies invariably died in a few days with every evidence of septicemia hemorrhagica. In all these cases the organisms were obtained in pure culture and inoculated into half-grown guinea-pigs, not one of which died nor showed evidence of disease. While the organism found in these cases resembles somewhat that of plague, it equally resembles so many other bacteria that we should hesitate to pronounce on it from its morphology alone. For instance, chicken cholera, swine-plague, the plague of deer, and other wild animals, septicemia hemorrhagica, etc.

Where the greatest bacteriologists in the world differ in opinion on the identity of the organisms above named, should we not hesitate to pronounce hastily and positively by the morphology alone without taking into consideration the clinical aspect of these cases and all other evidence that can be obtained? Returning to the morphology of the organism found in the cases, it will be proper for the writer to state that he has, while investigating these cases, found an organism identical with the one found in the dead subject in every particular. Not only in its morphology, but the culture and reactions are the same throughout. This was obtained in some water from a small lake which was being examined. Since, in examining some urine, he found what is morphologically its prototype. From this last it was convenient to obtain cultures.

Clinically, we have no evidence of the existence of plague. In the first place, there has been no unusual amount of sickness in the Chinese quarter or in the city. Secondly, with the exception of the three cases under consideration, and perhaps two others, there have not been two cases of suspects found in one house nor in the immediate vicinity. This has not been the case in other places where plague has prevailed.

In view of all the facts he has been able to gather he does not hesitate to say he is satisfied that the above mentioned were all cases of septicemia hemorrhagica, and not bubonic plague.

Case 69, a Chinese girl, fifty days old, was submitted to the undersigned for investigation, but as the micro-organism above described was not found, no further investigation was made.

Respectfully submitted.

S. M. MOUSER, M.D.

SAN FRANCISCO, August, 1901.

Wong Chou, 24 Waverly place, age 32; occupation, Chinese doctor. Autopsied August 20, 1901. This case was not seen clinically by the State's representatives before death. Dr. M. White, of the Marine Hospital Service, was notified of the sickness of the above Chinaman by Wong Chung, the interpreter for the Marine Hospital physicians, whereupon Dr. White made a visit to the above place and saw the case clinically one half hour before death. After visiting the case, he immediately notified the physicians representing the State that he had a very suspicious case and one which showed clinically all the evidences and symptoms of a true case of bubonic plague. He was so positive of proving his clinical diagnosis to the satisfaction of the other physicians, that when the case was visited by Drs. Blue and Currie, of the Marine Hospital Service, and Drs. Lawlor, Stone, and Bothe, representing the State Board of Health, with Dr. White, the said Dr. White carried with him to the residence of the said Chinese a quantity of Yersin serum for the purpose of using it on the sick Chinaman. Upon arriving at the residence of the Chinaman, much to the surprise of Dr. White and his associates, they found that the said Wong Chou had departed to the "Great Unknown." The case was immediately removed to the morgue, where an autopsy was made by Dr. White in the presence of the above-named physicians and representatives from the City Board of Health. The autopsy revealed the following facts: The peritoneum was not injected and the abdominal cavity contained no fluid. Mesentery glands were not enlarged. The spleen was enlarged to more than double its size, of a dark chocolate color. The stomach was normal, but contained about one pint of Chinese medicine, which had an odor of chloral. The lower lobes of the lungs were congested, but contained no tubercles. The heart contained a large ante-mortem clot. The glands in the left inguinal region were slightly enlarged, and over this region the Chinaman had a large plaster of Chinese ointment. On making an incision over the course of the spermatic cord a large quantity of pus exuded; upon further examination a large abscess on the left testicle was found. This no doubt was the cause of the swelling in the region of the left inguinal gland. Smears from the pus showed the infecting organism to be streptococcus. The smears taken from other organs of the body showed that they contained the same organism. Death was due to the streptococci infection, with an acute splenic tumor, and to an overdose of Chinese medicine. Dr. White and his associates seemed to be very much disappointed in a failure to prove their clinical diagnosis of bubonic plague.

TO SUMMARIZE.

The State has scrubbed an area equal to 525 acres, and in addition thereto fumigated about 30,000,000 cubic feet of dwelling apartments.

Have seen 307 sick cases and autopsied 103 cases.

Total cost to date, $37,518.

Number of days cleansing Chinatown and visiting the sick, 142.

During all of which time we have not observed a single case of bubonic plague.

OFFICE OF CALIFORNIA STATE BOARD OF HEALTH,
SACRAMENTO.

To His Excellency HON. HENRY T. GAGE, Governor of California:

SIR: On March 31, 1901, as executive officer of the State Board of Health, I was authorized and directed by you to incur the necessary expense to render the Chinese quarter of San Francisco thoroughly sanitary, and, incidentally, to eradicate any contagious disease found to exist there. The report of the operations entered upon and carried out by virtue of this order is herewith submitted. At the beginning of this work the Federal authorities who co-operated with us were of the opinion, based upon reports of others, more or less trustworthy, that bubonic plague was prevalent among the Chinese of that city, and that it would be readily found as soon as proper investigation was had. During this period of fumigation, disinfecting, and cleansing no effort was omitted on our part nor on the part of the Marine Hospital representatives to locate and identify the presence of plague.

At the conclusion of the work, as thorough and searching as it could possibly be made, no case of bubonic plague was found, nor was any indication of its having been there discovered. If plague had existed in San Francisco just prior to this sanitary investigation, it would have been there during the months of April, May, and June, because no efforts had been made to suppress it and no precautions taken to prevent its spread.

It is safe, therefore, to say that the evil reports of the presence of that disease in San Francisco were based upon error in diagnosis upon the part of incompetent investigators. We take great pleasure in assuring you that plague does not exist in San Francisco, and that it never has had lodgment there, nor elsewhere in California.

CALIFORNIA STATE BOARD OF HEALTH.

By W. P. MATHEWS, Secretary.

APPENDIX "B."

LIST OF PARDONS, COMMUTATIONS, AND REPRIEVES

FROM JANUARY 7, 1901, THE DATE OF THE FIRST BIENNIAL MESSAGE, TO PRESENT DATE.

I.

PARDONS AND COMMUTATIONS OF SENTENCE FROM STATE PRISON.

1.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.
Oliver Emerson	Tuolumne ..	Murder, first degree. July, 1899

DECISION.—Whereas, in the month of July, A. D. 1899, at a regular session of the Superior Court, held in and for the County of Tuolumne, in said State, Oliver Emerson was tried and convicted of the crime of murder, first degree, and sentenced to be hanged on the 8th day of March, 1901;

And whereas, the said Oliver Emerson thereafter appealed to the Supreme Court of California from said judgment;

And whereas, said Supreme Court, through Chief Justice Beatty, in affirming the judgment of the lower court, in part said:

Upon this evidence a jury has found—and the finding has been approved by the trial judge—that the defendant is guilty of murder in the highest grade, and that he deserves to suffer the extreme penalty of the law. We are asked to say as a matter of law, that this verdict is so entirely without support in the evidence that it can not stand. But after the most careful consideration of the case we do not feel ourselves justified in setting aside the verdict upon this ground. Certainly the showing against the defendant was not a strong one, as to the question of deliberation, such as characterizes murder of the first degree. He did not seek or provoke the quarrel which was the immediate cause of the killing. He did not show himself at all aggressive in the course of the altercation, and all the evidence shows that he had turned to leave the scene of the trouble, and would have done so but for the conduct of Rodgers and his wife in following him up and angrily demanding to know where he had seen her before. All this is inconsistent with an intention on the part of the defendant to seek the life of Rodgers at that time, and strongly corroborates his claim that he was only induced to fire by the belief that he was in danger of fatal or serious injury from the threatened attack of Rodgers, armed as he was with a stone, which, in the hands of a strong and determined man at close quarters, is always a dangerous and often a deadly weapon. But on the other hand, the long-standing quarrel and bitter hostility of the parties, the preparation for trouble evidenced by the constant carrying of a loaded pistol, and the threat to put Rodgers "where the dogs would not bark at him," were items of evidence from which the jury might infer a premeditated design to kill; and the fact that the fatal wound was inflicted after the deceased had dropped his weapon and had turned, or was in the act of turning, to run, was evidence which certainly tended to show that defendant was not acting solely with a view of defending himself from death or serious bodily injury. True, none of these circumstances is at all conclusive, nor are all together. Judging by so much as is disclosed by this record, the quarrel between the parties was not exclusively of defendant's seeking, nor was he particularly active in promoting it. On the contrary, the deceased seems to have been the aggressor. The act of defendant in arming himself may well have been prompted, as he claims it was, solely by fear of violence, of which he had been warned. His threat to put Rodgers "where the dogs would not bark at him" may have been idle and meaningless. His second and fatal shot, fired after Rodgers had dropped his weapon and turned to run, may have been caused by a failure to observe, under the excitement of the moment, that his adversary was endeavoring to avoid further conflict. But all these matters and their full significance were for the jury to weigh and determine; and their verdict, having substantial evidence to support it, can not be disturbed unless it is vitiated by some erroneous ruling of the court.

And whereas, verbal recommendation for Executive clemency in this case having been made to me by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the State;

And whereas, from an examination of the application for commutation of sentence and from the records and papers on file in this department relating to said case, it appears that the evidence was not sufficient to justify the conviction of the defendant of the crime of murder in the first degree;

February 28, 1901, sentence commuted to imprisonment in the State Prison at San Quentin for the term of fifteen years.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
Donati C. Probasco..	Siskiyou ..	Murder, second degree....	December, 1893..	21 years.

DECISION.—Whereas, in the month of December, A. D. 1893, at a regular session of the Superior Court, held in and for the County of Siskiyou, in said State, Donati C. Probasco was, after due trial and conviction of the crime of murder in the second degree, sentenced and condemned to undergo an imprisonment in the State Prison at San Quentin for the term of twenty-one years;

And whereas, the said prisoner has been imprisoned in said State Prison since December 1, 1893, and his term of imprisonment would, with deductions for good behavior, end November 1, 1906;

And whereas, said prisoner during his said term has not only shown exemplary conduct and strictly obeyed prison rules and regulations, but rendered great service to the prison authorities, resulting in the saving of the life of one of the guards in the following particulars, as appears by the following words of a report from the Warden of said prison to the State Board of Prison Directors, dated December 6, 1899, to wit:

This prisoner has shown himself as deserving of some recognition at your hands for his conduct on May 17, 1899, when guard McDonald was murderously assaulted in the jute mill by convict Oppenheimer. While the said guard was apparently at the mercy of such would-be assassin, no other guard being in the immediate vicinity to render assistance, the above-named prisoner, No. 15,688, D. C. Probasco, the only person who saw the assault, ran to the nearest guard, S. R. Yoho, and notified him that his brother guard was about being killed by a prisoner, and led him to the scene of the occurrence. This enabled guard Yoho to render such assistance as to prevent the killing and overpower the assassin. It is beyond doubt that had it not been for the timely warning given by the prisoner Probasco to Mr. Yoho, Mr. McDonald would surely have been stabbed to death.

And whereas, after a full examination of the said facts by the State Board of Prison Directors, the said report of the Warden was fully verified, and the conduct of the prisoner found to be at all times exemplary, and said board after such examination caused its report, under date December 11, 1899, to be submitted to me, wherein they duly recommended that said Donati C. Probasco was deserving of full pardon;

And whereas, it appears to me that, in view of the meritorious conduct of said prisoner, considering the time during which he has been imprisoned in expiation of his crime, this is a proper case for the exercise of Executive clemency, and that the granting of a pardon in this case in recognition of the services of said Probasco will be an example to other convicts that may result in the improvement of their conduct and encourage them to scrupulously obey the prison rules and regulations;

Pardoned May 3, 1901.

Name of Prisoner.	County.	Crime.	Sentenced.	Term.
Patrick Brick	Colusa	Murder, first degree.....	July, 1885..... Life.

DECISION.—Whereas, in the month of July, A. D. 1885, at a regular session of the Superior Court, held in and for the County of Colusa, in this State, Patrick Brick was tried and convicted of the crime of murder in the first degree, and sentenced to be hanged, which judgment and sentence was thereafter affirmed on appeal by the Supreme Court of this State;

And whereas, thereafter in the month of April, 1886, Governor Stone- man commuted the sentence to imprisonment for life on the petitions of numerous persons presented to him from different portions of the United States, among whom were the then Speaker of the House of Representatives, three United States Senators, including Hon. Leland Stanford, the Governor and ex-Governor of the State of Kentucky, besides many citizens of Louisville and St. Louis, where said Patrick Brick formerly lived, and many citizens of Colusa County, where said homicide was committed, all testifying to his uniform good character while a resident of those places; and after a careful inspection and reading of the testimony in the case, said Governor Stoneman found that the crime was committed in the heat of passion, and that it lacked the elements of malice and premeditation necessary to make it murder in the first degree;

And whereas, petitions have been received by me from many citizens requesting a re-examination of the case and a full pardon;

And whereas, it appears from the records before me that the said Patrick Brick has been actually confined in the State Prison at Folsom for the period of fifteen years, which term of imprisonment, if he had been sentenced to a term less than life, and had been entitled to credits, would be equivalent to a term of imprisonment of about twenty years and seven months;

And whereas, it appears from the records of the officers of the prison that during his long period of imprisonment his conduct has been most exemplary, and that by his expert work on the roofs of the prison he has been of most valuable assistance to the officers, and saved much money to the State;

And whereas, the judge who tried the cause has joined in the application for clemency, as appears from a letter on file among said records;

And whereas, upon an examination of the facts of the case I find that the prisoner was convicted of the crime during a period of great popular excitement, due to the previous murder of Dr. Glenn, committed in the same locality, some few months prior to the killing of Jones by said Patrick Brick, and prejudice was engendered thereby against said Brick. And it further conclusively appears to me that the killing of Jones by said Patrick Brick was in a sudden quarrel and heat of passion, and immediately after being violently assaulted and knocked down by said deceased, so that the highest crime for which said Patrick Brick should have been lawfully convicted, if proper to convict him at all, was manslaughter;

And whereas, the highest punishment prescribed for manslaughter was then and still is ten years' imprisonment;

And whereas, said Patrick Brick has actually served a term of fifteen years' confinement in the State Prison at Folsom;

And whereas, in view of the facts and the good character of said Patrick Brick, both before and after his imprisonment, it appears that justice and clemency require in this case a full and unconditional pardon;

Pardoned May 29, 1901.

Thomas P. Owens	Sonoma	Murder, first degree July, 1900

DECISION.—Whereas, in the month of July, A. D. 1900, at a regular session of the Superior Court, held in and for the County of Sonoma, in said State, Thomas P. Owens was tried and convicted of the crime of murder in the first degree, and was thereafter duly sentenced to be hanged in the State Prison of California at San Quentin, on the 25th day of October, A. D. 1901;

And whereas, a petition signed by many persons, and several letters from divers persons have been presented to me wherein it is alleged that the said Thomas P. Owens was, at the time of the commission of the crime of which he was convicted, irresponsible and insane, and is still insane;

And whereas, upon the said petition and letters I did appoint Dr. F. W. Hatch, General Superintendent of State Hospitals, to visit the said Thomas P. Owens at the State Prison at San Quentin;

And whereas, the said Dr. F. W. Hatch visited said convict Thomas P. Owens, and on the 15th day of October, 1901, made to me a written report as follows:

CALIFORNIA STATE PRISON,
SAN QUENTIN, October 15, 1901.

HON. HENRY T. GAGE, Governor State of California:

DEAR SIR: In accordance with your instructions to visit and examine into the mental condition of convict Thomas P. Owens, under sentence of death at the State Prison at San Quentin, I have this day made a careful examination of the said Thomas P. Owens and beg to report as follows:

First—That there is sufficient evidence of present insanity to justify a more prolonged investigation than can be had in the limited time intervening between now and the day set for his execution.

Second—I respectfully request that you grant such reprieve as will enable me to make further investigation before expressing my positive conclusions as to the existing mental condition.

Respectfully yours,

F. W. HATCH, M.D.,
General Superintendent State Hospitals.

And whereas, a doubt having arisen as to the sanity of said Thomas P. Owens, and request having been made by said Dr. F. W. Hatch for a reprieve of sentence, and it appearing to me that a reprieve of sentence for a reasonable time would be consonant with justice in order to allow a full investigation and determination of the prisoner's mental condition;

And whereas, pursuant to said recommendation of Dr. F. W. Hatch, on the 19th day of October, A. D. 1901, I reprieved the sentence of death until Friday, December 20, 1901, and authorized said Dr. F. W. Hatch to employ such assistant physicians as he might select in making further investigation;

And whereas, on the 11th day of December, A. D. 1901, said Dr. F. W. Hatch and Doctors J. A. Crane and J. D. Young, his assistants, returned to me the following report and recommendation, to wit:

DECEMBER 11, 1901.

HON. HENRY T. GAGE, Governor of California:

DEAR SIR: Having been asked to inquire into the mental condition of Thomas P. Owens, now under reprieve of sentence of death in the California State Prison at San Quentin, we beg leave to report that, after a careful review of the history of the man and his family—which history clearly reveals an inherited tendency to brain disease and insanity—together with a close study of his appearance, manner, and conversation, we believe him to be insane at the present time.

And while it may be exceeding our instructions in the case, we also venture it as our opinion that the said Owens was of unsound mind prior to and upon the occasion of the crime for which he stands convicted, and that the action of alcohol upon a brain predisposed to disease, by reason of these inherited tendencies, was largely the occasion of this mental unsoundness and the resulting crime.

The above being the conclusions arrived at by us, there is no alternative offered but to suggest to your Excellency that we believe that the demands of justice will be fully subserved by a commutation of the death penalty to that of imprisonment for life; this course also affording the public immunity from further acts of violence upon the part of the condemned man.

And finally, as this case may require further observation and study, we recommend that for the present he be detained in San Quentin, leaving the place of his final and permanent detention open for future consideration.

Very respectfully,

J. D. YOUNG, M.D.

J. A. CRANE, M.D.

F. W. HATCH, M.D.

And whereas, it appearing to me from said report that the recommendation of a commutation of sentence to life imprisonment is right and proper in the premises and is consonant with justice.

December 12, 1901, sentence commuted to life imprisonment.

Marion Miranda	Sonoma.....	Murder, second degree ..	June, 1898..... 12 years.

DECISION.—Whereas, in the month of June, A. D. 1898, at a regular session of the Superior Court, held in and for the County of Sonoma, in said State, Marion Miranda was tried and convicted of the crime of murder in the second degree, and condemned to undergo an imprisonment in the State Prison at San Quentin for the term of twelve years;

And whereas, application for the pardon of said Marion Miranda has been made by several reputable citizens representing that said Miranda was innocent of the crime of which he was convicted, and it appears from the facts and documentary evidence submitted to me that said Marion Miranda was jointly charged with one Pete Bill in the Superior Court of the County of Sonoma, State of California, of the crime of murdering one Bernardo, and both were found guilty of murder in the second degree. And it appears that the evidence against said Miranda was mainly circumstantial, and that after the sentence of said Miranda and Pete Bill, to wit, on October 3, A. D. 1898, said Pete Bill, being on his deathbed, freely and voluntarily acknowledged the killing of said Bernardo, and exonerated said Marion Miranda from all complicity in said crime, and then and there freely and voluntarily made and subscribed to the following affidavit:

In the Superior Court of the County of Santa Rosa (sic), in the State of California,
The People of the State of California, plaintiff, vs. Pete Bill and Marion Miranda, defendants.

State of California, County of Marin—ss.

I, Pete Bill, one of the above-named co-defendants in the above-entitled action, wherein said defendants were charged with and convicted of the unlawful killing of one Bernardo (whose first name is at present unknown to deponent), of the County of Santa Rosa (sic), State of California, on or about the 28th day of May, 1898, being first duly sworn, doth depose and say: That said Marion Maranda and his wife and said Bernardo and deponent and deponent's wife were all together about nine o'clock at night on the above-named date. That about this said time said Marion Maranda and his wife separated themselves from the company of said Bernardo and deponent and deponent's wife, and were not present at the time of the said killing of the said Bernardo. That after the said Marion Maranda and his wife had separated themselves from the company of the said Bernardo and deponent and deponent's wife, as aforesaid, the said Bernardo attempted with force and arms to commit the crime of rape upon the person of the wife of deponent, and declared that he was going to take deponent's wife to his house to live with him. That deponent thereupon resisted the said force of the said Bernardo, and that the said Bernardo did then and there assault deponent with a knife, whereupon deponent pulled a picket off of a fence near by and struck the said Bernardo over the head with the said picket, which said blow killed said Bernardo. That this affidavit is given voluntarily and under no duress and without any inducement from any one or from any source whatsoever, but wholly with the desire to tell the truth; and that this affidavit is the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, any statement, declaration, affidavit, admission, or confession to the contrary notwithstanding.

PETE BILL.

D. J. Quaid, Jas. F. Shields, Suisun, witnesses.

Subscribed and sworn to before me, this 3d day of October, A. D. 1898.

CHAS. E. ALDEN,

[SEAL.]

Notary Public in and for the County of Marin, State of California.

And whereas, it appears from letters received from Hon. Albert G. Burnett, the judge who tried the cause, and from Hon. Emmett Seawell, the district attorney who prosecuted said cause, that said Marion Miranda was innocent of said crime, and the said judge has written to me the following frank expression of his opinion:

SANTA ROSA, CAL., March 21, 1902.

HON. HENRY T. GAGE, Governor of the State of California:

DEAR SIR: In reference to one Miranda, convicted in my court of murder in the second degree, about whom I have written you before, I desire to state that from information received since his conviction, I am of the opinion that he was innocent of any connection with the crime and that he ought to be pardoned.

Yours very truly,

ALBERT G. BURNETT.

Pardoned March 26, 1902.

Frank R. Donlan	Tulare	Murder, first degree	October, 1900

DECISION.—Whereas, in the month of October, A. D. 1900, at a regular session of the Superior Court, held in and for the County of Tulare, in said State, Frank R. Donlan was tried and convicted of the crime of murder in the first degree, and sentenced to be executed at the State Prison in San Quentin on January 4, 1901;

And whereas, an appeal from said judgment of the said Superior Court was taken to the Supreme Court of California, and, said judgment having been afterward affirmed, the said Frank R. Donlan was on March 21, 1902, in the said Superior Court in and for Tulare County, sentenced to be executed on April 11, 1902, in said State Prison at San Quentin;

And whereas, it was afterward represented to me by several representative citizens of the State that the said Frank R. Donlan at the time of the commission of said crime was irresponsible and that he is now an irresponsible and insane person;

And whereas, in view of said representations, on the 31st day of March, 1902, I appointed Dr. F. W. Hatch, the General Superintendent of State Hospitals, to investigate the case and to make a thorough investigation of the mental condition of said Frank R. Donlan and report to me thereon, and thereupon I granted a reprieve of sentence until Friday, May 9, 1902;

And whereas, I have this day received from Dr. F. W. Hatch a report concerning the said Frank R. Donlan, in which said report Dr. J. D. Young of the Napa State Asylum has joined, which said report is as follows, to wit:

STOCKTON, CAL., May 1, 1902.

HON. HENRY T. GAGE, Governor of California:

DEAR SIR: Having been directed by you to inquire into the mental condition of Frank Donlan, under sentence of death, we beg to report that a careful examination of the life history of the condemned shows a marked inheritance to insanity and epilepsy on the father's side. According to the sworn statements of the mother and three brothers of the condemned, he has been subject to epileptic attacks since early childhood. This testimony is corroborated in part by the sworn statement of Dr. F. F. Lord, a practicing physician, that he has seen him in an epileptic seizure, and also by the statement of one Ochoa, a criminal under sentence of death and the cell-mate of Donlan, that he has seen him in convulsions on three separate occasions. Examination shows that he is defective mentally, the defect being due to long-continued epileptic attacks. He committed the crime when under the influence of liquor. The morning after the commission of the crime—according to the physicians who examined him—he was a nervous wreck and “verging on tremens.” Probably no case of epilepsy exists in which there is not more or less mental impairment. We do not assume that the presence of epilepsy in an individual necessarily renders that individual irresponsible for a crime committed, yet when there is epilepsy of years' duration with resultant mental weakness, as in this case, that fact should weigh in determining the measure of punishment in some way proportionate to the degree of moral resistance which can be opposed to crime.

Taking all of these facts into consideration, and it being established that the condemned is mentally defective and a sufferer from epilepsy, we therefore recommend that the death sentence of Donlan be commuted to imprisonment for life.

F. W. HATCH, M.D.

J. D. YOUNG, M.D.

And whereas, from said report it appears that the said Frank R. Donlan was and is an irresponsible person, and that the ends of justice will be subserved in complying with the recommendations of said physicians;

May 5, 1902, sentence commuted to life imprisonment.

John Barbeau	Mariposa	Murder, first degree	May, 1895 Life.

DECISION.—Whereas, in the month of May, A. D. 1895, at a regular session of the Superior Court, held in and for the County of Mariposa, in said State, John Barbeau was tried and convicted of the crime of murder in the first degree, and condemned to undergo an imprisonment in the State Prison for the term of his natural life;

And whereas, numerous representative citizens have petitioned for his pardon, and from the facts represented to me it clearly appears that the said John Barbeau committed the said homicide under circumstances strongly indicating sufficient provocation and grounds of self-defense, and that under the strongest facts presented against him the crime committed was not above the grade of manslaughter;

And whereas, it appears that the said John Barbeau is an old and infirm man, being about 66 years, and is a veteran of the Civil War, having served gallantly in said war and having been honorably discharged;

And whereas, he has been imprisoned in the State Prison at Folsom for said homicide since June 27, 1895, and has been more than sufficiently punished for the offense shown by the actual facts;

And whereas, the facts and records in the matter of said Barbeau's application for pardon were duly submitted to the Board of State Prison Directors on May 24, 1902, and the said Board adopted and referred to me their findings and recommendation as follows, to wit:

Convict No. 3489, John Barbeau (convicted of the crime of murder, first degree, committed to the State Prison at Folsom to serve a life term by the honorable the Superior Court of Mariposa County, received June 7, 1895), having made application to the Governor of California for Executive clemency, and his Excellency Henry T. Gage, Governor, having submitted the application to this Board for its consideration and recommendation, the Board finds and recommends as follows:

It appears from the evidence submitted for consideration that the application for a pardon is signed and urged by citizens of weight and high standing in this community;

That the crime was committed under great provocation, and, considering the quarrelsome temperament of the man killed and his prior attempt upon the life of the petitioner (Barbeau), the killing could almost be said to have been done in self-defense;

It appears that the petitioner is of an inoffensive, mild, and harmless disposition, of a somewhat simple and over-confiding nature, not over strong mentally, and that his life, prior to and since his committing this offense, has been praiseworthy and irreproachable;

It appears that he is an old volunteer soldier, who fought to protect his country in the War of the Rebellion for over five years, and that he now has an opportunity offered to spend the few remaining years of his old age in a National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers;

It appears that Mr. Geo. M. Mott and Mr. T. W. Sheehan, responsible and reputable men, have obtained a legal permit from the Soldiers' Home in Ohio for the admission of the petitioner (Barbeau), and for his proper care and keeping in that institution, and have guaranteed that all transportation expenses will be furnished by them in event that a pardon be granted;

Therefore, this Board does most respectfully recommend to his Excellency Henry T. Gage, Governor of California, that he do pardon the said convict No. 3489, John Barbeau, provided the said Barbeau be placed in some soldiers' home outside the limits of this State, to be properly provided and cared for during the remainder of his life, without further expense to the State of California.

Pardoned June 2, 1902, upon express condition that said John Barbeau be placed in some soldiers' home outside the State, and that he be not permitted to return to this State.

Gertrudes Almendares	San Diego	Murder, first degree July, 1901

DECISION.—Whereas, in the month of July, A. D. 1901, at a regular session of the Superior Court, held in and for the County of San Diego, in said State, Gertrudes Almendares was tried and convicted of the crime of murder in the first degree, and sentenced to death at San Quentin Prison, State aforesaid; that thereafter such proceedings were had that on the first day of August, A. D. 1902, by an order made and given in said Superior Court of the County of San Diego, the Warden of said State Prison at San Quentin was directed to execute the judgment of death on Friday, the 19th day of September, A. D. 1902, between the hours of sunrise and sunset on said day, within the walls of said State Prison;

And whereas, it was thereafter represented to me and made to appear that the said Gertrudes Almendares was insane, and upon such representation I appointed two competent physicians to inquire into the matter of said insanity, to wit, Dr. F. W. Hatch, General Superintendent of State Hospitals of this State, and Dr. J. D. Young, Medical Superintendent of the State Hospital at Stockton, State aforesaid ;

And whereas, said physicians on the 10th day of September, A. D. 1902, presented to me their written report and findings wherein they find and represent that the said Gertrudes Almendarez is now insane, and recommend a commutation of sentence to life imprisonment, which said report is in words and figures following, to wit:

HON. HENRY T. GAGE, Governor State of California:

DEAR SIR: In accordance with your instructions to inquire into the mental condition of convict Gertrudes Almendarez, sentenced to be executed at the San Quentin State Prison, we beg to inform you that we have made a careful examination of the condemned, and herewith submit our conclusions.

Examination of Almendarez brings to light a depressed injury of the skull, about four inches in length, on the left parietal bone. The injury was received about five years ago in Mexico. The depression of the skull is well marked, and Almendarez's story that it resulted from a saber cut is, to some extent, substantiated by the general character of the resulting scar.

With this highly probable physical basis as a cause of disturbance of the brain, Almendarez presents the following symptoms of a diseased mind. He has continually, for over two years, labored under the insane idea that fire was being placed upon him by parties unknown to him, but who kept up this form of persecution. His actions in the efforts made to rid himself of the sensation of the application of fire have been consistent with this belief. He has apparently no thought of the death penalty; his only concern being to get away from those who throw fire upon him. He is quarrelsome, has assaulted the Warden, has set fire to his bedding in his cell, and is recognized by the prison authorities as too vicious and dangerous a man with his persecutory beliefs to be placed in a cell with others.

In our opinion Almendarez is insane and a proper subject for Executive clemency.

We therefore recommend the commutation of his sentence to life imprisonment.

F. W. HATCH, M.D.

J. D. YOUNG, M.D.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 10, 1902.

And whereas, it appears to me that the said Gertrudes Almendarez is now insane, and that the ends of justice will be subserved by commuting the sentence of said Gertrudes Almendarez to life imprisonment, in accordance with the recommendation of the said physicians;

September 18, 1902, sentence commuted to life imprisonment.

Frank Dunphy ----- Thomas Harvey.	Solano -----	Resisting an officer.-----	June, 1901.-----Six months' imprisonment and $20 fine.

DECISION.—Whereas, in the month of June, A. D. 1901, at a regular session of the Superior Court, held in and for the County of Solano, in said State, Frank Dunphy and Thomas Harvey were tried and convicted of the crime of resisting an officer, and were respectively condemned to undergo an imprisonment in the county jail of said County of Solano for the term of six months and to pay a fine of twenty dollars ;

And whereas, it appears from several petitions of public officers of the County of Solano and of the City of Vallejo that said Frank Dunphy and Thomas Harvey are each young men of good character, and have heretofore sustained an excellent reputation for peace, quietness, truth, honesty, and integrity, and that this is the first offense charged against them, and that said Frank Dunphy is the sole support of a wife and babe, and that said Thomas Harvey has a widowed mother dependent upon him for support, and after an examination of the transcript of the evidence, for the foregoing, among other reasons, it appears that the law has been fully vindicated, and that the circumstances of the case call for the exercise of Executive clemency ;

Pardoned August 17, 1901.

Eunice Hobbs.....	Napa	Assault	October, 1901.....Six months.

DECISION.—Whereas, in the month of October, A. D. 1901, at a regular session of the Superior Court, held in and for the County of Napa, in said State, Eunice Hobbs was tried and convicted of the crime of assault, and sentenced to undergo an imprisonment in the county jail for a term of six months ;

And whereas, it appears from the certificates of two reputable physicians that said Eunice Hobbs was, prior to her incarceration, suffering from severe uterine hemorrhage, and that since her incarceration her infirmity has been aggravated, that her infirmity is devitalizing in the extreme, and that it is impossible, on account of her incarceration, to render her the medical and surgical aid necessary, and that her health is being permanently endangered ;

And whereas, it further appears from a petition signed by the Mayor and other officers of the City of Napa, and by several representative citizens of Napa County, that the confinement of said Eunice Hobbs in said jail is seriously endangering her life, and that she is ill and physically unable to undergo the punishment ;

And whereas, the crime of which said Eunice Hobbs is convicted is only a misdemeanor, and the law does not intend that punishment endangering the life of a person should be inflicted ;

And whereas, it appears that the ends of justice will be promoted by a commutation of said sentence, the said Eunice Hobbs having already been incarcerated for two months, or thereabouts;

December 21, 1901, sentence commuted to expire on December 23, 1901.

Fred H. Scott	Alameda	Assault with deadly weapon	November, 1901.. 2 years.

DECISION.—Whereas, in the month of November, A. D. 1901, at a regular session of the Superior Court, held in and for the County of Alameda, in said State, Fred H. Scott was tried and convicted of the crime of assault with a deadly weapon and condemned to undergo an imprisonment in the county jail of Alameda for the term of two years;

And whereas, many applications, signed by numerous representative citizens of Alameda County and elsewhere in this State, have been received by me for the pardon of said Fred H. Scott, wherein it is represented and it clearly appears to me that the facts constituting the crime for which said Fred H. Scott was convicted and sentenced show that the said Scott shot at one Harry Wilson, who had attempted to commit rape upon the sister of said Scott, and the said Wilson had circulated false and scandalous stories concerning the reputation of said Scott's sister;

And whereas, it further appears that the said Fred H. Scott had previously borne an unblemished reputation, and was a peaceful and law-abiding citizen;

And whereas, it is further represented, and it appears from the representations of reputable physicians that the said Scott is suffering from hypertrophy of the left ventricle of the heart, which renders his continued confinement dangerous to life;

And whereas, it appears that the said Scott has been continually confined in the said county jail of Alameda since November 14, 1901, and in my opinion the law has been sufficiently vindicated and the ends of justice will be subserved by his immediate pardon;

Pardoned September 20, 1902.

DECISION.—Whereas, in the month of November, A. D. 1901, at a regular session of the Superior Court, held in and for the County of San Luis Obispo, in said State, Bert Ross was tried and convicted of the crime of murder, and sentenced to be hanged until dead in the State Prison at San Quentin, California, on Friday, January 10, 1902;

And whereas, an appeal has been duly taken by said Bert Ross to the Supreme Court of the United States of America, and a citation to show cause has been issued out of the Circuit Court of the United States, Ninth Circuit, directed to the Warden of the State Prison at San Quentin, requiring him to appear and show cause on January 27, 1902, why the alleged sentence of death should not be reviewed and alleged errors corrected;

And whereas, on January 8, 1902, because of the pendency of said appeal, I reprieved the sentence of said Bert Ross until February 15, 1902;

And whereas, on Friday, February 14, 1902, because of the pendency of said appeal, I again reprieved the sentence of said Bert Ross until May 17, 1902;

And whereas, on Wednesday, May 14, 1902, because of the pendency of said appeal, I again reprieved the sentence of said Bert Ross until August 18, 1902;

And whereas, on Thursday, August 14, 1902, because of the pendency of said appeal, I again reprieved the sentence of said Bert Ross until Monday, November 17, 1902;

And whereas, the said appeal is still pending and undetermined;

And whereas, pending said hearing and determination of the United States Court, it is proper that a further reprieve of the sentence of said Bert Ross should be granted, and to avoid the necessity of having the said defendant, Bert Ross, again brought before the Superior Court of San Luis Obispo County for the purpose of resentence;

November 13, 1902, sentence reprieved until February 16, 1903.

REPORT OF THE STATE BOARD OF EXAMINERS.

OFFICE OF THE STATE BOARD OF EXAMINERS,
SACRAMENTO, CAL., December 6, 1902.

To the Senate and Assembly of the State of California:

We have the honor to herewith submit a report of the transactions of this Board since December 1, 1900.

The law designates the first and third Mondays of every month as the meeting days of this Board. The increase of business coming before the Board for consideration, and the desirability of prompt settlement with those having claims against the State, have prompted this body to meet oftener. We have held two hundred and eighty-three meetings during the past two years—an average of twelve each month. In this period we have passed upon 11,735 claims, aggregating the sum of $9,922,608.57, segregated as follows:

Claims presented amounting to	$9,922,608 57
11,699 claims allowed for sum of	$9,672,818 51
36 claims rejected, amounting to	25,996 97

Total saving in two years, $249,790.06.

MONEY SAVED BY THE STATE.

During the administrations of Governors Markham and Budd the State Board of Examiners saved to the State the sum of $324,952.49, exclusive of rejected claims.

In a period of less than four years the present Board has saved, in like manner, the sum of $475,339.10—nearly $10,000 per month.

In other words, the saving to the State by the present Board has exceeded the combined savings of the two preceding administrations more than 46 per cent.

CLAIMS FOR WHICH NO APPROPRIATIONS HAVE BEEN MADE.

Claims filed with this Board, under the provisions of Section 663 of the Political Code, are hereby transmitted to your honorable bodies, in accordance with Section 666 of the Political Code, with the recommendation of this Board that appropriations be made to pay the same:

W. C. Van Fleet, legal services.....	$500 00
Thomas D. Riordan, legal services	250 00

DEFICIENCIES.

The following is a list of the requests for permission to create deficiencies, with the consents given, and the claims approved as deficiencies under Section 5 of the General Appropriation Act. We recommend that appropriations for their payment be made by the present Legislature:

Tirey L. Ford, Attorney-General, traveling expenses for fifty-third fiscal year.....	$1,000 00
Tirey L. Ford, Attorney-General, costs and expenses of suits for fifty-third fiscal year.....	5,550 34
George Stone, Adjutant-General, care of State Armory, etc.....	1,200 00
George Stone, Adjutant-General, postage, expressage, etc.....	100 00

DEFICIENCIES IN APPROPRIATION FOR TRANSPORTATION OF INSANE AND PRISONERS.

The Legislature, for a number of years last past, failed to make adequate appropriations for the "transportation of insane and prisoners," consequently the appropriation becomes exhausted before the end of each fiscal year. We recommend that the appropriation for the fifty-fifth and fifty-sixth fiscal years be increased for each year $5,000, and an additional appropriation of like sum for the fifty-fourth fiscal year.

Following is a list of claims against the appropriation for "transportation of insane and prisoners" during the fifty-second and fifty-third fiscal years, amounting to the sum of $12,227.05. We recommend that an appropriation be made to pay the same.

PURCHASE OF BONDS.

There is at the present time in the State School Land Fund the sum of $972,667.81. In our report to the last session of the Legislature we made the following suggestion: "This fund is constantly increasing, and the Board, owing to the circumscribed class of bonds it is allowed to purchase under the law, has not been able to advantageously invest the money. We therefore recommend that the law be amended to allow the purchase of municipal bonds." We recommend anew the recommendation then made.

Following is a list of bonds purchased for the School Land Fund since December 1, 1900:

128 Monterey County, refunding, $1,000 each, 4%.....	$128,000 00
190 Mendocino County, $500 each, 4%.....	95,000 00
150 Riverside County, $1,000 each, 4%.....	150,000 00
Total amount of purchase.....	$373,000 00

FORECLOSING THE INTERESTS OF DELINQUENT PURCHASERS OF STATE SCHOOL LAND.

We respectfully call attention to the following paragraph taken from our last report:

"The manner provided by the Political Code of this State for foreclosing the interests of delinquent purchasers of State school land, and reverting the title to the State when the persons holding the certificates of purchase of land fail to pay interest thereon, is cumbersome and costly, and should be repealed, and we recommend to the Legislature the enactment of a law providing a simpler manner of foreclosure, thus saving to the State annually a large sum of money."

INVENTORY OF STATE PROPERTY.

The Legislature of 1897 enacted a law making it the duty of all State officers or heads of departments of State to file an inventory of State property. Upon investigation we found that this law has in the past been almost ignored, as up to the present time there are little or no records of State property either in the State Capitol or elsewhere, showing either the real or personal property of the State, its location, and value.

On the 15th day of September, 1900, an official letter was addressed by the Secretary of this Board, to the various officers in the State, having either real or personal property in their possession or under their control; the following shows the value of State property made to us in response to said letter, set out in detail in our last report:

RECAPITULATION.

Number of acres	4,540.51
Value of land	$2,420,440 00
Value of buildings	8,358,692 35
Value of personal property	1,274,160 82
Total value of State property	$12,053,293 17

COYOTE SCALP CLAIMS.

The history of these claims is known to most people in the State, beginning with the passage of the Bounty Act in 1891 and ending with the session of the Legislature in 1901. The Legislature of 1901 passed an Act authorizing the holders or owners of claims to bring suits at law for the recovery of the amount claimed to be due on said claims. There were on file in this office at the time of the passage of said last Act, claims aggregating the sum of $287,825. On these claims suits have been brought to the amount of about $191,000, leaving a sum unsued for equal to $96,825, which sum of $96,825 is saved to the State. On the advice and suggestion of the Governor, this Board employed counsel to represent it in the trial of these claims, in conjunction with the Attorney-General. The trials of these several cases resulted in judgments against the State for some $60,000 less than the total amount sued for. This saving is exclusive of the $96,825, above mentioned, and neither of said sums is included in the amount saved to the State as shown on page 3 of this report.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The present Board of Examiners, on entering upon its duties early in January, 1899, found the office incumbered with many claims, amounting to hundreds of thousands of dollars, not acted upon by its predecessors. It affords us pleasure to state in this connection, that we leave the office with every claim audited and disposed of, and fully equipped for the prompt transaction of any business the Board may be called upon to perform.

Respectfully submitted.

HENRY T. GAGE,
Governor.

SACRAMENTO:

A. J. JOHNSTON, : : : : SUPERINTENDENT STATE PRINTING.

1902.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF STATE CAPITOL COMMISSIONERS.

SACRAMENTO, September 15, 1902.

To the Senate and Assembly of the State of California:

The last report of the Commission, dated October 1, 1900, showed a balance of the funds appropriated at the thirty-third session of the Legislature for the support of the Capitol grounds, as follows:

1st.	Appropriation for purchase of implements, hose, etc.....	$3,996 67
2d.	Appropriation for salaries of thirteen employés	10,845 00
3d.	Appropriation for salaries of three policemen	2,700 00
4th.	Appropriation for salary of one watchman, Governor's mansion	810 00
5th.	Appropriation for lighting State Capitol grounds	720 00
6th.	Appropriation for water for State Capitol grounds	1,200 00

These appropriations were expended during the balance of the fifty-second fiscal year, excepting, however, the sum of $77.81, which remains unexpended, from the appropriation for the purchase of implements, hose, etc.

The thirty-fourth Legislature of California appropriated, for the maintenance of the State Capitol grounds during the fifty-third and fifty-fourth fiscal years, the following sums:

1st.	For purchase of implements and hose, care and improvement of the grounds	$10,000 00
2d.	For lighting State Capitol grounds	1,728 00
3d.	For water for State Capitol grounds	2,400 00
4th.	For salaries of thirteen employés	28,920 00
5th.	For salary of watchman, Governor's mansion	2,160 00
6th.	For salaries of three policemen	7,200 00

Out of these appropriations there have been expended to September 15, 1902, the following sums:

1st.	Out of appropriation for purchase of implements, etc.	$5,055 00.	Balance in fund, $4,945 00
2d.	Out of appropriation for lighting of grounds	936 00.	Balance in fund, 792 00
3d.	Out of appropriation for water for grounds	1,200 00.	Balance in fund, 1,200 00
4th.	Out of appropriation for salaries of thirteen employés	16,870 00.	Balance in fund, 12,050 00
5th.	Out of appropriation for salary of watchman, Governor's mansion	1,260 00.	Balance in fund, 900 00
6th.	Out of appropriation for salaries of three policemen	4,200 00.	Balance in fund, 3,000 00

The thirty-fourth session of the Legislature passed an Act entitled "An Act making an appropriation for establishing and maintaining drinking-fountains in the State Capitol grounds at Sacramento" (Statutes of 1901, page 298). In pursuance of this Act, this Board requested plans, specifications, and bids for drinking-fountains, and accepted the proposition of George B. Stack of Sacramento. Thereafter said Stack, in pursuance of the contract entered into with him, erected three drinking-fountains on the State Capitol grounds, for which this Board paid him the sum of $1,500, the full amount of the appropriation provided for in said Act.

Within the last two years Thirteenth Street has been improved and an additional area planted to blue-grass; also, the grounds east of Thirteenth Street have been placed in a higher state of cultivation. In view of these improvements the Board feels justified in renewing, in this report, its recommendation that provision be made for the employment of three additional laborers on the grounds.

BIENNIAL REPORT

OF THE

SECRETARY OF STATE

OF THE

STATE OF CALIFORNIA

FOR THE

FIFTY-SECOND AND FIFTY-THIRD FISCAL YEARS,

BEGINNING JULY 1, 1900, AND ENDING JUNE 30, 1902.

C. F. CURRY, SECRETARY OF STATE.

SACRAMENTO:

A. J. JOHNSTON, : : : : SUPERINTENDENT STATE PRINTING.
1902.

REPORT OF SECRETARY OF STATE.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE,

SACRAMENTO, CAL., October 1, 1902.

To the HON. HENRY T. GAGE, Governor of the State of California :

DEAR SIR: I have the honor to present herewith my second biennial report as Secretary of State, including a statement of all fees received by this office from July 1, 1900, to June 30, 1902, inclusive; together with a list of all corporations, both foreign and domestic, that have filed articles of incorporation in this office since July 1, 1900; also, the names and residences of the agents designated by foreign corporations upon whom service can be made. The report also contains the names of all architects who have been granted licenses under what is known as the "Architect law"; also data concerning the State Capitol, of which I am the custodian, showing receipts and expenditures, and embodying my recommendations.

Aside from the duties of the office proper, much of my time as Secretary of State is consumed in attending to the affairs of the various State commissions of which I am ex-officio a member.

ACTS OF THE EXECUTIVE.

The records of this office show that the Governor has granted 4 pardons, 6 commutations of sentence, and 6 reprieves; has signed 177 restorations to citizenship; has issued 16 proclamations offering rewards; has granted 1,077 orders of release under the Goodwin Act; has signed 866 land patents; has commissioned 1,796 notaries public and 28 commissioners of deeds; has appointed 95 railroad and steamboat police; has made 481 executive appointments; and approved 25 official bonds.

THE OFFICE WORK.

The following statement of the clerical work performed during the two fiscal years ending June 30, 1902, coupled with the financial statement, to be found farther on in this report, shows a very large increase over previous years, particularly so in the filing, recording, and issuing of original certificates of incorporation and the furnishing of certified copies thereof. There were filed, recorded, and issued during the two years ending June 30, 1902, 4,709 certificates, as against 3,257 for the previous two years. During the last two years there were 5,278 copies certified to, 424 trademarks filed and certificates issued, and 49 articles of railroad, telegraph, and telephone corporations filed.

The Legislature of 1901 allowed me two extra clerks for fifteen months.

Notwithstanding such additional help the clerical force is inadequate to keep up with the amount of work, and at times it has been necessary to call upon employes otherwise engaged to assist in performing the required work.

In addition to the foregoing, this office has compiled from the numerous statutes, and had printed in convenient form, the corporation laws of the State, which compilation has been eagerly sought for by corporations and the legal profession.

There has also been compiled the election laws now in force, which book has been in great demand by the political parties and citizens of this State generally.

The adoption, by the last Legislature, of new election laws and of the primary election law has vastly increased the work of this office.

The redistricting of the State into new congressional, senatorial, and assembly districts left the public at sea in reference to the exact situation; hence, I have had maps made showing the districts as they now exist, and at least 7,500 have been sent to citizens and the political parties of the State.

Upon an examination of the financial statement it will be seen that the increase in the receipts, in fees alone, amounts to $161,504.40.

During the two years from July 1, 1900, to June 30, 1902, there were in this office—

In the appended tables will be found a complete list of stationery used by the Legislature during the regular session, and by the State officers for the two fiscal years.

An itemized statement is hereto appended showing the receipts of this department from July 1, 1900, to June 30, 1901, amounting to $92,340.00. The fees for work of the office amounted to $86,979.40, while the salary list of the employés for said year amounted to $18,280, exclusive of the Secretary's salary of $3,000, showing that this office turned into the State Treasury, for fees alone, $68,699.40 in excess of salaries paid for conducting the office. In addition, there was paid into the State Treasury the sum of $5,360.60, derived from the sale of maps, Hall's Irrigation, books and statutes, and ballot paper, for that fiscal year.

For the fiscal year from July 1, 1901, to June 30, 1902, the total receipts amounted to $133,172.99. The fees for work performed in the office amounted to $130,965.80, while the salary list of the employés amounted to $18,280, exclusive of the Secretary's salary, which makes a showing that the office turned into the State Treasury $112,685.80 in excess of the amount paid for salaries of the office, from fees alone. In addition, $2,106.19 was paid into the State Treasury from the sale of maps, Hall's Irrigation, books and statutes, and ballot paper.

The total receipts of the office for the fiftieth and fifty-first fiscal years amounted to $63,653.55; the receipts for the fifty-second and fifty-third fiscal years amounted to $225,512.99; amount of excess for the last two years, $161,859.44.

The foregoing data show plainly the vast increase in the amount of work that has been done in this office; that the clerks have had no sinecure positions, and that it has necessitated steady work and long hours to keep up with the work of the office.

THE STATE CAPITOL.

Since my last report many improvements have been made to the building.

The basement, concerning which complaint has for years been made, has been properly cemented, and many windows have been put in to allow fresh air to circulate; thereby greatly improving the health of those who are employed in the building.

The steam pipes in the basement have been properly covered with asbestos, and consequently a large saving of coal is made.

An additional fire-proof room has been added to the over-crowded archives department.

The vault of the State Treasurer has been fixed up for the better protection of the funds.

The vault of the State Controller has been fitted up for the proper care of his records, and a suitable store-room provided for said officer in the basement.

Rooms have also been fitted up in the basement, where the valuable property of the National Guard is now properly cared for.

The offices of the Secretary of State have had new floors laid therein; also new furniture has been supplied, the old desks, etc., being removed, and those which are more modern being substituted.

The rooms of the Clerk of the Supreme Court have been put in habitable condition.

A room has been fixed up for the exclusive storage of ballot paper.

CONDITION OF THE CAPITOL BUILDING.

The sanitary condition of the building has been much improved by modern plumbing being put in the offices used by the Controller, Attorney-General, and Secretary of State.

The building is over thirty years old, and needs a general overhauling. The plumbing in the various offices should be replaced. The toilets on the first floor are of ancient design, and are in a deplorable condition, and should be torn out and modern ones put in place thereof. The third floor of the building has no toilets whatever, and as more employes are located in offices on that floor than on either of the other floors, the necessity for such conveniences there is apparent.

The attic should be changed into rooms to be used by committees during sessions of the Legislature. The need of more rooms for such purpose is quite evident, oftentimes three and four committees being required to use the same room.

I was in hopes to be able to remove from the attic to the basement the electrical apparatus for lighting the building, but had not the funds to do so.

The stairway to the dome is old and worn out, and should be replaced with an iron one.

I am more than pleased to report that during the past year the city trustees of Sacramento have put two eight-inch water mains through the Capitol grounds up to the building, thereby insuring, in case of fire, much more protection than was formerly the case. What is required to make the water mains more beneficial is to put standpipes to the top of the building.

The building is badly in need of painting, both on the outside and on the inside; also the inner walls should be whitened. It is now about ten years since the building has had a coat of paint.

STATE JANITOR.

In this department are kept the statutes, ballot paper, maps, and supplies, etc., to be furnished to the various State officers, boards, and commissions. The value of stationery supplied to the Legislature of 1901 was $1,554.71; to the State officers during the fifty-second fiscal year ending June 30, 1901, was $3,015.30, and during the fifty-third fiscal year ending June 30, 1902, was $2,175.26.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

Heating.—The quantity of fuel now used in the grates in the several rooms is excessive, and the results in heating unsatisfactory. In all modern public buildings heaters are used instead of grates, and not only is it economy to use them, but also more heat is obtained. With grates it is estimated by competent engineers that eighty per cent of the heat created goes up the chimney. The heaters also do away with the expense and trouble in starting fires; no dust or soot is scattered about the room, to the injury of its furnishings and the inconvenience of the occupants. There would be but little additional expense in maintaining the extra heaters, because steam is kept up in the boilers for supplying the large heaters now in use in the several corridors.

State Blue Book.—I hope that the next Legislature will make a liberal appropriation in the printing fund allowed this office, so that at least 7,500 copies of this valuable book may be published for circulation among business men and the legal fraternity and to others in need of such publication. Nearly every principal of the public schools is anxious to have this book for use in school work; and, as is done by other States, every department, both State and National, should be furnished with a copy of this book.

Index to Laws.—The last edition of this valuable work was issued in 1893—nearly ten years ago. The Code Commission has completed an index up to date, but owing to lack of funds, could not have the same printed. This department has on hand 650 volumes of the old Index to Laws that can not be sold unless the index is brought up to date. As these books are priced at $4.50 each, we are carrying a stock valued at $2,925, for which there is no demand. If the index were completed and printed, the State would be financially benefited, and the work of attorneys and litigants simplified.

Iron Stairway to Dome.—I would recommend that an appropriation be made for an iron stairway to the top of the dome, for reasons already stated.

Toilets and Sewerage.—New and modern toilets, with proper sewerage and ventilation, should be constructed on the first floor of the Capitol, and toilets constructed on the third floor. On the latter floor are the offices of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Lieutenant-Governor, Code Commission, Lunacy Commission, Highway Commissioner, Board of Examiners, and Board of Public Works.

Fire Protection.—Standpipes should be run, on both sides of the building, from the ground to the roof.

Painting and Kalsomining.—The building should be painted on the outside and inside, and the interior walls kalsomined; it is badly needed.

Removal of Lighting Plant.—The electric plant, as it now exists in the attic of the Capitol, should be placed in the basement of the building, to remove an existing danger to the building from electric sparks.

Committee Rooms.—More rooms are required for use of the committees of the Legislature; and the only available place is to construct them in the attic of the Capitol.

Secretary of State's Vault.—The vault of this office contains over 36,000 articles of incorporation, thousands of trademarks, and many other valuable documents. These papers are at present in wooden pigeon-holes. These wooden receptacles should be replaced with steel cases; then the vault would be strictly fireproof.

Extra Clerks.—It is to be hoped that the coming Legislature will allow this office at least the force of clerks now employed, and make them permanent. When the business of an office increases from $20,000 per year to $225,000 per year, and the State is the gainer by $161,000, it is but right to have a competent force of clerks to do the work.

Fees from Corporations.—The last Legislature wisely increased the fees for filing articles of incorporation, and the State has profited largely therefrom, and this, too, without injuring any one or any interest. I call the attention of the next Legislature to the fact that in other States the fees for filing articles of incorporation of companies whose capital stock is over a million dollars are much higher than they are in this State, and I think that the fees in this State should be graduated for companies having a capital stock of a million dollars or over.

Weather Doors.—Doors of this character should be placed at both the north and the south entrances to the building, as at certain times during the winter season these entrances have to be kept closed, or the wind would break the glass in the doors. Particularly would these doors be required if the building is ever to be heated by steam.

Ballot Paper.—The Legislature makes an appropriation of $3,500 per fiscal year for ballot paper. This appropriation should be raised, and the fund turned into a revolving fund, as the State receives the same money back as is paid for the paper and no loss is incurred. Much more ballot paper is now required than when this appropriation was made. The primary election law requires twelve of the larger cities to hold primary elections, and considerable ballot paper is necessary for this purpose. San Francisco, by its charter, holds a city election in the odd-numbered years, and also a primary election; that city alone requiring at least 330 reams for each municipal election and about 80 reams for a primary election. Hence, it will be seen that the amount appropriated to buy ballot paper is insufficient.

Assembly and Senate Chambers.—Some action should be taken by the Legislature in the matter of refitting these two rooms. The carpets are very much worn and the desks and chairs are in a bad condition, needing considerable repairing almost continually. I think that these chambers should be supplied with new and modern furniture.

Corporation Laws.—The Act of the Legislature of 1895 (Statutes of 1895, p. 221, et seq.), relating to the formation of coöperative associations, should be amended and codified to form a part of the Civil Code, and as so amended and codified should conform with the general laws of this State regarding the formation of corporations for certain purposes; namely, railroad, telegraph, telephone, insurance, banking, etc. It has been my duty, under the decision of the Supreme Court (130 Cal., p. 39), to refuse to file articles of incorporation formed under said Act of 1895, for the reason that such articles failed to comply with the provisions of the Civil Code as set forth in Sections 291, 293, 294, and 295. The law in many respects is in contravention of the general laws governing corporations, to say nothing about its being in violation of certain provisions of the Constitution, which it is not my duty to question, as all State officers must consider enactments in full force until declared otherwise by a competent tribunal; but I may be permitted to quote from an opinion of the Attorney-General on this very point: "There is merit, to my mind, in your contention that the Act of 1895, under discussion, savors of special legislation. I do not consider it my duty, however, to pass ex parte upon the constitutionality of the laws of this State."

I will draft bills, for the consideration of the Legislature, which I believe would place the general laws governing the formation of corporations on a more uniform basis, and I earnestly suggest that you urge upon the members of the Legislature at its next session to coöperate with this office to that end.

The Act of 1899 (Statutes of 1899, p. 111) and the Act of 1901 (Statutes of 1901, p. 108), both relating to foreign corporations doing business in this State, should be amended and codified to form a part of the Civil Code. As these two Acts now stand, there is room for questions to arise as to the duty of the Secretary of State in requiring such corporations to comply with both Acts.

The same will prove true in regard to Section 616 of the Political Code, requiring foreign insurance companies to file a designation of agent with the Insurance Commissioner. This provision should also be set out in the general corporation laws as a part of the Civil Code, thereby placing the office of Secretary of State in a position to be cognizant of the due compliance with the law governing corporations, whether they be domestic or foreign.

Section 24 of the Act creating a Board of Bank Commissioners, as enacted in 1895 (Statutes of 1895, p. 179), so far as it relates to the duties of the Secretary of State, should be set forth in the Civil Code, by adding a new section to Part IV, Title I, Article I.

As it has been held by the Federal courts, as well as by many State supreme courts, that a law relating to telegraph companies included telephone companies, I most respectfully recommend that Part IV, Title I, Chapter I, Sections 291, 293, 294, and 295, and Part IV, Title

VII, Sections 536, 537, 538, 539, and 540, be so amended as to include telephone companies.

In my last biennial report I recommended many changes in laws relating to other subjects, and with but one exception these recommendations were adopted by the Legislature. I therefore again call your attention to the necessity of amending Section 800 of the Political Code, relating to notaries public, to the end that there may be a specified time in which notaries are required to qualify.

Respectfully submitted.

FEES TO BE COLLECTED BY SECRETARY OF STATE.

CHAPTER LXX.—An Act to amend section four hundred and sixteen of the Political Code, relating to the fees to be charged by the Secretary of State, and providing for the distribution of the same.

[Approved February 28, 1901.]

The People of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section four hundred and sixteen of the Political Code is hereby amended to read:

416. The Secretary of State, for services performed in his office, must charge and collect the following fees:

1. For a copy of any law, resolution, record, or other document or paper on file in his office, twenty cents per folio.
2. For comparing a copy of any law, resolution, record, or other document or paper with the original, or the certified copy of the original, on file in his office, five cents per folio.
3. For affixing certificate and seal of state, unless otherwise provided for, two dollars.
4. FOREIGN CORPORATION FEE BILL.

CHAPTER XCIII.—An Act requiring corporations organized under the laws of another State, Territory, or foreign country, to file a certified copy of their articles of incorporation in the office of the Secretary of State, and a certified copy thereof, duly certified by the Secretary of State of this State, in the office of the County Clerk of the county where its principal place of business is located and also where such corporation owns property, and requiring such corporation to pay to the Secretary of State the same fees as are paid by corporations formed under the laws of the State of California, and providing for a penalty for the violation of the provisions of this Act.

[Approved March 8, 1901.]

The People of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Corporations organized under the laws of another State, Territory, or of a foreign country, which are now doing business in this State, or which shall hereafter enter this State to do business, or maintain an office in this State, shall file in the office of the Secretary of State of the State of California a certified copy of their articles of incorporation, or of their charters or of the statutes or legislative or executive or governmental act creating them in cases where they are created by charters or statutes or legislative or executive or governmental acts, and a certified copy thereof, duly certified by the Secretary of State of this State, in the office of the County Clerk of the county where its principal place of business is located and also where such corporation owns property.

SEC. 2. For filing and issuing certified copy as required in section one of this Act, corporations formed under the laws of another State, or of a Territory, or of a foreign country, shall pay the same fees as are paid by corporations formed under the laws of this State.

SEC. 3. Every foreign corporation amenable to the provisions of this Act which shall neglect or fail, within ninety days from the date of passage of this Act, to comply with the conditions of the same as herein provided, shall be subject to a fine of not less than five hundred dollars, to be recovered before any court of competent jurisdiction; and it is hereby made the duty of the Secretary of State, as he may be advised that corporations are doing business in contravention of this Act, to report the fact to the Governor, who shall instruct the District Attorney of the county wherein such corporation has its principal business, or the Attorney-General of the State, or both, as soon as practicable, to institute proceedings to recover the fine herein provided for, and the amount so recovered must be paid into the State treasury to the credit of the General Fund of the State; in addition to which penalty, no foreign corporation as above defined, which shall fail to comply with this Act, can maintain any suit or action, either legal or equitable, in any of the courts of this State, upon any demand, whether arising out of contract or tort, until it has complied with this Act; provided, that any corporation described in section one of this Act, which is now doing business in this State, and which has complied with the Act in relation to foreign corporations, approved April first, eighteen hundred and seventy-two, and an Act amendatory thereof, approved March seventeenth, eighteen hundred and ninety-nine, is exempted from the provisions of this Act.

SEC. 4. This Act shall take effect and be in force from and after the date of its passage.

The amount of State Funded Debt Bonds of 1873, being held by the State School Fund to the amount of $1,526,500, is in the nature of a debt of the State due itself.

Interest ceased on outstanding bonds of 1857 and 1860, July 31, 1875.

The issue of San Francisco Depot Bonds of 1893, amounting to $600,000, being in the nature of a loan to the Harbor Commissioners, is therefore not a part of the above statement. The principal, interest, and expenses of this bond issue are payable out of a sinking fund, receiving its revenue from moneys collected by the San Francisco Harbor Commissioners, paid into the State Treasury monthly. An account of the transactions relating to this bond issue will be found elsewhere in this report.

BONDS

IN TRUST FOR STATE FUNDS.

TRANSACTIONS IN, AND INTEREST COLLECTIONS THEREON.

The interest when due, and the principal on county bonds when redeemed, are payable at the offices of the several County Treasurers, thereby causing the State much expense in transporting the moneys from the places of payment to the State Treasury. Bonds of counties, in most cases, can only be bought at a premium.

United States bonds are only purchasable at a premium.

On account of these necessary expenditures mentioned above, which are chargeable to the various State funds for which the bonds are held as a benefit, the bonds net a correspondingly lower rate of interest than is indicated.

BIENNIAL REPORT

OF THE

STATE CONTROLLER

FOR THE

FIFTY-SECOND FISCAL YEAR, ENDING JUNE 30, 1901, AND THE FIFTY-THIRD FISCAL YEAR, ENDING JUNE 30, 1902.

[illegible]

CONTROLLERS OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

- J. S. HOUSTON, elected by Legislature December 22, 1849; took office same day.
- WINSLOW S. PIERCE, elected September 3, 1851; took office January 5, 1852. Died at Brooklyn, New York, July 29, 1888.
- SAMUEL BELL, elected September 7, 1853; took office January 2, 1854.
- GEORGE W. WHITMAN, elected September 5, 1855; took office January 7, 1856. On February 13, 1857, a resolution was passed by the Assembly impeaching Whitman for misdemeanor in office, and on the 24th, articles of impeachment were reported by a committee; the Senate, on March 9th, convened as a high court of impeachment, and on April 21st, Whitman was acquitted; Governor Johnson had, on February 25th, appointed
- EDWARD F. BURTON, Controller, and he performed the duties of the office until the acquittal of Whitman. Died at Denver, Colorado, May 11, 1891.
- At the election held September 2, 1857,
- JAMES W. MANDEVILLE was elected Controller, but he did not qualify, having been appointed United States Surveyor-General for California a few days before the election; on January 21, 1858, Governor Weller nominated
- SAMUEL H. BROOKS for the office, but the Senate refused to confirm, and on the 27th the Governor withdrew the nomination, explaining that it "had been made under a misapprehension of some material facts." On February 4th, the Governor nominated
- AARON R. MELONEY for the office, and the Senate confirmed. Afterward, on April 26th, because some doubts had been expressed in regard to the regularity of the appointment, the Governor again nominated Meloney, and he was again confirmed. Whitman refused to surrender the office, claiming that he was entitled to hold until his successor should be elected and should qualify, and that as Mandeville had been elected, the Governor had no right to appoint. The matter was taken to the Supreme Court, and a final decision was rendered in Meloney's favor at the July term, 1858. Whitman died in Contra Costa County in 1891.
- A. R. MELONEY, elected September 1, 1858, to serve out the unexpired term. He died at Lafayette, Contra Costa County, March 1, 1861.
- SAMUEL H. BROOKS, elected September 7, 1859. Meloney refused to surrender the office, claiming that he was entitled to serve two years from his election. The Supreme Court decided in Brooks's favor at the January term, 1860. Brooks resigned November 20, 1861.
- JAMES S. GILLEN, appointed by Governor Downey Nov. 20, 1861; took office that day.
- G. R. WARREN, elected September 4, 1861; took office January 6, 1862.
- GEORGE OULTON, elected September 2, 1863; took office December 5, 1863.
- ROBERT WATT, elected September 4, 1867; took office December 7, 1867.
- JAMES J. GREEN, elected September 6, 1871; took office December 2, 1871. Died in San Francisco, April 13, 1893.
- JAMES W. MANDEVILLE, elected September 1, 1875; took office December 4, 1875. Died in office February 4, 1876.
- WILLIAM B. C. BROWN, appointed by Governor Irwin February 6, 1876, and took office the same day. At the next general election, held on November 7, 1876, D. M. Kenfield and Brown were voted for to fill the vacancy, and Kenfield received a majority of about three thousand. Governor Irwin declined to issue a commission to him upon the ground that no proclamation had been issued calling for the election of a Controller. Kenfield applied for a writ of mandate to compel the issuance of the commission, but his petition was dismissed by the Supreme Court at the April term, 1877. Brown died at Sacramento, April 12, 1882.
- D. M. KENFIELD, elected September 3, 1879; took office January 5, 1880. He died at San Francisco, September 28, 1883.
- JOHN P. DUNN, elected November 7, 1882; took office January 1, 1883; reelected November 2, 1886; took office January 3, 1887.
- E. P. COLGAN, elected November 4, 1890; took office January 5, 1891; reelected November 6, 1894; took office January 7, 1895; reelected November 8, 1898; took office January 2, 1899; reelected November 4, 1902.

STATE SCHOOL FUND.

The revenue for the support of common schools arises from property tax, poll tax, and a tax on collateral inheritances; from interest on unpaid principal due from sales of lands granted by the General Government to the State for educational purposes, known as State school lands; from interest on bonds held in trust by the State for the support of common schools, and from the sales of Geological Survey Reports. The money arising from all these sources is known as the State School Fund. The Controller is required by law to report, on the first Monday in January and July of each year, to the Superintendent of Public Instruction, a statement of the securities belonging to the School Fund, of the moneys in the State Treasury subject to apportionment, and the several sources from which they accrued.

The money is apportioned by the Superintendent and paid out on Controller's warrants, issued on presentation of the Superintendent's drafts, in favor of the several County Treasurers.

The amount necessary to be raised for the State School Fund by an ad valorem tax is $7 for each census child between the ages of five and seventeen years, which census is reported to the Controller by the Superintendent of Public Instruction on or before the 10th day of August of each year.

For the fifty-second fiscal year the tax levy for school purposes was $2,433,340. The amount actually collected was $2,556,991.66. From poll tax the receipts were $428,907.05; from collateral inheritance tax, $243,586.44; from interest on bonds and on unpaid principal on State school lands, $221,403.41; and from other sources, $41,145.13; a total of $3,492,033.69.

For the fifty-third fiscal year the amount levied was $2,528,071. The amount collected was $2,652,475.73; and from other sources the receipts were $917,532.72; an aggregate for the year of $3,570,008.45.

The amount apportioned to the several counties in the fifty-second fiscal year was $3,461,219.69; in the fifty-third fiscal year the amount apportioned was $3,573,316.56; equal to $9.68 per child for each year.

The census returns for 1902, made by the County Superintendents and reported to me by the Superintendent of Public Instruction July 3d last, give the aggregate number of school children of the requisite age as 373,999.

The amount necessary to be raised by the tax levy for school purposes for each of the fifty-fifth and fifty-sixth fiscal years is $2,617,993.

Following is a table showing the amounts expended annually from the State School Fund for the past twenty-three years:

Fiscal year ending June 30, 1880	$1,516,123 83

Trinity County Bonds—5 per cent	14,500 00

Total securities held in trust for School Fund	$3,527,200 00
--	----------------

Since the issuance of the Controller's last biennial report, bonds held in trust for the support of common schools have been redeemed to the amount of $474,500. During the same time county bonds were purchased to the amount of $223,000. The decrease of bonds held in trust for the support of common schools is therefore $251,500.

STATE SCHOOL LAND FUND.

This fund is contributory to the State School Fund, in that it is the recipient of the proceeds from the sales of State school lands, which are invested in bonds, the interest on which is paid into the State School Fund.

The following statement shows the receipts and disbursements during the fifty-second and fifty-third fiscal years:

Receipts.

Balance from fifty-first fiscal year	$573,639 86
Receipts during fifty-second fiscal year	361,820 04
Receipts during fifty-third fiscal year	422,550 62
Total	$1,358,010 52

Disbursements.

Warrants issued during fifty-second fiscal year	$143,499 88
Warrants issued during fifty-third fiscal year	108,033 13
Balance	1,106,477 51
Total	$1,358,010 52

Again I wish to call attention to the law providing for the investment of moneys for the benefit of the common schools. Section 680 of the Political Code provides "that as often as there is in the State Treasury the sum of ten thousand dollars as the proceeds of the sale of State school lands, the board [State Board of Examiners] must invest the same in the civil funded bonds of this State, or in the bonds of the United States, or in the bonds of the several counties of the State," etc.

The scope of investment is too limited, and should be extended to include bonds of municipalities, school districts, and any securities of good commercial standing.

During the period covered by this report but two purchases of bonds have been made, and there is a net decrease of $251,500 in the amount of bonds held by the State Treasurer.

The amount of money awaiting investment at this writing (November 1, 1902) is $973,127.81.

INTEREST AND SINKING FUND.

This fund is intended to meet the interest due on the outstanding Funded Debt Bonds of 1873, held in trust by the State Treasurer for the benefit of the State School Fund and the University Fund, and also the interest due at the rate of six per cent per annum on the sum of $79,750, belonging to the Endowment Fund of the State University, but by mistake withheld therefrom and appropriated to other State purposes. The amount required annually to meet these payments is $141,435, which the State Board of Equalization is directed to raise. All moneys remaining in the State Treasury to the credit of this fund on the 15th day of July each year, after the payment of the interest due, the Controller is directed to transfer to the General Fund. Following is a statement of the receipts and disbursements:

Receipts.

Balance from fifty-first fiscal year	$12,462 00
Receipts during fifty-second fiscal year	158,263 61
Receipts during fifty-third fiscal year	148,052 74
Total	$318,778 35

Disbursements.

Warrants issued during fifty-third fiscal year.....	141,435 00
Transfers during fifty-second fiscal year.....	12,462 00
Transfers during fifty-third fiscal year.....	16,828 61
Balance	6,617 74
Total	$318,778 35

UNIVERSITY FUND.

Into the University Fund is paid the interest on bonds held in trust by the State Treasurer for the benefit of the University. The bonds are purchased with moneys in the Consolidated Perpetual Endowment Fund of the University, controlled exclusively by the Board of Regents.

The amount of bonds on deposit in the State Treasury and held in trust for the support of the University is as follows:

State Funded Debt Bonds of 1873—6 per cent	$751,000 00
County: San Francisco Montgomery Avenue Bonds—6 per cent	22,000 00
San Francisco Park Improvement Bonds—6 per cent	1,000 00
Total	$774,000 00

Since the date of the last report of this department, bonds to the amount of $6,000 have been withdrawn by the Regents of the State University.

STATE UNIVERSITY FUND.

By an Act of the Legislature, approved February 14, 1887, there was levied annually an ad valorem tax of one cent upon each one hundred dollars of value of the taxable property of the State for the support of the University of California. By an Act approved February 27, 1897, an additional tax of one cent was annually levied for the same purpose. The revenue derived from this tax constitutes the State University Fund, and is appropriated to the use and support of the University without reference to fiscal years.

The following table shows the condition of the fund:

Receipts.

Balance from fifty-first fiscal year	$91 11
Receipts during fifty-second fiscal year	243,473 65
Receipts during fifty-third fiscal year.....	246,754 55
Total	$490,319 31

Disbursements.

Warrants issued during fifty-second fiscal year.....	$243,564 76
Warrants issued during fifty-third fiscal year.....	175,560 27
Balance	71,194 28
Total	$490,319 31

ESTATES OF DECEASED PERSONS FUND.

The recommendation first made in my report of December 15, 1896, relative to the moneys in this fund, I wish to repeat, as follows:

“By an Act approved March 19, 1891, the Legislature authorized and directed the transfer of $80,000 from the Estates of Deceased Persons Fund to the General Fund, as a loan to said General Fund, without interest. In accordance with the provisions of the law the transfer was made, and the amount has never been returned to the fund to which it belongs. By Section 4, Article IX, of the Constitution, ‘all estates of deceased persons, who may have died without leaving a will or heir, * * * shall be inviolably appropriated to the support of common schools throughout the State.’ I therefore advise and recommend that the incoming Legislature authorize the transfer of $80,000 from the General Fund to the Estates of Deceased Persons Fund, in repayment of the loan heretofore made, and further authorize and direct the transfer of $100,000 from the Estates of Deceased Persons Fund to the State School Land Fund, where it may become available for investment in securities, the interest on which is appropriated to the support of our common schools, as provided in the Constitution.”

THE STATE DEBT.

The State debt remains in the same condition as last reported.

Following is a summary of the outstanding bonds:

Series.	Amount.	Rate of Interest.
State Funded Debt Bonds of 1857.....	$3,500 00	Interest ceased. 6%
State Funded Debt Bonds of 1860.....	500 00
State Funded Debt Bonds of 1873.....	2,277,500 00

REBELLION WAR CLAIMS.

In my last biennial report I referred to the claim of this State against the United States, known as the California Rebellion War Claim. This claim represents the amount of money expended by this State during the War of the Rebellion on account of its militia and home guards, $468,976.54, and on account of volunteers mustered into the service of the Federal Government, $3,951,915.42, an aggregate of $4,420,891.96.

The greater portion of the amount expended on account of volunteers was in the way of bounty and extra pay, and interest on the bonds issued to provide necessary funds, and it appears from the rulings of the various Federal officers whose duty it is to pass upon this class of claims that additional legislation is necessary on the part of Congress before these principal items of California's claim can be allowed and paid.

In the Act of Congress approved February 14, 1902, provision is made for the reopening, examination, and allowance by the Auditor for the War Department of such claims as this of California, not heretofore allowed or disallowed, and if necessary to transmit the same to the Court of Claims for findings of fact or determination of questions of law. Under this provision of law it is hoped that something may be accomplished looking toward the settlement of this claim, and I have already taken up the matter with the Auditor for the War Department by correspondence, and with the assistance of our representatives in Congress I confidently expect ultimate success.

DELINQUENT RAILROAD TAXES.

The delinquent taxes on the Sierra Valleys Railway for the years 1896, 1897, 1898, and 1899 have all been paid since the date of my last report, as more fully appears in the Appendix.

Receiver's certificates bearing interest at the rate of seven per cent per annum have been received for the delinquent taxes for the years 1895, 1896, 1897, 1898, 1899, 1900, and 1901 on the California & Nevada Railroad, and as this property is to be sold at commissioner's sale on November 29, 1902, the outlook is encouraging for the speedy payment of the entire amount of taxes due.

COMMISSIONS FOR COLLECTION OF STATE TAXES.

I noted in my last report that suit had been brought against me, as Controller, to enforce the payment of commissions to county officers for the collection of State taxes, which commissions had been abolished by the Act of the Legislature of February 23, 1893. The action was brought in the name of Yolo County, and upon its determination depended the legality of claims amounting to over a million and a half of dollars. Judgment was rendered on March 19, 1901, in my favor, and the validity of the Act mentioned above upheld.

MUNICIPAL STATISTICS.

Many inquiries reach this office relative to the assessed valuation, bonded indebtedness, and rate of taxation in the several incorporated cities and towns in this State, and in order to present these statistics to the public in an intelligent manner I have endeavored to obtain the necessary information and have compiled it in the form of a statement published in the Appendix to this report. Unfortunately several cities and towns are missing from the statement, for the reason that I could get no reply to my communications addressed to the officials of the corporations.

ESTIMATE OF EXPENDITURES.

For the fifty-fifth and fifty-sixth fiscal years the General Fund estimate amounts to $6,559,295; the School Fund, $5,235,986; and the Interest and Sinking Fund, $282,870; a total of $12,078,151, set forth in detail on the pages immediately following.

Respectfully submitted.

E. P. COLGAN, Controller.

REPORT OF THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, OFFICE OF ATTORNEY-GENERAL,
SACRAMENTO, September 13, 1902.

To His Excellency HENRY T. GAGE, Governor of California:

SIR: Pursuant to the requirements of Section 470 of the Political Code, I herewith transmit my official report, covering the work of this office for the two years ending September 1, 1902.

A comparison of this report with my last biennial report will show that there is a constant increase in the volume of business annually coming before the office, and that such increase is, naturally, in direct proportion to the growth of the State industrially and in population.

While each department has grown apace, the development is more marked in that branch devoted to civil litigation, and, much of the time, the work of that department has taxed the energies of the entire office force.

The following reference is made to a few of the more important matters of this nature which have demanded attention:

RAILROAD COMMISSIONERS vs. SOUTHERN PACIFIC COMPANY.

This was one of the most important cases that has arisen in our State courts since the adoption of the present Constitution in 1879. Under the provision of our State Constitution, which (except under certain prescribed conditions) prohibits the raising of railroad rates when once lowered for purposes of competition, complaint was made to the State Board of Railroad Commissioners that the Southern Pacific Company, after lowering rates for the purpose of competing with the San Francisco & San Joaquin Valley Railway Company, had thereafter raised such rates without first obtaining the consent of the Railroad Commission, as required by law.

The validity of the constitutional provision in question, as tested by the limitations of the Federal Constitution; the power of the Railroad Commissioners to "hear and determine" complaints against railroad and other transportation companies; the legal force and effect of the decisions and orders of the Railroad Commission; in short, the power of the people, through their legally constituted authorities, to deal with the great problem of transportation, was here put to a supreme and final test.

The trial court upheld the Constitution in the particulars referred to, and sustained the Railroad Commission in the exercise of the power thus conferred upon that body. An appeal was taken by the Railroad Company to the Supreme Court, and there the judgment of the lower court was reversed, the appellate court holding that the hearing by the Commission was an examination, and not a judgment or determination not subject to review by the courts, and the cause was therefore remanded for trial de novo upon the facts. The case has been tried and is now under submission with the Superior Court.

YOLO COUNTY vs. COLGAN.

This was a test case brought to recover from the State certain commissions claimed to be due for the collection of State taxes by the several counties, and involved, ultimately, about a million and a half dollars. The lower court gave judgment for the State; the plaintiff appealed, and, after the filing of most exhaustive briefs by both parties, the judgment of the lower court was affirmed. Immediately thereafter some twenty-five cases, theretofore commenced in the Superior Courts of the various counties, which were pending the result of this appeal and which presented claims against the State aggregating some $300,000, were dismissed by stipulation of the parties.

ESTATE OF MAHONY.

This was an appeal to the Supreme Court of the State, from an order directing the payment of collateral inheritance tax by certain nephews and nieces, heirs of the deceased. The appellate court held unconstitutional the so-called "non-resident nephew and niece" clause of the Collateral Inheritance Tax Law, and brought all nephews and nieces, wherever domiciled, within the law of the State and subject to the tax, thus saving to the State School Fund thousands of dollars. The question was a novel one, raising points new to the jurisprudence of this State, and the court, in rendering its decision, followed closely the line of argument presented in the briefs of this office.

ESTATE OF MINER.

This is a proceeding commenced in the Superior Court by petition of certain alleged heirs of the deceased, to recover from the State Treasury some $3,000, escheated to the State in 1879. There appears to have been a degree of laxity shown by my predecessors toward similar matters, and petitions of this sort seem to have been allowed to be granted as a matter of course. In order to determine the title of the State to these moneys, an appeal was taken by me from the order granting the petition in this case, and the matter is now under submission with the Supreme Court. The hearing of a number of other petitions of a like nature has been continued, pending the result of this appeal. The aggregate amount in the State Treasury, involved, is over $80,000.

OIL RATE CASES.

Several actions were commenced in the State and Federal courts, to enjoin the Board of Railroad Commissioners from enforcing the rates fixed by the Board for the transportation of oil. After the filing of carefully prepared and voluminous pleadings by this office on behalf of the defendant Board, that body compromised the suits by abandoning the rates in controversy and establishing new rates, which were accepted by the plaintiff corporations.

STATE vs. CALIFORNIA & NEVADA RAILROAD COMPANY.

Commencing with 1896, and up to and including 1901, suits had been annually commenced against the corporation named, to recover delinquent taxes, penalties and costs for the fiscal year. Simultaneously with the commencement of the respective actions, petitions were filed by the State in the United States Circuit Court, in an action there pending wherein a receiver had been appointed for the corporation. Said petitions asked that receiver's certificates be issued for the amounts claimed. Early in 1901 I caused positive steps to be taken, looking to an immediate enforcement of the State's claims, and soon thereafter receiver's certificates were issued in full for over $7,000, such certificates bearing interest at the rate of eight per cent per annum.

STATE vs. SIERRA VALLEYS RAILWAY COMPANY.

A series of actions had been commenced against this company to recover delinquent taxes and penalties for several years, and judgments were had therein in favor of the State. The defendant evinced no disposition to pay the judgments, and I caused executions to be issued and the rolling stock of the company then in operation to be seized by the Sheriff. The company thereupon came forward and paid the judgments, amounting to some $4,600.

PEOPLE vs. WELLS, FARGO & Co.

This action was instituted by my predecessor in the Superior Court of this State, but was removed by defendant to the United States Circuit Court, where it was pending when I assumed office. I had it remanded to the State court, where I obtained judgment against the express company; whereupon an appeal was taken to the Supreme Court of the State. Meantime the Supreme Court of the United States rendered its decision in a precisely similar case from the State of Michigan, deciding in favor of the express company there a party, and the Supreme Court of this State, acting upon the law as there laid down, reversed the judgment of the lower court in the case here. Both cases involved the right of the express company to decline to forward express packages without the prepayment by the shipper of the revenue tax of one cent for each package forwarded, or rather, for the receipt therefor.

STATE vs. SONOMA COUNTY.

This is an action brought by the State to recover some $6,000, the defendant county's proportion of the cost of maintenance of certain inmates of the California Home for the Care and Training of Feeble-Minded Children committed from said county. Judgment was rendered in the Superior Court in favor of the defendant; the State appealed, and the case is now under submission with the Supreme Court. Suits against seven other counties, involving some $11,000 additional, are pending the result of this appeal.

The statutes concerning the State institution named show that it was the legislative intention that the claims of the State contended for should be charges against the several counties, but these statutes are so loosely drawn that there is grave doubt as to the result of the litigation above reported.

STATE vs. RENO MILL AND LUMBER COMPANY.

The defendant allowed the taxes upon its lands to become delinquent and its lands to be sold to the State, but continued cutting timber therefrom. An action was commenced to recover the value of the timber so cut, and to restrain the further cutting thereof. The defendant thereupon paid the delinquent taxes, penalties, and costs, amounting to over $3,000, and redeemed its lands from the tax sale.

BOND INVESTMENT COMPANIES.

In December, 1900, a joint communication was received by me from the Commissioners of Building and Loan Associations and the Insurance Commissioner, requesting that I commence actions to restrain the following companies from the further transaction of business in this State, viz.: Pacific Mutual Debenture Company, Debenture Investment Company of San Francisco, National Mutual Maturity Company, Western Mutual Investment Company, and the American Guarantee and Trust Company, all with offices in San Francisco. The companies named were engaged in the sale of so-called "investment bonds," in one form or another, and concerns of a similar nature had been declared by the Supreme Court of Ohio and by the Attorney-General of the United States to be conducting an unlawful business. I at once took the matter up with each of the companies, and after rather extensive correspondence and negotiation, they all agreed to cease doing business in California and to liquidate their outstanding bonds. With the exception of the Pacific Mutual Debenture Company, so far as I have been able to determine, the companies entering into the agreement have lived up to its terms. I commenced suit against the Pacific Mutual Debenture Company and secured a permanent injunction restraining the further collection of installments, and directing them to wind up the business of their so-called "Series A and B" contracts. I subsequently commenced an action to dissolve the corporation and to recover a fine of $5,000 for the violation of its franchise, which action is now pending.

"COYOTE SCALP" CASES.

On March 23, 1901, an Act was approved authorizing suits against the State on claims or demands arising under an Act of the Legislature approved March 31, 1891, entitled "An Act fixing a bounty on coyote scalps."

Section 2 of the Act provides that service of summons in such suits shall be made upon the Attorney-General, whose duty it shall be to defend all such suits. Under this authority, summonses in forty-eight different actions have been served upon this office, involving about $200,000. I have appeared and answered on behalf of the State in forty-seven of these, the appearance in the one last served not yet being due. Thirty-three of these cases have been tried and submitted, and in twelve of them judgments have been rendered against the State for the amount of $35,660. In twenty of the cases tried and submitted judgments have not been rendered.

In the case of John J. Bauer vs. State, for $11,770, judgment was rendered for the State, the plaintiff being unable to show ownership of the claims sued upon. From this judgment the plaintiff is about to prosecute an appeal.

There yet remain fifteen cases to be disposed of, in which summonses have been served upon this office.

The work attendant upon the trial of these cases has been enormous, and has taken the entire time and attention of a Deputy Attorney-General for almost a year. In one action alone, covering some ten thousand scalps, there are 2,300 distinct counts or causes of action. The trial of those actions which were either brought or transferred to the Superior Court of Sacramento County, of themselves consumed about six weeks' continuous attendance in court.

In the trial of these matters thus far, I have insisted upon the production of the original affidavits filed by the claimants with the Board of Supervisors, together with the order of the Board and the certificate issued by the Board thereon, and also proof of the plaintiff's ownership of the claim.

From an examination of the complaints it was discovered that in many instances precisely the same claims were sued upon in two or more different actions, each plaintiff basing his cause of action upon an alleged assignment of the claim. It therefore became necessary to prepare a statement showing the name of every claimant and the data with relation to his claim. This entailed the writing and classification of some 7,500 index-cards, upon the completion of which it was found that about ten per cent of the claims were sued upon more than once, owing, in most cases, to several different assignments by the claimant. In the trial of the cases, these duplicate causes of action were either eliminated entirely, or settled as between the different plaintiffs, so that judgment against the State might be recovered by but one of them.

The expense attendant upon the defense of these actions has crippled, and threatens to continue to materially cripple, the funds of this office. A legislative appropriation made for the defense of these suits failed to meet with Executive approval.

MODOC LYNCHING CASES.

I embody in this communication a copy of a letter transmitted to your Excellency under date of March 15, 1902, which, although at some length, sets forth as concisely as possible a history of the so-called "Modoc Lynching Cases":

SIR: On the morning of May 31, 1901, five persons were lynched at Lookout, Modoc County, in this State, by a masked mob of nineteen men.

The names of the men so lynched were: Calvin Hall, an old man of seventy-four years of age, and a member of the Grand Army of the Republic; James Hall, his son by an Indian mother, to whom Calvin Hall was married by contract thirty years ago, and whom he divorced by agreement in writing eighteen years ago; Frank Hall, an Indian, adopted when a nursing by Calvin Hall's Indian wife; Martin Wilson, aged thirteen years, son of the one-time wife of Calvin Hall by a man named Wilson, whom she married subsequent to her divorce from Hall; and one Daniel Yantis, a white man.

On the 25th of May, 1901, the five persons lynched were arrested upon a complaint charging them with burglary in having stolen some harness from a barn belonging to one J. W. Leventon.

On the following Monday morning, May 27th, the charge of burglary was dismissed as to Calvin Hall, and the hearing of the charge against the other four persons continued.

Immediately upon the dismissal of the charge of burglary against Calvin Hall, one Robinson Dunlap lodged a charge of petit larceny against him before the Justice of the Peace of the township, upon which charge Hall was permitted to go upon his own recognizance, the trial thereof being set for May 31st, at 1:30 p. m.

The hearing of the burglary charge against the other prisoners was finally set for June 5, 1901.

On the afternoon of Thursday, May 30th, J. W. Brown, a deputy constable, together with four other men, went to Calvin Hall's home, and without warrant of authority, took him into custody and to the village of Lookout, where he was detained by Brown.

At about 1:45 o'clock of the morning of May 31st, a crowd of nineteen men, with faces covered with barley sacks, entered the bar-room of Myers's Hotel at Lookout, in Modoc County, where three men, i. e., Frank Hall, James Hall, and Daniel Yantis, and the boy Martin Wilson, under guard of said deputy constable Brown and one Sid. Goyette, were sleeping on the floor. The three men and the boy were seized by the mob, their hands pinioned behind them, gags put into their mouths, hangman's nooses put around their necks, and they were all then hurried to the bridge, about three hundred feet away, that spans the Pitt River, and the ends of the ropes around their necks tied to the railing of the bridge, their bodies thrown over the side of the bridge, and thus hanged.

The mob then proceeded back to the hotel, entered the parlör where Calvin Hall was sleeping on a sofa, bound and gagged him, and took him to the bridge and hanged him in the same manner as the other four were hanged.

On June 3, 1901, I received the following telegram from the Hon. J. W. Harrington, Judge of the Superior Court of Modoc County:

"ALTURAS, June 3, 1901.

"HON. TIREY L. FORD, Attorney-General, Sacramento.

"Have called Grand Jury for Friday 7th, 10 A. M. Send me an experienced State's attorney, for Friday, 10 A. M. My attorney is young and inexperienced and can not conduct successfully an investigation of so horrible a crime to be submitted to the Grand Jury. Must have assistance. Answer.

"J. W. HARRINGTON, Judge."

In response to the above telegram, I, on June 4, 1901, sent to Judge Harrington the following telegram:

"SAN FRANCISCO, June 4, 1901.

"HON. J. W. HARRINGTON, Alturas, Modoc County, Cal.

"Will send deputy to coöperate with and assist District Attorney.

"TIREY L. FORD, Attorney-General."

I also, on June 4, 1901, sent to Mr. E. C. Bonner, District Attorney of Modoc County, the following telegram:

"SAN FRANCISCO, June 4, 1901.

"MR. E. C. BONNER, Alturas, Modoc County, Cal.

"Will send deputy to coöperate with and assist you in examination before Grand Jury next Friday. Have you good stenographic reporter there to accurately report testimony and proceedings? Answer.

"TIREY L. FORD, Attorney-General."

In answer to the last above telegram, Mr. Bonner telegraphed me as follows: .

"ALTURAS, CALIF., June 5, 1901.

"HON. ATTORNEY-GENERAL, San Francisco.

"Thousand thanks for deputy. We have competent stenographic reporter. Bring detective.

"E. C. BONNER, District Attorney."

In conformity with the desire of the Judge and the District Attorney of Modoc County, I dispatched Hon. Charles N. Post, Assistant Attorney-General, and Hon. George A. Sturtevant, Deputy Attorney-General, to Alturas, Modoc County, where they arrived on June 7, 1901, and immediately, in conjunction with Mr. Bonner, proceeded with the investigation of the Lookout lynching before the Grand Jury of Modoc County.

The investigation lasted until late in June, 1901, a large number of witnesses being examined in the meantime.

The Grand Jury found indictments against Robert E. Leventon, Isom Eades, and James W. Brown for the murder of Martin Wilson.

The arraignment of the persons so indicted came on to be heard in July, 1901. The attorneys for the defense raised every legal objection possible to the indictments, and at the urgent request of both the Judge and the District Attorney of Modoc County, I dispatched Hon. George A. Sturtevant, Deputy Attorney-General, to Alturas to aid and assist the District Attorney at the arraignment of the indicted men.

As soon as Eades, Leventon, and Brown had been arraigned, their attorneys sought their release by suing out a writ of habeas corpus in the Supreme Court of this State, but the petitioners were finally remanded for trial. Defendants then filed an objection to the Hon. J. W. Harrington, alleging his disqualification to preside at the trial of their cases, and, in that behalf, petitioned the Superior Court of Modoc County to have another Judge called in to conduct such trial. Their objection was overruled and petition denied. Thereupon defendants filed a petition in the Supreme Court of this State for a writ of prohibition to prevent Hon. J. W. Harrington from trying their cases. The Supreme Court denied the petition and dismissed the writ.

In July I employed Mr. Eugene Thacker, an expert detective, to go to Modoc County to investigate said lynching. Mr. Thacker gathered much valuable information, which aided the prosecution greatly at the subsequent trial of J. W. Brown.

On the 20th day of October, 1901, I received a letter from Mr. E. C. Bonner, District Attorney of Modoc County, in which he suggested the dismissal of the indictments previously found against the above named Brown, Eades, and Leventon.

Believing that a dismissal of the indictments against these defendants would be highly discreditable to the State, I could not see my way clear to follow the suggestion of the District Attorney, and so directed that officer to have the trials of Brown, Eades, and Leventon set at as early a date as possible.

In accordance with my direction the trial of J. W. Brown was set for November 25, 1901.

I detailed Assistant Attorney-General Charles N. Post and Deputy Attorney-General George A. Sturtevant to attend and conduct the trial of defendant Brown, and those gentlemen departed for Alturas on November 21, 1901, where they arrived on November 23, 1901. The trial of Brown opened on the 25th of November, 1901, and was concluded on the 27th day of February, 1902. On the 6th day of December, 1901, it became necessary for Mr. Sturtevant to leave Alturas temporarily to try a case in another part of the State, and Mr. Post secured the services of Mr. James T. Boyd, District Attorney of Lassen County, to assist in conducting the prosecution of Brown during Mr. Sturtevant's absence. Mr. Boyd displayed such activity and legal skill that he was retained during the whole trial, Mr. Sturtevant returning to Alturas on the 21st day of December, 1901, and remaining to the end of the trial.

During the trial two of the participants in the lynching, viz.: John Hutton and Claude Morris, confessed to Judge Post their participation in the lynching, under promise of immunity from punishment, and both took the witness stand and testified on behalf of the prosecution. Their testimony was fully corroborated by circumstances, and by declarations of defendant Brown, and a perfect case was made out by the prosecution.

I found it necessary, during the trial, to have two, and a part of the time three, men of known personal courage at Alturas, in order that the attorneys engaged in the prosecution might be protected from threatened personal violence and feel secure in the discharge of their official duties.

During the early part of the trial I sent Mr. Thomas Gibson, one of the ablest members of the San Francisco detective force, to Alturas, to assist the prosecution in gathering certain evidence, this being rendered necessary by reason of the absolute failure on the part of the Sheriff's office of Modoc County to furnish any evidence whatever in the case. Mr. Gibson rendered the prosecution splendid service. The same may also be said of Mr. Daniel Miller, who was employed in a not dissimilar capacity.

Immediately upon receiving the confessions of Hutton and Morris, the representatives of this office proceeded against the men mentioned in their confessions as being those who were engaged in the lynching.

As a result I submit the following concerning the persons who are now in custody for having committed the lynching:

E. S. Trowbridge, Orrin A. Trowbridge, R. L. Nichols, Fred Roberts, Harry Roberts, J. W. Leventon, Claude Marcus, and J. R. Meyers are held by the Sheriff of Modoc County upon complaints charging them with murder, sworn to by Mary Lorenz, daughter of Calvin Hall, and lodged before the Hon. J. W. Harrington, Superior Judge, sitting as a magistrate.

The above named men have been in custody since the fourth day of January, last, by virtue of said complaints, not having yet had a preliminary examination.

The following named persons are held by the Sheriff of Modoc County by virtue of indictments, as follows: J. W. Brown, 5 indictments; Jervais Kresge, 5 indictments; A. S. Colburn, 5 indictments; Claude Brown, 1 indictment; Sam Parks, 1 indictment; Louis Palmentier, 5 indictments; W. J. McDaniels, 5 indictments; Henry Knox, 5 indictments; J. J. Potter, 5 indictments; Isom Eades, 5 indictments; Robert Leventon, 5 indictments.

Claude Morris and John Hutton were both indicted five times, the indictments being dismissed, upon motion of the prosecution, in order that they might become witnesses for the People.

Robert Leventon, J. W. Brown, and Isom Eades have each been severally duly arraigned upon the indictments against them, respectively. J. W. Brown has been tried upon one of the indictments found against him, and a verdict of acquittal rendered by the jury. None of the others have been arraigned.

The preliminary examination of E. S. Trowbridge, Orrin A. Trowbridge, R. I. Nichols, Fred Roberts, Harry Roberts, J. W. Leventon, Claude Marcus, and J. R. Meyers is set for Monday, the 17th instant; but under present conditions, as more specifically detailed hereafter, it would seem to be useless to proceed at present with such examinations.

In the prosecution of the foregoing matters, including the long and tedious trial of the defendant Brown, I have thus far expended over $5,000, of which sum, after the exhaustion of the funds of this office at my disposal, I was compelled to advance some $1,000, or, to be exact, $3,924. In making these advances I was assisted by the deputies in my office, and also had the approval and consent of the State Board of Examiners. I should be pleased to have you recommend to the Legislature the making of an appropriation to cover the advances thus made, and such other advances as may be necessary to carry the work of this office through the present fiscal year.

At this point, I desire to say that, previous to and during the trial of J. W. Brown, the three newspapers published in Modoc County persistently misrepresented and maligned the prosecution, and denounced the representatives of this office as "Head hunters," "Blood-money hunters," etc.

After nine days of elaborate argument, the case of J. W. Brown was finally submitted to the jury at 10:30 P. M. of February 27, 1902, and in less than half an hour the jury had agreed upon a verdict of "not guilty." There were but two ballots taken, the first resulting in ten votes for acquittal, one for conviction, and one blank. The next ballot showed all twelve votes for acquittal.

This gross miscarriage of justice is greatly to be deplored, but it should not be permitted to stand in the way of a full and vigorous prosecution of the nineteen defendants now confined in the Modoc county jail. There are, however, several obstacles in the way of such prosecution that are at present insurmountable. It is the unanimous opinion of the representatives of this office who had been connected with these cases that it will be impossible to secure another jury in Modoc County with which to try any of the accused men.

In response to an inquiry of mine put to the Superior Judge of that county, I received the following telegraphic reply:

"ALTURAS, March 8, 1902.

"HON. TIREY L. FORD, San Francisco: Satisfied another jury can not be obtained.
"HARRINGTON."

I am reliably informed that friends of the defendants have systematically attempted to disqualify jurors all over Modoc County, by methods which need not here be detailed, and this, added to the publication by the metropolitan and local journals of what purported to be the evidence in the case, and which publications were generally circulated and eagerly read all over the county, has, in my opinion, rendered it impossible to secure another jury in that county.

It must be remembered that Modoc County has a population of only about five thousand, with an eligible jury list of only a few hundred—a little less than three hundred, I believe. A hundred of those were examined in selecting the jury in the Brown case, and it is perfectly apparent to those who have a knowledge of the situation that the daily and weekly reports of the Brown trial, running through a period of over three months, and which reports were read with eagerness, and discussed with universal and unabating interest in every part of Modoc County, left such opinions in the minds of the remaining eligible jurors as to render it absolutely useless to attempt to secure another jury in Modoc County in respect to the same crime for which defendant Brown was tried.

As there is at present no constitutional method by which the cases can be transferred to another county for trial, the nineteen men now in custody will go free, unless legislation is had providing for either of two remedies, to wit: the summoning of trial jurors from adjacent counties, or the transfer of the place of trial to another county on motion of the prosecution.

The latter method was attempted by our Legislature some years ago, but the Supreme Court of this State held that the Legislature was without the needed constitutional authority to so provide. Nor has the Legislature present authority to provide for the summoning of jurors without the county.

In order, therefore, to make it possible to employ either remedy, it will be necessary for the Legislature to propose a constitutional amendment embodying either or both of the remedies suggested and to submit the same to the people for adoption or rejection.

The heinousness of the Modoc lynching was such that it would seem that a special session of the Legislature might be warrantably called, and such constitutional amendment submitted to the people to be voted upon at the general election to be held in November next.

In order to prosecute these murders it will be necessary for the Legislature to appropriate a liberal sum of money with which to employ special counsel to appear for the People, as the volume of current business in this office is such as to require the undivided attention of its entire force.

A thorough examination of the lives and habits of the men lynched convinces me that Calvin Hall was a member of the Grand Army of the Republic, and a sober, industrious, upright citizen; that his son, James Hall, was an inoffensive, industrious young man, and that Martin Wilson was only thirteen years and seven months of age; that no incriminating charge had ever previously been made against either Frank Hall or Daniel Yantis; and that the cowardly murder of these men while in the custody of the law was a crime so atrocious in its nature that the honor of this State has been indelibly tarnished and can only be vindicated by a stern and uncompromising prosecution of its perpetrators.

Respectfully submitted,

TIREY L. FORD,
Attorney-General.

Subsequent to the transmission of the communication above quoted, the indictments and complaints standing against the persons therein referred to, were dismissed by the court, upon its own motion, acting upon the advice of this office. The reason for this action, as will appear from a reading of my letter of March 15, 1902, was the impossibility of securing another jury in Modoc County with which to try the accused men. I have since learned that this state of affairs has arisen in several of our smaller counties, and that like miscarriages of justice have resulted therefrom. I would therefore strongly urge that legislation be recommended, having in view the amendment of the State Constitution so that, where exist such conditions as arose in Modoc County, trial jurors may be summoned from adjacent counties, or the place of trial transferred to another county on motion of the prosecution.

In the prosecution of these and the Coyote Scalp cases I was compelled to incur expenses that exhausted the funds at the disposal of my office, and to secure the consent of the State Board of Examiners to the incurring of additional expenses to the amount of $6,502.49, of which I personally advanced $4,968.65, the balance of $1,533.84 being carried by the respective claimants awaiting action by the next Legislature. I would therefore ask that an appropriation be recommended to the next Legislature covering the additional expenses thus incurred, namely, $6,502.49.

SO-CALLED COÖPERATIVE HOME-BUILDING CONCERNS.

Through the frequency of unofficial inquiries addressed to this office, my attention has been called to a number of concerns pretending to do a mutual home-building business in this State. Although the matter has not been brought to my attention officially, and although I have not, owing to the pressure of other official matters, had the time to give it the investigation which it undoubtedly deserves, yet I am strongly of the belief that these concerns are conducting a business which is unsound in principle and which is calculated to benefit merely a few of their earlier members, to the detriment or total financial loss of their later members. In all probability, the majority of the contracts entered into by the concerns with their members are impossible of fulfillment on the part of the concerns making them, and, perhaps, the degree of uncertainty as to the time of maturity, so called, of any one contract, is such as to constitute an element of chance sufficient to amount to a lottery scheme.

The allurements offered of perchance obtaining almost immediate possession of a home, built to one's order, upon the payment of less than a month's rent, and of purchasing that home at a rate far less than the average month's rent; the apparent simplicity of the scheme; the absence of all interest charges, and the abstruse mathematical calculations involved in determining the soundness or unsoundness of the schemes, have enabled them to secure an alarming foothold in certain portions of the State. I would therefore suggest that immediate steps be taken by the Legislature looking to a full and impartial investigation of the matters referred to, and the enactment of such statutory provisions as will protect the interests of the people.

LEAVE-TO-SUE CASES.

Of the thirty-three applications for leave to use the name of the People of the State of California as plaintiff, made during the two years covered by this report, twenty were granted, ten were denied, and three are pending the filing of briefs with this office, either on behalf of the applicants or of the proposed defendants. Nineteen of these applications involve disputes over title to office, and the remaining fourteen sought to test the legality of the exercise of corporate power, either public or private. These applications have been granted or refused, as I deemed the public interest required. I have endeavored to so exercise this prerogative as to protect the individual from spiteful litigation, and also to prevent the private assumption of public rights. In each case I have examined the facts and the law, not only as presented by the briefs of the parties, but also independently, as though I were myself commencing the proceeding. At the beginning of my administration I found it necessary to adopt certain rules governing applications of this nature, so that no injustice might be done to either party, and that the proceedings might be conducted with uniformity.

CRIMINAL APPEALS.

During the two years last past, one hundred and twenty-two criminal appeals have reached this office, thus showing a slight falling off in this department, as to the number of cases. One hundred and twelve criminal briefs have been written by this office, however, during the period named, many of them involving questions of the gravest importance and requiring an unusual amount of labor and research. This branch of work formerly represented the principal portion of the official duties of the Attorney-General, but it has been overshadowed in point of volume of business by the civil litigation. This enormous increase in the civil business of the office, as indicated in my report of two years ago, arises from the fact that all civil litigation affecting State officers, boards, and commissions was formerly conducted by specially employed counsel, while now, by virtue of recent legislation, it is a part of the work officially devolving upon this office.

It may not be out of place to here suggest that many of the appeals taken in criminal cases are frivolous, to the extent of being absurd, presenting no new points for decision, but merely attempting to have reviewed questions, if any, which have, time and again, been emphatically and finally passed upon by our Supreme Court. The evident intent of such appeals is to postpone, for the time being, the execution of the judgment, as is clearly evidenced by the fact that no briefs are filed in many of them on behalf of the appellant, and the judgments are affirmed upon the record, on motion of this office. This is an abuse for which remedy should be found by proper legislation, inasmuch as it entails upon the county and the State a large and unwarranted expense for printing, and unnecessarily consumes the time and attention of the various officers of the court.

OPINIONS AND CONSULTATIONS.

During the two years ending August 31, 1902, I have written two hundred and fifty-one opinions, in response to requests therefor from the various officers, boards, and commissions of the State, and from the several District Attorneys. This branch of the office business, while not as voluminous as during the first two years of my administration, has involved a vast amount of work and the constant attention of several members of my office force. I have not included in the above estimate many responses to officials of other States and to Federal officers respecting some law or rule of procedure of this State, numerous oral consultations, and inquiries answered by mailing copies of opinions already written.

The decrease in the number of requests for opinions during the last two years is accounted for by the fact that the various State and county officers who took up their duties simultaneous with the beginning of my administration, naturally found themselves confronted with many new questions arising in the conduct of the affairs of their respective offices, and not having the experience nor the precedents established during the terms of their predecessors to guide them, they sought the advice of this office, either directly or through the District Attorneys. It is safe to assume that as changes in administration occur, requests for opinions will be correspondingly as numerous.

I would urgently recommend the propriety of having the opinions heretofore rendered by this office compiled, printed, and indexed, in book form, and thus made available for distribution to the various county and State officers. Much of the value (to the people) of the work of this department is lost through the lack of publicity given to it, and the inaccessibility of the results of its labors to those whom such results directly concern.

To this department was assigned the task of passing upon the titles to various properties about to be acquired by the State, or in which the State was interested, prominent among which may be mentioned the sites for restraining barriers upon the Yuba River, the State reservation of which the California Redwood Park Commission has assumed control, the lands purchased by the Polytechnic School at San Luis Obispo, and the grounds for the annual encampment of the National Guard at Santa Cruz. This work involved a careful examination, checking and rechecking of numerous volumes of abstracts of title, the collection of the data necessary to bring those abstracts down to date, and the untangling of the many snarls usually arising in such matters.

BOARD OF EXAMINERS.

As a member of the State Board of Examiners I have, either in person or by my Assistant, attended the innumerable meetings of that body and assisted in auditing the many thousand claims coming before it annually, involving millions of dollars. While precise data as to the number and amount of these claims have not been obtainable for the period covered by this report, yet they could not well have been less than for the two years preceding, during which time there were some ten thousand claims, aggregating over $7,500,000.

STATE COMMISSION IN LUNACY.

Either in person or by my Assistant, I have, as a member of the State Commission in Lunacy, attended from one to four meetings of that body monthly, and in the same manner have attended various joint quarterly meetings of the Medical Superintendents of the several State Hospitals and the Commission, held at Napa, Sacramento, Stockton, and Ukiah.

The work of the Commission will, however, be reported to you through other channels, and further reference thereto is therefore unnecessary here.

STATE BOARD OF MILITARY AUDITORS.

The State Board of Military Auditors consists of the Governor, the Adjutant-General, and the Attorney-General, and upon the last two named has devolved almost entirely the auditing of the many military claims against the State. I have thus assisted in auditing some 1,081 of such claims, involving nearly $300,000.

The law, as it now stands, requires that if the Attorney-General act as a member of the Board of Military Auditors, he do so personally, while, by express provision, the Assistant Attorney-General may act as a member of the Board of Examiners and of the Commission in Lunacy. I would suggest the wisdom and convenience of so amending the law that the Assistant Attorney-General might also act as a member of the Board of Military Auditors.

CLERICAL WORK OF THE OFFICE.

As I stated in my previous report, I have found the clerical force of the office to be entirely inadequate to the work necessary to an efficient discharge of the duties imposed by law upon the Attorney-General. As a makeshift I have constantly been compelled to draw upon my contingent and costs of suits funds for the payment of extra clerical help, which, in turn, has seriously crippled the office in other directions. The clerical force is required to write from ten to fifteen official communications daily; to write all opinions in triplicate, and to number, file, and index such opinions, by subject reference, in duplicate; to type-write all briefs, pleadings, and other documents in civil cases, of which there is never less than eighty-five or ninety before the office at any one time; to write all briefs and papers in criminal appeals, of which thirty-five or forty are always open; to index, file, and docket papers in civil litigation, criminal appeals, "leave to sue" cases, and escheated estates, and to keep registers of actions showing the proceedings in all such matters; to file and keep a general index of miscellaneous papers and reports; to keep a general letter-book index, and to copy, mail, and index all letters and correspondence; to keep account books of the various funds of the office and to see to the payment of the various items of expenditure; to read proof upon all copy sent to the State Printer; to keep a daily journal of the matters coming up, and to advise the members of the office force of the entries therein, in order that no defaults may be taken; to prepare for the deputies in charge of the various departments their monthly reports to the Attorney-General; to serve papers, announce visitors, answer telephones, and run general errands. It will therefore be perfectly apparent that two clerks and a shorthand reporter are wholly insufficient clerical assistance for two very busy law offices, one at Sacramento and the other in San Francisco, employing the continual services of five attorneys, and transacting the immense volume of business briefly outlined in this report. I would therefore earnestly request that such recommendations be made to the Legislature as will result in the allowance to this office of at least one additional clerk, and the making of an appropriation for the payment of the salary of such clerk.

REPORTS OF DISTRICT ATTORNEYS.

Following up the practice inaugurated by me at the making of my last biennial report, and under the requirements of Section 470 of the Political Code, I accompany this report with reports from the District Attorneys of the following counties: Alameda, Alpine, Amador, Colusa, Del Norte, El Dorado, Fresno, Humboldt, Inyo, Kings, Lake, Los Angeles, Marin, Mariposa, Mendocino, Napa, Nevada, Orange, Plumas, Riverside, San Benito, San Bernardino, San Diego, San Francisco, San Joaquin, San Luis Obispo, San Mateo, Santa Barbara, Santa Clara, Santa Cruz, Sierra, Solano, Stanislaus, Sutter, Trinity, Tulare, Tuolumne, Ventura, and Yuba.

Although requested from all alike, no reports have been received from the remaining eighteen counties.

The total number of persons informed against or indicted in the counties reporting was 2,536, of which 132 cases were pending at the date of the reports, and in 1,619 of which, or about sixty-four per cent, convictions were had.

CONCLUSION.

In conclusion, I would state that the work of this office is all current, and that it has been my policy to constantly keep it so, although this at times has been difficult, particularly in view of the lack of clerical assistance.

On September 10th I forwarded to you my resignation of office, to take effect September 15, 1902. This communication is therefore written upon the eve of my retirement from the department of the State government of which I have been in charge for almost four years. Before relinquishing my duties, I desire to publicly acknowledge my deep and abiding appreciation of the earnest support and untiring efforts of my able and energetic assistants, without which the gratifying results herein briefly outlined could not have been accomplished.

I desire to further add, that from a long and intimate acquaintance with the gentleman who is about to succeed me, I have perfect confidence that the affairs of the State devolving upon the department of which he is to assume control will be most ably, economically, and judiciously administered by him, and that it is my sincere belief that the public interest and welfare entrusted to the keeping of this office could not be placed in better hands.

Respectfully submitted.

TIREY L. FORD,
Attorney-General.

NOTE.—The prosecution of the "Modoc Lynching Cases," in the Superior Court of Modoc County, at a cost to the Attorney-General's office of over $5,000, constituted the main cause for the creation of the above deficiencies. The trials of so-called coyote scalp cases, and the necessity of the employment of additional clerical assistance, because of the total inadequacy of the regular staff, were contributing causes.

BIENNIAL REPORT

OF THE

ADJUTANT GENERAL

OF THE

STATE OF CALIFORNIA

FOR THE TWO YEARS ENDING JUNE 30, 1902.

1901-1902.

SACRAMENTO:

W. W. SHANNON, : : : : SUPERINTENDENT STATE PRINTING.
1903.

REPORT.

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,

SACRAMENTO, CAL., September 1, 1902.

To His Excellency, GOVERNOR HENRY T. GAGE, Commander-in-Chief:

SIR: I have the honor to submit the following report, as required by law, for the two years ending June 30, 1902, with accompanying statistics showing the condition of the enrolled militia of the State, the National Guard and the Naval Militia.

ENROLLED MILITIA.

From the reports of the Brigadier Generals for the year 1901, as required by Section 1902, Political Code, being the latest reports on file, the total enrolled militia of the State is 226,814. This enrollment is of little practical value, and is only made in compliance with the old militia law of the United States, which requires returns of the same to be made annually to the Adjutant General of the U. S. Army. In an Act now before Congress, mention of which will be made later in this report, this obsolete system is done away with.

NATIONAL GUARD.

Since the report for June 30, 1900, the organized strength of the Guard has been increased by one company of infantry, in addition to a company of Veteran Reserves. On April 19, 1901, four companies of the First Infantry were detached from that regiment and organized as a battalion of coast artillery.

Under the provisions of an Act of the Legislature approved March 23, 1901, the Naval Militia was segregated from the National Guard proper and designated simply as the "Naval Militia of California," and, instead of reporting to, and being under the command of, the Major General commanding the Division, National Guard of California, that organization was required to report direct to the Commander-in-Chief.

At this date the National Guard consists of three signal corps, four troops of cavalry, four batteries of coast artillery, forty-seven companies of infantry, and one company of Veteran Reserves, aggregating, with the staff of the Commander-in-Chief, general officers, and general staff, 327 officers and 3,350 enlisted men. This force is organized into one division (commanded by Major General John H. Dickinson), and three brigades—the First, commanded by Brigadier General C. F. A. Last, consisting of one Signal Corps, Troops C and D, Cavalry, and the Seventh Regiment of Infantry; the Second, commanded by Brigadier General R. H. Warfield, consisting of one Signal Corps, Troop A, Cavalry, the First Battalion of Artillery, the First Regiment of Infantry, and the Fifth Regiment of Infantry; the Third, commanded by Brigadier General M. W. Muller, consisting of one Signal Corps, Troop B, Cavalry, the Second Regiment of Infantry, and the Sixth Regiment of Infantry.

There are 278 National Guard officers on the Retired List.

NAVAL MILITIA.

As mentioned above, the Naval Militia was segregated from the National Guard proper on April 1, 1901, by G. O. No. 4, A. G. O., in accordance with an Act of the Legislature approved March 23, 1901, amending Sections 1912 and 1962 of the Political Code. This force consists of seven divisions, organized into one battalion, commanded by Captain Thomas A. Nerney, and aggregating 36 officers and 460 enlisted men. Under the provisions of the Act above referred to, the headquarters and staff of the battalion were reorganized, an election being held for a captain, commander, lieutenant commander, chief engineer, with the rank of lieutenant commander, and one lieutenant; and all staff officers were recommissioned. Pay and medical departments were provided for, and the organization made to conform as nearly as possible to the regulations of the U. S. Navy.

There are 6 Naval Militia officers on the Retired List.

CHANGES IN ORGANIZATION OF GUARD.

No organizations of the Guard have been disbanded during the two years ending June 30, 1902, and but one company of infantry mustered—that at Talbert, Orange County, on December 8, 1900, which was attached to the Seventh Infantry as Company H.

There was also mustered on May 8, 1901, a company of veterans of the Civil War, known as "Company A, Veteran Reserves of California," located at Oakland. This organization was mustered as an independent company under the provisions of an Act of the Legislature approved March 8, 1901, and is provided for by a special appropriation of the Legislature. This company is composed of good material, and would be very efficient for ordinary service or garrison duty.

Under the provisions of an Act of the Legislature approved March 23, 1901, amending Sections 1982 and 1984 of the Political Code, the organization of the regiments and of the battalions and companies composing the National Guard was changed so as to conform as nearly as possible to the organization of the U. S. Army. Provision was made in the law for slight variations applicable to the needs of the National Guard service. The details of the changes in the organization, under this Act, are prescribed in G. O. No. 4, series of 1901, A. G. O., to which reference is made. There is but one twelve-company regiment in the service, the Seventh. Under the provisions of the Act above referred to, the three nine-company regiments—the Second, the Fifth, and the Sixth—have been given a three-battalion organization, and, therefore, have the same number of field and staff officers as a twelve-company regiment. The First Infantry, having eight companies, is organized into two battalions.

It having been considered advisable to have the artillery branch of the service represented by an organization within the National Guard, the First Battalion of Artillery was organized by the transfer of four companies from the First Infantry, constituting a battalion of coast artillery, with a complete battalion organization of officers and non-commissioned officers. This battalion is under command of Major H. P. Bush, a veteran officer of the National Guard, and is a fine organization. Reference is hereby made to the report of Major Thomas Wilhelm, U. S. A. (retired), now Colonel and Inspector General of Rifle Practice on the Staff of the Commander-in-Chief, who made the annual inspection of the Artillery Battalion. Colonel Wilhelm's recommendation that the Secretary of War be asked for permission to instruct the men of this battalion in heavy gun drill at the Presidio has been acted upon and is receiving attention at Washington.

SANITARY CORPS.

The Corps is well organized and equipped with everything necessary for any ordinary service that may be required. The general hospital conducted by the Corps at the Division Encampment in 1901 was in every way satisfactory. The work performed by the Corps at the encampments held during the present year up to the date of this report has shown high efficiency. Very little was done toward the reorganization of the Corps after the Spanish-American War until the spring of 1901, and as yet the records and paper work of the organization are not satisfactory. This condition is doubtless due more to the law under which the Corps is operating and the insufficiency of the appropriation for its maintenance, than from any lack of interest on the part of officers and men. The Corps is organized as a separate department similar to that of the United States service, and details of officers and men are made to various organizations. Thus, as the force is small and greatly scattered, it is hard to foster a feeling of common interest and pride, and the fact that they are simply detailed for duty with regimental organizations does not give them the feeling that they are interested in and belong to said organization. Many are of the opinion that for the National Guard service the regimental organization of this department is preferable. However, it is hoped that with a better understanding of the law and regulations governing the Corps better results may be obtained. Sufficient appropriation should be made for each detachment of the Sanitary Corps, for the purpose of providing proper quarters and the maintenance of the same, and I recommend that the Legislature be asked for an appropriation of money sufficient to purchase ambulances for the Corps.

ARMS, EQUIPMENTS, AND CAMP EQUIPAGE.

The Guard is equipped as follows:

Infantry Soldier.—Springfield rifle, caliber .45, with sling, web belt, bayonet, and scabbard.

Blanket, shelter-tent half, shelter-tent poles, canteen with strap, haversack with strap, meat can, knife, fork, spoon, and tin cup.

Cavalry Soldier.—U. S. magazine carbine, caliber .30, web belt, saber, and revolver.

Saddle (complete), bridle (complete), halter, saddlebags, saddle blanket, nosebag, surcingle, carbine scabbard, saber belt, blanket, poncho, shelter-tent half, shelter-tent poles, canteen with cavalry strap, meat can, knife, fork, spoon, and tin cup.

Enlisted Men of Signal Corps.—Same as for cavalry.

Sanitary Corps.—Same as for infantry, without arms. Privates carry pouch and litter sling.

Coast Artillery.—Same as for infantry.

Regimental Non-Commissioned Staff Officers.—Same as for infantry, with the exception that a revolver and non-commissioned officer's sword and waist belt are issued in lieu of rifle and equipment.

Officers.—No equipment is furnished to officers, they being required to furnish their own.

The equipment as stated above is the same as that furnished to the U. S. Army, except that the infantry is still using the Springfield rifle, caliber .45, instead of the U. S. magazine rifle, caliber .30; and the cavalry lacks the watering bridle, lariat, and picket pin.

There is a complete equipment of hospital tents, wall tents, and field ranges. The tents are the U. S. Government issue of standard size and pattern. The field ranges issued to each headquarters and company are of two kinds: the Buzzacott, and the Donavin-Myers No. 5; both purchased in 1900, and of the latest pattern.

So far as arms, equipment, and camp equipage are concerned, the Guard is in a position to take the field for an extended period of time at a moment's notice.

Since November 21, 1901, it has been possible to draw from the Government the U. S. magazine rifle and carbine, caliber .30, the same to be charged against the State's allotment. Owing to the fact, however, that the Guard was greatly in need of other equipment, and, moreover, if the appropriation was applied to the securing of the .30-caliber arm and no other supplies, it would still take a number of years to re-equip the Guard; therefore, it was deemed expedient to only order carbines of the .30-caliber to partially equip the Cavalry and Signal Corps. With the prospect of the passage of the Act now before Congress known as the "Dick" bill, which provides for the exchange of the Springfield rifle, caliber .45, for the U. S. magazine rifle, caliber .30, without expense to the State, it is not deemed best at this time to use any more of the State's allotment for this purpose.

The Naval Militia is armed with the Lee magazine rifle, caliber .45, and Colt's revolver, caliber .38. The equipment of the men is practically the same as that of the U. S. Navy. There is also in use by the Naval Militia the U. S. S. "Marion" and one steam cutter, located at San Francisco; the U. S. S. "Pinta," located at San Diego; one steam cutter, located at San Pedro; nine small boats and equipments, in addition to those constituting a part of the equipment of the "Marion" and "Pinta," three three-inch breechloading rifles, five one-pounder Hotchkiss rapid-fire guns, and one Accles gun, caliber .30. The ships loaned to the State by the Navy Department for the use of the Naval Militia are old wooden vessels, entirely obsolete, and are in such condition that they can not be moved under their own steam. These vessels should be replaced by more modern vessels suitable to the present needs of the Naval Militia. Repeated applications have been made to the Navy Department for the loan of a serviceable vessel, but so far without success.

UNIFORMS.

The uniforming of the Guard in progress at the time of the submission of the last biennial report was duly completed, and each enlisted man of the Guard was supplied with a blouse, trousers, forage cap, campaign hat, and leggings. In addition, there were issued to nearly every company thirty-two overcoats. A majority of the organizations of the Guard have provided themselves with the field, or khaki, uniform from company funds.

Each enlisted man of the Naval Militia is uniformed with a blue shirt or blouse, blue trousers, blue cap, and leggings. In addition, most of the divisions have supplied themselves with the white uniform out of their division funds.

The Legislature of 1901 appropriated $10,000 for the purchase of uniforms and quartermaster's supplies, and uniforms and supplies have been contracted for which will exhaust this fund. The appropriation was only sufficient to provide a few uniforms to each organization, and the next Legislature should make a reasonable appropriation for new uniforms for the Guard. The man who gives his time to the service of the State should at least be decently clad, and be furnished a uniform in which he can take some pride. Reference is made to the reports of the Uniform Board, herewith submitted.

The Uniform Board at present consists of Major General John H. Dickinson, Colonel N. S. Bangham, and Colonel Thomas Wilhelm, said board being appointed under the provisions of Section 2027 of the Political Code.

ENCAMPMENTS.

The entire National Guard assembled at Santa Cruz in June, 1901, under the command of Major General John H. Dickinson. This was the first time for many years that the Guard had been assembled in one encampment, and the instruction imparted to general and staff officers in the assembling of and caring for the troops was valuable. The attendance at the encampment was good, being larger than was anticipated; consequently, the expense for transportation and subsistence exceeded the estimates, and a deficiency of $4,310.76 in the encampment fund for that year was incurred. All claims against the fund were settled, with the exception of that for transportation, and the total amount of the deficiency was deducted from the claim of the Southern Pacific Company. For a detailed report upon this encampment, reference is made to the report of Colonel Thomas Wilhelm, Staff of the Commander-in-Chief, and also to the report of Major General John H. Dickinson, herewith submitted.

For the year 1902 encampments prior to June 30th were held by the following organizations: The First Battalion of Artillery, at Stockton, Cal., June 14th to 22d; the Fifth Regiment of Infantry, at Ukiah, Cal., June 21st to 29th; the Sixth Regiment of Infantry, at Merced, Cal., May 15th to 24th; Troop A, Cavalry, a practice march through Sonoma Valley, June 21st to 29th; Company A, Veteran Reserves, at Healdsburg, June 16th to 23d. The reports of the commanding officers of these camps are submitted herewith.

The appropriation for encampments is not sufficient for putting the Guard into camp for seven days once every two years. The appropriation for this purpose should be increased.

CRUISE OF THE NAVAL MILITIA.

The Naval Militia was assembled for a cruise and drill on board the U. S. S. "Philadelphia" during the months of September and October, 1901, under the supervision of officers of the U. S. Navy. This cruise was of much practical benefit to the organization, and reference is made to the report of the commanding officer, herewith submitted.

The Navy Department again offered the use of a vessel for a cruise of the Naval Militia during the present year, but owing to the uncertainty as to the exact time upon which the vessel would be available, it was deemed impracticable and the cruise was abandoned.

INSPECTIONS.

Following the custom in many Eastern States, the inspection of the Guard for the year 1901 was held at the time of the Division Encampment at Santa Cruz. Owing to the fact, however, that the inspection was not made by the regular inspectors, but by a number of officers specially detailed for that purpose from Division headquarters, thereby resulting in a great variety in the gradings and markings, and the result being unsatisfactory, the reports of said inspection are not submitted herewith.

The inspection for the year 1902 was held between April 5th and July 1st, and the result, tabulated from the reports of the various inspectors, is submitted herewith.

TARGET PRACTICE.

The Firing Regulations for Small Arms were amended on April 30, 1901. The principal change effected was in the adoption of the figure targets as now used in the U. S. Army instead of the Blunt target as heretofore used. On April 22, 1902, the regulations were amended by considerably increasing the requirements necessary for qualification.

The reports of target practice for the year 1901 show the number of men qualifying in the various classes as follows:

With rifle—"Distinguished marksmen," 109; "sharpshooters," 98; "riflemen," 426; "marksmen," 296.

With revolver—"First-class men," 95; "second-class men," 66; "third-class men," 70; "fourth-class men," 45.

This shows a large increase over the number qualifying for the year 1900. The appropriation for target practice is entirely insufficient, and the only way that this department has been able to carry out the prescribed course of target practice during the last two years is due to the fact that a large supply of ammunition had accumulated during the period that organizations of the National Guard were in the U. S. Volunteer service. Just prior to the Spanish-American War the number of rounds required to be used by each man firing with the rifle was increased from twenty to sixty-five, and for those firing with the revolver from twenty to forty, thus increasing the amount of ammunition required more than threefold. No corresponding increase, however, was made in the appropriation, and to carry out the system now in force will require more money. Sufficient ammunition should not only be furnished for the record practice required, but at least as much more for the purpose of preliminary practice. As it now stands, the individual members of the Guard, or the organizations thereof, are compelled to furnish their own ammunition for the purpose of preliminary practice; otherwise they would not be qualified to make a creditable showing at the regular State practice. This is the most important branch of a soldier's education, and, owing to the changed conditions of our present civilization, few young men outside of the military organizations learn the use of firearms; whereas in the early days of the Republic nearly every young man was proficient in their use. A great difficulty is experienced in a number of cities in obtaining the necessary ranges, and the cost of providing the same is too great a tax to be borne by the organizations. The State should make an appropriation for the purpose of acquiring and maintaining ranges near the cities of San Francisco and Los Angeles.

PROPERTY ACCOUNTS.

A revision of the blanks used in the transfer of and accounting for property has been made. The blanks as now used are those in use in the U. S. Army, adapted to the requirements of the National Guard. Separate sets of blanks are used for the transfer of and accounting for ordnance stores and quartermaster's supplies. There has been considerable improvement in the paper work of officers in this connection, but there is still much to be desired. Many officers are careless in the preparation of their papers and do not follow the instructions upon the same, thereby causing a large amount of correspondence and resulting in much confusion. Although the directions upon the blanks are very explicit, many officers will take up or drop property without submitting the proper vouchers therefor, and a constant supervision is necessary to secure the proper making of returns. This is as much a part of the education of an officer as the drill regulations, and a very important qualification.

BOARDS OF SURVEY.

The last biennial report of this department refers to the work of the boards of survey for the year 1900, but at the time of the submission of said report the reports relating to U. S. Government property had not been submitted to or passed upon by the War Department. Upon examination of the returns made to the War Department of the property of the United States for which the Governor was accountable, it was found that no credits had been obtained for years for property lost or destroyed. Company commanders had been provisionally released from responsibility for the loss or destruction of stores, upon reports of said boards, but no corresponding credit had been obtained from the Government. Therefore, the reports of boards of survey filed in the Adjutant General's office, relating to Government property from the year 1895 to 1900, inclusive, that were in proper form, were presented to the War Department for settlement. Favorable action was secured upon all of the reports, and stores were authorized by the War Department to be dropped from the return of the Governor, amounting to $4,201.63.

CAMP SITE.

The deed for the tract of land selected for the State Camp of Instruction by the commission provided for in the Act of the Legislature approved March 4, 1899, was duly executed March 27, 1901, and is filed in the office of the Secretary of State. The property is situated near Santa Cruz, and was donated to the State by that city. The Division Encampment of 1901 was held upon this tract, but it was found to be rather small for so large a body of troops. It would answer very well for a regimental or brigade encampment, but, owing to the fact of the lack of means of transportation and of funds to use in putting the grounds in proper condition, none of the regimental commanders desired to camp upon the site this year. With a sufficient appropriation to properly grade and lay out the grounds, this site could be made an ideal camp ground. It will never be desirable for encampment purposes, however, until the street railway system of Santa Cruz is extended to the camp site.

NATIONAL LEGISLATION.

An Act to promote the efficiency of the militia, and commonly known as the "Dick" bill, was introduced at the last session of Congress, and was passed by the House of Representatives. It was read twice in the Senate and referred to the Committee on Military Affairs, and there is reason to believe that the same will become a law upon the reassembling of Congress in December. This Act will prove a great benefit to the National Guard of all the States, and bring the National Guard organizations into closer relations with the regular military establishment.

CLAIMS AGAINST THE UNITED STATES ON ACCOUNT OF THE SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR OF 1898.

There are claims pending against the United States Government arising out of and incidental to the Spanish-American War of 1898, as follows:

For transportation.....	$393 45
For subsistence.....	2,036 11
For incidental expenses.....	4,777 90
For pay of Naval Militia guard on "Marion," etc.....	4,820 23
Suspended on claim made October 1, 1898, as per statement of differences, November 16, 1898.....	6,150 29
Total	$18,177 98

These claims, including a reply to the statement of differences above referred to, were presented to the Auditor for the War Department by the late W. H. Seamans, Adjutant General, on November 6, 1901. This office has been informed by the Auditor that the original claims in the above amount, aggregating $12,027.69, have been entered as the third installment of the State's claims against the Government, and that the reply to the statement of differences will be considered with and applied to the vouchers that have been suspended in the first installment, and that the adjudication of the same will be made at the earliest practicable date.

PAY OF U. S. VOLUNTEERS.

At the time of the assembling of the National Guard for enrollment as U. S. Volunteers for the Spanish-American War of 1898, no provision was made by the State for paying the men from the date of their enrollment and assembling to the date of their muster into the United States service or rejection. The enlisted men were entitled to pay from the State at the rate of $2 per day and the officers to pay at the rate fixed by the United States for pay of their grade. The time these men served varied from nine days for the First Infantry to fifteen days for a portion of the Eighth Infantry. No attempt was made by the State administration at that time to pay these men. If this had been done and the payments made by the State upon proper payrolls, the State would have been reimbursed by the General Government. In the year 1900, the late W. H. Seamans, Adjutant General, took this matter up and undertook to secure individual vouchers from officers and men for the money due them, the same to be presented as vouchers to a claim of the State to be made against the General Government. Lieutenant Colonel R. L. Peeler was placed upon special duty for the purpose of collecting these vouchers, in connection with other work connected with the Spanish-American War claims, and his report, which was published in the last biennial report of this department, gives the result of his labors. Up to that time vouchers to a little more than $48,000 had been collected. The State's claim for this money was not filed by General Seamans until November 6, 1901, so as to include as many claimants as possible before the expiration of the time fixed. The matter could not be longer delayed, however, as the Act of Congress under which these claims were made provided that they should be filed prior to January 1, 1902, or be forever barred. In the meantime, vouchers for about $10,000 additional had been collected and the total amount of the State's claim as filed for this purpose was $58,244.86. General Seamans presented this claim in person and was successful in securing the speedy allowance of the same to the amount of $58,151.26, as per settlement No. 17,333 by the Auditor for the War Department on January 7, 1902. The disbursement of this money has caused much additional work in this office, as the claimants were widely scattered and it has been difficult to locate many of them. Individual checks were issued for the amount due each man, showing the organization, the dates of his enrollment and muster-in or rejection, the number of days, the rate per day, and the amount. These checks were signed by the Governor and countersigned by the Adjutant General, and were drawn upon the State Treasurer as custodian of this fund, with whom the money had been deposited as a special trust fund. Prior to July 1, 1902, 2,340 checks had been issued against the fund, amounting to $50,874.10. There has been much misunderstanding concerning this matter, and it has been difficult to explain to those men who had not filed their vouchers in time to be included in the State's claim, above referred to, the reason why they should not receive pay as well as the others. The making of these explanations has necessitated a large amount of correspondence and a great deal of additional work in this department. An Act was introduced in the last Congress to extend the time within which claims could be filed, but did not secure passage. Since the filing of the State's claim against the Government, many officers and men have filed vouchers for this pay, with the understanding from this office that if Congress should extend the time within which claims could be filed, a supplemental claim would be made by the State for the payment of the same. These men are manifestly entitled to this pay, and if Congress does not enact the necessary legislation to provide for settlement of their just claims by the General Government, the State Legislature should make provision for paying them. It is estimated that there are still 1,500 officers and men entitled to pay, aggregating $35,000.

EXCHANGE OF STORES AND SUPPLIES ON ACCOUNT OF SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR.

There is still due the State from the United States Government on account of stores transferred at the time of the Spanish-American War, ordnance stores to the value of $2,335.96, there having been drawn during the past two years on this account ordnance stores to the value of $2,056. The stores to be drawn under this account have to be in kind, and others can not be substituted. The specific stores that are still due the State are not needed at present, as the Guard is completely equipped with such articles.

There was no provision for the exchange of quartermaster's supplies, until the Act of Congress approved May 26, 1900. Under the provisions of this Act the State made claim on March 11, 1901, and received from the Government, quartermaster's supplies to the value of $2,191. These supplies had been transferred to the U. S. Volunteers at the time of the war, but no cash payment was made for the same, as they were Government property, and no provision had been made for replacing them until the Act above referred to.

COLORS OF U. S. VOLUNTEERS.

The colors of but one of the organizations of the California Volunteers serving in the Spanish-American War of 1898 have been deposited in this office—those of the First Battalion of Heavy Artillery, California U. S. Volunteers. These colors were received from Major Frank S. Rice, commanding the battalion, on September 20, 1899, together with a history of the same. The proper place for the custody and preservation of the colors of these organizations should be the State Capitol, as is the custom in other States, both in justice to the State and to the members of the several organizations. Proper provision should be made for the care and preservation of these flags, and the present holders directed to turn them over to the State. Congress evidently intended that this should be done, for an Act was passed providing that volunteer regiments be permitted to retain their regimental colors upon being mustered out of the service of the United States, to be delivered to the respective State authorities. It may be said that some of the colors of the California regiments were presented to the organizations, but being possessed by the organization they became the property of the State and not of individuals.

UNIVERSITY CADETS.

From the report of First Lieutenant Henry De H. Waite, U. S. Army (retired), Professor of Military Science and Tactics, University of California, at Berkeley, for the year ending June 30, 1902, the following facts concerning this organization are obtained: The organization consists of one regiment of infantry, consisting of twelve companies, one band, one signal detachment, and one artillery detachment. About sixty outdoor drills and ninety indoor drills were held during the year, the average attendance at the same being 675—an increase over previous years. Seven formal reviews were held. A portion of the cadets were instructed in target practice and signaling. The rifle team of the University won the intercollegiate championship for the year 1902. The discipline and efficiency are excellent.

DEATH OF ADJUTANT GENERAL.

On January 3, 1902, Brigadier General W. H. Seamans, Adjutant General of the State of California, died at Washington, D. C., where he had gone as the official agent of the State to collect the money due the State on account of claims arising out of the Spanish-American War. The principal object of his trip was realized in the settlement of the claim for the pay of U. S. Volunteers, but the rigors of an Eastern winter proved too severe for one whose health had been impaired by long and faithful service in the Civil War. His remains were brought to California and received all the honors to which his rank entitled him, and were interred at the Presidio of San Francisco, Cal. A brief history of his life will be found in G. O. No. 1, series of 1902, A. G. O.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

I respectfully make the following recommendations, reference to many of which have been made in the preceding report:

First—That, in view of the probable passage of the "Dick" bill by Congress, a board of officers be appointed to prepare and submit to the next Legislature a revision of the laws governing the National Guard; and, also, that a sufficient appropriation be made for the publication of the laws and the rules and regulations governing the National Guard, when the same are revised and amended.

Second—That a State arsenal be built at Sacramento for the proper storage and care of the military supplies belonging to the State. The storage room now at the disposal of this department is entirely inadequate and unsuited. By combining the State arsenal with an armory for the Sacramento organizations of the National Guard a large amount of money that is now paid for rent by these organizations could be saved to the State and the building would practically pay for itself in a reasonable time.

Third—That an Act be passed by the Legislature authorizing the payment of money due deceased members of the California Volunteers from the date of enrollment to the date of muster-in or rejection by the medical examiner, to the heirs of such deceased persons upon proper verification, without obtaining letters of administration.

Fourth—That an appropriation of $35,000 be made, the same or so much thereof as may be necessary, to be used for the payment of the amounts due members of the California U. S. Volunteers for the Spanish-American War of 1898, from the date of their enrollment to the date of their muster-in or rejection by the medical examiner. At the time the vouchers were presented to the United States Government for this purpose, in 1901, many of these men could not be reached. Those who have not been paid are in justice entitled to the same consideration as those who have, and the Legislature should make the necessary provision to redeem the obligation of the State.

Fifth—That a sufficient appropriation for encampment purposes be made so that the entire Guard can be encamped for at least ten days in each year.

Sixth—That the annual appropriation for target practice be increased to $10,000.

Seventh—That provision be made by the Legislature for acquiring and maintaining State target ranges near the cities of San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Eighth—That an appropriation of $50 per month for each detachment of the Sanitary Corps be made, as now provided for in Section 2094, Political Code. Although the section referred to provides for the payment of this allotment, no money was appropriated by the last Legislature to cover the same. Also that a sufficient appropriation be made to purchase ambulances.

Ninth—That an emergency fund be established to be used for the pay, travel, and subsistence of the Guard when ordered out in case of war, insurrection, rebellion, or resistance to the execution of the laws of the State, or for any other necessary purpose; said fund also to be available for the expense of troops ordered out as escort to deceased officers or State officials entitled to military honors. Expenditures from that fund to be made only under direct authorization of the Governor.

Tenth—That a sufficient appropriation be made to compile and print five thousand copies of a history and record of the California Volunteers in the Spanish-American War.

Eleventh—That a military storekeeper and State armorer be appointed for the care and proper keeping of the military stores at the State arsenal, at a monthly salary of $75.

Twelfth—That the weaker companies of the National Guard be disbanded. There are quite a number of organizations that are barely maintained to the minimum standard and their condition does not warrant the expenditure of money by the State.

I have the honor to submit herewith the following as appendices to this report:

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
GENERAL ORDERS, { ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, CAL., August 16, 1900.
No. 8. }

With deep regret the Commander-in-Chief announces the death of Victor D. Duboce, Colonel First Regiment of Infantry, N. G. C., which occurred at San Francisco, August 15, 1900.

Colonel Duboce entered the National Guard of California as a—Private of Company F, Second Infantry, October 8, 1878;
Appointed Corporal Company F, Second Infantry, May 10, 1881;
Appointed Sergeant Company F, Second Artillery, April 3, 1883;
Appointed Captain and Aid-de-Camp, Second Brigade Staff, April 22, 1889;
Appointed Major and Quartermaster, Second Brigade Staff, February 7, 1890;
Appointed Major and Paymaster, Second Brigade Staff, May 13, 1891;
Appointed Major and Inspector, Second Brigade Staff, March 8, 1892; Placed on Retired List, May 24, 1895;
Appointed Major and Brigade Inspector, Second Brigade Staff, June 26, 1895;
Elected Lieutenant Colonel, First Infantry, January 31, 1896;
Mustered into United States Volunteer service as Lieutenant Colonel, First California Volunteer Infantry, May 6, 1898; Promoted Colonel, April 25, 1899;
Mustered out with his regiment, September 21, 1899;
Reported for duty in the National Guard as Lieutenant Colonel, First Infantry, November 29, 1899;
Elected Colonel, First Infantry, May 10, 1900;
Colonel Duboce's record in the Guard is that of a faithful and painstaking officer; while his efficient and gallant service with his regiment in the Philippines is one that reflects credit upon the State.

His death, coming as a direct result of the arduous campaign in the tropics, is peculiarly sad, and his life was given for his country as truly as if he had met death facing the enemy's bullets.

The usual badge of mourning will be worn by the officers of the First Infantry, and the colors of the regiment will be draped in mourning for thirty days.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

W. H. SEAMANS, Adjutant General.

General Orders No. 9 announced result of target practice for 1899, and is omitted on account of lack of funds for printing.

William Bruce, re-elected Captain of Company B, May 28, 1900, with rank from January 8, 1896.

III. It is with deep regret that the Commander-in-Chief announces the death of Brigadier General John Hewston, Jr., retired, which occurred August 17, 1900.

He was commissioned Major and Ordnance Officer, Second Brigade, C. S. M., May 14, 1862, with rank from May 12, 1862; Major and Assistant Adjutant General, Second Brigade, C. S. M., April 3, 1863, with rank from March 21, 1863; Brigadier General, Second Brigade, C. S. M., January 21, 1864, with rank from February 24, 1864; Brigadier General, Second Brigade, N. G. C., November 1, 1866, with rank from February 24, 1864, and served as such until resignation was accepted, January 4, 1875. Placed on the "Retired List" September 8, 1897, under the provisions of the Act of the Legislature approved April 1, 1897.

IV. The annual inspection and muster of the National Guard will be held during the month of November.

The various brigade commanders will arrange the details for the inspection of their respective brigades.

Organizations will be paraded in undress uniforms with campaign hats and leggings. Full field equipment will be worn, with blankets and shelter tents rolled.

The Major General commanding the Division will arrange the details for the inspection of the Naval Militia other than the Third and Sixth Divisions.

Colonel N. S. Bangham, Assistant Adjutant General, will inspect the Third and Sixth Divisions, Naval Militia.

The Naval Militia will be paraded in blue service uniforms with leggings, and full equipment as infantry so far as issued.

In addition to inspection as infantry, divisions supplied with three-inch breech-loading rifles or Hotchkiss one-pounders will be required to drill with same, and, when practicable, boat drill will also be required.

All inspectors detailed under the provisions of this order are hereby authorized and directed to condemn and destroy all State property worn out in the service or worthless. All unserviceable U. S. Government property will be shipped to the Adjutant General, Sacramento, charges prepaid, except that in possession of the Naval Militia, which will be shipped to Captain N. T. James, U. S. S. "Marion," San Francisco.

Great care will be exercised in the preparation of muster rolls. Commanding officers will give this matter their personal supervision, giving especial attention to the record of service of each man, to the end that the same may be absolutely correct.

As soon as dates have been assigned to the different commands for their inspection, copies of such assignments, or orders, will be sent to the Inspector General for his information.

V. Paragraph 327, Rules and Regulations for the National Guard of California, is hereby amended to read as follows:

327. Any person elected or appointed as a commissioned officer, who fails to pass the examination ordered by the Examining Board, as provided in sections one thousand nine hundred and seventy-four and one thousand nine hundred and seventy-five of the Political Code, State of California, shall not be eligible to re-election or re-appointment for the same office, or for election or appointment to any other commissioned office of higher grade until after the expiration of six months from the date of his failure to pass said examination.

VI. Paragraph 1019, Rules and Regulations for the National Guard of California, is hereby amended to read as follows:

1019. The uniform of an officer on the retired list is that of his actual rank in his regiment or corps when retired, except that the number of the regiment or insignia of corps or department will not be worn. A retired officer when detailed for active duty will continue to wear the uniform herein prescribed, without regard to the rank which properly belongs to the office, the duties of which he is detailed to perform.

VII. Commanding officers to whom orders are sent are charged with their distribution to the proper commands and persons interested. The following is the basis of distribution:

General Orders—One official signed copy for each headquarters, company, troop, signal corps, or Naval Militia division, and one for each officer or man interested.

One copy for each staff or line officer.

One extra copy for each company, troop, signal corps, or Naval Militia division.

Five extra copies for each headquarters.

Special Orders—One official signed copy for each headquarters, company, troop, signal corps, or Naval Militia division, and one for each officer or man interested.

Three extra copies for each headquarters.

Owing to the limited appropriation for postage, it is impossible to mail orders to retired officers. Those that desire orders will make application yearly to the Adjutant General's office to be placed on the mailing list, inclosing twenty-five cents in postage stamps.

All commanding officers, immediately upon issuing orders, will cause to be mailed direct to this office two copies of the same, in addition to copy forwarded through channels.

VIII. Officers whose commands are supplied with woolen blankets are especially charged with the importance of having them thoroughly cared for, and they will require the same to be frequently inspected and aired. Blankets when not in use will be packed in tight boxes or chests, completely lined with tarred paper; care being taken to protect the blankets from actual contact with the tarred surface by additional wrapping paper. Any other precautions necessary will be taken to insure their protection from moths or other damage.

IX. "Service-in-war" chevrons of gold lace as prescribed by Regulations for the U. S. Army are hereby authorized to be worn on undress blouses, but will not be worn on field or khaki blouses. (For regulations concerning chevrons, see General Orders Nos. 6 and 7, series of 1899, A. G. O.)

X. Commanding officers who are responsible for U. S. Government or State property, desiring to leave the limits of their commands, will apply for leave of absence a sufficient length of time prior to their intended departure to allow an inventory of said property to be taken by the officer who is to assume command and control of the property. An inventory will also be taken when the permanent commander returns from leave, memorandum receipts being given in each instance, and duplicate forwarded to this office.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

W. H. SEAMANS, Adjutant General.

II. The assignment of Captain Oliver D. Hamlin, Assistant Surgeon, Sanitary Corps, N. G. C., to duty on the staff of the Colonel of the Fifth Infantry as Assistant Surgeon of said regiment, is hereby canceled, and Captain Hamlin will report to the Surgeon General awaiting orders.

Charles D. McGettigan having been commissioned Captain and Assistant Surgeon, Sanitary Corps, is hereby assigned to duty on the staff of the Colonel of the Fifth Infantry as Assistant Surgeon of said regiment; vice Hamlin, transferred.

Zachary T. Malaby having been commissioned Captain and Assistant Surgeon, Sanitary Corps, is hereby assigned to duty with the Cavalry of the National Guard of California, vice Fitzgibbon, resigned, and will report direct to the Division Commander.

Thomas D. Maher having been commissioned Captain and Assistant Surgeon, Sanitary Corps, is hereby assigned to duty on the staff of the Colonel of the First Infantry as Assistant Surgeon of said regiment; vice Rethers, honorably discharged.

(Approved December 22, 1900.)

III. It is with deep sorrow that the Commander-in-Chief announces the death of Major Richard P. Hammond, Jr., retired, which occurred in San Francisco, September 20, 1900.

His record of service in the National Guard of California is as follows: Commissioned First Lieutenant and Ordnance Officer Third Infantry, with rank from November 10, 1883; Major and Ordnance Officer Second Brigade, with rank from December 24, 1885; transferred to Engineer Department April 30, 1888; placed on Retired List May 20, 1891.

IV. Paragraph 881, Rules and Regulations for the National Guard of California, is hereby revoked, and Paragraph 921, Article LXXV, U. S. Army Regulations, is substituted therefor.

The said Paragraph 921, U. S. Army Regulations, reads as follows: "When a court sits in closed session, the Judge Advocate will withdraw, and when legal advice or assistance is required, it will be obtained in open court."

The rule laid down in the above quotation will hereafter govern in all courts-martial held in the State of California.

(Approved November 28, 1900.)

V. Commanding officers of infantry regiments will make arrangements as to the days upon which the various companies of their commands will parade for skirmish firing for the year 1900; the said firing to be held during the month of November or December.

This firing is in competition for the trophy now held by Company C, Second Infantry, and will be governed by the Rules and Regulations prescribed in General Orders No. 12, series 1899, A. G. O.

(Approved November 3, 1900.)

VI. Attention is called to Paragraph 663, Rules and Regulations, National Guard of California, and commanding officers will comply therewith. Many commanding officers are careless in making and forwarding reports and returns, and the practice must be stopped. Hereafter the names of commanding officers who fail to have monthly returns, quarterly returns of property, or quarterly demands for allowances, on file in this office within twenty-one (21) days after the expiration of the time for which the same are made, will be announced in orders, unless the delay is occasioned by some unusual circumstance or condition satisfactorily explained to these Headquarters.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

W. H. SEAMANS, Adjutant General.

Harry L. Gunn, re-elected First Lieutenant of Company H, July 2, 1900, with rank from July 1, 1896.

III. Theodore Rethers, having been commissioned Major and Surgeon, Sanitary Corps, is hereby assigned to duty on the staff of the Colonel of the First Infantry as Surgeon of said regiment; vice McCarthy, promoted. (Approved January 18, 1901.)

IV. It is with deep regret that the Commander-in-Chief announces the death of Colonel George W. Granniss, retired, which occurred January 26, 1901, at San Francisco.

He enlisted in the Independent City Guard (San Francisco) in 1856; discharged in 1858; elected Second Lieutenant of the Sotoyome Guard (Sonoma) in 1858; enlisted in Company B (City Guard), First Infantry, in 1860; appointed Corporal October 29, 1861; Sergeant, August 14, 1862; First Sergeant, July 31, 1863; elected Junior Second Lieutenant, July 6, 1865; Senior Second Lieutenant, September 18, 1865; First Lieutenant, September, 1865; Captain, October 16, 1866; Major, First Infantry, November 19, 1868; Lieutenant Colonel, November 1, 1869; Colonel, February 27, 1875; resigned, November 13, 1877; appointed Colonel and Chief Engineer, staff of Commander-in-Chief, January 26, 1880. Placed on the Retired List, January 26, 1883.

V. In accordance with Paragraph VI, General Orders No. 11, series of 1900, A. G. O., the names of the following commanding officers whose returns for the month of January, 1901, were not received at these Headquarters within twenty-one days after the close of the month, are hereby announced:

Captain George E. Lawrence, Signal Corps, First Brigade.
 Lieutenant Wm. G. Morrison, First Division, Naval Militia.
 Lieutenant Thos. S. Harloe, Second Division, Naval Militia.
 Lieutenant Roscoe Howard, Third Division, Naval Militia.
 Lieutenant Carl E. Lindsay, Fourth Division, Naval Militia.
 Captain B. B. Sturdivant, Company B, First Infantry.
 First Lieutenant J. H. Jordan, Company E, First Infantry.
 Captain J. A. McMartin, Company E, Second Infantry.
 Captain F. M. Miller, Company I, Second Infantry.
 Captain E. G. Hunt, Company A, Fifth Infantry.
 Captain C. M. Warner, Company I, Fifth Infantry.
 First Lieutenant A. R. Newell, Company B, Sixth Infantry.
 Captain C. W. Agee, Company H, Sixth Infantry.
 Captain P. M. Norboe, Company I, Sixth Infantry.
 Captain Truman Cole, Company C, Seventh Infantry.
 Captain T. B. Thomas, Company D, Seventh Infantry.
 Captain F. L. Reynolds, Company F, Seventh Infantry.
 Captain H. E. Higbey, Company G, Seventh Infantry.
 First Lieutenant J. H. Stewart, Company H, Seventh Infantry.
 This shows great carelessness and neglect on the part of commanding officers, and greater promptness must be observed.

VI. Upon the recommendation of Major J. A. Margo, Inspector, Second Brigade, N. G. C., the Cadet Company, First Infantry, N. G. C., located at San Francisco, First Lieutenant Monroe E. Deutsch commanding, is hereby disbanded, in accordance with the provisions of Section 1938, Political Code, it being deemed inexpedient to longer maintain a cadet company in connection with the National Guard.

First Lieutenant W. H. Tobin, First Infantry, is hereby detailed as Mustering Officer, and charged with the supervision of the preparation of all papers and the return of all State and United States property in connection with the muster-out and disbandment of said company.

The commanding officer of said company will furnish the Mustering Officer with four copies of a muster roll, accounting for the officers and enlisted men of said company who have been borne upon the rolls of said company since the annual muster and inspection of 1898. The commanding officer will furnish discharge certificates to the enlisted men of his command, the date of the discharge to be the date of this order; these discharge certificates to be signed by the company commander and countersigned by the Mustering Officer. After being countersigned, the commanding officer of the company is charged with the distribution of discharge certificates to the persons entitled thereto.

First Lieutenant Monroe E. Deutsch will turn over to First Lieutenant Tobin all State and United States property in his possession.

The commanding officer of said company will not be discharged until all the requirements of this order are complied with.

No allowances will be made to the commanding officer of the First Infantry for said cadet company for the time subsequent to May 6, 1898.

VII. The "Firing Regulations for Small Arms, 1898," for the government of the U. S. Army, will hereafter regulate the small arms target practice in the National Guard of California, except as follows:

First—As to the provisions relating to skirmish firing, company volley firing, practice at disappearing and moving targets, and field practice; in lieu thereof will be substituted the "Rules and Regulations" adopted for skirmish firing in General Orders No. 12, series 1899, A. G. O., and any amendments thereto;

Second—As to the number of shots, scores, and other requirements necessary for qualification, which will be announced in future orders;

Third—As to those directions in the 1898 regulations which apply solely to the United States magazine rifle or carbine; where such directions occur, the provisions of "Blunt's Small Arms Firing Regulations," relating to Springfield rifle or carbine, caliber .45, will be held to apply;

Fourth—As to mounted practice for cavalry, which will not be required.

It is the intention to include individual skirmish firing, similar to that prescribed in Chapter IV, "Firing Regulations for Small Arms, 1898," as a part of the qualification for State medals and bars, beginning with the year 1902. Commanding officers will, therefore, at once make arrangements for providing their commands with suitable ranges, and practice them in said firing.

A supply of figure targets has been ordered from the Ordnance Department, U. S. Army, and will be issued to commands as soon as received.

Target practice for the year 1901 will be held on dates between May 1, 1901, and December 31, 1901, inclusive, at the discretion of brigade, regimental, or battalion commanders. The number and character of practices will conform to regulations.

VIII. The Board of Location and Organization of the National Guard of California having favorably acted upon a call for the organization of a company of infantry at Talbert, Orange County, and the record of the proceedings had thereunder having been received at this office and approved, and said company having been organized and sworn into the service of the State on December 8, 1900, said company is hereby listed as Company H, Seventh Infantry, N. G. C., and declared to be mustered into the service, to date from said December 8, 1900. (Approved January 11, 1901.)

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

W. H. SEAMANS, Adjutant General.

[NOTE.—General Orders No. 11 is the last of the series of 1900.]

I. Commissions have been issued to the following named officers, National Guard of California, since the date of General Orders No. 1, c. s., A. G. O., viz.:

First Infantry.

William H. Tobin, to be Captain and Adjutant, with rank from January 10, 1901; vice Kelleher, retired.

Joseph P. McQuade, to be Captain and Chaplain, with rank from January 17, 1901; original.

Andrew J. Ruddock, to be First Lieutenant and Inspector of Rifle Practice, with rank from January 10, 1901; vice Tobin, promoted.

George J. Petty, to be Captain of Company C, with rank from January 21, 1901; vice Goodell, resigned.

Joseph N. Ross, Jr., to be First Lieutenant of Company C, with rank from January 21, 1901; vice Petty, promoted.

John J. Hyer, to be Second Lieutenant of Company C, with rank from January 21, 1901; vice Ross, promoted.

James H. Jordan, to be Captain of Company E, with rank from February 13, 1901; vice Robertson, promoted.

William E. Wehser, to be First Lieutenant of Company E, with rank from February 13, 1901; vice Jordan, promoted.

Second Infantry.

Preston F. Simonds, to be Captain of Company C, with rank from February 9, 1901; vice Nihell, retired.

Benedict A. Bost, to be First Lieutenant of Company C, with rank from February 9, 1901; vice Simonds, promoted.

Fifth Infantry.

John R. Hunter, to be Second Lieutenant of Company I, with rank from January 24, 1901; vice Meyers, resigned.

Sixth Infantry.

Willis Pike, to be First Lieutenant and Commissary, with rank from February 19, 1901; vice Harris, promoted.

Seventh Infantry.

Samuel M. Saltmarsh, to be First Lieutenant of Company C, with rank from January 16, 1901; vice Simms, resigned.

Wilmot W. Midgley, to be First Lieutenant of Company D, with rank from February 5, 1901; vice Hurtt, resigned.

Nathan C. Pedley, to be Second Lieutenant of Company D, with rank from February 5, 1901; vice Midgley, promoted.
 Louis L. McClary, to be Second Lieutenant of Company H, with rank from March 4, 1901; original.

II. A certificate of re-election has been issued to the following named officer, National Guard of California, since the date of General Orders No. 1, c. s., A. G. O., viz.:

Second Infantry.

Levi W. Nicholson, re-elected Second Lieutenant of Company C, February 9, 1901, with rank from May 1, 1897.

III. In accordance with Paragraph VI, General Orders No. 11, series of 1900, A. G. O., the names of the following commanding officers whose returns for the month of February, 1901, were not received at these Headquarters within twenty-one days after the close of the month, are hereby announced:

Captain George E. Lawrence, Signal Corps, First Brigade.
 First Lieutenant E. P. Seymer, Signal Corps, Second Brigade.
 Lieutenant William G. Morrison, First Division, Naval Militia.
 Lieutenant Thomas S. Harloe, Second Division, Naval Militia.
 Lieutenant Carl E. Lindsay, Fourth Division, Naval Militia.
 Lieutenant William T. Bonney, Engineer Division, Naval Militia.
 Captain B. B. Sturdivant, Company B, First Infantry.
 First Lieutenant J. H. Jordan, Company E, First Infantry.
 Captain Frances Warren, Company H, First Infantry.
 Captain Fred M. Miller, Company I, Second Infantry.
 Captain J. P. Parnau, Company A, Sixth Infantry.
 Captain Charles W. Agee, Company H, Sixth Infantry.
 Captain A. W. Bradbury, Company A, Seventh Infantry.
 Captain Truman Cole, Company C, Seventh Infantry.
 Captain T. B. Thomas, Company D, Seventh Infantry.
 Captain George H. Magill, Company H, Seventh Infantry.
 The receipt of monthly returns at these Headquarters is delayed in some instances by the necessity for returning same for correction, which company commanders can avoid by care in the preparation of returns; in other instances, there seems to be an unusual delay at intermediate headquarters. All commanding officers are directed to give this matter their careful attention.

IV. In accordance with Section 2022, Political Code, State of California, the First, Second, and Third Brigades of the National Guard will assemble and encamp for discipline and drill at the State Camp of Instruction at Santa Cruz, California, on June 15, 1901, for a period of eight days, exclusive of the time necessary for transportation. The camp will be under the command of Major General John H. Dickinson, commanding Division, National Guard of California. Per diem will not be allowed nor paid from the State appropriation to officers, enlisted men, or musicians. Tentage will be issued to those organizations of the Guard having none, upon their arrival at camp. This is to be strictly a camp of instruction. Major General John H. Dickinson is charged with the execution of this order. He will arrange the details, including transportation, subsistence, and supplies, the expenditure for which is not to exceed the allotment for that purpose, to be hereafter made.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

W. H. SEAMANS, Adjutant General.

GENERAL ORDERS, }
 No. 3. }
 GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
 ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, CAL., March 29, 1901.

I. The following Acts of the Legislature are published for the information and government of all concerned:

CHAPTER XCV.

An Act to provide for independent and unattached companies of the National Guard of the State of California, and to provide for the manner of making allowances for the use and support of such companies.

[Approved March 8, 1901.]

The people of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Any military organization composed of veterans of the Civil War, and having the minimum number required to constitute a company, if, upon the required examination they be found capable of efficient service to the State in the performance of active, garrison, or other military duty, may be organized and mustered into the military service of the State, notwithstanding the members thereof may be over the age of forty-five years; and such companies or organizations when so constituted shall be mustered into, and become a part of, the National Guard of the State, and shall be subject to all the laws regulating and governing the National Guard, except that they shall be deemed and considered independent, unattached companies, acting under the direct orders of the Commander-in-Chief.

SEC. 2. Such companies shall receive such allowances as may be approved and allowed by the State Board of Military Auditors out of any moneys appropriated for the use of such companies; provided, however, that such allowances shall in no case exceed the sum of five hundred dollars for any one of such companies for any one fiscal year.

SEC. 3. This Act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

CHAPTER CLXXXIV.

An Act to amend sections nineteen hundred and twelve, nineteen hundred and seventeen, nineteen hundred and eighteen, nineteen hundred and twenty, nineteen hundred and thirty-six, nineteen hundred and thirty-nine, nineteen hundred and forty-six, nineteen hundred and sixty-two, nineteen hundred and eighty-two, nineteen hundred and eighty-four, nineteen hundred and eighty-five, two thousand and seventy-six, two thousand and seventy-seven, two thousand and ninety-four; to repeal sections nineteen hundred and eighty-one, nineteen hundred and eighty-three, nineteen hundred and ninety, nineteen hundred and ninety-two, two thousand and thirty-two; and to add a new section, to be known and numbered as section nineteen hundred and seventy-three a, all of and to the Political Code of the State of California, relating to the National Guard.

[Approved March 23, 1901.]

The people of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section nineteen hundred and twelve of the Political Code of California is hereby amended to read as follows:

1912. The organized uniformed militia of the State of California shall be known as the National Guard of California and the Naval Militia of California. This force shall not exceed sixty-five companies, of which fifty-six companies shall be cavalry, artillery, infantry, or signal corps, as the board of location and organization may direct, and five divisions of the Naval Militia, and the other four companies shall be distributed to such arms of the service as the board of location and organization may direct. The National Guard and Naval Militia must be located throughout the State with reference to the military wants thereof, means of concentration, and other military requirements. The word "division," as used in this section in connection with the Naval Militia, shall have the same meaning and effect as "company" when used in connection with the infantry, and the Naval Militia shall receive its proportion of any appropriation made for the support of the National Guard.

SEC. 2. Section nineteen hundred and seventeen of the Political Code of California is hereby amended to read as follows:

1917. His staff consists of one adjutant general, with the rank of brigadier general; one assistant adjutant general, one chief engineer, one paymaster general, one judge-advocate general, one inspector general of rifle practice, one surgeon general, each with the rank of colonel; sixteen aids-de-camp, with rank of lieutenant colonel; one aid-de-camp, with the rank of commander; and two staff orderlies, with the rank of sergeant major, appointed by and holding office at the pleasure of the commander-in-chief, or until their successors are appointed and qualified.

SEC. 3. Section nineteen hundred and eighteen of the Political Code of California is hereby amended to read as follows:

1918. The Commander-in-Chief, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, must appoint one major general, and for each brigade of the National Guard of California one brigadier general, who must be citizens of the United States and of the State; have served at least four years as officers either in the National Guard of California or in the United States military service, or in both, two years of which service shall have been as a field officer; and the brigadier generals must be residents of localities within the brigades for which they are appointed. They take rank according to the date assigned them in their commissions, which shall be from the time of their appointment, and hold their office until their successors are appointed and qualified.

SEC. 4. Section nineteen hundred and twenty of the Political Code of California is hereby amended to read as follows:

1920. Any officer of a regiment, battalion, or company accepting any staff appointment, is held to have resigned the commission held by him at the time of said appointment.

SEC. 5. Section nineteen hundred and thirty-six of the Political Code of California is hereby amended to read as follows:

1936. 1. All officers, warrant officers, non-commissioned officers, musicians, and privates of the National Guard and Naval Militia who comply with all military duties, as provided by law and regulations, are entitled to the following privileges and exemptions, viz.: Exemption from road tax and head tax of every description, except poll tax provided for in article thirteen, section twelve of the Constitution; exemption from jury duty, and service on any posse comitatus. All officers, warrant officers, non-commissioned officers, musicians, and privates who have faithfully served in the military service of this State for the space of seven consecutive years, and received the certificate of the Adjutant General certifying the same, are thereafter exempted from further military and jury duty, except in time of war. And the Adjutant General must issue such certificate of exemption when it appears that the party applying is entitled to the same.

2. All members of the National Guard of California who served in the United States Volunteers, or in the United States Army or Navy, during the Spanish-American War of eighteen hundred and ninety-eight, or who served or may be serving during the insurrection in the Philippine Islands, and who, within one hundred and fifty days from the date of their honorable discharge therefrom, either reported for duty under the Act of March twenty-first, eighteen hundred and ninety-nine, Statutes of California, or entered the National Guard by enlistment or commission, or who may hereafter do so, shall be granted continuous service for any and all purposes regarding privileges and exemptions provided by law for members of the National Guard; provided, that an officer shall not have credit for continuous service as an officer unless he re-enters the National Guard in the capacity of an officer; and, also, that the men who entered the United States Volunteer service in any of the volunteer organizations of this State under the calls of the President dated April twenty-third and May twenty-fifth, eighteen hundred and ninety-eight, and who were not at the time they entered such service members of the National Guard, and who, within one hundred and fifty days from the date of their honorable discharge therefrom, entered the National Guard by enlistment or commission, shall be granted continuous service for any and all purposes regarding privileges and exemptions provided by law for members of the National Guard from the time they entered said United States Volunteer service; provided, that an officer shall not have credit for continuous as an officer, unless he was an officer in said United States Volunteer service and enters the National Guard as an officer as above provided.

3. Officers and enlisted men heretofore or hereafter honorably discharged or mustered out of the service by reason of the disbandment or consolidation of any organization, or by the provisions of any Act of the Legislature, shall be, and the same are hereby entitled to all the privileges and exemptions mentioned in this section, upon making a proper application therefor; provided, they shall have served at least five years continuously in the National Guard.

4. Former members of the National Guard or Naval Militia who have been honorably discharged for "expiration of term of service," or on account of "removal," and have returned to the limits of their commands, and officers who have resigned, been honorably discharged, or whose terms have expired, who re-enlist or re-enter the National Guard or Naval Militia within ninety days from the date of their discharge or the expiration of their term of office, will be given credit for continuous service, and the enlistment considered consecutive.

SEC. 6. Section nineteen hundred and thirty-nine of the Political Code of California is hereby amended to read as follows:

1939. The laws, articles of war, and the rules and regulations for the government of the Army of the United States, so far as the same may be applicable and not inconsistent with the laws of this State, and the rules and regulations prescribed by the Commander-in-Chief, constitute the rules and regulations for the government of the National Guard.

SEC. 7. Section nineteen hundred and forty-six of the Political Code of California is hereby amended to read as follows:

1946. The insignia of the Veterans of the Mexican War, the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, the Grand Army of the Republic, and of armies or army corps, indicating actual services in the field, medals presented by the United States, any State, or by the Native Sons of the Golden West, indicating service in the Spanish-American War, and badges indicating long and faithful service in the National Guard of this and other States, and State decorations for marksmanship, may be worn by officers and men of the National Guard entitled to them, upon the left breast, in one line on the uniform coat or service blouse, the top of the ribbons on a line with the armpit, in the order named above, from right to left. No other medals, badges, ribbons, or decoration shall be worn.

SEC. 8. Section nineteen hundred and sixty-two of the Political Code of California is hereby amended to read as follows:

1962. 1. The numerical strength, rank, titles, and insignia of rank of the companies, troops, and batteries, and their officers and men, of the National Guard and divisions of the Naval Militia shall conform to the laws, rules, and regulations of the United States Army and Navy, so far as the same may be effectively applicable; and upon changes being made in the said laws, rules, and regulations of the United States Army and Navy, the Commander-in-Chief shall cause changes to be made in rules and regulations of the National Guard and Naval Militia to correspond thereto, so far as they may be effectively applicable as aforesaid.

2. Each company, troop, battery, or division of the Naval Militia, may have not to exceed ten honorary members, who shall pay fifty dollars per annum each into the company, troop, battery, or naval division treasury, and shall thereupon be entitled to all exemptions to which those on the active list are entitled, and shall not be required to drill or perform any military duty by reason of such membership.

3. The Naval Militia shall be commanded by a captain. There shall also be the following commissioned officers, viz.: One commander, one lieutenant commander, who, in order of rank, in the absence or disability of the superior, shall perform his duties, and shall at all times assist the commanding officer in the performance of his duties; one chief engineer, with the rank of lieutenant commander, and one lieutenant. The lieutenant shall be subject to detail by the commanding officer of the Naval Militia as navigating and ordnance officer or such other proper detail as such commanding officer may desire. The above officers to be elected in the same manner and to hold office for the same term as field officers of the National Guard, and immediately upon approval of this Act an election shall be ordered for all of said officers. All elections for officers in the Naval Militia shall be ordered by the Commander-in-Chief. There may also be a chaplain, who shall be of the same grade and rank as in the United States Navy, who shall be appointed by the Commander-in-Chief upon recommendation of the commanding officer of the Naval Militia. Each division of the Naval Militia shall be commanded by a lieutenant, and shall include one lieutenant junior grade, two ensigns, and not less than fifty nor more than one hundred petty officers and seamen. The commissioned officers of each division shall be elected in the same manner and hold office for the same term as company officers of the National Guard. The lieutenant and the lieutenant junior grade of the engineer division shall each hold the grade of passed assistant engineer, and the ensigns of the engineer division shall each hold the grade of assistant engineer. All engineer officers shall be recognized engineers or machinists of at least two years standing. The officers of the pay department of the Naval Militia shall be staff officers, on the staff of the commanding officer of the Naval Militia, and consist of the following commissioned officers, viz.: One paymaster with the rank of lieutenant commander, one passed assistant paymaster with the rank of lieutenant, and there may be one assistant paymaster with the rank of ensign, all to be appointed and qualified as are other staff officers. The medical department of the Naval Militia shall be allowed the following commissioned officers, viz.: One chief surgeon with the rank of lieutenant commander, one surgeon with the rank of lieutenant, and there may be to each division of the Naval Militia one assistant surgeon with the rank of lieutenant junior grade. The appointment of the commissioned officers of the medical department of the Naval Militia shall be made by the Commander-in-Chief, upon the recommendation of the commanding officer of the Naval Militia, and no person shall receive the appointment of chief surgeon, surgeon, or assistant surgeon unless he is a licensed graduate of a medical school, and unless he shall have been examined and approved by a medical board, consisting of not less than three surgeons, designated by the Commander-in-Chief, upon the recommendation of the surgeon general. The warrant officers, chief petty officers, and petty officers of the Naval Militia shall be the same as in the United States Navy, and of such numbers as the exigencies of the service may require. Warrants for warrant officers may be issued by the Adjutant General upon the recommendation of the commanding officer of the Naval Militia. Chief petty officers and petty officers shall be appointed by the commanding officer of the Naval Militia. A band of musicians may be enlisted by the commanding officer of the Naval Militia, to consist of not less than twenty nor more than twenty-five members, to be organized and rated the same as in the United States Navy.

4. The organization of the Naval Militia shall conform generally to the provisions of the laws of the United States; and the system of discipline and exercise shall conform, as nearly as may be, to that of the Navy of the United States, as it now is, or may hereafter be, prescribed by Congress. When not otherwise provided for, the government of the Naval Militia shall be controlled by the provisions of the Political Code relating to the National Guard of California, and the Governor shall have power to alter, divide, annex, consolidate, or disband the same, whenever, in his judgment, the efficiency of the State forces will thereby be increased, and he shall have power to make such rules and regulations as may be deemed proper for the use, government, and instruction of the Naval Militia; but such rules and regulations shall conform as nearly as practicable to those governing the United States Navy.

5. The duty of the Naval Militia required by law, or any part of it, may be performed afloat in United States vessels. Officers and men of the Naval Militia mustered temporarily into the service of the United States for instruction and drill, and receiving compensation therefor from the United States, shall not, during the same term, be entitled to compensation from the State.

6. The Governor is authorized to apply to the President of the United States for the detail of commissioned and petty officers of the Navy, to act as inspectors and instructors in the art of naval warfare.

7. The Naval Militia battalion and divisions shall receive the same allowance from the State as infantry battalions and companies.

SEC. 9. A new section is hereby added to the Political Code of California, to be known and numbered as section nineteen hundred and seventy-three a, and to read as follows: 1973*a*. 1. Any officer who was upon the "retired list" of the National Guard, and entered the United States Army or Navy for service during the Spanish-American War or in the Philippine Islands, shall be again placed upon the retired list, with the same rank he had on the retired list at the time of his entry into such United States service, upon his application, after his honorable discharge from said United States service, and any officer of the National Guard, who was on the active list and entered the said United States service, may be placed upon the "retired list," after his honorable discharge from said service, with the rank held by him in the National Guard, at the time of his acceptance of a commission in the United States Army or Navy; provided, he shall have had eight years' continuous service or ten years not continuous, including both service in the National Guard and in the United States Army.

2. Any officer heretofore or hereafter honorably discharged or mustered out of the service by reason of the disbandment or consolidation of any organization, or by the provisions of any Act of the Legislature, shall be entitled to be placed upon the "retired list" upon his application therefor, with the rank held by him at the time of such discharge; provided, he shall have had five years' continuous service as an officer in the National Guard.

SEC. 10. Section nineteen hundred and eighty-one of the Political Code of California is hereby repealed.

SEC. 11. Section nineteen hundred and eighty-two of the Political Code of California is hereby amended to read as follows:

1982. A regiment of the National Guard consists of not less than eight nor more than twelve companies. Each regiment of twelve companies shall be divided into three battalions; regiments of a less number of companies than twelve, into two or three battalions, at the discretion of the Commander-in-Chief.

SEC. 12. Section nineteen hundred and eighty-three of the Political Code of California is hereby repealed.

SEC. 13. Section nineteen hundred and eighty-four of the Political Code of California is hereby amended to read as follows:

1984. The organization of a regiment, and of the battalions and companies composing the same, shall be the same as are now provided for or may hereafter be provided for by the laws and regulations governing the United States Army, and the staff of a colonel commanding a regiment shall, at all times, be the same as that of a colonel commanding a regiment in the United States Army; provided, that in addition thereto there may be appointed upon the staff of a colonel an inspector of rifle practice with the rank of first lieutenant; provided, that where there are sufficient troops of cavalry in any one brigade, but not sufficient to constitute a regiment, they may be organized by the Commander-in-Chief into a squadron, and be commanded by a major, and shall have such other officers as the Commander-in-Chief may designate; and also, if at any time there are sufficient batteries of artillery to constitute a battalion or regiment, the same may be organized in such manner and with such battalion and regimental officers as the Commander-in-Chief may direct; provided, that when a regiment is composed of less than twelve companies, the number of officers of such regiment shall be proportionately less, in the discretion of the Commander-in-Chief; and provided further, that the Commander-in-Chief may, in his discretion, at any time, reduce or increase the number of non-commissioned officers and privates.

2. No person shall be eligible for election as a field officer until he shall have served at least two years in the National Guard of this State, or in the United States military service, as a line officer.

3. All regimental or battalion staff officers shall be nominated by their respective commanders, and if such nomination be approved by the Commander-in-Chief, they shall be commissioned accordingly and shall hold office at the pleasure of the officer making the nomination, or until their successors are nominated and qualified.

SEC. 14. Section nineteen hundred and eighty-five of the Political Code of California is hereby amended to read as follows:

1985. Field officers are elected by the commissioned officers of the companies comprising a regiment or battalion; and if the regiment or battalion is already formed, by the field and company officers thereof, and they shall hold office for the term of four years. Company, troop, and battery officers are elected by the members of such organization, and shall hold office for the term of two years. Two months previous to the expiration of the term of service of any officer, or upon a vacancy occurring among the officers of any organization, the general of brigade to which the same is attached must order an election therefor and designate an officer to preside thereat, who must give ten days' notice of his appointment, of the time and place of holding the election, and of the office to be filled, which notice shall be issued and promulgated as orders usually are in the command.

SEC. 15. Section nineteen hundred and ninety of the Political Code of California is hereby repealed.

SEC. 16. Section nineteen hundred and ninety-two of the Political Code of California is hereby repealed.

SEC. 17. Section two thousand and thirty-two of the Political Code of California is hereby repealed.

SEC. 18. Section two thousand and seventy-six of the Political Code of California is hereby amended to read as follows:

2076. The following officers may appoint courts-martial:

1. The Commander-in-Chief for the trial of all officers of the National Guard and Naval Militia, of retired officers and all officers of the staff of the Commander-in-Chief.

2. The major general for the trial of all officers and enlisted men of the National Guard, except retired officers and officers of the staff of the Commander-in-Chief.

3. Brigadier generals for the trial of all officers and soldiers in their respective brigades, except field officers.

4. The commanding officers of regiments, of the Naval Militia, and of unattached battalions, for the trial of all warrant officers and enlisted men in their respective commands. For the trial of enlisted men of regiments or battalions, the commanding officer thereof may at any time appoint a summary court-martial, to consist of one officer whose rank is not below that of a captain, if in the National Guard, or if in Naval Militia that of a lieutenant. For the trial of enlisted men of unattached companies, troops, or batteries, the brigade commander may, at any time, appoint a summary court-martial, to consist of a first lieutenant.

SEC. 19. Section two thousand and seventy-seven of the Political Code of California is hereby amended to read as follows:

2077. Courts-martial appointed under the provisions of this chapter are organized in like manner, and subject to the laws, rules and regulations, and articles of war governing courts-martial in the United States Army and Navy, and have the same power and authority as such courts-martial, so far as the same may be applicable and not inconsistent with the laws of this State. They have the same power to compel the attendance of witnesses when summoned by them, to preserve order in and about the court-room during sessions, and to punish for contempt, as the judges of the superior court have under the laws of this State.

SEC. 20. Section two thousand and ninety-four of the Political Code of California is hereby amended to read as follows:

2094. There must be audited and allowed by the board of military auditors, and paid out of the appropriation for military purposes, upon the warrant of the State Controller, to the commanding officer of each infantry or artillery company of the National Guard, the sum of one hundred dollars per month; to the commanding officer of each light battery having not less than four guns, with which they regularly drill and parade, and to the commanding officer of each troop of cavalry, the sum of two hundred dollars per month; and to the commanding officer of each division of the Naval Militia the sum of one hundred dollars per month; the sum so paid to be used for armory rent, care of arms, and proper incidental expenses of the company. There must also be audited, allowed, and paid out of the same appropriation, to the commanding officer of each regiment or battalion, the sum of six dollars per month for each company in his command, for clerical expenses, stationery, printing, postage, and proper incidental expenses; and if the regiment or battalion has more than four companies, and has attached to it an organized and uniformed band of not less than twenty people, the additional sum of thirty-five dollars per month for such band; to the major general, twelve hundred dollars per annum; to the brigadier general of each brigade, five dollars per month for each company in his brigade, and to each company a sum necessary for uniforms and to keep the same in repair, not to exceed one hundred and fifty dollars per annum; and to the Adjutant General, eight thousand dollars per annum, to be expended by him in promoting rifle practice. There must be audited and allowed by the board of military auditors, and paid out of the appropriation for military purposes, to the surgeon in charge of each detachment of the sanitary corps on duty with a regiment, and to the chief surgeon of the Naval Militia, the sum of fifty dollars per month, for rent and proper incidental expenses of such detachment. Demands shall be made and presented in the same manner as for the expenses of a company of the National Guard.

SEC. 21. All Acts and parts of Acts in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

SEC. 22. This Act shall take effect immediately.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

W. H. SEAMANS, Adjutant General.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, CAL., April 12, 1901.
GENERAL ORDERS, }
No. 4. }

I. In accordance with an Act of the Legislature, approved March 23, 1901, amending Sections 1982 and 1984 of the Political Code, relating to the National Guard, the organization of the National Guard of California, where not otherwise provided for, is established as follows:

Each regiment of infantry shall consist of one colonel, one lieutenant colonel, three majors, three extra captains, to be available for detail as regimental adjutant, quartermaster, and commissary; three extra first lieutenants, to be available for detail as battalion adjutants; one inspector of rifle practice, with the rank of first lieutenant; three extra second lieutenants, to be available for detail as battalion quartermasters and commissaries; one sergeant major, one quartermaster sergeant, one commissary sergeant, three battalion sergeants major, two color sergeants, with rank of battalion sergeants major; one band, and not less than eight nor more than twelve companies, organized into three battalions; provided, that regiments of eight companies shall have but two majors, two extra first lieutenants, two extra second lieutenants, and two battalion sergeants major, and shall be organized into but two battalions.

Each infantry band shall consist of one chief musician, one principal musician, one drum major, who shall have the rank of a first sergeant, four sergeants, four corporals, and not less than nine nor more than fourteen privates.

Each infantry company shall consist of one captain, one first lieutenant, one second lieutenant, one first sergeant, one quartermaster sergeant, four sergeants, six corporals, two cooks, two musicians, one artificer, and not less than thirty nor more than fifty privates.

There may also be a chaplain for each regiment of infantry, appointed by the Commander-in-Chief, upon the recommendation of the regimental commander.

The extra captains, first lieutenants, and second lieutenants provided for, shall be appointed or nominated, and recommended to the Commander-in-Chief for commission by the regimental commander; the appointment of battalion adjutants, and battalion quartermasters and commissaries will be made by the regimental commander upon the recommendation of the battalion commanders. In addition to detail as regimental and battalion staff officers, the extra officers provided for shall be available for such other details as may be authorized by law and regulations.

All regimental officers are line officers, except inspectors of rifle practice and chaplains, who shall be classed as staff officers.

Each regiment of infantry, for the purpose of drill and instruction, will be organized into three battalions, designated, respectively, first battalion, second battalion, and third battalion; provided, that regiments of eight companies will be organized into but two battalions.

Companies will, as soon as practicable, be permanently assigned to battalions by the regimental commander, who will also designate the field officer, battalion staff, and sergeant major of each battalion. Companies will be assigned to battalions with reference to location and means of concentration; provided, that where possible, companies will be assigned to battalions in the order of their letter designations, as provided in the U. S. Army.

The regimental commander will appoint the non-commissioned staff of the regiment, which consists of the sergeant major, quartermaster sergeant, commissary sergeant, two or three battalion sergeants major, according to the number of battalions, and two color sergeants; the appointment of battalion sergeants major will be made upon the recommendation of the battalion commanders.

The non-commissioned officers of the band will be appointed by the regimental commander, upon the recommendation of the regimental adjutant.

Company quartermaster sergeants, sergeants, and corporals of companies will be appointed by the regimental commander, upon the recommendation of the company commander.

The first sergeant will be selected and appointed from the sergeants of his company by the company commander, said appointment to be approved by the regimental commander, and announced in orders. Musicians, artificers, and cooks will be appointed by the company commander.

Each troop of cavalry shall consist of one captain, one first lieutenant, one second lieutenant, one first sergeant, one quartermaster sergeant, six sergeants, six corporals, two cooks, two farriers and blacksmiths, one saddler, one wagoner, two trumpeters, and not less than twenty-five nor more than fifty privates.

Troop quartermaster sergeants, sergeants, and corporals of troops of cavalry will be appointed by the commanding officer of the brigade to which the troop is attached, upon the recommendation of the troop commander.

The first sergeant will be selected and appointed from the sergeants of his troop by the troop commander, said appointment to be approved by the brigade commander, and announced in orders. Cooks, farriers and blacksmiths, saddlers, wagoners, and trumpeters will be appointed by the troop commander.

All regimental staff officers, except inspectors of rifle practice and chaplains, will be re commissioned, and will be reappointed or nominated by the various regimental commanders as captains or first lieutenants of such regiment; vacancies remaining or created by the Act of March 23, 1901, will be filled as soon as practicable. Officers re commissioned in same grade will not be required to be examined; those commissioned in a higher grade will take the prescribed examination.

The necessary changes to make the non-commissioned officers and enlisted force correspond to the provisions of this order will be made by the various commanding officers as soon as practicable.

II. Paragraph 49, Rules and Regulations for the National Guard of California, is hereby amended to read as follows:

49. Before any commanding officer, or any officer under bond, shall be relieved from responsibility for any money or property of the State or United States, he will be required to take duplicate receipts from his successor in command or office, and forward one copy through military channels to the Adjutant General's office. He will also prepare a statement in duplicate of his receipts and disbursements of State money since his last account current was rendered; also, a statement of headquarters', company, or organization funds on hand, other than State money, for which he is responsible; also, a statement of all the outstanding indebtedness of the headquarters, company, or organization. These statements will be sworn to as full, true, and correct before a notary public or an officer of the Guard of the rank of a field officer, or above; and one copy will be delivered to his successor in command, or office, and the other forwarded with the receipt for property.

Upon the reception of these receipts and statements, if satisfactory, the Adjutant General shall note the same upon the bond given by the said officer, and notify that officer that his account is settled. Such settlement, however, will not act as a bar to any proceedings against said officer, under his bond, for misappropriation of money or property of the State, or of the United States, that may have occurred previous to the date of said settlement.

Upon receipt at the Adjutant General's office of the resignation or application to be retired of an officer responsible for property, and the approval of the same, an order will be issued relieving him of command, or duty, and designating an officer to assume command, receipt for the property, and execute a bond for the same; provided, that the command and property will not be transferred until the officer designated has delivered the receipts and bond to the officer relieved, who will forward one of the receipts, and the bond, together with his financial statements, herein provided for, through channels to the Adjutant General's office; provided also, that the officer relieved shall not transfer any money to his successor until expressly directed to do so by the Adjutant General. The receipts, statements, and bond being satisfactory, the resignation will be accepted or the officer placed on the Retired List.

The same procedure will be had when a commanding officer is commissioned in a higher grade; he will make the financial statements provided for herein, the next officer in rank will assume command by virtue of his commission, execute receipts and bond, and deliver same to the officer promoted, and all of said papers will be forwarded by such officer with his qualification in his new office.

An officer responsible for property applying for leave of absence, will accompany said application with a memorandum receipt for said property from the officer to be left in charge, and on his return to duty will execute and file a like receipt.

III. In accordance with an Act of the Legislature, approved March 23, 1901, amending Sections 1912 and 1962 of the Political Code, and providing for the reorganization of the Naval Militia, that organization is hereby segregated from the National Guard organization, and will hereafter be known and designated as the Naval Militia of California.

The Naval Militia will hereafter be under the direct orders of the Commander-in-Chief, and the commanding officer of that organization will immediately upon the receipt of this order report in writing direct to these Headquarters. (Approved April 1, 1901.)

IV. A board of officers to control and apportion the expense for the maintenance of the U. S. S. "Marion," as a training ship for the Naval Militia of the State of California, is hereby established, to consist of the commanding officer of the Naval Militia, who shall be chairman of the board, and the commanding officers of the several divisions of the Naval Militia having quarters on board of that ship.

The expenses not otherwise provided for for the maintenance of the U. S. S. "Marion" as a training ship for the Naval Militia shall be paid out of the allowances provided by law for the headquarters and for the several divisions of the Naval Militia having quarters on board of said ship.

Such expenses shall be incurred and apportioned only on the advice and consent of the board of officers herein provided for, unless otherwise ordered by the Commander-in-Chief.

The expenses so incurred shall be equitably apportioned by the said board to the headquarters and to the several divisions having their quarters on said ship, and the amounts so apportioned shall be promptly paid to the senior officer of the pay department on duty with the ship, who shall disburse the same in accordance with the directions of the board.

The officer of the pay department receiving and disbursing such funds shall give a bond for the faithful performance of his duty, in the sum of two thousand (2,000) dollars, to be approved by the Adjutant General, and he shall make a quarterly report to the Adjutant General, under oath, of his receipts and disbursements, accompanied by vouchers.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

W. H. SEAMANS, Adjutant General.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
GENERAL ORDERS, } ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, CAL., April 19, 1901.
No. 5 }

I. Commissions have been issued to the following-named officers, National Guard of California, since the date of General Orders No. 2, c. s., A. G. O., viz.:

Staff of Commander-in-Chief.

Thomas Wilhelm, to be Colonel and Inspector General of Rifle Practice, with rank from April 1, 1901; vice Burgin, retired.

Second Brigade Staff.

Henry E. Curzon, to be Major and Inspector of Rifle Practice, with rank from January 24, 1901; vice Partridge, retired.

Sanitary Corps.

William J. Hanna, to be Major and Surgeon, with rank from December 2, 1900; vice Atkinson, resigned.

James H. Barr, to be Captain and Assistant Surgeon, with rank from July 6, 1900; vice Tooley, resigned.

Halleck H. Look, to be Captain and Assistant Surgeon, with rank from December 2, 1900; vice Hanna, promoted.

Alexander S. Keenan, to be Captain and Assistant Surgeon, with rank from November 26, 1900; vice O'Brien, honorably discharged.

A commission has been issued to the following named officer of the Naval Militia of California since the date of General Orders No. 2, c. s., A. G. O., viz.:

John M. Corcoran, to be Ensign Second Division, with rank from March 5, 1901; vice Burke, term expired.

II. William J. Hanna having been commissioned Major and Surgeon, Sanitary Corps, is hereby assigned to duty on the staff of the Colonel of the Second Infantry as Surgeon of said regiment; vice Atkinson, resigned.

James H. Barr having been commissioned Captain and Assistant Surgeon, Sanitary Corps, is hereby assigned to duty on the staff of the Colonel of the Second Infantry as Assistant Surgeon of said regiment; vice Tooley, resigned.

Halleck H. Look having been commissioned Captain and Assistant Surgeon, Sanitary Corps, is hereby assigned to duty on the staff of the Colonel of the Second Infantry as Assistant Surgeon of said regiment; vice Hanna, promoted.

Alexander S. Keenan having been commissioned Captain and Assistant Surgeon, Sanitary Corps, is hereby assigned to duty on the staff of the Colonel of the First Infantry as Assistant Surgeon of said regiment; vice O'Brien, honorably discharged.

III. In accordance with the action of the Board of Location and Organization of the National Guard, at a meeting held April 18, 1901, directing a reorganization of the First Regiment of Infantry into a regiment of eight companies, the transfer of Companies C, F, G, and K of said regiment to batteries of coast artillery, and the organization of the same into the "First Battalion of Artillery," said companies are hereby detached from the First Regiment of Infantry, and will hereafter be known and designated as follows:

- Company F to be Battery A, First Battalion of Artillery;
- Company G to be Battery B, First Battalion of Artillery;
- Company C to be Battery C, First Battalion of Artillery;
- Company K to be Battery D, First Battalion of Artillery.

The individual batteries of the First Battalion of Artillery shall be organized as batteries of coast artillery.

Company I, First Regiment of Infantry, will hereafter be known and designated as Company C, First Regiment of Infantry; Company L, First Regiment of Infantry, will hereafter be known and designated as Company F, First Regiment of Infantry; Company M, First Regiment of Infantry, will hereafter be known and designated as Company G, First Regiment of Infantry.

Major William R. Robertson and First Lieutenant Henry F. McGurren, Battalion Adjutant, First Regiment of Infantry, are hereby relieved from duty with the regiment, and will report direct to the commanding officer of the Second Brigade, awaiting orders.

In addition to his present duties, Captain Thomas J. Cunningham will assume command of the First Battalion of Artillery, and detail the necessary staff and non-commissioned staff; he will report to these headquarters, through headquarters of Second Brigade, immediately on receipt of these orders. All officers will act under their present commissions until recommissioned in the artillery, and the commanding officer of the Second Brigade will immediately order an election for major of the battalion.

All expenses incurred by reason of the change of equipment, insignia, chevrons, and stripes, or other requirements, made necessary by the transfer of these four companies of the First Infantry to the artillery branch of the service, are to be borne by said companies, and no expense will be charged to the State on account of said transfer.

IV. In accordance with Section 1984, Political Code, as amended March 23, 1901, providing for the organization of a battalion of artillery, the organization of the First Battalion of Artillery is established as follows:

The battalion shall consist of one major, three extra first lieutenants, to be available for detail as battalion adjutant, quartermaster, and commissary, or such other details as may be authorized by law and regulations; one battalion sergeant major, one battalion quartermaster sergeant, who shall rank next after the battalion sergeant major; one battalion commissary sergeant, who shall rank next after the battalion quartermaster sergeant; one electrician sergeant, who shall rank next after the battalion commissary sergeant; two color sergeants, who shall have the rank of first sergeants, and four batteries.

Each battery shall consist of one captain, one first lieutenant, one second lieutenant, one first sergeant, one quartermaster sergeant, six sergeants, eight corporals, two musicians, two mechanics, two cooks, and not less than thirty five nor more than seventy-eight privates; provided, that when the total strength of any battery is seventy-five or more, there may be seven sergeants and ten corporals, and when the total strength of any battery is ninety or more, there may be eight sergeants and twelve corporals; but the maximum strength of one hundred and three will not be exceeded.

The extra first lieutenants provided for are line officers, and shall be appointed or nominated, and recommended to the Commander-in-Chief for commission by the battalion commander.

The battalion commander will appoint the non-commissioned staff of the battalion. Battery quartermaster sergeants, sergeants, and corporals will be appointed by the battalion commander, upon the recommendation of the battery commander.

The first sergeant will be selected and appointed from the sergeants of his battery by the battery commander, said appointment to be approved by the battalion commander and announced in orders. Musicians, mechanics, and cooks will be appointed by the battery commander.

The necessary changes to make the non-commissioned officers and enlisted force correspond to the provisions of this order will be made by the various commanding officers as soon as practicable.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

W. H. SEAMANS, Adjutant General.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
GENERAL ORDERS, } ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, CAL., April 30, 1901.
No. 6. }

I. The following firing regulations for small arms, having been adopted by the officers designated in Section 2031, Political Code, will hereafter govern the small arms target practice in the National Guard of California and the Naval Militia of California:

FIRING REGULATIONS FOR SMALL ARMS.

1. The firing regulations for small arms governing the U. S. Army will govern target practice, except where provided otherwise by these regulations.

2. The provisions of the Army regulations relating to skirmish firing, company volley firing, practice at disappearing and moving targets, and field practice, will not be held to apply at the present time; and until such time as it may be possible to comply with them, skirmish firing will be held under such special regulations as may be from time to time adopted.

3. Those directions in the Army regulations which apply solely to the U. S. magazine rifle or carbine will not be held to apply; where such directions occur, the provisions of "Blunt's Small Arms Firing Regulations" relating to Springfield rifle or carbine, caliber .45, will govern.

4. The practice season shall be at such time and of such duration in each year as the Commander-in-Chief may designate.

5. General, division, brigade, regimental, and unattached battalion commanders will keep a complete record of all target practice of their respective headquarters. The commanding officer of each company, troop, battery, signal corps, and naval militia division shall keep a complete record of all target practice held in his command. Two copies of a report of the record practice held in each year shall be made by the commanding officer, on blank forms furnished by the Adjutant General. Separate reports will be made of skirmish firing in like manner. The Inspector of Rifle Practice shall carefully examine and certify to the correctness of these reports, and within five days after the completion of the last practice, forward to the Inspector General of Rifle Practice, through military channels, one copy of such report, and return the second copy to the commanding officer making report. These reports must be forwarded so as to reach the Inspector General of Rifle Practice within twenty-five days after completion of practice, and intermediate headquarters will indorse thereon the time of receipt and forwarding. The Inspector General of Rifle Practice shall, within twenty days after his receipt of same, forward all reports to the Adjutant General, together with his report, as prescribed in Section 2008 of the Political Code.

6. The small arms target practice of the Naval Militia will be inspected by officers designated for that purpose, and will be under the general supervision of the Inspector General of Rifle Practice.

7. No arms except those issued by the State shall be used at any regularly authorized practice. All ammunition shall either be furnished by the State, or shall be of such a standard as may be designated.

Officers of companies, troops, batteries, signal corps, and divisions will practice with the arm of their commands. General, field, and staff officers will practice with revolvers. Non-commissioned staff officers and band musicians may practice with either rifle or revolver, at the discretion of their commanding officer.

8. Each officer and enlisted man firing with the rifle will be allowed annually 65 rounds of ammunition, and the same will be fired as follows:

At rectangular targets:

- One score of 5 shots at each of the 200, 300, and 500 yard ranges, at first practice.
- One score of 5 shots at each of the 200, 300, and 500 yard ranges, at second practice.
- One score of 5 shots at each of the 200, 300, and 500 yard ranges, at third practice.

The positions for firing at each practice shall be as follows:

- Two hundred yards—3 shots standing; 2 shots kneeling or sitting.
- Three hundred yards—2 shots kneeling or sitting; 3 shots prone.
- Five hundred yards—5 shots prone.

The above number of shots, fired as designated, will constitute the record practice.

At skirmish targets:

A total of 20 shots in the manner designated, for the purpose of instruction.

9. Each officer and enlisted man firing with the revolver will be allowed annually 40 rounds of ammunition, and the same will be fired as follows:

One score of 10 shots at each of four practices at the 50-yard range, which will constitute the record practice. Mounted practice for cavalry will not be required.

10. The classification for those firing with the rifle shall be as follows:

A "distinguished marksman" is one who makes a total annual score at the three ranges of 192.

A "sharpshooter" is one who makes a total annual score at the three ranges of 180.

A "rifleman" is one who makes a total annual score at the three ranges of 142.

A "marksman" is one who makes a total annual score at the three ranges of 112.

11. The classification for those firing with the revolver shall be as follows:

A "first class man" is one who in firing the prescribed number of shots makes 90 per cent of the possible aggregate score.

A "second class man" is one who in firing the prescribed number of shots makes 80 per cent of the possible aggregate score.

A "third class man" is one who in firing the prescribed number of shots makes 70 per cent of the possible aggregate score.

A "fourth class man" is one who in firing the prescribed number of shots makes 60 per cent of the possible aggregate score.

12. Medals and bars for various classes will be awarded as follows:

Rifle.

Distinguished marksman: Medal with gold bar.

Sharpshooter: Medal with silver bar.

Rifleman: Medal with bronze bar.

Revolver.

First class: Medal with gold bar.

Second class: Medal with silver bar.

Third class: Medal with bronze bar.

After the first qualification a bar only will be awarded.

13. The names of those who have attended sixty per cent of the drills for the year ending on the last day of the month preceding the one in which the last practice is held, and who have qualified in any of the classifications, will be announced in orders from General Headquarters.

14. Those qualifying as "distinguished marksmen" with the rifle, or "first class men" with the revolver, will be entitled to compete for the State championship, which shall be decided under such regulations as the Commander-in-Chief may prescribe. Suitable medals will be provided for each year's contest.

II. The firing regulations adopted in G. O. No. 14, A. G. O., November 30, 1896, and all amendments thereto, are rescinded.

III. The target practice season, as heretofore announced in G. O. No. 1, c. s., A. G. O., will open May 1, 1901, and close December 31, 1901.

The commanding officers of regiments and independent battalions will make arrangements as to the days upon which the record practice of their commands will be held, and detail officers to inspect same when a regular Inspector of Rifle Practice can not be present.

Brigade commanders will make similar arrangements for the cavalry and signal corps in their commands.

The provisions of Paragraphs IV, V, VI, and VII of G. O. No. 4, series of 1900, A. G. O., will apply to the target practice for the year 1901.

IV. Ammunition for record practice will be issued by the Chief of Ordnance. Rifle ammunition will contain 70 grains of black powder and 405 grains of lead. Revolver ammunition will be Colt's revolver cartridges, caliber .38 long.

V. The targets recently issued will not be invoiced to officers receiving them, but will be taken up and accounted for on quarterly property returns.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

W. H. SEAMANS, Adjutant General.

IV. It is with deep regret that the Commander-in-Chief announces the death of Brigadier General Josiah Howell, N. G. C., retired, which occurred in San Francisco, April 29, 1901.

He was commissioned Brigadier General, with rank from July 25, 1864, and commanded the Fourth Brigade from that time until November 30, 1874, when he resigned. He was placed on the "retired list" September 8, 1897, under the provisions of an Act of the Legislature approved April 1, 1897. He rendered the State long and valuable service.

V. In accordance with Paragraph VI, G. O. No. 11, series of 1900, A. G. O., the names of the following commanding officers whose returns or demands were not received at these Headquarters within twenty-one days after the expiration of the time for which the same were made, are announced:

Monthly Returns for March.

Captain George E. Lawrence, Signal Corps, First Brigade.
 Captain John D. Fredericks, Troop D, Cavalry.
 Captain Fred M. Miller, Company I, Second Infantry.
 Captain George R. Andrews, Company F, Sixth Infantry.
 Captain John M. Smith, Company B, Seventh Infantry.
 Captain Truman Cole, Company C, Seventh Infantry.
 Captain Frank L. Reynolds, Company F, Seventh Infantry.
 Captain George H. Magill, Company H, Seventh Infantry.
 Captain O. P. Sloat, Company K, Seventh Infantry.
 Captain H. E. Mitchell, Company M, Seventh Infantry.

Returns of Property for Quarter ending March 31, 1901.

Captain George E. Lawrence, Signal Corps, First Brigade.
 First Lieutenant F. W. Winham, Troop C, Cavalry.
 Captain John D. Fredericks, Troop D, Cavalry.
 Captain Francis Warren, Company H, First Infantry.
 Captain Fred M. Miller, Company I, Second Infantry.
 Captain D. W. Morris, Company D, Sixth Infantry.
 Captain A. W. Bradbury, Company A, Seventh Infantry.
 Captain John M. Smith, Company B, Seventh Infantry.
 Captain Truman Cole, Company C, Seventh Infantry.
 Captain John F. Ahlborn, Company E, Seventh Infantry.
 Captain Frank L. Reynolds, Company F, Seventh Infantry.
 Captain H. E. Higbey, Company G, Seventh Infantry.
 Captain George H. Magill, Company H, Seventh Infantry.
 Captain P. A. Collins, Company I, Seventh Infantry.
 Captain O. P. Sloat, Company K, Seventh Infantry.
 Captain H. E. Mitchell, Company M, Seventh Infantry.

Demands for Quarter ending March 31, 1901.

Captain George E. Lawrence, Signal Corps, First Brigade.
 First Lieutenant F. W. Winham, Troop C, Cavalry.
 Captain John D. Fredericks, Troop D, Cavalry.
 Captain James H. Jordan, Company E, First Infantry.
 Captain Francis Warren, Company H, First Infantry.
 Captain Fred M. Miller, Company I, Second Infantry.
 Captain D. W. Morris, Company D, Sixth Infantry.
 Captain A. W. Bradbury, Company A, Seventh Infantry.
 Captain John M. Smith, Company B, Seventh Infantry.
 Captain Truman Cole, Company C, Seventh Infantry.
 Captain John F. Ahlborn, Company E, Seventh Infantry.
 Captain Frank L. Reynolds, Company F, Seventh Infantry.
 Captain H. E. Higbey, Company G, Seventh Infantry.
 Captain George H. Magill, Company H, Seventh Infantry.
 Captain P. A. Collins, Company I, Seventh Infantry.
 Captain O. P. Sloat, Company K, Seventh Infantry.
 Captain H. E. Mitchell, Company M, Seventh Infantry.

The delay in the receipt of returns and demands from the organizations of the First Brigade was evidently caused largely by delay at brigade headquarters, according to the office marks on the papers, with the exception of those from the commanding officers of Companies C, F, and K, Seventh Infantry, in which cases the fault clearly lies with the company commanders.

VI. Colonel N. S. Bangham, Assistant Adjutant General of California, and Colonel Thomas Wilhelm, Inspector General of Rifle Practice, are appointed members of the Uniform Board, N. G. C., vice Colonel A. D. Cutler and Lieutenant Colonel J. G. Geisting, relieved. (Approved May 4, 1901.)

By order of the Commander-in-Chief

W. H. SEAMANS, Adjutant General.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
GENERAL ORDERS, {
No. 8. }

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, CAL., May 29, 1901.

I. The following Manual of Tent Pitching, prepared by a board of officers of the U. S. Army, consisting of Major Wirt Davis, Fifth Cavalry; Captain George H. Paddock, Fifth Cavalry; Captain Calvin D. Cowles, Twenty-third Infantry; Captain William B. Wheeler, Eighteenth Infantry; and Captain Charles McClure, Eighteenth Infantry, with First Lieutenant Everard E. Hatch, Eighteenth Infantry, as recorder; and extensively used in the Army, is authorized to be used in the National Guard of California, and all canvas drills will hereafter be conducted in accordance therewith:

MANUAL OF TENT PITCHING.

1. The interval between front poles of common tents, in line, is six paces; of wall tents, eight paces, and between doors of conical wall tents, ten paces. Between the front poles of a common and a wall tent, seven paces, and from front pole of rectangular tent to the door of an adjacent conical wall tent, eight paces plus half the width of the rectangular tent. These intervals may be varied to suit circumstances.

2. If ground permits, a temporary color line may be established between line of officers' tents and flank of column. (For position of color line, see Drill Regulations and Manual of Guard Duty.)

3. In order that all the tents may be pitched promptly, their positions should be marked as soon as the lines of the company streets are established. This is done by stepping off from the point marked by the guide on the flank nearest the officers' tents the intervals, noted above, corresponding to the tents used, and marking same with bayonets, pins, or otherwise; the points thus found determining the positions of the front poles of rectangular tents, and the centers of the doors of conical wall tents. (For directions as to laying out camp, see Drill Regulations.)

4. When the baggage wagons arrive, the men fall in and the major commands (or captains, if so directed):

Pitch Tent.

At this command, as many squads of four men each as there are tents to be pitched, under non-commissioned officers, will procure the tents, poles, pins, and mauls or axes, and pitch the tents.

The first sergeant's tent will be pitched on the flank toward the line of officers' tents.

If different kinds of tents are pitched together, their fronts should be accurately aligned on the company street.

5. To pitch common, wall, or hospital tent:

Spread the tent out on the ground which it is to occupy when pitched, insert the ridge and upright poles, slip the pins of uprights through the ridge pole and tent. The fly, if used, is now placed in position over tent and the loops of the long guys (for hospital tent) over the front and rear pole pins. Drive a small pin at the point designated for the front pole of the tent, over which slip the door loops; one man then goes to each corner, all draw bottom of tent taut and square, the front on the line of company street or other designated line, and fasten it with pins through the corner loops; then stepping outward on the prolongation of the diagonal of the tent one and a half paces for common, two for wall, and two and a half for hospital tents, each securely sets a long pin (short one for common tents), over which is passed the extended corner guy rope. Two men now go to each upright pole and raise the tent to a convenient height from the ground. One man then quits each pole, both enter the tent and re seize the poles, all together raise the tent until the upright poles are vertical. One man then supports each pole, while the other two tighten the corner guys, beginning on the windward side. The tent being thus temporarily secured, all set the guy pins and fasten guy ropes and set the wall pins. The guy pins should be inclined slightly toward the tent, the wall pins slightly from the tent; the interior pins, guy and wall, on a line with the corresponding pins at the corners. If desired, all pins may be driven before the tent is raised.

6. To pitch conical wall tent:

The position of the front door having been established, drive two pins two feet apart, to mark same; then measure with the tent pole from the middle point between these pins directly backward, the far end of the pole determining the center of the tent, which is also marked with a pin. The tripod, opened out flat, is placed with ring over the center pin, and the pole is laid on the ground, pin end at the center pin. All now bring the canvas over the tripod till its center comes to the center pin and door at the front pins, over which the wall loop at each side of door is slipped and the tent spread out over its position. The guy pins are then driven about two paces from the edge of the tent, each on a line with a seam, and the guy ropes placed over them. When the pins are set, one man creeps under the canvas, slightly raises the tent, and places the pin of the pole through the plate attached to the chains at the top of the tent, and, raising the pole, sets it in the ring of the tripod. The hood is placed from the outside over the pole pin by one of the men, who then enters the tent by creeping under and assists in raising the tripod, which being done the guys are tightened, the wall pins driven, the hood guys fastened, and the tent straightened. The guy pins should be inclined slightly toward the tent, the wall pins slightly from the tent.

7. To strike a common, wall, hospital, or conical tent:

At the command: 1. Strike Tent, 2. Down (or last note of The General), the men first remove the wall pins and all the guy pins except the four corner pins of the square tents and the quadrant pins of the conical wall tents. Each man then removes a guy from the pins, and holds the tent until the last note of The General is sounded, or the command down is given, when the tent is lowered to the indicated side. A good general rule would be to have the tents always fall to the right throughout the camp, unless otherwise ordered.

The canvas is then rolled up and tied; the poles, or tripod and pole, fastened together; and the pins collected.

TO PITCH AND STRIKE SHELTER TENTS.

School of the Company.

8. Movements that may be executed toward either flank are explained as toward but one flank, it being necessary to substitute the word "left" for "right," or the reverse, to have the command and explanation of the corresponding movement toward the other flank.

9. Being in line at a halt, arms at the order and knapsacks slung: 1. Stack, 2. ARMS. Dress the line back three paces in the rear of the line of stacks, order file-closers to cover the guides, and fill all vacancies in the rear rank.

1. To the right (or left) take shelter tent intervals, 2. MARCH (or double time march), 3. FRONT.

The rear rank does not fall back. The left guide stands fast, all other men face to the right and move off at the command march. Intervals are taken on a single line, the rear rank men passing beyond and placing themselves on the right of their front rank men. Intervals are obtained by clasping hands and extending the arms horizontally to their full length, when the men have approximately gained their intervals. All dress to the left toward the point of rest, and at the command front, drop their hands by their sides.

Mark ALIGNMENT.

At this command, each front rank man sticks his bayonet, back to the rear, in the ground touching his heels in the angle made by his feet, to mark the point for the front pole of the tent.

Pitch TENT.

At this command, knapsacks are unslung and each front and rear rank man pitch a tent together, as follows: The shelter halves are buttoned together. Each front rank man inserts his pole in the tent and holds the pole vertically at the point marked by the bayonet. The rear rank men pin down the front corners of the tent on the established line, stretching the canvas taut, and set the front guy pin a pole's length in front of the pole and attach the guy rope. Both go to the rear, put up the rear pole, square the tent and fasten it in rear as in front, stretching the back of the tent by driving the rear center pin well to the rear, after which the remaining pins are driven; they then place their knapsacks against the front corner pins, flap up, top to front, knapsack resting on the roll, if any, and stand at attention one pace in front of their tents, each opposite his own half, aligning to the left.

The tent should be accurately aligned toward the point of rest.

10. 1. Strike TENT, 2. Down (or last note of The General).

At the first command, the rear rank men will go to the rear of the tents, all the pins will be removed, the front rank men holding the front poles, the rear rank men the rear poles; at the command down, all of the tents are lowered to the right, unless otherwise ordered, rolled up neatly with pins inside, either with or without the overcoat, and strapped on top of the knapsack, the latter being placed at the feet as in unslung knapsack, and each man stands at attention, aligning toward the point of rest. The poles should be inserted in the knapsack, on each side, so as to be in a vertical position when on the back, metal ends down, to prevent injury to rifles.

1. Sling, 2. KNAPSACK.

1. To the right (or left) assemble, 2. MARCH (or double time march). The guide, or in his absence the right front rank man, stands fast, the other men close to their proper places.

11. To pitch tents in two lines facing each other on opposite sides of company street: Stack arms; form column of platoons, in rear at the desired distance, flank of column parallel to the line of stacks. The captain directs platoon commanders to establish their platoons opposite their respective flanks of the stacks, and then commands: 1. To the right (or left) take shelter tent intervals, first platoon faced to the rear, 2. MARCH. At the command march, the second platoon takes intervals as already explained. The left guide of the first platoon faces to the rear and stands fast. All the other men of the first platoon face to the right, and take intervals as already explained, except they face to the rear on arriving on the line. All take intervals from and dress toward the point of rest. Before the company is assembled, the platoon which faced to the rear should be faced about.

School of the Battalion.

12. To pitch shelter tents: Being in line at a halt, the major commands: 1. Stack, 2. ARMS. (For color line;) moves the battalion back to clear the stacks; wheels it about by fours, and halts it at the desired distance from the line of stacks; forms column of platoons or companies to the right (or left). The battalion may be faced about, marched to the rear, faced about and broken into column by right or left of companies rear into column, or by executing fours right or left companies or platoons column right or left, and then forming column of companies or platoons.

1. To the right (or left) take shelter tent intervals, 2. MARCH (or double time march). Platoon or company commanders will command front as soon as their subdivisions are dressed. The major then commands: Mark ALIGNMENT. After which, Pitch TENT. Tents will be pitched as in the school of the company.

Commanders of subdivisions will repeat the major's commands and see that they are promptly executed.

Stacks may be made in column of platoons or companies and shelter tent intervals taken as already explained, each subdivision falling back three paces to clear the stacks.

Before taking intervals in column, the guides who are to stand fast should cover.

If desired to have the tents in two lines on opposite sides of the company streets, facing each other, it may be done by the same commands and means as in the school of the company.

13. If it is desired to encamp the battalion in line of battle, it should be formed in line of platoon columns before taking shelter tent intervals.

TO PITCH SHELTER TENTS FOR CAVALRY.

School of the Troop.

14. The troop being in line mounted, the troop commander gives the prescribed commands for dismounting, and, without forming rank, the horses are unsaddled by the proper command and the saddle of each trooper is placed on the ground about one yard in front of the horse's head. The arms, equipments, and blankets are placed on the saddles, as prescribed in Cavalry Drill Regulations. The horses are then led forward and tied (the picket line having been stretched about fifteen yards in front of the troop in line). At the command, Tie to the line, the odd numbers move straight to front, cross the picket line, turn the horses to the left about, and tie on the line at intervals of about two yards, just opposite their saddles. The even numbers follow and tie between the odd numbers on the near side of the picket line just opposite their saddles. The even numbers place their saddles on the line of the saddles of the odd numbers; and all stand in rear of their saddles.

15. The captain then commands: 1. Procure shelter tents and take shelter tent intervals, 2. MARCH.

At the command march, the men open their blanket rolls, procure their shelter halves, poles, and pins, and, moving to the rear, take their places, with intervals of about two paces on the original line of the troop, about fifteen yards in rear of the picket line, all dressing toward the guidon, verifying intervals from him by clasping the hands of the men on their right and left, extending their arms horizontally to their full extent. At the command front, all drop their hands by their sides. Before clasping hands, each man drops his shelter half at his feet. The first sergeant takes his place between the guidon and the man next him, all other file-closers on the flank opposite the guidon. All note their numbers, whether even or odd.

The captain commands: Mark ALIGNMENT.

At this command, the even-numbered men stand fast, the odd-numbered men mark with a pin the point of the angle made by the feet of the even-numbered men.

The captain then commands: Pitch TENT.

At this command, the first sergeant and guidon, and each number one and two, and each three and four, pitch a tent together, as explained for infantry.

Tents are struck as for infantry. Each trooper takes his own shelter half, poles, and pins, makes his blanket roll, and packs his saddle.

16. If desired by the commanding officer, owing to the nature and extent of the ground, the tents may be pitched by the foregoing method in two parallel lines by dividing the troop into two parts as nearly equal as practicable, one part forming in rear of the other at about five yards, or other desired distance, so that the parallel line, fifteen yards from the picket line, is midway between the rear of front line and front of rear line of tents.

17. The following method of pitching shelter tents for cavalry may also be used at the discretion of the commanding officer:

The troop being in line mounted is dismounted, the horses are unsaddled and tied to the line, as already explained. The men then return, each standing just in rear of his own saddle, which he aligns at once toward the guidon. The guidon verifies the alignment of the odd numbers, and the first sergeant that of the even numbers, each commanding front upon completion of the alignment.

At the command Pitch Tent, the men procure their shelter halves, numbers one and two approach three and four, respectively, and button their halves together, the pomels of the saddles of numbers three of the front line and of numbers four of the rear line determining the position of the front poles of the tents. The tents are pitched as prescribed for infantry. The men then stand at attention one pace in front of their own saddles, which are not removed unless otherwise ordered, all aligning themselves toward the guidon.

The first sergeant and guidon pitch their tent together in line with the odd numbers in front line. File closers and odd files pitch their tents on the opposite flank.

At the command : 1. Strike Tent, 2. Down (or the last note of The General), tents are struck as for infantry ; the blanket rolls are then made and the saddles packed.

School of the Squadron.

18. Intervals are taken and tents pitched by the same commands and means as in the school of the troop.

II. The following definitions of the terms "light marching order" and "heavy marching order" for infantry, are announced :

LIGHT MARCHING ORDER.—Clothing: Uniform trousers, blue shirt, leggings, campaign hat, shoes, socks, drawers, undershirt. The blouse may be worn instead of the blue shirt, or with it, if necessary. Officers usually wear blouse. If desired for parade, inspection, or other ceremony, commanding officers may authorize white shirts, collars, and gloves to be worn.

Equipment: Rifle, cartridge belt, ammunition, bayonet scabbard, haversack, canteen, meat can, tin cup, knife, fork, spoon. Instead of rifle, officers wear sword, revolver, and holster.

HEAVY MARCHING ORDER.—Clothing: Same as light marching order, with blouse and overcoat in addition ; also, extra pair of shoes, socks, drawers, and undershirt.

Equipment: Same as light marching order, with blanket bag, blanket, shelter tent half, poles, pins, and guy rope, in addition. Officers rarely, if ever, use blanket bag. If the blanket roll is used, the blanket bag is discarded.

III. The following method of wearing equipment is authorized and prescribed :

The haversack is put on first, straps being worn over left shoulder, the haversack on right side, somewhat to rear, and sufficiently below the belt to make marching easy.

The canteen strap is put on next, the strap over right shoulder, the canteen below belt on left side, somewhat to rear.

The cartridge or sword belt is worn over all these straps, except the rear strap of canteen.

The blanket bag is then put on. This is packed to keep its rectangular form, so that a part of every article in it can be seen when opened, the top presenting a neat, rectangular, and even appearance. The blanket is seen along the front and rear edges of the bag, the other articles between, the toes or heels of the shoes showing.

The overcoat is rolled in a neat, compact roll as long as bag is wide, usually and preferably in shelter tent half, and strapped on top of blanket bag, the unused end of straps being coiled into rolls on top of overcoat.

The shelter tent poles are placed vertically on each side of the bag, projecting out of it, metal ends down.

The cup is hung on the back canteen strap, down against the canteen, so that the mouth of the cup will fall against the back, or it may be hung on strap below blanket bag. The mess kit is in haversack.

In case the blanket roll is used, it is slung over left shoulder and under right arm. The articles usually carried in blanket bag are placed in roll.

The triangular part of shelter tent half is folded in ; the blanket is then placed on half, and other articles placed on blanket, so that no poles or pins will fall in bend. The articles are rolled, by two or three men if possible, into the tightest possible roll, commencing along longest side of rectangle. The ends are then brought together and tied by guy rope of shelter tent.

The poncho may be worn in light or heavy marching order. When in the former, it may be made into a roll by itself and worn over the shoulder, same as the roll in heavy marching order, or it may be folded and hung over the cartridge belt. In heavy marching order, it is outside the shelter tent half, rubber side in.

IV. This department is indebted to Captain B. C. Morse, Seventeenth Infantry, Aid on the staff of Major General W. R. Shafter, commanding Department of California, for data from which this order was prepared.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

W. H. Curson, re-elected Captain of Company F, April 29, 1901, with rank from April 21, 1899.

III. Frank A. St. Sure, having been commissioned Captain and Assistant Surgeon, Sanitary Corps, is hereby assigned to duty on the staff of the commanding officer of the Fifth Infantry as Assistant Surgeon of said regiment; vice Rottanzy, honorably discharged.

IV. The annual inspection and muster of the National Guard of California will be held during the Division Encampment at Santa Cruz, Cal., June 15 to 22, 1901. The exact dates upon which the various organizations are to be inspected will be determined and announced by the commanding officer of the Division, who will also prescribe the dress and equipment to be worn, and give necessary instructions as to other details.

The attention of commanding officer is called to Paragraphs 668 to 680, inclusive, of the Regulations, concerning the preparation of muster rolls; great care will be exercised in this matter, especial attention being given to the record of service of each man, to the end that the same may be absolutely correct. The wording of the form under the heading "money account since last muster" will be so changed as to show the following:

Cash on hand July 1, 1900.

Cash received per account current September 30, 1900.

Cash received per account current December 31, 1900.

Cash received per account current March 31, 1901.

Cash received up to and including May 31, 1901.

Expended per account current September 30, 1900.

Expended per account current December 31, 1900.

Expended per account current March 31, 1901.

Expended up to and including May 31, 1901.

Balance on hand June 1, 1901.

Commanding officers will carefully inventory property in their possession, and be prepared to certify to the condition and whereabouts of all property not taken to camp and submitted to view of inspector.

A supply of blank muster rolls has been forwarded to brigade and regimental commanders, who will distribute same; care should be taken that these blanks are used; any copies of older forms remaining on hand will be destroyed.

V. Paragraphs 1, 6, 9, 10, and 12 of the "Regulations for the Government of the Sanitary Corps, National Guard of California," as adopted in G. O. No. 5, series of 1900, A. G. O., are amended to read as follows:

1. The enlisted strength shall be as follows:

One hospital sergeant for duty in the Surgeon General's office.

Two hospital sergeants for duty in the Division Surgeon's office.

One hospital sergeant for duty in each Brigade Surgeon's office.

One hospital sergeant for duty with each regiment.

The hospital sergeants assigned to the Surgeon General's, Division, and Brigade Surgeon's offices, and the one assigned to each regiment, shall be appointed as such, and shall be uniformed, rank as, and perform the duties of hospital stewards.

One hospital sergeant, who shall be detailed as such, and shall be uniformed, rank as, and perform the duties of acting hospital steward, for each battalion or squadron.

One private for each company, troop, battery, or signal corps.

6. Enlistment papers will be executed in duplicate, with the report of examination, as provided in Paragraph 2, attached, and will be forwarded by the commanding officer of the regiment direct to the chief surgeon of the division, who will render to the Adjutant General a monthly return, accompanied by one of each set of enlistment papers, said return to be forwarded through office of Surgeon General.

9. Hospital sergeants with the grade of hospital stewards will be appointed by the Commander-in-Chief on the recommendation of the senior medical officer of the command to which they are to be assigned, said recommendation to be approved by the Surgeon General, after having passed a satisfactory examination before a board of medical officers convened for the purpose. All recommendations for appointment as hospital sergeants with the grade of hospital stewards will be sent to the Surgeon General, who will designate the members of a board to conduct the examination, under such rules and regulations as shall be prescribed by him. The proceedings of the board, with their recommendations in each case, will be submitted to the Surgeon General for his approval, and will then be forwarded, with the recommendation for appointment, to the Adjutant General.

10. Hospital sergeants, with the grade of acting hospital stewards, will be detailed by the Commander-in-Chief, upon recommendation and examination, as provided for appointments of sergeants as stewards.

12. Hospital sergeants, with the grade of hospital stewards, though liable to discharge, will not be reduced. The detail of a hospital sergeant, with the grade of acting hospital steward, may be revoked by the regimental commander upon the recommendation of the surgeon under whom he is serving, or by sentence of a court-martial.

VI. The following changes having been made in the regulations pertaining to the uniform of the U. S. Army, relating to chevrons, the same are announced for the government of the Guard:

Chevrons for overcoats of infantry shall be made of white cloth instead of dark blue cloth as heretofore.

Hospital Stewards.—Three bars and an arc of one bar of emerald green cloth, inclosing a modified maltese cross two inches wide and two inches high of the same cloth—the bars and cross to have a narrow white border.

Acting Hospital Stewards.—The same as for a hospital steward, omitting the arc.

Privates of the Hospital Corps.—Device consisting of a modified maltese cross two inches wide and two inches high of emerald green cloth, having a white border, and to be worn on both sleeves of the blouse, midway between the elbow and shoulder, and on the overcoat below the elbow, one half inch above the cuff.

Color Sergeant.—Three bars and a star.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

W. H. SEAMANS, Adjutant General.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, CAL., June 7, 1901.
GENERAL ORDERS, }
No. 10. }

I. Commissions have been issued to the following named officers, National Guard of California, since the date of General Orders No. 9, c. s., A. G. O.:

Sanitary Corps.

Aloysius P. O'Brien, to be Captain and Assistant Surgeon, with rank from May 17, 1901; original, position created by organization of First Battalion of Artillery, April 19, 1901. Captain O'Brien is hereby assigned to duty on the staff of the commanding officer of the First Battalion of Artillery, as Assistant Surgeon.

First Battalion of Artillery.

Josiah R. Howell, to be First Lieutenant, with rank from May 21, 1901; original, position created by organization of First Battalion of Artillery.

Sanford L. Goldstein, to be First Lieutenant, with rank from May 22, 1901; original, position created by organization of First Battalion of Artillery.

Walter A. Greenleaf, to be Captain of Company L, with rank from May 20, 1901; vice Finley, promoted.

Louis L. Vestal, to be First Lieutenant of Company L, with rank from May 20, 1901; vice Greenleaf, promoted.

II. A commission has been issued to the following named officer of the Naval Militia of California since the date of General Orders No. 9, c. s., A. G. O.:

George E. Goodfellow, to be Lieutenant Commander and Chief Surgeon, with rank from May 6, 1901; original, under Act of March 23, 1901.

III. The annual inspection and muster of the Naval Militia of California will be held during the month of June, 1901. Captain Thomas A. Nerney, commanding the Naval Militia of California, will inspect the various divisions of the Militia, and will make such arrangements as to dates and other details of the inspection as he may deem proper. Colonel Thomas Wilhelm, Staff of the Commander-in-Chief, will inspect the headquarters, staff, and band of the Naval Militia on such date as he may designate. The inspectors detailed under the provisions of this order are hereby authorized to condemn and destroy all State property worn out in the service or worthless; all unserviceable U. S. Government property will be shipped, charges prepaid, to the headquarters of the Naval Militia, U. S. S. "Marion," San Francisco. The attention of commanding officers is called to that portion of Paragraph IV, G. O. No. 9, c. s., A. G. O., relating to the preparation of muster rolls, which will apply to the Naval Militia; and the directions concerning money account will also apply, with the exception that the account will be brought down to the date of inspection.

IV. In compliance with the provisions of Section 2018 of the Political Code, the various organizations of the National Guard of California will parade in their respective localities on Thursday, July 4, 1901, in celebration of the one hundred and twenty-fifth anniversary of the independence of the United States. This parade will be by regiment, battalion, or company, as directed by brigade commanders. This order will also apply to the Naval Militia of California, the manner of the parade to be determined by the commanding officer. Parade reports will be forwarded to General Headquarters not later than July 25, 1901.

V. Lieutenant Thomas S. Harloe, Second Division, N. M. C., will report for duty to the commanding officer of the Division, N. G. C., at the State Camp of Instruction at Santa Cruz, Cal., on June 15, 1901, with four men, four Hotchkiss one-pounder guns, and 500 rounds of saluting ammunition. In addition to the three guns now in his possession, Lieutenant Harloe will take the one issued to Naval Militia headquarters, Captain Thomas A. Nerney being hereby authorized and directed to turn said gun over to Lieutenant Harloe for this purpose. This detail will continue during the Division Encampment, at the termination of which Lieutenant Harloe will again report to the commanding officer of the Naval Militia of California. Transportation, quarters, and subsistence will be furnished by the commanding officer of the Division, N. G. C.

VI. In accordance with Paragraph VI, G. O. No. 11, series of 1900, A. G. O., the names of the following commanding officers whose returns for the month of April, 1901, were not received at these Headquarters within twenty-one days after the close of the month, are hereby announced:

Ensign John F. Murphy, First Division, Naval Militia of California.

Lieutenant Thomas S. Harloe, Second Division, Naval Militia of California.

Lieutenant Roscoe Howard, Third Division, Naval Militia of California.

Lieutenant Carl E. Lindsay, Fourth Division, Naval Militia of California.

Lieutenant Wm. T. Bonney, Engineer Division, Naval Militia of California.

First Lieutenant Fred L. Martin, Signal Corps, Third Brigade.

Captain John D. Fredericks, Troop D, Cavalry.

Captain B. B. Sturdivant, Company B, First Infantry.

Captain Francis Warren, Company H, First Infantry.

Captain Fred M. Miller, Company I, Second Infantry.

Captain J. P. Parnau, Company A, Sixth Infantry.

Captain D. W. Morris, Company D, Sixth Infantry.

Captain George W. Stewart, Company E, Sixth Infantry.

Captain George H. Magill, Company H, Seventh Infantry.

Captain O. P. Sloat, Company K, Seventh Infantry.

Captain H. E. Mitchell, Company M, Seventh Infantry.

The delay in receipt of return of Company A, Sixth Infantry, was evidently caused by a mistake at regimental headquarters, which necessitated the return of paper for correction.

There is no excuse or necessity for the lack of attention to the matter of returns on the part of the commanding officers, which the above list indicates. If a large number of commanding officers can forward their returns so that they reach these Headquarters within the proper time, as they do, there is no reason why every one cannot do so.

VII. Attention of applicants for service medals is called to the fact that money order or draft must accompany application, made payable to Shreve & Co., San Francisco, Cal.

VIII. Attention of commanding officers is called to the fact that a change was made in the blanks for report of target practice, issued this year, by adding a "Summary of Practice"; this will be carefully filled out by the commanding officer and certified to, and reports of target practice will only be made on blanks having this addition.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

W. H. SEAMANS, Adjutant General.

VI. That portion of Paragraph XI, G. O. No. 10, c. s., A. G. O., detailing Captain Thomas A. Nerney to inspect the various divisions of the Naval Militia of California, is hereby amended in so far as the same relates to the Fourth Division. Lieutenant Thomas S. Harloe, Second Division, N. M. C., will act in place of Captain Nerney as inspecting officer of the said division and will make such arrangements as to date and other details as he may deem proper. (Approved June 17, 1901.)

VII. The Board of Location and Organization of the National Guard of California having favorably acted upon a petition from an organization of veterans of the Civil War, known as "Company A, Veteran Reserves of California," located at Oakland, Alameda County, California, to be organized and mustered into the military service of the State as an independent, unattached company, under the provisions of an Act of the Legislature approved March 8, 1901, and the records of the proceedings had thereunder having been received at this office and approved, and said company having been organized and sworn into the service of the State on May 8, 1901, said company is hereby listed as Company A, Veteran Reserves of California, and declared to be mustered into the service, to date from said May 8, 1901. (Approved July 12, 1901.)

VIII. In addition to the organization of the First Battalion of Artillery as established and provided for in Paragraph IV, G. O. No. 5, c. s., A. G. O., the following is authorized:

One band, which shall consist of one chief musician, one chief trumpeter, one principal musician, one drum major, who shall have the rank of a first sergeant, four sergeants, four corporals, and not less than eight nor more than thirteen privates.

This band is authorized with the provision that no allowance for the same will be made the commanding officer of the First Battalion of Artillery, reference being made to Section 2094 of the Political Code, which governs such allowances. (Approved July 31, 1901.)

IX. In accordance with Paragraph VI, G. O. No. 11, series of 1900, A. G. O., the names of the following commanding officers whose monthly returns were not received at these Headquarters within twenty-one days after the expiration of the time for which the same were made, are announced:

 No. 12. }

I. The championship contest for first and second class State medals for rifle and revolver practice for the year 1900 will be held at the National Guard target range at Sacramento, Cal., on Saturday, September 7, 1901, firing to commence at ten o'clock A. M. All members qualifying as "Distinguished Marksmen" with rifle, or as "First Class Men" with revolver, in the practice for the year 1900, and who are still members of the Guard on September 7, 1901, will be allowed to compete in this contest. The ammunition used will be furnished by the State, and shall be such as is prescribed in Paragraph IV, G. O. No. 6, c. s., A. G. O. Springfield rifles, caliber .45, and Colt's revolvers, caliber .38, will be used in this contest. Transportation, and subsistence to the amount of two dollars ($2.00), to non-residents, while in Sacramento, will be furnished by the State to competitors. The Inspector General of Rifle Practice will supervise the competition, which will be governed by the rules prescribed in "Firing Regulations for Small Arms," adopted in G. O. No. 6, c. s., A. G. O., except that inasmuch as the qualifying scores for this contest were fired on the "Blunt" target, with elliptical bull's-eye and divisions, the same target will be used in this contest, instead of the figure targets heretofore authorized for this year's regular target practice.

II. The following named members of the National Guard of California qualified as "Distinguished Marksmen" or "First Class Men" for the year 1900, according to the report of the Acting Inspector General of Rifle Practice, filed in this office July 27, 1901, and are therefore entitled to participate in the championship contest, provided they are still members of the Guard at the date thereof:

III. Captain John Zittinger, commanding Company G, Second Infantry, National Guard of California, is hereby detailed as Range Officer for the championship rifle and revolver contest for State medals to be held at Sacramento on Saturday, September 7, 1901. He will make all necessary arrangements for the contest, and have the ranges ready for firing at 10 o'clock A. M.; he will report to and be under the orders of the Inspector General of Rifle Practice.

IV. The full report of the Acting Inspector General of Rifle Practice for the year 1900 will be published in orders after the championship contest is held.

V. The attention of all commanding officers and inspectors of rifle practice is called to G. O. No. 6, c. s., A. G. O., adopting new "Firing Regulations for Small Arms," and particularly to Paragraph I of said regulations, which provides that the firing regulations for small arms governing the U. S. Army will govern target practice, except where provided otherwise. This, of course, necessitates a change in the targets heretofore used, Paragraphs 347 and 348, "Firing Regulations for Small Arms, 1898," for the Army, describing the targets now authorized. Copies of these regulations have been furnished all headquarters and commands. An ample supply of the authorized figure targets, for all commands of the Guard, was issued from this office on April 13, 1901.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

IV. Captain W. W. Mead, U. S. N., commanding U. S. S. "Philadelphia," having announced to this department that he will be prepared to take the Naval Militia of California on a practice cruise on or about the 15th of September, the several divisions will assemble for the purpose of the cruise in accordance with orders to be issued by Captain T. A. Nerney, commanding the Naval Militia of the State, who will place himself in communication with Captain Mead and arrange with him the details of the cruise.

The officers and men of the Naval Militia may consider themselves signally fortunate in having the opportunity to make this cruise on board the U. S. S. "Philadelphia" and under the instruction of skillful and experienced officers of the Navy, and should make a special effort to turn out in full force to secure the benefits which will accrue to them from the cruise. (Approved August 20, 1901.)

V. An Act of the Legislature, approved March 23, 1901, having provided that the organizations of the National Guard should conform to similar organizations in the U. S. Army, and General Orders No. 4, c. s. A. G. O., issued in accordance with said Act, having provided that each troop of cavalry should have but one first lieutenant, the following instructions are issued in regard to the assimilation of the first lieutenants thereby made supernumerary:

All first lieutenants will be continued in the service until the expiration of their present commissions. Upon the expiration of the commission of the first lieutenant who was the senior at the date of the passage of the above-mentioned Act, an election will be ordered in the usual manner. Upon the expiration of the commission of the first lieutenant who was the junior, said officer will be honorably discharged, unless in the meantime he may have been recommissioned in another grade or re-elected in place of the senior first lieutenant.

VI. The First Battalion of Artillery, N. G. C., is hereby authorized to carry national and battalion colors, the same to conform to regulations for the U. S. Army, except that in the center stripe of the national color the words "1st Battalion of Artillery, N. G. C." shall be embroidered, and in the battalion color the word "California" will be placed above the crossed cannon and the words "First Battalion of Artillery" below.

The rings heretofore authorized for the pike of the national color of the First Regiment of Infantry, in Paragraph VIII, G. O. No. 3, series of 1900, A. G. O., are hereby authorized to be placed on the pike of the national color of the First Battalion of Artillery, the batteries of said battalion having participated in the service indicated by said rings while attached to said regiment. The five rings authorized will be inscribed as follows: "Spanish-American War, 1898"; "Malate Trenches, July 31 and August 1, 1898"; "Manila, August 13, 1898"; "Filipino Insurrection, February 5 to March 21, 1899"; "Island of Negros, March 23 to July 4, 1899."

VII. The following list of officers of the Naval Militia, National Guard of California, honorably discharged by reason of the reorganization of the Naval Militia of California, as provided for by the Act of the Legislature approved March 23, 1901, is hereby announced:

Captain Nathaniel T. James; date of discharge, May 4, 1901, on account of election and qualification of successor under provisions of said Act.

Lieutenant Commander and Executive Officer Thomas A. Nerney; date of discharge, May 4, 1901, on account of office being abolished by said Act; Lieutenant Commander Nerney elected and qualified as Captain.

Lieutenant and Paymaster Douglas White; date of discharge, July 30, 1901, on account of office being abolished by said Act; Lieutenant White appointed and qualified as Lieutenant Commander and Paymaster.

Lieutenant and Aid Charles R. Alberger; date of discharge, July 31, 1901, on account of office being abolished by said Act; Lieutenant Alberger appointed and qualified as Lieutenant and Passed Assistant Paymaster.

VIII. An Act of the Legislature, approved March 23, 1901, having provided for a segregation of the Naval Militia of California from the National Guard proper, and also provided for a separate organization of the Medical Department of said Naval Militia, the following officers commissioned in the Sanitary Corps, National Guard of California, with naval rank, and assigned to the Naval Militia in General Orders No. 3, series of 1898, A. G. O., being now supernumerary, are hereby honorably discharged:

Lieutenant Junior Grade Joseph G. Morrissey, Assistant Surgeon.

Ensign Benjamin A. Plant, Assistant Surgeon.

IX. The skirmish firing for the year 1901 will be held under the regulations adopted for such firing for 1899 in General Orders No. 12, series of 1899, A. G. O., with the following exceptions:

The firing may be held at any time, in the discretion of regimental commanders, either before or after the completion of the course of practice at rectangular targets.

The regulations will apply to the First Battalion of Artillery as well as the infantry regiments.

The firing regulations for small arms governing the U. S. Army will govern in all cases not fully provided for, the same having superseded "Blunt's."

X. The commanding officers of those companies that will have facilities for practicing in skirmish firing during this year will immediately make requisition direct on this office for one thousand rounds of ball cartridges for use in such firing.

XI. In accordance with Paragraph VI, General Orders No. 11, series of 1900, A. G. O., the names of the following commanding officers whose returns for the month of July, 1901, were not received at these Headquarters within twenty-one days after the close of the month, are hereby announced:

First Lieutenant H. E. Sabine, Signal Corps, First Brigade.

Captain Francis Warren, Company H, First Infantry.

First Lieutenant A. R. Newell, Company B, Sixth Infantry.
 First Lieutenant R. Vandenheuvel, Company H, Sixth Infantry.
 Captain Truman Cole, Company C, Seventh Infantry.
 Captain H. E. Higbey, Company G, Seventh Infantry.
 Captain O. P. Sloat, Company K, Seventh Infantry.
 Ensign John F. Murphy, First Division, Naval Militia of California.
 Lieutenant Carl E. Lindsay, Fourth Division, Naval Militia of California.
 Ensign Henley C. Booth, Sixth Division, Naval Militia of California.
 Lieutenant Frank Van Vleck, Engineer Division, Naval Militia of California.
 By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

W. H. SEAMANS, Adjutant General

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
 GENERAL ORDERS, } ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, CAL., September 14, 1901.
 No. 14. }

I. The following proclamation by the Governor is published for the information and guidance of all concerned:

PROCLAMATION.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, SACRAMENTO.

At this time of a nation's sorrow, the People of the State of California join in the deep grief shared by their fellow-citizens in all the States and Territories of the Union, on account of the sad and untimely death, on this 14th day of September, A. D. 1901, of our grand and good President, William McKinley.

The despicable assassin whose murderous shot deprived America of one of her greatest Presidents, has, by his base act, struck a coward's blow at popular liberty and human rights.

To the list of sacrifices of those whose eminent statesmanship was guided by a devotion to American liberty, and by sincere love for their fellowmen, our Republic now dependently adds to the revered and lamented names of Lincoln and Garfield, her beloved son, the martyred William McKinley.

In public testimony of the sorrow of the People of the State of California, for the loss of their illustrious President and noble citizen, William McKinley, I, as the Chief Executive of the State, do hereby order that the flags be placed and kept at half-mast on all the State buildings for thirty days from this date. I do further order that the day which shall hereafter be selected and set apart for the funeral of President McKinley be and the same is hereby declared to be a public holiday for general prayer and mourning.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of this State to be hereunto affixed, this 14th day of September, A. D. 1901.

[SEAL.]

(Signed:) HENRY T. GAGE,
 Governor of the State of California.

Attest: C. F. CURRY, Secretary of State.

II. Commanding officers at the location of the various armories and in command of vessels of the Naval Militia will direct that flags be displayed in accordance therewith.

III. Officers of the National Guard and the Naval Militia will wear the usual badge of mourning for a period of thirty days.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

W. H. SEAMANS, Adjutant General.

General Orders No. 15 announced result of target practice for 1900, and is omitted on account of lack of funds for printing.

Howard J. Haley, re-elected First Lieutenant of Company G, August 13, 1901, with rank from June 23, 1899.

IV. A certificate of re-election has been issued to the following named officer, Naval Militia of California, since the date of General Orders No. 13, c. s., A. G. O.:

Charles V. Otto, re-elected Lieutenant of Fifth Division, June 27, 1901, with rank from June 15, 1897.

V. It is with deep regret that the Commander-in-Chief announces the death of Colonel Wm. P. Sullivan, Jr., retired, which occurred at San Francisco, November 11, 1901.

His record in the National Guard is as follows: Enlisted in Company H, Third Infantry, Second Brigade, December 2, 1878; appointed First Sergeant January 19, 1880;

(letter of company changed to C, then transferred to First Infantry as Company A, in August 1881); elected First Lieutenant August 29, 1881; re-elected August 29, 1883; appointed Captain and Adjutant First Infantry August 7, 1885; elected Major First Infantry January 11, 1888; elected Colonel First Infantry March 27, 1891; placed on retired list June 3, 1895.

VI. The Commander-in-Chief also regrets to announce the death of the Honorable Elisha W. McKinstry, which occurred at San José, on November 1, 1901. He served as Adjutant General of the State of California from April 30, 1851, to May 2, 1852.

VII. Lieutenant Colonel C. J. Evans, Signal Officer, Division, N. G. C., will, between November 1st and 15th, 1901, make a careful inspection of all signal equipment, telephonic and telegraphic apparatus, in possession of the various commanding officers of the Signal Corps, for the purpose of ascertaining the condition, availability, and adequateness of the same; and is authorized and directed to condemn and destroy all of said property worn out in the service or worthless.

He is also directed to make an inspection of the personnel of each corps, in order to ascertain its efficiency in military signaling and telegraphy, and the extent of the knowledge and degree of proficiency of officers and men as to their technical duties in such work.

Lieutenant Colonel Evans will fix the exact dates for the inspection of each corps, and notify the Brigade Signal Officer of the same. (Approved October 21, 1901.)

VIII. The following assignments of officers of the Naval Militia of California, to the ships loaned to the State by the Navy Department for use as training ships, are hereby made:

1. Captain Thomas A. Nerney, in addition to his duties as commanding officer of the Naval Militia, is assigned to command the U. S. S. "Marion";

Commander George W. Bauer, assigned to the U. S. S. "Marion," to assist the commanding officer;

Lieutenant George E. Kammerer, assigned to the U. S. S. "Marion" as executive officer;

Lieutenant Frank Van Vleck, in addition to his duties as commanding officer of the Engineer Division, assigned to the U. S. S. "Marion" as Chief Engineer;

Lieutenant Charles R. Alberger, Passed Assistant Paymaster, assigned to the U. S. S. "Marion";

Lieutenant Attilio H. Giannini, Surgeon, assigned to the U. S. S. "Marion."

In addition to the above, the following officers are also assigned to the U. S. S. "Marion," and will report, in writing, to the commanding officer, at once:

Lieutenant Thomas S. Harloe, Second Division;

Lieutenant Thomas B. W. Leland, First Division;

Lieutenant Junior Grade Henry C. Peterson, First Division;

Lieutenant Junior Grade Henry P. Smith, Second Division;

Ensign William Speck, Engineer Division;

Ensign John F. Murphy, First Division;

Ensign John M. Corcoran, Second Division.

2. Lieutenant Roscoe Howard, in addition to his duties as commanding officer of the Third Division, is assigned to command the U. S. S. "Pinta";

Lieutenant Junior Grade Frank L. Sargent, Third Division, assigned to the U. S. S. "Pinta" as executive officer;

Ensigns Joseph P. Sexton and Donald M. Stewart, Third Division, are assigned to the U. S. S. "Pinta," and will report to the commanding officer, in writing, at once.

3. In future, all assignments of officers to duty on board ship will be made from these Headquarters.

4. Warrant officers, pay clerks, chief petty officers, and petty officers will be assigned by the commanding officer of the Naval Militia.

IX. In accordance with Paragraph VI, General Orders No. 11, series of 1900, A. G. O., the names of the following commanding officers whose returns or demands were not received at these Headquarters within twenty-one days after the expiration of the time for which the same were made, are announced:

Monthly Returns for August.

First Lieutenant H. E. Sabine, Signal Corps, First Brigade.

Captain B. B. Sturdivant, Company B, First Infantry.

Captain Francis Warren, Company H, First Infantry.

Captain W. H. Curson, Company F, Second Infantry.

First Lieutenant John R. Tyrrell, Company I, Second Infantry.

First Lieutenant A. R. Newell, Company B, Sixth Infantry.

Captain D. W. Morris, Company D, Sixth Infantry.

Captain George R. Andrews, Company F, Sixth Infantry.

First Lieutenant R. Vandenheuevel, Company H, Sixth Infantry.

Captain A. W. Bradbury, Company A, Seventh Infantry.

Ensign John F. Murphy, First Division, Naval Militia of California.

Lieutenant Roscoe Howard, Third Division, Naval Militia of California.

Lieutenant Carl E. Lindsay, Fourth Division, Naval Militia of California.

Lieutenant Frank Van Vleck, Engineer Division, Naval Militia of California.

Monthly Returns for September.

First Lieutenant L. F. Guedet, Company H, First Infantry.
 First Lieutenant John R. Tyrrell, Company I, Second Infantry.
 Captain D. W. Morris, Company D, Sixth Infantry.

Returns of Property for Quarter ending September 30, 1901.

First Lieutenant H. E. Sabine, Signal Corps, First Brigade.
 First Lieutenant L. F. Guedet, Company H, First Infantry.
 First Lieutenant John R. Tyrrell, Company I, Second Infantry.
 Captain D. W. Morris, Company D, Sixth Infantry.

Demands for Quarter ending September 30, 1901.

First Lieutenant H. E. Sabine, Signal Corps, First Brigade.
 First Lieutenant L. F. Guedet, Company H, First Infantry.
 First Lieutenant John R. Tyrrell, Company I, Second Infantry.
 Captain D. W. Morris, Company D, Sixth Infantry.

Owing to the fact that the Naval Militia was on a cruise in the U. S. S. "Philadelphia" at the time that monthly returns for September, and quarterly returns and demands for the quarter ending September 30, 1901, should have been prepared, the names of those officers of the Naval Militia delinquent with said returns and demands are omitted.

The above lists show much improvement, but there is no reason why all returns should not be in these Headquarters at the proper time, unless delay is occasioned by some unusual circumstance.

Attention is called to the fact that the names of no officers of the Cavalry, First Battalion of Artillery, or the Fifth Regiment of Infantry appear in above lists; this record should be emulated by all other organizations.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

W. H. SEAMANS, Adjutant General.

I. The sum of $10,000.00 is available for the purchase of uniforms and quartermaster's stores during the current two years, and in order that the fund may be expended in the purchase of the most necessary articles for the National Guard and Naval Militia, each company, division, and detachment commander will forward to the Uniform Board, through regular channels, on or before January 1, 1902, a statement showing the number of hats, caps, leggings, trousers, blouses, and overcoats now on hand and serviceable, and a requisition for such of these articles as will be needed to complete the equipment of his command. The commanding officer of the division, and each brigade, regimental, and battalion commander will make a like statement and requisition as to the needs of the enlisted men attached to their respective headquarters. These requisitions will be approved or disapproved by intermediate commanding officers, who will carefully examine the same and satisfy themselves that the articles for which requisition is made are absolutely needed.

II. The proceedings, finding, and sentence of the general court-martial in the foregoing case of Captain William Bruce, Company B, Sixth Regiment of Infantry, N. G. C., having been approved by Brigadier General M. W. Muller, commanding Third Brigade, N. G. C., the reviewing authority, and the record forwarded for the action of the Governor of the State of California, the following are his orders thereon:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, }
SACRAMENTO, December 23, 1901. }

The sentence in the foregoing case of Captain William Bruce, Company B, Sixth Infantry, "to be dismissed from the military service of the State of California," is confirmed and will be duly executed.

HENRY T. GAGE,
Governor of the State of California.

III. In accordance with the foregoing Executive order, the sentence in the foregoing case of Captain William Bruce, Company B, Sixth Regiment of Infantry, N. G. C., will take effect January 4, 1902, from which date Captain Bruce will cease to be an officer of the National Guard of California.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

W. H. SEAMANS, Adjutant General.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
 GENERAL ORDERS, } ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, CAL., December 31, 1901.
 No. 19. }

I. Commissions have been issued to the following named officers, National Guard of California, since the date of General Orders No. 16, c. s., A. G. O.:

Signal Corps.

Emmet R. Jones, to be First Lieutenant of Signal Corps, Second Brigade, with rank from October 31, 1901; vice Seymer, resigned.

First Infantry.

William B. Corcoran, to be First Lieutenant of Company C, with rank from October 14, 1901; vice Mathewson, promoted.

Henry Stolzenwald, to be Second Lieutenant of Company C, with rank from October 14, 1901; vice Corcoran, promoted.

Francis J. Driscoll, to be Second Lieutenant of Company H, with rank from October 16, 1901; vice O'Brien, promoted.

II. Certificates of re-election have been issued to the following named officers, National Guard of California, since the date of General Orders No. 16, c. s., A. G. O.:

Second Infantry.

Charles A. Swisler, re-elected Captain of Company H, October 26, 1901, with rank from October 16, 1899.

Fifth Infantry.

Curtis C. Covalt, re-elected First Lieutenant of Company F, October 21, 1901, with rank from September 25, 1899.

Seventh Infantry.

Truman Cole, re-elected Captain of Company C, October 16, 1901, with rank from June 21, 1899.

III. In accordance with Paragraph VI, General Orders No. 11, series of 1900, A. G. O., the names of the following commanding officers whose returns were not received at these Headquarters within twenty-one days after the expiration of the time for which the same were made, are announced:

Monthly Returns for October.

First Lieutenant L. F. Guedet, Company H, First Infantry.

Captain H. E. Higbey, Company G, Seventh Infantry.

Captain George H. Magill, Company H, Seventh Infantry.

Captain O. P. Sloat, Company K, Seventh Infantry.

Lieutenant T. B. W. Leland, First Division, Naval Militia of California.

Lieutenant Thomas S. Harloe, Second Division, Naval Militia of California.

Lieutenant Roscoe Howard, Third Division, Naval Militia of California.

Lieutenant Carl E. Lindsay, Fourth Division, Naval Militia of California.

Lieutenant H. C. Booth, Sixth Division, Naval Militia of California.

Lieutenant Frank Van Vleck, Engineer Division, Naval Militia of California.

Monthly Returns for November.

Captain D. G. Bambauer, Company H, Sixth Infantry.

Captain Truman Cole, Company C, Seventh Infantry.

Captain O. P. Sloat, Company K, Seventh Infantry.

Captain H. E. Mitchell, Company M, Seventh Infantry.

Lieutenant T. B. W. Leland, First Division, Naval Militia of California.

Lieutenant H. C. Booth, Sixth Division, Naval Militia of California.

Lieutenant Frank Van Vleck, Engineer Division, Naval Militia of California.

IV. The attention of officers making demands and submitting accounts is again called to the necessity of care in their preparation, particular attention being called to Paragraph IX, General Orders No. 2, and Paragraph IX, General Orders No. 3, series of 1900, A. G. O.

All "accounts current" should show the dates of all receipts and disbursements, the quarter for which an allowance is received, or the source of other receipts, to whom and on what account disbursements are made, giving as much of the data shown in the vouchers as is possible. If desired, a statement of expenditures may be made on the typewriter, and attached to the printed form of "account current"; but in all cases all balances and totals will be entered on the prescribed blank, and the certificate duly filled out.

V. Attention is called to the fact that many officers of the National Guard, responsible for property, have failed to report the result of an inventory of the property in their charge, taken immediately on return from the camp at Santa Cruz in June last. Said inventory was directed to be made in a letter from this office under date of June 29, 1901, and the data contained in the inventories is necessary in tracing property lost at camp. All officers who have not forwarded such inventories will do so immediately.

VI. Officers responsible for property applying for leave of absence will comply with Paragraph X, General Orders No. 10, series of 1900, A. G. O., and Paragraph 49, Rules and Regulations, as amended in General Orders No. 4, c. s., A. G. O.

VII. That portion of General Orders No. 15, c. s., A. G. O., which states that medal No. 4660 is awarded to Private J. B. Blair, Company H, Second Infantry, N. G. C., for target practice for the year 1900, is rescinded; the same being an error, as said Blair only qualified as "marksman," and is therefore not entitled to the State decoration.

VIII. Attention of commanding officers and inspectors of rifle practice is called to the necessity for care and promptness in preparing and forwarding reports of target practice for the season just closed. Reports will only be made on the blanks provided for this year's practice, as referred to in Paragraph VIII, General Orders No. 10, c. s., A. G. O.

The reports for the practice of the year 1900 did not reach this office until seven months after the close of the target-practice season, and many complaints were received as to the delay in the awarding of State decorations, which was caused by carelessness and delay in preparing and forwarding reports by commanding officers and inspectors of rifle practice.

IX. The Attorney General, in an opinion dated November 11, 1901, has held that the cost of securing the bond required by law to be given by a company commander can not be paid out of the funds of the company appropriated for its use by the State. In accordance with said opinion no expenditures by company commanders for the purpose of procuring such bonds will be approved hereafter.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

W. H. SEAMANS, Adjutant General.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
GENERAL ORDERS, { ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, CAL., January 3, 1902.
No. 1. }

It is with profound sorrow that the Commander-in-Chief announces the death of Brigadier General W. H. Seamans, Adjutant General of the State of California, which occurred at Washington, D. C., on Friday, January 3, 1902.

William Henry Seamans was born in Harford, Susquehanna County, Pennsylvania, September 14, 1834. He removed to Boston, Massachusetts, in 1852, and in 1856 came to California. He returned to Massachusetts at the outbreak of the Civil War, and entered the military service of the United States at Boston, October, 1861, under authority from Major General Benjamin F. Butler, to raise the tenth company for his "Eastern Bay State" (30th Massachusetts) Regiment of Volunteer Infantry, forming part of the New England Division in the expedition against New Orleans. Commissioned First Lieutenant, Company K, 30th Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry, February 20, 1862, was present at Ship Island at the capture of Fort Jackson, and at St. Philip, New Orleans, Vicksburg, and Baton Rouge. Resigned August 1, 1862, because of physical disability, resulting from exposure in line of duty in malarial swamps of Louisiana. Recommissioned Captain Company G, 41st Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry (afterwards changed to 3d Massachusetts Cavalry) November 1, 1862, and ordered to command of camp at Boxford, Massachusetts; attached to Division Staff of General Cuvier Grover, 19th Army Corps, December 17, 1862, and assigned to duty as provost marshal at Baton Rouge. At the conclusion of his heroic services in the campaign and the battles of Baton Rouge, Port Hudson, and Bayou La Fourche, he again had to resign on account of physical disability July 23, 1863.

On April 19, 1870, he received through the Governor of Massachusetts a testimonial of the people's gratitude for his patriotism.

He became a member of the Grand Army of the Republic in 1868, holding the office of Post Commander four times. Joined the Massachusetts Commandery, Military Order of Loyal Legion of the United States, January 6, 1875, and was transferred to the California Commandery on February 11, 1878, having again come to California after the close of the Civil War. He was Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy Republican League of California at the time of his death.

He has filled many positions of honor and trust under the Federal and State Governments.

He was appointed Adjutant General and ex officio Chief of Staff, Quartermaster General, Commissary General, Inspector General, and Chief of Ordnance of the State of California on June 1, 1899, and under his able administration of the Adjutant General's office the re-organization and re-equipment of the National Guard was completed upon the muster-out of the same from the United States service in the Spanish-American War.

He died while absent from the State at the National Capital in the discharge of the duties of his office.

General Seamans was a noble gentleman, a gallant soldier, and delightful companion. His death is deeply mourned by all who knew him, and heartfelt sympathy is tendered to his grief-stricken widow and daughter.

The flag will be placed at half-staff on all armories of the National Guard, and at half-mast on vessels of the Naval Militia, until after the funeral, and the usual badges of mourning will be worn for thirty days.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

N. S. BANGHAM, Assistant Adjutant General.

To be Captains: John Markley, Jr., Shirley C. Walker, Calvin O. Esterly.

To be First Lieutenants: Philip T. Clay, Clarence C. Dakin, Harry A. Holzer.

VI. It is with deep regret that the Commander-in-Chief announces the death of Captain William C. Little, retired, which occurred at Oakland, California, January 15, 1902; and also of Captain Charles W. Agee, retired, which occurred at Albany, Missouri, February 9, 1902.

Captain William C. Little served the State long and faithfully as follows: Enlisted in the City Guard (Independent), September 18, 1856; (mustered into California State Militia, March 11, 1858); elected Second Lieutenant, March 11, 1858; re-elected, April 24, 1860; appointed Major and Aid-de-Camp, First Division, May 29, 1860; reappointed, 1861; appointed Adjutant, First Infantry, 1862; elected Captain, Company B, First Infantry, August 8, 1862; elected Major, First Infantry, October 5, 1866; elected Lieutenant Colonel, First Infantry, March 14, 1868; resigned, 1868; elected Captain, Oakland Guard, 1868; resigned, 1869; elected Captain, Oakland Light Cavalry, July —, 1877; (mustered into National Guard of California, September 23, 1878); and commissioned Captain, September 23, 1878. Placed on the Retired List, March 2, 1882.

Captain Charles W. Agee enlisted in Company H, Sixth Infantry, N. G. C., on May 6, 1899, and was commissioned Captain, with rank from November 11, 1899. He was placed on the Retired List, by reason of disability incurred in the service, on July 16, 1901.

VII. Commanding officers of the National Guard will not make returns of property for the quarter ending March 31, 1902, until new blanks for ordnance property and quartermaster's supplies, now in course of preparation, are furnished them for that purpose from this office. Great care will be exercised in the preparation of the first return on the new blanks, which conform as nearly as possible to those in use in the U. S. Army.

Property not now returned, and for which headings have been provided on the new blanks, will be taken up and accounted for on the proper line, the return to be accompanied by a certificate of the officer, stating from what source the same was received.

In the case of property that has been invoiced to officers by the Chief of Ordnance or the Quartermaster General, that is expendable, and a portion of which has already been expended or used up in service without being accounted for in returns or covered by certificates of expenditure, the original amount issued will be taken up, and the expenditure shown on this return, accompanied by proper certificate, even though the expenditure may have been made in a previous quarter.

VIII. In accordance with Paragraph VI, General Orders No. 11, series of 1900, A. G. O., the names of the following commanding officers whose returns or demands were not received at these Headquarters within twenty-one days after the expiration of the time for which the same were made, are announced:

The names of the commanding officers of a number of organizations whose returns did not reach this office within the proper time are omitted from the above lists, for the reason that the papers seem to have been forwarded by them in time to have been received within the time specified, but were delayed in transmission.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

GEORGE STONE, Adjutant General.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
SACRAMENTO, March 17, 1902.

GENERAL ORDERS, {
No. 3.

I. The annual inspection and muster of the National Guard and Naval Militia of California will be held between April 15th and July 1st. The inspection will be made by Brigade Inspectors and officers detailed from these Headquarters. Brigade commanders will arrange details and designate dates for inspection and muster of their respective brigades, and forward copies of all orders relating thereto direct to the Inspector General for his information.

II. The commanding officer of the Naval Militia will fix the dates for the inspection and muster of the headquarters and several divisions of his command.

III. Infantry, Artillery, Cavalry, and Signal Corps organizations will be paraded in light marching order, but with cap and without leggings. The dress and equipment of the Naval Militia will be as ordered by the commanding officer thereof.

IV. The field and staff of the several regiments of infantry will be inspected and mustered at regimental headquarters on a date designated for the inspection and muster of one or more companies of their respective regiments.

Transportation, only, will be allowed for regimental field and staff from their homes to place of muster.

V. The inspecting officers acting under the provisions of this order, are hereby authorized and directed to condemn and destroy any and all State property found to be worn out in service.

Boards of survey will be announced from these Headquarters in due time, for action upon the loss of State and United States Government property, or damage to same caused by other than ordinary wear, and to determine the responsibility for such loss or damage.

VI. Inspecting officers are hereby advised that the Commander-in-Chief requires a thorough performance of the duty assigned them herewith. Commanding officers will exercise unusual care in the preparation of the muster rolls of their commands.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

GEORGE STONE, Adjutant General.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
SACRAMENTO, April 19, 1902.

Owing to the limited appropriation for encampment purposes, the full allowance as provided in Section 2022 can not be paid; and, therefore, a fixed amount will be allotted from the appropriation, to be designated in future instructions, and the expenses for this encampment will be approved and paid to the amount of said allotment only.

Per diem will not be allowed or paid from the State appropriation to officers, enlisted men, or musicians.

The Quartermaster General will issue the necessary transportation requests to the regimental commander.

VII. The following named members of the National Guard of California are hereby announced as having qualified at target practice in the classes designated for the year 1900, in accordance with statements made by their commanding officer and the Inspector of Rifle Practice, recently received at this office, omissions having occurred in the original reports. The class or grade is designated by abbreviations, as follows: "S," Sharpshooter; "R," Rifleman; and State decorations are hereby awarded as designated in accordance with the provisions of Firing Regulations for Small Arms:

RIFLE PRACTICE—200, 300, AND 500 YARDS.

VIII. The following named members of the field and staff, First Infantry, N. G. C., having qualified at target practice in the classes indicated, for the year 1900, as announced in Paragraph I, G. O. No. 15, series of 1901, A. G. O.; and under Paragraph IX, G. O. No. 4, series of 1900, and Paragraph II, G. O. No. 15, series of 1901, A. G. O., being entitled to bars for the years 1898 and 1899, the same are hereby awarded as follows:

Lieutenant Colonel John F. Connolly, "Rifleman";
Major George Filmer, "Sharpshooter";
Major Thomas J. McCreagh, "Rifleman";
Captain William H. Tobin, "Sharpshooter";
Lieutenant Herman Huber, "Rifleman."

GENERAL ORDERS, }
No. 5. }

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
SACRAMENTO, April 22, 1902.

I. The following changes and amendments to Firing Regulations for Small Arms for the National Guard of California having been adopted by the officers designated in Section 2031 of the Political Code, are hereby announced and approved:

Paragraph 10 is amended to read as follows:

10. The classification for those firing with the rifle shall be as follows:

A "distinguished marksman" is one who makes a total annual score at the three ranges of 200.

A "sharpshooter" is one who makes a total annual score at the three ranges of 190.

A "rifleman" is one who makes a total annual score at the three ranges of 160.

A "marksman" is one who makes a total annual score at the three ranges of 130.

Paragraph 11 is amended to read as follows:

11. The classification for those firing with the revolver shall be as follows:

A "first class man" is one who, in firing the prescribed number of shots, makes 96 per cent of the possible aggregate score.

A "second class man" is one who, in firing the prescribed number of shots, makes 92 per cent of the possible aggregate score.

A "third class man" is one who, in firing the prescribed number of shots, makes 85 per cent of the possible aggregate score.

A "fourth class man" is one who, in firing the prescribed number of shots, makes 76 per cent of the possible aggregate score.

II. In accordance with Paragraph 4, Firing Regulations for Small Arms, the target practice season for the current year will open May 1, 1902, and close December 31, 1902.

The commanding officers of regiments and independent battalions will make arrangements as to the days upon which the record practice of their commands will be held, and detail officers to inspect same when a regular Inspector of Rifle Practice can not be present.

Brigade commanders will make similar arrangements for the cavalry and signal corps in their commands.

III. Retired officers and officers on the Staff of the Commander-in-Chief may report to any Inspector of Rifle Practice, who will forward their scores, properly certified, to the Inspector General of Rifle Practice for consolidation in one report.

General, field, staff officers, and non-commissioned staff officers, and also officers or enlisted men absent from their commands with leave, may report to any Inspector of Rifle Practice, who will forward their scores, properly certified, to the Inspector of Rifle Practice of the organization of which they are members, to be entered on the proper report.

The practice of entering scores of members of one organization on the report of another will be discontinued.

IV. Those officers or enlisted men who are unable to appear at any regular practice, the reason for whose absence is acceptable to their commanding officer, may be allowed to complete their score at any subsequent practice, in the discretion of said commanding officer and Inspector. Officers or men commissioned or enlisted after the beginning of the practice for the year may also be allowed to complete their scores in like manner.

V. No score will be accepted by these Headquarters unless same has been actually supervised and attested by an Inspector of Rifle Practice, or a duly authorized officer, and a copy of the order so authorizing must be filed with said headquarters. Particular attention of inspecting officers is called to Paragraph 5, Small Arms Firing Regulations. The attention of all commanding officers is also called to Section 2020 of the Political Code.

VI. Company and other commanders preparing rolls for reports or target practice will take particular care to enter the number of State Medal held by each officer and enlisted man, in column for that purpose.

VII. Owing to the large number of organizations reporting the impracticability of securing the necessary ranges for individual skirmish firing, it is deemed expedient to abandon the idea of including an individual qualification in such firing as a requirement for the awarding of medals for the present year. Commanding officers are directed, however, to endeavor to secure such ranges for the use of their commands as soon as possible.

VIII. The skirmish firing for the year 1902 will be by company, and will be held under the regulations adopted for such firing for 1899 in General Orders No. 12, series of 1899, A. G. O., with the following exceptions: The firing may be held at any time, in the discretion of regimental commanders, either before or after the completion of the course of practice at rectangular targets; the regulations will apply to the First Battalion of Artillery as well as the infantry regiments; the firing regulations for small arms governing the U. S. Army will govern in all cases not fully provided for, the same having superseded "Blunt's."

All company commanders who are able to secure ranges will practice their commands in this firing, and will make requisition on the Chief of Ordnance, direct, for one thousand rounds of ammunition for that purpose.

IX. The Cavalry and Signal Corps will continue to practice with the revolver, qualification with the carbine not being required for the present year. Company commanders will secure ranges as soon as possible, however, upon which the .30-caliber U. S. magazine carbine can be fired with safety. Great care will be exercised to prevent accidents when firing with the arm.

X. Ammunition for record practice will be issued by the Chief of Ordnance. Rifle ammunition will contain 70 grains of black powder and 405 grains of lead. Revolver ammunition will be Colt's revolver cartridges, caliber .38 long.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

GEORGE STONE, Adjutant General.

APPENDIX No. 16.

REPORT OF COLONEL THOMAS WILHELM ON DIVISION
ENCAMPMENT, 1901.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., July 15, 1901.

BRIG. GEN. W. H. SEAMANS, Adjutant General, State of California:

Pursuant to instructions I respectfully forward to you the following report, giving my impressions, from personal observation, of the recent mobilization at Santa Cruz, California, of the Division of National Guard of this State, commanded by Major General John H. Dickinson, N. G. C.

The concentration of the troops took place by virtue of the following General Order:

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
GENERAL ORDERS, 1 ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, CAL., March 28, 1901.
No. 2.)

(Extract.)

IV. In accordance with Section 2022, Political Code, State of California, the First, Second, and Third Brigades of the National Guard will assemble and encamp for discipline and drill at the State Camp of Instruction at Santa Cruz, California, on June 15, 1901, for a period of eight days, exclusive of the time necessary for transportation. The camp will be under the command of Major General John H. Dickinson, commanding Division, National Guard of California. Per diem will not be allowed nor paid from the State appropriation to officers, enlisted men, or musicians. Tentage will be issued to those organizations of the Guard having none, upon their arrival at camp. This is to be strictly a camp of instruction. Major General John H. Dickinson is charged with the execution of this order. He will arrange the details, including transportation, subsistence, and supplies, the expenditure for which is not to exceed the allotment for that purpose to be hereafter made.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

(Signed:) W. H. SEAMANS,
Adjutant General.

THE CAMP SITE.

The camp was located on the State military reservation, which contains one hundred and forty acres, with the privileges of sufficient maneuvering ground east of and adjacent to it, and something over two miles in an easterly direction from the railway station and principal business of the town.

The reservation is situated on elevated ground, or table-land, nearly three hundred feet above the town and bay, and is cut into on the south side by three deep ravines, and might be called the first great terrace back of Santa Cruz. The camp affords a lovely view of the picturesque village and surrounding productive country, as well as of the beautiful Bay of Monterey. Considering all advantages, I should question an effort to find a more delightful site for military purposes in the State of California. The acreage contains sufficient space for the display of a division of troops, but by the arrangement of the different regiments or brigades in camp a slight contraction was necessary. The ground for the maneuvers was somewhat limited; this latter, however, was well overcome by the Major General commanding in his orders for the various exercises of his command. This moderate congestion was due to the fact that a part of the ground was unavailable on account of cultivation. While the surface is slightly rolling, it is not sufficiently so to make the camp uncomfortable, or to relieve the site of its pleasing appearance. The drainage is excellent; the gentle slopes of the reservation place the ground within easy reach of the best sanitary requirements.

The camp ground is generally surrounded by trees or shrubbery of various kinds. The southern point, on which the cavalry and signal corps were located, was cultivated by its former owner as a park, and should not have been assigned to mounted troops; notwithstanding the utmost care, considerable damage was done to trees that required the time of a generation to raise.

Referring to the adaptability of the situation for a summer camp, especially in point of comfort for the men, one is reminded of the temperature, which is always moderated by the bracing ocean breeze, and with the buoyancy of the splendid climate so delightful in all Southern California, the hardship of the troops was brought to the minimum.

THE CAMP.

The camp was for the most part constructed by detachments sent to Santa Cruz a day in advance of their regiments. The tents were pitched with military correctness and in accordance with a plan indicated by the stakes of the Engineer Officer.

The latrines were placed on the abrupt slopes in the timber and undergrowth below the crest which surrounded the command, and well out of sight, also well removed from the contamination of the camp proper. The kitchens and cook fires were excellently located near the bank or crest, making an easy deposit for the débris; and for the short length of time these troops were in camp no great amount of disinfectants was necessary. Every attention was paid by the medical department in this connection. If, however, a cantonment should be maintained a greater length of time than the one in question, much care would have to be exercised as to its healthful state. But for a camp of eight days the action of the weather in this respect is all that is necessary between the withdrawal of the troops and reoccupation.

Should the entire division be again concentrated at Santa Cruz, I think it will be seen that some advantages would be gained by a considerable alteration in the location of organizations. This, for three reasons: convenience, cleanliness, as to dust, etc., and to relieve the congestion of the camp. I would suggest that one brigade be placed on the ground last utilized for maneuvers, two brigades on the old ground, the hospital and hospital corps where they were last located, division headquarters and the artillery battalion on the site occupied by the Seventh Infantry, the Naval Reserve, should it again be required, where the cavalry was, and all mounted troops on the field east of the location of General Last's brigade. This would very much lessen the open traffic through the camps and enable the regimental streets to have proper width; it would also give better distances for brigade and regimental headquarters. It is impossible to have cleanly or inviting messes at open roadways. While supplies must be hauled into camp, public vehicles and mounted persons not connected with the troops should be excluded, and roads can and should be constructed suitable to such regulations.

ARRIVAL OF TROOPS.

I arrived at Santa Cruz on the 14th of June, a day prior to that fixed for the incoming of the troops and the formal beginning of camp duty. I observed with some care the arrival of the different organizations and their march to their destination. Excepting great variety of collars, the men all appeared well as to dress and equipment. A few organizations had their packs transported by drays from the railway station. This was commendable and thoughtful, since the march covered some distance in the heat and dust, and the men being unaccustomed to the usual heavy military pack of the soldier, it would hardly seem necessary to impose the task of heavy marching order upon men not very well acquainted with the practice, when such can be had in camp exercises of shorter duration. However, with some exceptions, the packs carried by the men were neat, well adjusted, and looked well. The marching could be improved. In several of the corps distance was lost, the columns irregular, and the men somewhat unsteady. There was very little straggling on the way and the men reached camp in good shape and spirits. The large amount of unnecessary luggage transported with the men augmented the baggage far beyond reason.

An extra allowance of blankets, or a little extra bedding, could hardly be objected to under the circumstances, especially when applied to soldiers who are only a short time from home comforts; but to ship by rail or wagon, the tonnage as shown by these organizations out for a few days' duty, is not consistent with the work in hand, and while it is important to make the men comfortable, it is objectionable to allow them to encumber themselves with articles not needed. The necessary impedimenta is sufficiently difficult, and organizations should be carefully instructed in this respect.

SANITARY.

Colonel William D. McCarthy, the division surgeon, an experienced officer of the military service of the United States, with his corps of assistants, gave his undivided and energetic attention to the healthful requirements of the troops, and in my inspection of the camp and effort to find faulty or neglected conditions in the sanitary measures, I was agreeably disappointed. In my long experience in camp life I never saw better control in the interests of health. The hospital and accommodations for the same were most excellent, the attendance and appointments were superb. The arrangements, or preparations, covered all possibilities. In my conversation with Colonel Winslow Anderson, the efficient Surgeon General of the State, the highest praise was given by that officer to the medical department of the division.

This part of my report is necessarily brief, since criticism is out of the question.

ENGINEER DEPARTMENT.

Lieutenant Colonel T. W. M. Draper, the division engineer, who was very much interested in his work in the matter of the comfort and convenience of the command, especially as to maps, roads, water supply, the laying out of the cantonment, etc., accomplished his duty exceedingly well, considering the fact that all conditions were yet new and naturally not well within the control of that capable officer.

Through the generosity of the citizens of Santa Cruz, who furnished the means, and under the supervision of the engineer department, a permanent system of water pipes was placed into and through the camp. This system conveys excellent water over the reservation. The supply is obtained at the foot of the hill at the camp, and is pumped into two tanks, one of 5,000 gallons, the other of 10,000 gallons capacity, each of sufficient elevation to force the water to all points convenient to the troops.

It would be well here to mention the difficulties under which this department labors, on account of the absence of competent enlisted men as assistants. There seems to be no system by which details of men with any knowledge of the profession can be had. It was observed that in the important work of the department detachments were ordered to assist the engineer officer without the slightest regard to any understanding of the duties required of them, and they were absolutely unserviceable. This is an important department, and the service should, by all means, be provided with a permanent corps, composed of professional engineers as officers, and selected enlisted men, by legislative concessions.

QUARTERMASTER'S DEPARTMENT.

The Division Quartermaster's Department, in charge of Lieutenant Colonel Frederick J. H. Rickon, aided by Major J. W. A. Off, and other assistants, was well managed. In addition to a good military understanding, this department should have an excellent knowledge in the business world, for its duties are varied and important; it is loaded down with endless trust, such as providing shelter, clothing, fuel, forage, and other supplies, the purchase, hire, and care of animals, the work of transportation, and, in general, all things for the comfort and convenience of a command.

Upon the arrival of the troops the department was found to be in better shape than was expected, judging from the lack of knowledge prior to the encampment, as to the equipment or property on hand, and, though somewhat handicapped by the demands of inexperienced troops, there were less shortcomings than an experienced officer might expect to find.

However, there is cause for criticism, especially with reference to the large amount of extra and unnecessary baggage carried by the troops. While the railway company may transport with the men personal effects, free of charge, the cost of wagon transportation or drayage must be considered. This extra tonnage is cumbersome and exceedingly unmilitary, to say nothing of lumbering up the tents and camp with effects far beyond the requirements of the soldier's kit or needs. This can be controlled by the Quartermaster's Department, assisted by the regimental and detachment commanders, upon receipt of orders for field or camp duty.

It was observed that the animals of some of the mounted troops were very irregularly fed; so much so that their service might have been regarded as doubtful. Upon inquiry as to the cause, it was found that the issue of grain, hay, and straw was distributed to the animals without any regard to the regulation allowance per animal, resulting in over and under feeding. For this, detachment commanders are responsible, and should be held to account for inattention.

The excessive amount of fuel on hand at the conclusion of camp service indicated carelessness or want of judgment in making contracts, and must serve as an expensive experience for future mobilization.

Just after the camp was broken it was seen that one of the regiments had left more than one half of its tent pins in the ground, and throughout the camp, excepting the ground occupied by the Seventh Infantry, many small piles of unused tent pins were found abandoned, and labor had to be employed at considerable expense to pick up and care for this property. This is unpardonable carelessness, and should have been looked into by the regimental quartermasters.

The indiscriminate cutting of tent poles, as observed, should be prohibited. Now and then new uprights may be shortened, but in most cases a little depression made in the ground with a spade will serve the purpose, thus leaving the poles for future use where the tents may have to be pitched on irregular ground.

The department is embarrassed by the lack of proper assistants. There should be a non-commissioned staff of quartermaster sergeants, at least one for the division quartermaster, and one for each brigade quartermaster. These men should be selected with reference to special fitness and distinct from regimental organizations. Temporary details for such work are exceedingly unsatisfactory.

COMMISSARY DEPARTMENT.

The Commissary Department, in charge of Lieutenant Colonel Adolph Huber, was also well managed. The supplies for the men were obtained by contract, as well as by purchase in open market. They were most excellent. The fresh beef was of the best, and was issued so soon after its receipt that deterioration could hardly be expected; nevertheless, some of it was suspended upon racks in the full rays of the sun when it could have been more or less protected from the heat by a covering of canvas. Here, too, the details of men for issues were temporary, and could not render the service that would be expected from a permanent non-commissioned staff, which should, by all means, be authorized for this department. The commissary officer has sufficient work without performing that of enlisted men.

Generally throughout the camp the cooking was very good; it was done on improved field ovens by details of competent soldiers, and professional cooks hired for the purpose. At some of the kitchens considerable food was wasted. This was due to the lack of proper supervision on the part of the first sergeants, or non-commissioned officers designated for that duty, whom the captains should hold responsible for such work. Generally the tables were supplied with tableware owned by the companies, all in good taste, and necessary under the circumstances, but exceedingly hard to keep clean on account of the deluge of dust from the near-by roads not in the best control of higher authorities, though it is said that a sufficient number of sprinkling carts could not be obtained. Be this as it may, the fact remains that the men suffered and the distress should have been removed.

There was no lack of supplies, and no complaints were made excepting in one or two instances, which upon investigation were found unworthy of attention. This department deserves much credit, since it so excellently supplied the division under disadvantages, especially with reference to some inexperience on the part of detachments.

SIGNAL DEPARTMENT.

This department, under command of Lieutenant Colonel C. J. Evans, can not receive too much praise. In a short space of time after reaching camp the department put the commanding general in communication by wire with his entire command and the outer world. It was particularly efficient in keeping in touch with the extended field maneuvers, and I take pleasure in saying that, considering the duty in hand, I have not within my long experience seen better work performed with more alacrity than was accomplished by this body of men.

Notwithstanding this good work, the establishment is defective in its organization. There appears to be in existence a separate signal corps for each brigade. This at once indicates the possibility of embarrassment or confusion in responsibility and authority. The law should authorize a general corps for the entire Guard, placed in charge of a chief, with a general supervision of the department, and detachments should be allowed for brigades.

The present method may continue to work well, but the chances are against it under the varied circumstances liable to occur at any time.

NAVAL MILITIA.

The excellent detachment of the Naval Reserve, designated by Captain Thomas A. Nerney and commanded by Lieutenant Thomas S. Harloe, gave ample credit to this branch of the service, notwithstanding the disappointment in the shipment of its guns which were ordered from the steamer "Marion," and expected to reach the cantonment with the troops.

These guns arrived at Santa Cruz three days late and their absence marred the camp service to a considerable extent. The delay, it is reported, was wholly due to some misunderstanding or carelessness on the part of railway employés.

When the guns did arrive the work of the detachment was continued in demonstrating its usefulness as an important auxiliary of the land forces in camp, as well as in the extended field maneuvers which are generally not easily accomplished successfully without the aid of artillery. Though the guns were of small caliber, they served well in the school of comprehensive demonstration.

The use of the term "militia" as applied by the law to the naval force of the State seems to me unfortunate; it is now hardly synonymous with the highest meaning of the word "military," and in modern times has come to signify the undisciplined domestic or great latent forces subject to be called for the defense of a nation in its very last extremity.

The Constitution of the United States and the several Acts of Congress from 1792, including the Act of July 17, 1862, have made use of the word "militia" in connection with the enrollment of the masses for defense, but they refer mostly, or in a general sense, to the unorganized bodies of men hastily converted into armed organizations. This was very different from the general understanding to-day regarding formed and disciplined troops.

The National Guard of a State is already in voluntary service and has for its object immediate duty under discipline in constructed units. The military forces of the States are now generally authorized as National Guard; hence it is believed that the term "militia" is no longer a good appellation for troops constantly in readiness for service such as the military guard of a State.

The Naval Reserve of California is as far superior to what is now commonly known as "militia" as the professional is above the amateur, and should for various reasons be relieved of the inappropriate designation.

EQUIPMENTS OR PROPERTY.

The ordnance, clothing, camp equipage, etc., and, indeed, the supplies in general furnished for the use of the National Guard of this State for all purposes, were examined with much interest. I have inspected the military establishments of a number of States and found the troops supplied with fine equipments, but none to surpass those in the hands of the State Guard of California, either in quantity or quality. With the exception of some shortage of canvas, which necessitated the hiring of some tents (not of the army regulation pattern) to supply the deficiency, the property and stores generally are ample, yet furnished with an excellent display of reasonable economy.

The rifles and carbines of the troops, although things of the past, are in good service condition as far as they can be made so for the work expected of them; but the time is at hand when the old Springfield arms should be replaced by the small caliber.

The horse equipments are of the army pattern and apparently in the hands of men who take good care of them, thus saving to the State the frequent purchase of articles or parts lost or carelessly broken.

The canteens, haversacks, knapsacks or blanket bags, are of the regulation pattern and very good, but need more uniformity in marking. This can be done by directing the undeviating use of the regulation stencils or marking kits.

The clothing is also of the regular army pattern, and for the most part obtained by contract through the Uniform Board, and is made of good material. Exceptions might be taken to the fit of many of the garments; the best attention has not been given in the matter of sizes. Overcoats need not be issued to all the men in this climate. Twenty to a company will serve for the required guard duty or detached service at night.

The brown tents recently purchased from the United States Government by authority of the War Department are well made and of superb material; the fabric is of the twelve-ounce army duck. The color of the canvas, if it can be made permanent, is a very great improvement over the white shelter. This is especially noticeable in the subdued light induced by the dye, and is particularly grateful to patients in the hospital tents, who are so much relieved from the glare of the light. Upon my inspection of eighty-six of these tents after a two-weeks' exposure to the sun, I found them more or less faded; the sides exposed to the strongest light were most affected.

The tent poles are not the best. They are thin, brash, and easily broken.

Some time prior to the cantonment it was suggested that a storehouse be constructed at a suitable place on the reservation. I then expressed my convictions against it, for two reasons: the inadequacy of funds for the right kind of a building, and the absence of any means for its proper care.

The State military property is extensive and very valuable and of a tonnage that leaves no question as to great economy in storing it where it is required for use. Now that the State has a permanent camp ground at a place as convenient as possible for the scattered military organizations, I urgently recommend an appropriation for a suitable stone building to be located on the camp site, properly cared for and of sufficient dimensions to store all State property belonging to the National Guard which is required only for camp purposes. This would keep all this expensive camp equipage intact at one place, and under proper protection, as well as for immediate use. By the present method the transportation of camp appurtenances is not only very great, but the property is unavoidably more or less loosely scattered throughout the State and much of it, necessarily, without good storage.

Experience has shown the fallacy of the arguments in favor of allowing small organizations to go into camp separately. This consumes public property for work and improvement that can and should be accomplished in the armories.

A camp has no value unless it is devoted to instruction beyond the reach of home stations.

ADMINISTRATION.

In my effort to obtain information in regard to the internal management of the National Guard I was at once brought face to face with a lack of appreciation of the importance of the paper work essential to the service. There seems to be no display of promptness in attending to official communications in the subordinate commands. In my conversation with the chief quartermaster of the Division and others just prior to the encampment, I was informed that at none of the brigade headquarters could exact data be obtained as to the quantity, quality, and kind of equipment, etc., on hand among the troops for the coming concentration. This is due to the fact that official channels are more or less ignored; reports, returns, requisitions, and other communications are not sufficiently scrutinized at the various headquarters in transmission. They must all pass through intermediate commanders, and should be recorded so that they and their staff officers may have a complete record and know precisely what the organizations of their commands have on hand or may require.

It is not expected that the Adjutant General's office can know what supplies or equipment is necessary to replace shortage due to wear and tear or augmentation of organizations unless the best attention is paid to reports.

Upon the near approach of the field duty in question it was simply impossible to furnish the troops needed requisites in time for that duty. There should be no such circumstances. Should the Guard, or any portion of it, be required for immediate service, a knowledge of the facilities for such service should at once be obtainable through the chiefs of staff corps.

The paper work should be held to the regulations of the Adjutant General's office at Sacramento and so directed as to require the quarterly or frequent returns to be made systematically through the regular channels to the Adjutant General of the State. This would entirely set aside all reason for any statement to the effect that intermediate commanders and their staff officers are not in a position to know the conditions of their commands.

Upon further investigation it was found that when official channels were observed, the delay in the return of papers was of a nature that frequently required direct communication, regardless of propriety, in order to hasten administrative work. Such papers as can have no bearing upon intermediate headquarters, or any control by them, may be sent direct, but they are few and well understood. No officer from the highest to the lowest can disregard official channels and yet expect an intelligent administration or a proper acquaintance with the troops. Instances are known where several letters have had to be written in pursuit of important papers wholly neglected by the recipients. It is shown in one case that eight communications had to be written to a subordinate before the official information asked for in the first could be obtained. Surely this is inattention that deserves severe rebuke. When an officer is willing to hold a commission, he should be equally willing to perform the duties pertaining to it.

PERSONNEL.

There is much to be said for the enlisted men of the National Guard of California. I have observed these men with great interest. Coupled with the fact that without material compensation they are willing to give their time for military purposes in preparation for the defense of the State, is the difficulty they have in getting the instructions they are so much in earnest to obtain. They are excellent men and come from that class of the population always called upon to fight the battles of the Nation. To find that they do it well and most completely, we need only look at history.

The officer is the important individual of the service, clothed with a responsibility not always fully comprehended. Where the lives of men may at any moment be placed in the hands of a commander, it is important for that commander to apply himself as much as possible to a study and knowledge of his profession. To him the soldier looks for instruction and protection, and when the officer is incapable of imparting the one or giving the other, the service of the soldier can not be otherwise than inefficient.

Of various infractions of military propriety, it was frequently noticed that officers and enlisted men together visited drinking saloons and treated each other to intoxicants at public bars. This at once shows the entire absence of a proper understanding of their duties as officers and enlisted men. Whatever the home relationship, such an example here is destructive. Military efficiency is out of the question where there is such familiarity under such circumstances. The soldier can not have the right kind of respect for the officer who does not deport himself in a way unqualifiedly demanded by his position. These conditions are well known but not always appreciated, and, perhaps, may not be until the command is called for duty and placed in a strait where the men will ignore the officer, and deplorable failure the result.

Among the requirements in the officer's make-up are dignity, strength of character, careful attention to the needs of the soldier, and absolute justice, for there is no man so utterly helpless and forlorn as the soldier commanded by an incompetent officer. The enlisted man feels this incompetence and in his thoughts doubts and condemns his commander, and mentally, if not openly, questions every order and duty. The officer may not at once discover the cause of this attitude, but he will sooner or later be humiliated by failure. Discipline is an indispensable condition for the existence of good troops. It imparts cohesion and flexibility in an armed body of men. Where there is no discipline, an army is without control. First, an efficient officer; second, discipline; which latter may be defined as follows:

Discipline, in military affairs, is a general name for the rules and regulations prescribed and enforced for the proper conduct and subordination of officers and enlisted men. This is the technical meaning. In a higher sense, discipline is the habit of obedience. The individual acquires the habit of subordinating his own will or inclinations to those of his superior in rank without surrendering self-respect or individual rights. Without these qualifications a command is not efficient.

The principle is a good one where the colonel commands the officers of his regiment and holds them to a punctilious performance of all details that properly fall to them in connection with their men. They should be particularly careful in the accounts, and in keeping themselves well informed concerning the necessary wants of the soldiers. It is not admitted among well-regulated troops that the regimental commander can give the best attention to his own duties and at the same time assume the functions of the subordinate officers to whom he and the regulations must delegate the details, and whose business it is in their turn to perform those duties commensurate with their positions under the general supervision of the colonel.

The mobilization of the State troops was authorized for the higher information of the command, taking for granted that the detailed instructions preparatory to the concentration had been accomplished at home stations. It soon developed that the best attention had not been given in armories, and the work of the camp was hampered by the absence of a knowledge of many of the first principles; among them, for instance, instruction in guard duty and its importance, the duties of a sentinel, and how performed, manner of saluting, respect to colors, care of dress, handling the rifle, setting-up of the soldier, company guide, length and rapidity of step, the importance of keeping the body erect, looking to the front, keeping proper distance, etc. All these faults do not apply to the entire Guard, but are defects too frequently observed. Under the circumstances there would have been wisdom in officers' call each day purely for the purpose of imparting information touching these subjects, when so much relating to the details could have been communicated to the men without books or loss of time.

The general order issued by the commanding general inaugurating the duties of the concentrated division is an excellent one. It outlines a system of work covering all requirements without imposing hardships upon the command. Concerning the exercises, the order at once indicates a school for the higher and more extended military instructions, taking for granted that the work in the drill halls had had sufficient attention to bring the troops to a proficiency consistent with and preparatory to the work contemplated by the order. In this there was considerable disappointment. But it is another of the conditions showing the very great importance of bringing the various organizations together for comparison and emulation, and a better knowledge of the profession. It is evident that the field officers do not give the best attention to the interior economy of their regiments. Much depends upon the attentive supervision expected from them in this connection.

Since the officers should inspire confidence and loyalty through a good understanding of their duties, it may not be out of place here to give an idea as to the conditions that should exist between the officers and enlisted men. We will take for example the captain and his company, as follows:

There is no position in an army that will give as much satisfaction in return for an honest, capable, and conscientious discharge of his duty as that of a captain or commanding officer of a company. There is a reward in having done his full duty to his company that no disappointment of distinction, no failure, can deprive him of; his seniors may overlook him in giving credits, unfortunate circumstances may defeat his fondest hopes, and the crown of laurel may never rest upon his brow, but the reward that follows upon a faithful discharge of his duty to his company he can not be deprived of by any disaster, neglect, or injustice. He receives it when he looks upon his little command, and sees the harmony, comfort, and discipline that prevail; he feels it when he comes to part with his men in the due course of promotion, or as they individually take their discharge after a faithful service; he remembers it when, in after years, no matter if rank and honors have in the meantime fallen upon him, he meets an old soldier who with respect and affection still calls him his captain. He is a small sovereign, powerful and great within his little domain, but no imbecile monarch ever suffered more from intrigues, factions, and encroachments than an incapable company commander. No tyrant king must contend more with rebellions, insurrections, and defections than an arbitrary and unjust captain, and no wise and beneficent ruler ever derived more heartfelt homage, more faithful service, or more patriotic devotion than a just, competent, and faithful commander receives from his company. They will love him truly, they will obey him faithfully, and whilst there is life they will stand by him in the hour of battle.

The command of a company divides itself into two kinds of duty, requiring very different capacity, viz.: government and administration. The former requires force of character, judgment, and discretion, and has often been well performed without much capacity for the latter. Administration requires a certain amount of knowledge absolutely indispensable to a discharge of a duty.

Government.—Under this head may be included instructions in drill regulation and discipline, the preservation of order and subordination, and the cultivation of a military spirit and pride in the profession among men. It involves the appointing and reduction of non-commissioned officers, and the subject of rewards and punishments.

Administration.—Providing the clothing and subsistence of soldiers, and attending to the transportation of the men and their supplies, belong under this head. They involve the keeping of the records of the company and the accounts of the men, the drawing and distributing of supplies, and the care and accountability of public or company property. The efficient administration of the affairs of a company greatly facilitates the discipline and government of the company, makes the men content and cheerful in the performance of their duties, and attaches them to their commander.

By the foregoing criticism it must not be understood that much good work and commendable accomplishments of the National Guard of California are overlooked. Great credit is due this body of men for the proficiency attained under the adverse circumstances that obtain in the widely separated organizations, and for the considerable time given by the individuals from their necessary avocations for military improvement.

No troops are perfect, and these, like all others, are assembled for instructions, and must have much praise for their progress.

I was not situated so as to report intelligently upon the efficiency in the drills or field maneuvers of the Division. This will, no doubt, be embraced in the observations of the commanding general, or the reports of such officers, directly connected with the command, as may have been designated by him for the purpose, and who have had the opportunity to observe in detail the daily exercises of the troops.

Respectfully submitted.

APPENDIX No. 17.

REPORT OF MAJOR GENERAL JOHN H. DICKINSON ON DIVISION ENCAMPMENT, 1901,

Accompanied by Reports of Staff Officers.

REPORT ON "CAMP GAGE," HELD AT SANTA CRUZ, CAL., JUNE 14-23, 1901.

Submitted by Major General John H. Dickinson, Commanding Division, N. G. C.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., September 22, 1902.

To the Adjutant General of California, Sacramento, Cal.:

SIR: I have the honor to submit the following report of and concerning the encampment of the Division of the National Guard of California, held at Santa Cruz, California, commencing with June 14 and ending with June 23, 1901. The camp was named "Camp Gage," in honor of his Excellency, Hon. Henry T. Gage, Governor of California and Commander-in-Chief of its National Guard. This report has been delayed because of the interruption in settling up encampment matters, caused by the sudden and unexpected death of the late Adjutant General W. H. Seamans, who was very much interested in the camp, and worked very hard for its success, and in whose death the National Guard has lost a very good friend.

The attendance at this encampment was exceedingly satisfactory, considering the somewhat demoralized condition of the National Guard, as a result of the late war, and the further fact that some commands were unable to bring their full strength, because the occupations of many of their members required them, particularly at that time of the year, to remain at home. The average was about seventy per cent of the full strength of the Division.

QUARTERMASTERS.

The Quartermaster's Department was ably managed by Lieutenant Colonel Frederick J. H. Rickon, who was recently appointed Quartermaster on my staff, and who is an officer of large experience in the Quartermaster's Department of the Regular Army, of the Volunteer Army, and of the National Guard. The transportation of the entire Division to and from camp, its baggage and all stores and equipments, was handled entirely through this department. Lieutenant Colonel Rickon was unable to be present during the latter half of the encampment, so Brigadier General C. F. A. Last, commanding First Brigade, very kindly consenting thereto, Major J. W. A. Off, Quartermaster, First Brigade, was detailed to perform the duties of Division Quartermaster. This he did most ably and successfully, and to his executive ability and untiring efforts is largely due the successful administration of this department, and I here desire to thank Major Off, in behalf of the Division and myself, for the very intelligent and successful performance of his duties in this capacity.

COMMISSARY.

The Subsistence Department was ably conducted by Lieutenant Colonel Adolph Huber, Commissary on my staff, an officer of long experience in the Guard and in his department. His compilation of the ration return, forwarded herewith and marked Appendix A, is fully approved by me. The ration was an exceptionally good one, both in quality and quantity, and that it should not have cost more than it did, $0.3071 for each ration, speaks exceedingly well for the management of this department; for, considering the haste with which everything had to be purchased, handled, and delivered, the cost is usually a great deal more than it would be under normal conditions at a permanent encampment or military post.

SANITARY CORPS.

For purposes of administration, the Sanitary Corps was consolidated under the command of Colonel W. D. McCarthy, Division Surgeon. A general field hospital was established, fully equipped in every respect, and ably managed, which was a great credit to the Medical Corps of the National Guard and to the State of California itself. It is the only time in the history of the State that such a hospital has been established and maintained. Two trained female nurses from San Francisco, as well as the members of the Sanitary Corps of the various regiments, were in constant attendance. Two surgeons were also on duty day and night, and an ambulance was always kept ready to answer any and every call, both day and night. Fortunately it had to be used but seldom, as the health of the camp was exceptionally good. But one accident of a serious nature occurred, and that was the accidental shooting, by himself, with a blank cartridge, of Owen Donohue, of Company H, Fifth Infantry Regiment, which occurred upon the last day of the encampment. He was properly attended to and sent home to his family in charge of a surgeon and an assistant, where he was turned over to his family and their physician, in whose charge he remained some days, when he was removed to a hospital in the City of San Francisco, where he died, as I am informed, from blood-poisoning. I have heard some reports to the effect that his death was due to the negligence of the surgeons of the National Guard who attended him. I have caused diligent inquiry and investigation to be made in the premises, and as a result, am positive that such was not the case in any degree, and that if his death was due to negligence at any time, it occurred after he was turned over by our surgeons. We offered his family to furnish Donohue with all proper medical attention necessary at his home in Napa, but they courteously declined, saying they preferred their family physician.

ENGINEER DEPARTMENT.

The camp was laid out under the supervision of Lieutenant Colonel T. Waln-Morgan Draper, Engineer Officer on my staff, a man of large experience in his profession as an engineer, in the service of the National Guard of Colorado, and also in the Volunteer Army during the late war. The lack of Engineer Officers in brigades and regiments was severely felt at this encampment, and notwithstanding that the commanding officers had been warned and advised regarding this deficiency, they failed to make the necessary appointments and relied upon details, which, with one or two exceptions, were most unsatisfactory. I trust that some system will be adopted by which a Corps of Engineers can be established and officered upon the general plan of the Sanitary Corps as it now exists. The arrangement of the Sanitary Corps seems to work well under the present system, and I believe that it is practicable for a similarly organized Engineer Corps to be established and maintained at a very slight additional cost to the State, but at a very great advantage to the National Guard. Lieutenant Colonel Draper has submitted quite a voluminous report covering practice marches of the three brigades and other details of the camp, which report I submit, marked Appendix B. Some of his suggestions as to the grounds, etc., I approve, others I do not, but do not consider it necessary at this time to enter into these matters at any length.

SIGNAL CORPS.

The various detachments were consolidated, during encampment, under the command of Lieutenant Colonel C. J. Evans, Chief Signal Officer, and as they were mounted, they were able to and did make many expeditions in the surrounding country, in the performance of their duty. The work done by the Corps was very satisfactory, and showed great improvement and the result of intelligent and careful training. With the present Signal Corps of the National Guard, communication can be kept up within reasonable distance in any part of the State, independent of commercial telegraph or telephone system, and when fully equipped the Corps will compare most favorably with any other in the United States, not excepting those of the Regular Army.

Lieutenant Colonel Evans's report I forward herewith, marked Appendix C.

CAVALRY.

The four troops of cavalry were consolidated into a squadron, under command of the senior Captain present, and encamped together for administrative purposes. They performed the duties allotted to them with great promptness and effectiveness. In drills on the practice marches and in patrol duty, it would be difficult to find a more effective body of men than these four troops of cavalry proved to be, and considering that they were dependent for horses upon what they could hire, they were well mounted and able to march and parade in a most creditable manner.

PAYMASTER.

Under the supervision of Lieutenant Colonel A. B. C. Dohrmann, Paymaster Division, a system of accounts and checks was used which rendered it quite impossible for any mistake to occur and at the same time everything was very simple and very plain, not only to those who had dealings with the Division or any portion of it, but also to the officers and men of the Division itself.

The expenses of the encampment have been summarized in a separate statement, forwarded herewith and marked Appendix D.

ASSISTANT ADJUTANT GENERAL.

Colonel D. E. Miles, since retired, Assistant Adjutant General on the Division Staff, supervised and conducted the work of his department with great ability. Reports of attendance and of the usual details attendant upon a military encampment were required and furnished and consolidated, so that the effective force of the command was known at any and all times. Colonel Miles was faithfully and ably assisted by the aids, Major L. S. Schmitt and Major C. L. Hewes, the latter of whom has since been promoted to the office of Lieutenant Colonel and Signal Officer.

DIVISION STAFF.

The conduct of the business of the Adjutant General's office was most creditable.

U. S. ARMY INSPECTORS.

At my request, Major General W. R. Shafter, commanding the Department of the Pacific, very kindly detailed two officers of the Regular Army, Major George S. Young and Captain Elmer W. Clark, who spent the entire week with us in camp. I can not speak too highly of them, nor thank them too sincerely for the interest they took in the encampment. They were ready at all times to answer any and all questions propounded to them by the officers and to give instructions both in the field and in the tent, and I am glad to say that they were kept very busy, as the officers were intent upon learning all they could about their respective duties; and I here thank Major Young and Captain Clark most heartily for their assistance given me personally, and for their attention to the officers and men of the National Guard, during the encampment at Camp Gage.

CEREMONIES.

During the week we were honored by a visit from His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, Governor Henry T. Gage, who reviewed the Division and expressed himself as well pleased with its appearance and movements. During the week also, Major General W. R. Shafter, U. S. A., now retired, who has always been a sincere friend of the National Guard, and who has always assisted us in every way that he could, both officially and otherwise, visited us and participated in the review given to the Commander-in-Chief, and he also expressed himself as pleased with the appearance and movements of the Division.

MARCHES.

During the encampment, each of the three brigades was sent out for a practice march, accompanied by a troop of cavalry, a detachment of the Signal Corps, and a detachment of the Sanitary Corps, the men being required to carry their rations, blankets, and equipment, as only two wagons were allowed to each brigade for the transportation of headquarters' baggage, hospital stores, etc. Each command remained out one night, camping at a distance of from seven to ten miles from the main camp, and engaging in such maneuvers as the General commanding the march directed, both going and returning.

I am satisfied that these marches were of great benefit, for they gave the officers and men an idea of the moving and the handling of a large body of troops and in caring for their equipments, etc., in the field, and also furnished a change from the regular routine of all former Division encampments.

CAMP GROUNDS.

The grounds donated by the City of Santa Cruz, for encampment purposes, are ample for the various commands as they now are. The Division camp was somewhat cramped in two or three of the commands, on account of the difficulty in getting the water-supply properly distributed. This being the first encampment held upon the grounds, the citizens of Santa Cruz very kindly put in for us the water pipes and tanks for the supplying of water, but instead of getting the water, as they originally expected, from a reservoir by gravity, they were obliged to take the water from a creek at the bottom of the hill and pump it up to the encampment grounds. As this was not known until very near the encampment time, we were unable to have the water distributed as we should like to have done, and therefore had to crowd the troops more than would otherwise have been necessary. The camp site itself is a very healthy one, and there was sufficient room for all purposes.

STAFF ADMINISTRATION.

I desire to call your particular attention to the fact that at this encampment everything pertaining to the Quartermaster's, Commissary's, Paymaster's, Signal Corps', Assistant Adjutant General's, and other departments was conducted as nearly as could be in accordance with regulations, and was attended to personally by the various officers of these staff departments, the officers of the Division Staff performing the duties of Chiefs of Departments; that all the officers of these various departments who were present at camp, performed the duties allotted to and expected of them under the rules of the U. S. Army as well as of those governing the National Guard, and it was so done for the first time in the history of our National Guard. I am satisfied that this system has had the very best effect upon the staff officers throughout the State, and that the lessons there learned have already borne fruit in the encampments held during the present year, and will continue to bear fruit in all future time. An officer, to properly respect his position, must be called upon to perform the duties which pertain to it, and unless he does, he naturally loses interest and fails to keep up the education necessary to their proper performance, and there is no educator so good as actual experience in an encampment or in active service.

In conclusion, I desire to thank the officers and men of the National Guard of California for the interest and zeal with which they participated in and performed their duties at Camp Gage. It is a considerable undertaking to bring three thousand men together on one day, and take them into camp to remain eight days and provide them with all the necessaries of life while so encamped, and to maintain good order and discipline and health. As is usually remarked, everything gets to running smoothly about the time the encampment ends, and while this is true to a great extent, it speaks well for the National Guard that it is able to accomplish so much in so short a time and under adverse circumstances, since transporting and providing for so many men and their baggage strain the Quartermaster's, Commissary's and Medical Departments to their utmost limit. That they should be able to get into "good running order about the time the encampment ends," speaks volumes for the intelligence and zeal with which these duties were performed, and no greater argument can be advanced in favor of the holding of encampments of the National Guard.

Respectfully submitted.

APPENDIX A.

HEADQUARTERS DIVISION,
NATIONAL GUARD OF CALIFORNIA.Office of the Division Commissary, Lieut. Col. Adolph Huber.

MILLS BUILDING, SAN FRANCISCO, August 13, 1901.

To the Adjutant General, Division, N. G. C.:

SIR: I have the honor to report herewith on the subsistence of troops of this command at Camp Gage, Santa Cruz, in part of the month of June, 1901, and beg to make such recommendations as will better facilitate the operating of this department in the future.

The period for which troops were subsisted commenced June 13th, on the arrival of the advance guard, and ended June 25th, when all organizations had reached their respective home stations. During the period, a total of 23,838 rations were issued, including issues to civilian employes. The quality and variety of the ration were good and generally satisfactory. The quantity per ration, as provided in schedule on ration return blanks, sample of which is inclosed herein, proved to be an ample allowance, with the exception of two of the components, viz.: fresh beef and potatoes, and I am of the opinion that it was not the quantity of these components that was insufficient, as it was the inexperience, or lack of judgment and prudence, manifested in preparing, cooking, and serving same, for I personally observed in one instance that unnecessary waste, due to carelessness, was the direct cause of shortage. The money value of stores issued in excess of the regular allowance provided for was, however, very little, amounting to less than one third of a cent per ration on the total number issued. The ordinary wastage, resulting from issuing and shrinkage, was exceedingly light. An allowance in weight on shanks of fresh beef, together with shrinkage, occasioned an actual wastage on this component of about three per cent.

Four hundred pounds of fresh meat was condemned by the Sanitary Department as unfit for issue, owing to deterioration caused by exposure. While every precaution was taken to preserve stores, there was a lack of necessary facilities for properly protecting same, and I urge that a commissary storehouse be erected, as such a structure is indispensable for thorough preservation of subsistence supplies awaiting transfer to troops.

The forwarding of requisitions to this department, and the drawing of rations, were performed in a most dilatory manner. Punctuality was entirely disregarded, and the listlessness that prevailed was most flagrant, displaying no pretention to military discipline. Rigid measures should be taken to have this service properly and promptly performed, as such apathy hampers this department and causes general dissatisfaction in subsisting troops.

The total amount expended for the 23,838 rations issued, including cost of supplies, salaries of employes, and the cash allowance of 5 cents per ration, was $7,322.86, or a net cost of $0.3071 for each ration.

Respectfully submitted.

(Signed:) ADOLPH HUBER,
Lieutenant Colonel and Division Commissary.

MILLS BUILDING, SAN FRANCISCO, September 1, 1901.

To the Assistant Adjutant General, Division, N. G. C.,

Mills Building, San Francisco:

SIR: In submitting my report of the Division Encampment of the National Guard of California, at Camp Gage, Santa Cruz, California, I find it necessary to draw attention to various matters bearing upon my department, prior to my appointment as Engineer Officer on your staff.

CAMP SITE.

The camp site, or rather, what might be more properly termed "The California State Military Reservation," came into possession of the commonwealth—quoting from "a communication from the commissioners appointed for the purpose, to His Excellency the Governor, Hon. Henry T. Gage, dated San Francisco, December 20, 1899," as follows:

"The undersigned, acting under and by virtue of the authority therein conferred upon them, by an Act of Legislature, entitled 'An Act to establish a camp of instruction for the National Guard of the State of California, and to authorize the acquisition, by donation, of a site for the same,' approved March 4, 1899 (Statutes 1899, page 65), beg leave to report that the City of Santa Cruz, having received, by bequest, a tract of land known as the 'De Laveaga Heights,' embracing upward of 600 acres, offered to donate to the State of California such portion of said tract as might be required. No offer has been received from any other source. The commissioners named in said Act have visited the proposed camp site at Santa Cruz, twice, and have thoroughly examined it and carefully considered its position and availability from every standpoint."

The communication goes on to recite further: "After consulting with the Mayor and other officials of the City of Santa Cruz, and considering the matter fully, we beg leave to recommend that the offer of Santa Cruz be accepted, and that a deed be accepted by the State to a portion of the land mentioned, to about 130 acres, with the right to use such portion of the remainder as the commanding officer of any encampment sees fit to use during such encampment. The City of Santa Cruz to furnish all necessary water for any encampment; the same to be piped to such places as may be indicated, when the camp shall be established. The City of Santa Cruz to care for and keep the camp site in good condition, together with any building and property thereon, and to have the use of the camp site when the same is not occupied by the troops, but the same is not to be plowed or cultivated in any manner. The said City of Santa Cruz also to provide not less than three arc lights during the encampment, free of charge."

The report of the commissioners having been favorably acted upon, the deed was prepared and executed the 27th day of March, 1901, by the proper authorities of the City and of the County of Santa Cruz to the State of California, for 130 acres in fee simple and the use of upwards of 470 acres, or the balance of the De Laveaga tract, for maneuvers, drills, etc. In their report, the commissioners stated that the tract of land offered was everything that could be desired. Whilst fully concurring in the selection of this site for a military reservation, to be used principally for encampments of the Guard, and in all statements made by the commissioners as to the location, sanitary condition, accessibility, etc., a serious error, in my opinion, was made when only 130 acres were deeded for a permanent site to the State. The addition of 70 acres, which the City and the County of Santa Cruz would have been glad to deed, would have been very wise, leaving a balance of 400 acres for maneuvering purposes. This contention was immediately and amply proven on the first opportunity that the Guard was encamped on the site, viz.: at the recent Division camp, when it became necessary to crowd the troops into a space too small for them, in order to reserve the plateau to the southwest for drill and review purposes. Had this tract been available for tentage, the congestion so evident in the main camp could have been most materially relieved to the end that greater comfort, order, and discipline might be maintained. A much larger level space, a little farther south and across a small ravine, should have been included in the acreage deeded to the State originally. This particular tract, not being within the limits of the 130 acres deeded to the State, but forming part of the De Laveaga tract, had been leased by the City of Santa Cruz to a man who had raised a large crop of hay and who refused to remove his crop. I understand that some public-spirited citizens of Santa Cruz purchased this crop, and partially removing it, placed the ground for the last two days of the encampment at the disposal of the troops. This could have been avoided if the State had owned a sufficient acreage, instead of having merely the use of all land over 130 acres and under 600 acres, during the encampment. I have been told that this could not occur again; further, that another Division Encampment is most remote, which is hardly an answer, as the tendency is toward larger mobilization of troops in every direction. The Secretary of War will bring before Congress, I am reliably informed, a bill to insure the mobilization of large bodies of the United States Regulars and State troops at annual periods. What more probable than that the State reservation should be selected for such mobilization? Even without this, the movement is toward larger Guards, longer encampments, and schools of instruction. I have been informed that the City of Santa Cruz would be glad to deed a further acreage to the State, and can see no possible reason why an effort in this direction should not be made. A board appointed for this purpose could, with the experience of the recent Division Encampment before it, readily select whatever additional acreage is necessary. Such board should be convened at once. Further, when this property was left to the City of Santa Cruz, it was with the understanding that it should be used for park purposes, and consequently it is not at all improbable that the City of Santa Cruz may lay out a public park on that portion of the tract not owned by the State. Should this be done, it is very questionable whether the State could acquire further acreage for its military reservation.

The City of Santa Cruz carried out its agreement to furnish water to the troops during the recent encampment, and laid pipe wherever directed to do so by the Division Engineer. This did not include the laying of any pipe for camp purposes on the present review and parade ground. Whether the City of Santa Cruz would be willing to extend this pipe system, necessitating also an increase in the number of water tanks, is a question I am not prepared to answer; but, should it not be willing to do so, the State on its part should supply the deficiency.

I would therefore respectfully recommend that a complete survey be made of the entire tract of 600 acres, which has been done only partially and most inaccurately; that the City and the County of Santa Cruz be requested to deed the additional acreage required to the State, accompanied with a more distinct agreement as to the uses the part not deeded should be put to; that the final tract owned by the State should be distinctly marked by monuments, and that the whole should be properly laid out for military purposes. It is my opinion that, should the additional and needed acreage be acquired, the whole tract owned by the State could be used for the encampment of between 5,000 and 6,000 men, and give them at the same time additional territory for all necessary maneuvers. The time to act upon this is the present, as the land will undoubtedly become more valuable as time goes by. It is well, also, to draw your attention to the fact that the present officials of the City and the County of Santa Cruz are friendly to the Guard, but may at any time be succeeded by those who are not so well disposed.

The De Laveaga military reservation is located about two miles from the City Hall, back of Santa Cruz; the elevations of the tract above sea-level vary from 270 to 300 feet. The same forms a table-land, or mesa, and is the first marked elevation of ground going back from the sea. The actual camp site, as shown by the accompanying map, is cut into on the south by three deep ravines, and it may be said that several other ravines render a large part of the De Laveaga Heights tract unavailable for camping purposes. The surface of the plateau, reached by an excellent wagon road constructed by the City of Santa Cruz, is not entirely flat, but could be made so with very little expenditure. It is not necessary, and, in fact, it is not desirable, that a site on which troops are to be encamped should be made absolutely level—quite the contrary; but there are a number of gullies and slight elevations which seriously detract from the acreage available for tenting purposes. The drainage of the tract is all that could be desired; it slopes from the table-land rapidly and upon all sides. The slopes of the gullies and cuts are covered with brush and timber, which should be carefully preserved and cared for. The plateau itself is fringed all around with a growth of brush and trees. It is traversed by a good wagon road, and is accessible by means of rail and water from all points of the State. It might be well in the future, as the importance of the reservation increases, to have the railroad company construct a spur from its main line to a point near the reservation. This would save a great deal in the way of transportation of quartermaster and commissary stores, as well as a gain in landing in rapidly, and carrying away the troops directly from the encampments.

As an appendix to my own report, I have added reports of the brigade engineers, who carried out, under orders from myself, the details of locating the three brigades on the camp site. The only diversion from the camp plan, as originally designed by me, was in the case of the First Brigade, where it was found expedient to arrange the tents in a different manner from that first contemplated. Major J. H. Dockweiler, Engineer Officer, First Brigade, gives, in his report, the reasons for that change, which I approved, and appends a map showing the changes. The location of the First Brigade remained unchanged, only a different arrangement of the tents having been made. The camp as laid out in the plan gave room for the encampment of 3,000 men and officers, forming three brigades, or one division. There were numerous methods shown on the plan, for laying out camps. This was done for two purposes: first, on account of the character of the ground and the limited terrain; and secondly, as an object lesson to the troops to show different methods of laying out a camp, preserving the necessary and usual uniformity in the commands. Had more ground been available, a much better and more uniform plan of camp could have been had.

No funds or time was available to make a complete topographical survey of the camp site, and consequently I had to take the outlines from a preliminary survey made by the City Surveyor of Santa Cruz, who showed on his plan a level territory of larger acreage than actually existed. He assured me that this was correct, but I subsequently ascertained that he had taken the fringe of trees and brush surrounding the table-land as his highest contour, whereas, as a matter of fact, this contour existed above his lines all around the camp site at a higher elevation, ranging from five to twenty-five feet. In laying out the work at the camp, I subsequently discovered this to be the case, but still it was possible to encamp the Division on the territory. In any future Division camp, I would recommend that the Sanitary Corps be given the exclusive territory embraced in that tongue of the table-land recently occupied by the Cavalry and Signal Corps; that the Division Headquarters be located at the head of the tract occupied at the last encampment by the First Brigade; that the Cavalry and Signal Corps be located where the Second Brigade had its headquarters; and that the First Brigade be located on the tract recently occupied by the Third Brigade; the Third Brigade, Quartermaster, and Commissary Departments occupying the present review and parade ground. This, of course, is all subject to changes as the different commands increase or decrease in size, and could be better worked out after a thorough topographical survey of the reservation has been made.

THE WORK OF THE ENGINEERS.

It had been contemplated by the Division commander, when he issued General Orders No. 4, that the brigade engineer officers and the officers designated as regimental engineers should be detailed to report two days before camp, to the Division Engineer. This would have given the Division Engineer eight engineer officers—three brigade and five regimental; but the orders were misunderstood, or, at least, not carried out. It would have been possible for this force to have detailed officers to accompany the brigade commanders on their practice marches and other maneuvers made, and have had reports of everything concerning the Engineer Department that occurred during the encampment. As a matter of fact, the only brigade engineer to report was Major J. H. Dockweiler, of the First Brigade, the officers of the Second and Third Brigades failing to attend the camp. The Colonel of the Seventh Infantry and the Colonel of the Fifth Infantry detailed officers as acting engineers, but they had to perform so many other duties, both staff and line, that it was impossible for these two gentlemen to be made effective for this purpose; consequently, the technical reports of the various movements during the camp are defective. I wish especially to draw attention, however, to the able manner in which Captain Norboe, acting Brigade Engineer Officer of the Third Brigade, mapped and reported on the practice march of that command; and to the very full report of Major Dockweiler, both on the camp and on the practice march of the First Brigade. Having, therefore, an engineer force limited practically to Major Dockweiler and myself, with occasional assistance from Captain Norboe and one or two other acting engineers, the plans, as outlined, were very meagerly carried out. The details to have been made under General Orders No. 4 of the Division, comprise a detail for the entire encampment; but, for above reasons, it was not done.

The Division commander also contemplated, and so instructed the Division Engineer, having a series of lectures on military field engineering held by the Division Engineer for the instruction of the officers of the Division. These lectures were prepared, but opportunity was lacking to hold lyceums.

The Division Engineer issued a printed sheet of instructions in reference to elementary military field engineering, which was distributed widely among the officers of the Division, and a copy of which is appended to this report.

Unfortunately, the military law of the State allows of but three engineers in addition to the Division Engineer—one for each brigade. I understand that formerly there were regimental engineers, which would have given a somewhat larger force to operate with than that recently available. The United States Government, as well as other countries, is constantly increasing its engineer forces, and the engineer to-day, in civil life, is growing more important in every possible enterprise. As warfare becomes more scientific and technical, this movement is bound to increase. Men must be specially trained for the work and none but professional engineers should be allowed commissions in the National Guard as engineer officers. To show the importance of the engineer service in the recent war with Spain, a special Act of Congress, prepared by the highest military authorities in the country, provided a brigade of three regiments of U. S. Volunteer Engineers, the officers of which came from the very best technical men in the United States; and, at the present session of Congress, when the army was increased, a regiment of engineers was provided for in place of the former battalion of four companies. It would seem, in this day of technical and scientific advancement, which is spreading in every direction, that it would be better to have increased rather than to have diminished the military engineer force of the State; and I have ventured to append to my report the outlines of a bill for an engineer staff corps and one company of engineers, which is modeled on the same lines as is that of the U. S. Engineer Department, and in the preparation of which suggested bill I have had able assistance from U. S. Army officers. As such a bill would need legislative enactment, I have made a recommendation to do temporary service until proper legislation can be procured.

The actual work done by the engineers during the tour of duty at Camp Gage was: first, the laying out of the camp; second, running the lines and supervising the water system and pumping plant; and third, supervising the erection of an additional tank, capacity 10,000 gallons, there being already on the ground a tank of 5,000 gallons capacity. In addition thereto, engineers accompanied the brigades in their practice marches and maneuvers and bivouacs, and have reported on same. Field books, with printed and typewritten instructions, were distributed to all the officers of the staffs, which instructions they were to read and follow out, and to note in the field books the movements made by the troops to which they were attached. There was also procured a modest engineering outfit, which, however, did not comprise any surveying instruments. This, in the future, should be attended to, and a proper technical and scientific apparatus should be acquired, and officers and men trained in the use of same.

It was not possible to give any illustration of entrenchment work or other military field engineering, as the time was too limited. If the encampment had been for thirty days, instead of a week, matters of this kind, which are of the greatest importance when in the field in actual warfare, can and should be attended to. In the presence of an enemy, an officer in charge of a small body of troops should be able to know what material to use and how to use it to the best purpose and with the greatest rapidity. He should know how and where to select a camp site for his command; he should know how to throw a bridge across a stream, or how to destroy one to cover his retreat. These, and numerous other things, are important, and are constantly occurring; and it is not possible, without a proper organization of engineers, to inculcate these very necessary details in the care of troops by those in command.

WATER SUPPLY.

In May, the Division Engineer, accompanied the Commanding General to Santa Cruz, to examine the camp site and lay out the water system. In conference with the city authorities of Santa Cruz, who seemed willing to do all in their power, it was decided to adopt the city engineer's survey of the camp site. This, as already stated, was found to be erroneous; however, the line of pipe to conform with it and supply the future camp was staked out by the Division Engineer, and on these lines the pipes were subsequently laid. On account of the city authorities having ordered their pipe from the East, there was considerable delay in placing same in position, and this was not done in time nor in a satisfactory manner. As a matter of fact, pipes were still being laid when the troops arrived, whereas the understanding had been that everything should be in readiness and the water running through the pipes a week before the period fixed for the mobilization of the troops. This was needful for testing the system and cleansing the pipes. The size of pipe specified, two-inch, was secured and was found sufficient, and the necessary number of plugs was put in. The pumping plant was in no way satisfactory. It had been supposed that the city would purchase a proper plant, but as a matter of fact, it did not do so, but rented a pump from the Joshua Hendy Company, of San Francisco, and made a contract with some parties owning a portable boiler to pump the water from Branciforte Creek, 80 feet above sea-level, up an elevation of 225 feet to the table-land; across this, and thence up a further elevation of 30 feet to the 10,000-gallon general distributing tank. It was also agreed that the city should build two 5,000-gallon tanks, in addition to the one already existing on the property, and the positions of these tanks were staked out; however, without consulting with the proper authorities, the City of Santa Cruz erected one 10,000-gallon tank. This and the 5,000-gallon tank in existence, were situated on trestle platforms about 30 feet above the elevation of the plateau, so that the course of the water from Branciforte Creek at the pumping point made it necessary to first raise the same 225 feet; thence on a level across the plateau to the 10,000-gallon tank; thence a vertical height of 30 feet; in all, a distance of about 1,000 feet of two-inch pipe and three elbows.

Another fault to be found with the water system was that the pipes were not buried sufficiently deep; in consequence, the sun heated the water and made it more or less unpalatable, although no fault could be found with the sanitary condition of the water, which, I am informed by the surgeons, was not the cause of any sickness during the encampment.

The location of the pumping plant was on the right, or south, side of Branciforte Creek, and the agreement by the city, as made with the pumping people, I am informed, was that a minimum of 2,800 gallons of water should be delivered in the tanks per hour. As a matter of fact, this amount was never reached, although the pumping plant ran almost incessantly night and day. For the two days prior to the mobilization of the troops, it was with great difficulty that even the small advance guard at the camp was supplied with water. However, conditions improved as the machinery got down to working order and the leaks in the pipes were stopped, and, on the whole, the pumping service was fairly satisfactory, reaching a minimum supply of 2,000 gallons per hour. It would seem to me that a permanent pumping plant, capable of supplying 5,000 gallons per hour, is an absolute necessity, with a permanent building of brick or stone, which should be regarded as one of the camp outposts. The location of this pumping plant was not on the reservation, but a permanent one should undoubtedly be located within the confines of the State's property. The further extension of the pipe-line to supply the present review and parade ground is a necessity, and this should include another local supply tank of 5,000 gallons. The water for the camp was all supplied from the 10,000-gallon tank, which was located on the main road traversing the reservation near the First Brigade camp, and which supplied directly, through a pipe, the Cavalry and Signal Corps, and the stables. The supply for the First, Second, and Third Brigades, Division Headquarters, and Sanitary Corps was from and through the 5,000-gallon tank, located in the rear of the First Infantry. There is an abundance of water for 5,000 men and 1,000 horses in Branciforte Creek, and steps should be taken to guard its sanitary condition, by condemnation and the preservation of its water, it being practically the only available source from which the reservation can be supplied.

The whole question of water supply, both from a sanitary and an available standpoint, should be speedily attended to. In fact, all matters pertaining to the camp site should be taken in hand by a board of engineers, for the future preservation and usefulness of the State's property. As it is now, we have a piece of territory with a poorly constructed water system and more or less unsanitary and impracticable conditions, with no satisfactory arrangements for the future as to the permanent and essential water supply.

LATRINES.

The Division Engineer was called upon to submit designs for latrines and he submitted two, permanent and temporary, a blueprint of which is attached to this report. The funds available were not sufficient to build the first class of permanent ones, but it was found that the design submitted for the temporary sinks answered all purposes. These latrines were approved by the Sanitary Corps, and should be available for several years, if properly taken care of. They were located out of sight, and well below the fringe of trees and brush, and their position selected with a view to their not being near the kitchens and as far from the tents as possible. They worked well in every particular, so far as I could judge. There were thirty-one latrines built, and they cost $23.57 each.

Sketches were also made for a permanent building for the use and storage of quartermaster and commissary stores. Funds were not available, however, for the erection of the same. Such a building, or buildings—for there should be at least two, one for each department—should have early consideration, as well as a watchman's house, permanent fencing, and gates.

A point should be selected on the reservation for a battery of four to six pieces, where instruction in the use of artillery could be given.

For detailed reports on the practice marches made by the three brigades, I refer you to the appended reports. The Engineer Officers were especially instructed to note the topography of the country passed through, its availability for defense and attack, possible camp sites, advantages or disadvantages for wood, water, and forage, roads, trails, railroads; in fact, all things necessary for a knowledge of the country. Field books, with special instructions, were furnished brigade and regimental officers, by your orders, for the noting of all these points; but I regret to report that the few books turned in contain no information of the country marched through, which comprised three distinct routes to and from the camp. This is to be regretted, as a knowledge of the immediate camp vicinity would be of value for future operations.

There are, of course, numerous suggestions that could be made, but this should be left to a board of officers, who could decide on the best means of using the reservation, for the instruction of the Guard.

Respectfully,

CAMP GAGE, CAL., June 19, 1901.

To LIEUT. COL. T. WALN-MORGAN DRAPER,

Division Engineer Officer, N. G. C.:

SIR: I have the honor to transmit herewith a map of the territory covered by the Third Brigade in a march from Camp Gage, June 17th, and to submit therewith the report.

Leaving quarters, brigade left the confines of the military reservation where the camp road intersects the public highway from Santa Cruz to Soquel, near where the highway crosses Branciforte Creek, about three hundred yards east of the County Hospital. The march was then up the cañon of Branciforte Creek, along the public road, which is very narrow, in places not exceeding twenty-four feet in width. The roadbed is very good, being firm and affording good footing for horses, not excessively dusty, with no steep hills either ascending or descending. Some of the bridges are old and would probably require some repairs if a large force was to be conducted over them. The road is fenced on both sides a greater part of its length and usually flanked with a dense growth of heavy timber or undergrowth. The slopes of the hills on either side are steep, sometimes rocky, and nearly always covered with dense brush, which would be extremely difficult to penetrate, excepting an occasional narrow ridge which may be bare.

The crest of the hills on either side are from one half to one and a half miles distant, for the most part devoid of timber and affording excellent positions for the artillery of an enemy to play upon a column on the road.

There are no outlets from the cañon by which to take wagon trains and artillery, excepting the roads shown on the accompanying map, and noted in the note-book furnished: as Granite Creek, station 27; Happy Valley Creek, station 47; and up either branch of the road at McGary's.

Wood and water are plentiful all along the line.

Forage for animals is plentiful.

Produce for subsistence can be obtained at the farms, but only in limited quantities.

The site of the bivouac was chosen for its comfortable position without regard to tactical considerations.

Protection to the line of march could only be effectually afforded by flankers and outposts in strong force, occupying the adjacent ridges running parallel to the line of march.

An enemy once in possession of the heights, with artillery, would have the column at its mercy, and owing to the steep, brushy slopes intervening would have practically an impregnable position.

No water seems to be available on the heights.

The return march to Camp Gage being over the same road as traversed in going out, no journal was kept of the march, excepting to check some of the observations of the former march going out.

Respectfully,

(Signed:) P. M. NORBOE,

Acting Engineer Officer, Third Brigade.

HANFORD, CAL., September 3, 1901.

To LIEUT. COL. T. WALN-MORGAN DRAPER,
Engineer Officer, Division, N. G. C.,
San Francisco, Cal.:

SIR: Replying to your request for a report from me, as Engineer Officer, Third Brigade, N. G. C., at Camp Gage, June 15th to 23d, I have to say:

My duties as Engineer Officer during the encampment consisted of:

1. Keeping a journal of the operations of Third Brigade during a practice march and bivouac June 16th and 17th, a report of which, with map of the route, I submitted at the time.

2. Making a sketch of the camps of the Second Infantry and Sixth Infantry, comprising Third Brigade, a blueprint of which map I have the honor to transmit under separate cover.

I also transmit, under separate cover, the field book furnished me by Division Engineer's office.

Very respectfully,

(Signed:) P. M. NORBOE,
Captain Sixth Infantry,
Detailed Engineer Officer, Third Brigade.

HEADQUARTERS SECOND BRIGADE, N. G. C.,
OFFICE OF THE BRIGADE ENGINEER,
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., July 31, 1901.

To LIEUT. COL. T. WALN-MORGAN DRAPER,
Division Engineer Officer, National Guard of California:

SIR: In compliance with a letter from your headquarters, dated July 19, 1901, requesting a report from this office on Camp Gage at Santa Cruz, California, during the month of June, 1901, I have the honor to report that, pursuant to your request, I proceeded to Santa Cruz, California, on the 26th day of May, 1901, arriving at that place on same date.

Under your direction I assisted in laying out the camp of the Second Brigade, National Guard of California, which was done in accordance with plans laid out and designed by yourself under instruction of Major General John H. Dickinson, and approved by him May 9, 1901. The camp was laid out on a reservation deeded to the State of California for the use of the National Guard of California for encampment purposes, at a place known as Laveaga Heights, Santa Cruz, California, and which Heights are at an elevation of about 270 to 310 feet above the level of the sea, and situated about two miles northeast of the center of the City of Santa Cruz, having an area of 130 acres.

The surface of this reservation is very irregular, comprising four foothill spurs separated by deep gulches, and all merging together at the northeastern portion of the reservation. The northerly spur, which commences at the southwesterly portion of the reservation, running thence in a northeasterly direction to where it merges with the others (comprising an area of about 50 acres), was selected for the main camp of the several brigades, exclusive of the camp site occupied by the troops of Cavalry, Signal Corps, and corrals for the various horses of the Division, which occupied the spur immediately south of the main camp site.

The Second Brigade occupied the central portion of this spur, being on the immediate left of the Third Brigade and extending to the right of the First Brigade, having a front of about 525 feet and a depth of 550 feet.

The camp was laid out in the following manner: The Fifth Infantry Regiment on the right, the First Infantry on their immediate left, and the First Battalion of Artillery on the left of the First Infantry Regiment, all fronting to the south. The company streets of each command were laid out parallel to each other.

The Fifth Infantry Regiment camp was laid out so that the tents should be pitched in columns of companies, each parallel to the other; four companies facing northeast and five companies facing southwest toward the main street. Each company had a separate street, excepting the two companies which faced the main street. The width of the company street was designed to be 20 feet, and the main street 45 feet. The company officers' tents were on the flank of their respective commands, in the order of their rank, facing on the same street with their commands, being separated from the latter by an intervening space of 20 feet. The tents of the field and staff were in line in rear of, and parallel to, those of the company commanders—field on the right, and staff on the left, and were separated by a regimental street of 45 feet. The tents of the band and non-commissioned staff officers were in the rear of the tents of the field and staff, and were separated by a street of 25 feet. The regimental officers' mess and kitchens were situated about 150 feet, and the companies' kitchens about 250 feet, to the rear of the tents of the non-commissioned officers. The camp of this regiment was laid out in the form of a rectangle, being 275 feet front and 250 feet in depth (not including the kitchens).

The First Infantry Regiment camp was laid out so that the tents should be pitched on two company streets running parallel to each other, being in width 36 feet, and having four companies on each street; two of each four companies facing the other, with the tents of the company commanders on the flank of their several commands facing the company street, being distant from their commands 20 feet. The field and staff were situated in two rows to the rear and parallel to the tents of the company commanders nearest them, distant 25 feet. The band and non-commissioned staff officers were in line immediately to the rear, being separated by a distance of 25 feet. The regimental mess and kitchen were situated about 35 feet to the left of the line of the tents of the field and staff; and the companies' kitchens were situated about 50 feet to the left of the regiment opposite the rear company on the left of line and immediately in the rear of the tents of the First Battalion of Artillery. This camp was laid out in the shape of a rectangle, being 125 feet front and 450 feet in depth.

First Battalion of Artillery camp was laid out in two company streets parallel to each other, being in width 36 feet. The tents of each company were arranged to be pitched in line facing each other; the tents of the company officers in line, parallel to the flanks of the columns, facing the company streets and on the same line with their commands, and were separated therefrom by a space 35 feet in width. The artillery officers' mess and kitchen were situated on the left of the command, about 80 feet distant from Headquarters. The battalion's kitchens were situated on the left of the command, about 100 feet distant. This camp was laid out in the shape of a rectangle, being about 125 feet front and 250 feet in depth (not including the kitchens).

Headquarters Second Brigade tents were designed to be laid out in the rear of the Fifth Infantry Regiment, being separated therefrom by a brigade street of 65 feet, which street at this width did not extend beyond the left line of the regiment named, and was finally merged into the regimental street of the First Infantry. The brigade mess and kitchen were situated about 50 feet to the rear of the left line of the Headquarters' tents.

All the sinks were constructed of redwood and were placed at a convenient distance from the various commands; each command being assigned a separate sink. They were situated about the brink of the gulch surrounding the camp, whereby excellent drainage was obtained, which insured excellent sanitary conditions.

The kitchens were all situated conveniently to the various commands, and each company was supplied with tables of sufficient size.

The camp was supplied with water pumped from a creek about 1,400 feet north of the camp site, through a two-inch pipe-line, to two storage tanks of about 10,000 gallons capacity each; from the tanks the water was distributed throughout the camp by a two-inch pipe-line.

After completing my duties I returned to San Francisco, and owing to the recent strike among the labor unions in San Francisco, which involved the men employed in the business with which I am connected, and other important matters, I was unable to return to camp at the encampment.

Respectfully submitted.

Major and Engineer Officer, Second Brigade, N. G. C.

Practice March, Second Brigade.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 7, 1901.

To the Commanding Officer, Second Brigade, N. G. C.:

SIR: I have the honor to make the following report of the practice march of the Second Brigade while at Camp Gage. I was detailed as Engineer Officer of the brigade in the absence of Major Hendy, and proceeded to the Division Engineer Officer the day prior to our starting out (July 18th) for instructions. No other of the engineers having appeared, the Division Engineer made a few general statements with reference to the idea and plan of the practice march. After the conference we were to go over some of the ground in the neighborhood in order to locate routes and camp sites. However, owing to other matters we were not able to go, and in the afternoon of that day I left to choose a route and camp site. Before going we had practically decided that the road to Capitola and the town itself would afford the best facilities for the practice march. I went to Capitola, via Soquel, and, with the Quartermaster, made arrangements for forage, wood, etc., for the camp, and selected a camp site, with running water piped through the grounds, permanent latrines, and stables for horses, as well as good camping grounds for the men. I reported what had been the result of our trip, to the General commanding the brigade, and it was decided to start the march the next afternoon at 3 o'clock. Accordingly, orders were issued for the assembling of the troops at 3 P. M., in heavy marching order, with rations for the trip. The meat ration was cooked before leaving Camp Gage and transported in bulk in the wagons. We started punctually at 3 o'clock, in the following order: Advance guard; Fifth Infantry; First Infantry; First Battalion of Artillery, with two guns; the wagon train; the Cavalry and Signal Corps (mounted) bringing up the rear, as rear guard. We marched from 3 until 3:18, and rested ten minutes; then proceeded on our route, as shown by the arrows in "Map of the Route." When we arrived at No. 2 we encountered cavalry fire from the front. There being a high bluff just in front of the road on which we were marching, as shown, we were unable to find out the direction the enemy had taken. However, the advance guard charged upon them, and they fled. At this point, fearing further attack and not having sufficient mounted troops to protect the baggage, we placed the wagons in front of the First Infantry. We marched until 4:15, and rested fifteen minutes, then proceeded on our way. As we were about to enter Capitola we were fired upon from the high bluff on the opposite side of the river from our proposed camp site. Fearing the enemy would approach us from the flank, we placed a gun on a bluff at point "A" on "Map of the Camp." This bluff commanded the approaches by way of the road through Capitola, and artillery could be trained across the river or along the road from Soquel. Under cover of this gun, and the other, which had been placed so as to protect the troops from the rear, the camp was pitched, as shown in the "Map of the Camp," at 5:10 P. M. The camp was not opened that night at all. Fearing renewed attacks by the enemy that night (in greater numbers), we stationed a detachment of Signal Corps at points No. 4 and No. 5 on "Map of the Route." The point at No. 5 commanded a view of both approaches to Capitola, while No. 4 was on a tank-house and at such an elevation as to be in communication with No. 5 at all times by flag; heliograph, or torch. Post No. 4 was connected with the camp by a metallic telegraph circuit, which was completed about 12 P. M. We thus were in a position to know of the approach of an armed party at least an hour before they could arrive at our camp. With this protection we did not deem it very necessary to post a very extensive guard. However, at 8 P. M., a temporary camp guard was posted, in order to protect the camp proper. At 11 P. M. a permanent guard was formed, consisting of thirty-six members. We selected three points, marked "Guard tent," B, and C, which controlled all approaches to the camp, and we posted five men at each of these places, with instructions to stop all passers-by. In order to make sure that these sentries would keep in a position to stop all and not lapse in slumber and allow troopers to come into our camp, we established a cavalry patrol consisting of four men, whose duty it was to ride around the road encircling our camp and shown on "Map of the Route." These men rode in twos and in opposite directions, so that every twenty minutes each sentry was visited, thereby insuring the greatest vigilance. At about 3 A. M., the mounted patrol reported cavalry in the direction of Soquel, but as they were suspected they approached no nearer.

Reveille was sounded at 5:30, and all the guards were taken in. Each division of the command then placed its own guard for the protection of its property. Camp was opened until 12 M. After lunch, we proceeded to pack for the return march. We left Capitola at 1:30 P. M., June 20th. The "Map of Camp" is self-explanatory, and shows the positions of the different detachments, etc. The return march was made on the road shown on the "Map of the Route," and the two signal detachments were picked up as we passed by, and were added to the column. We marched twenty minutes, then halted until 2 P. M., and again resumed the march, halting at 2:45 until 3 P. M. When we were about a mile and a half from Camp Gage, our advance guard discovered some cavalry skirting about in a suspicious manner, and suspecting some attack, took extra precautions. When under cover of some buildings, two battalions, one from each regiment, were moved forward and a sham advance guard formed. Distances were shortened, so as to make it appear from the camp as though no change in the order of march had been made. We then took up the march again and proceeded toward the camp. When the point No. 6 was reached, the two battalions extra in the advance guard under command of Lieutenant Colonel Hayes, took the lower road, which breaks off precipitously, and can not be seen from the camp, at No. 1, the main column turning to the right, as shown by the arrows; thus giving the appearance of the main column, with its regular advance guard (which had been again spread out), moving toward Camp Gage. The main column halted for quite awhile, in order to give Colonel Hayes opportunity to enter the camp simultaneously from the rear. At the given time the column was started, and reached the main gate just as Colonel Hayes and his men fired some volleys and entered the camp from the rear. The advance guard, during the whole trip, exercised the greatest vigilance and care, and skulked far out on either side of the road. We arrived at quarters at Camp Gage at 4:30 P. M., June 20th.

Trusting that from the perusal of this report and the maps accompanying, you may be able to obtain the entire happenings, ground traveled, and camp site, I remain,

Respectfully,

(Signed:) SAM L. NAPHTALY,
Major and Inspector Second Brigade.

I neglected to remark that on the return trip one of the orderlies was thrown from his horse and received a broken wrist, which was cared for by the surgeon, thus giving the ambulance and Sanitary Corps a little field duty.

Report of March of Second Brigade from "Camp Gage" to Capitola.

The Second Brigade, N. G. C., General Warfield commanding, left Camp Gage June 19, 1901, at 2:30 P. M., with one day's rations and shelter tents.

After marching about a mile from the camp, the brigade turned to the left, following a road leading in a southeast direction and running parallel to the coast, and distant about two miles. Country thickly populated and road fenced on both sides. An advance, rear guard, and flankers were thrown out, and a sharp lookout kept for the enemy. Three miles from camp, at a bridge crossing a ravine, the advance guard was fired upon by cavalry troops supposed to be the enemy, numbers unknown. The outposts fell back on the main body; Major Julliard's battalion advanced and commenced firing. The enemy immediately withdrew, taking an easterly direction to the hills. There were no casualties. The brigade resumed the march. Passed through the town of Soquel and arrived at Capitola at 6 P. M., and camped for the night on the east side of Soquel Creek.

At 1 P. M. the next day, June 20th, the brigade broke camp and started on the return march. On arriving about a mile and a half from Camp Gage, a battalion, composed of Companies L and M of the First Infantry and Company A of the Fifth Infantry, under command of Major Filmer, left the main column, and advancing up a ravine in the rear of the camp, succeeded in surprising the camp and capturing the Division Headquarters. The main column entered camp by the main road, arriving at 5 P. M.

HEADQUARTERS FIRST BRIGADE, N. G. C.,
LOS ANGELES, CAL., August 6, 1901.

To LIEUT. COL. T. WALN-MORGAN DRAPER,
Division Engineer, N. G. C.,
Mills Building, San Francisco, Cal.:

SIR: I beg leave to submit the following report:

In compliance with General Orders No. 1, Headquarters First Brigade, dated June 1, 1901, I reported to Major J. W. A. Off, Brigade Quartermaster, at 2 P. M., June 12, 1901, and proceeded by train with the officers and men designated in above orders, to Santa Cruz, where we arrived at 7 A. M., June 13, 1901, having left Los Angeles at 3 P. M. on the 12th.

Upon my arrival I immediately reported to Lieutenant Colonel F. J. H. Rickon, acting Division Engineer, with whom I proceeded to Camp Gage, where I was shown by him the site allotted to the First Brigade, and given "Map of the Military Reservation of the State of California, showing a Division Camp, being a portion of Laveaga Heights, Santa Cruz, Cal., laid out and designed under instructions of Major General J. H. Dickinson, by Lieutenant Colonel T. Waln-Morgan Draper, Division Engineer Officer, N. G. C., May 1, 1901."

An examination of the site showed me that the space between the fence and the edge of the bluff was not wide enough to permit the arrangement of the company streets as set forth on said map. I reported said fact to Lieutenant Colonel F. J. H. Rickon, who instructed me to lay out the camp to conform to the ground available.

Second Lieutenant Samuel T. Bloom, Company M, who had been detailed Acting Regimental Engineer, by Regimental Orders No. 8, had reported to me upon my arrival at Santa Cruz, and I assigned a detail of men to him, also taking one myself, and had the camp laid out by evening.

The baggage and camp equipment having all arrived on the ground during the day, were distributed in their proper places.

By Saturday noon, June 15th, all tents, including kitchens, had been pitched by the advance detail.

Saturday noon, June 15th, I proceeded to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company depot, to await the arrival of the First Brigade, which took place at 2 P. M.

As instructed by Regimental Orders No. 8, detailing him, Second Lieutenant Samuel T. Bloom reported back to his company upon arrival of the brigade.

I accompanied the brigade to Camp Gage, where it arrived at about 3:30 P. M.

CAMP GAGE.

Camp Gage is situated upon what is called Laveaga Heights, about two and one half miles northeast from the town of Santa Cruz, California, and about three miles from the Pacific Ocean.

It is a table-land or plateau having an elevation of about 300 feet above the sea. Two main roads lead from Santa Cruz to the camp, one running along Branciforte Cañon, which bounds the reservation on the western and northern sides, and leaving the main road about two thirds of a mile above the mouth of the cañon, climbs the side of the cañon and emerges at the northeastern boundary of the camp; the other enters the reservation at its southwestern corner. Both of the roads are of good width, with no heavy grades, and each has a substantial bridge across Branciforte Creek. A little way west of said creek, both roads join in one road, which crosses San Lorenzo River by a substantial bridge, thence leading to main street of Santa Cruz. The road leading most directly to the camp from Santa Cruz, leads up to the southwest corner of the reservation, which is the base of the hills which form the left-hand mouth of Branciforte Cañon.

From this point a newly-graded road, about 30 feet wide, with a comparatively even and uniform grade, leads in a general northerly direction for a distance of a third of a mile, the last 400 yards being along the side of a comparatively thickly-wooded gulch, which brings one to the top of the hills or edge of the plateau; thence it takes a northerly course along the plateau.

When the plateau is reached the road is fenced in on both sides, and a row of large cypress trees align the same on each side. The road is about 60 feet wide. This road divides the camp into two parts, the camp proper lying on the westerly and northerly sides, while the parade ground is on the other side.

The plateau on the westerly and northerly side is about half a mile long in its longest direction, northeasterly and southwesterly, and varying in width from 40 to 300 yards.

The south end of this plateau is divided into two arms or spurs by means of a gully which enters Branciforte Cañon a little to the left of the main road (where entrance is first gained to the reservation by way of Santa Cruz), and runs in a northeasterly course about 400 yards to its head, where it is about 100 yards west of the road through camp.

The most westerly of the two spurs thus formed is very narrow at its southern extremity, and gradually increases to about 200 yards in width where the gully heads. The other spur is about 100 yards wide at its southern extremity, which it maintains for 100 yards in length, when it suddenly narrows on the west side to about 40 yards, and gradually increases from there on to 100 yards at the head of the swale which forms the head of the gully. Both of these spurs are very thickly covered with scrub oak and cypress trees, as well as the flanks of the gullies which bound them.

Going northeast 150 yards from where the two spurs fork, the plateau quickly narrows to about 50 yards, and from here on it varies from 40 to 70 yards in width to its eastern extremity, which is marked by a road which leads from the road on the south of the plateau, northerly, by an even and rather steep grade along the side of the northern slope of the reservation, into the bottom of Branciforte Cañon, where it joins the Branciforte road south of the bridge which crosses the creek at this point, and which is the second bridge across said creek above the mouth of the cañon at the southwest corner of the reservation, and which bridge is about two thirds of a mile above said mouth. This road is about four yards wide, and passes through a very thickly-wooded side hill having a slope of about 45 degrees.

The northern and eastern limits of the plateau are formed by the left side of Branciforte Cañon, which is about 70 yards deep. This side of the cañon is very steep and is covered with scrub oak and redwood trees and a dense growth of underbrush, passage through which is barely possible, save by means of the trail cut through the same.

The plateau lying on the easterly and southerly side of the road leading through the camp is designated as the parade ground, and is about 500 yards long by 150 yards wide, and stretches south from where the road strikes the plateau first, and is bounded on the west by the gully which is followed by the road; on the east by a gully which heads within 50 yards of the road.

From the head of the last gully the table-land is broken by virtue of the gullies which head very near the road, thus forming rather narrow reaches which stretch to the south and are joined together near the road by a narrow strip of level ground.

Save on the most westerly slope and in some of the gullies there is no timber or brush, the land being farmed for grain.

SURROUNDING COUNTRY.

The general character of the country surrounding the camp is as follows:

To the north is a series of hills covered with some timber, and dense brush generally, cut up by deep cañons, which have a general southerly course to the ocean. Most of these cañons head in or near the celebrated redwood groves, distant some ten miles north of the reservation. Small streams of running water are found in each cañon, and very good roads, with substantial bridges of a sufficient width to pass all arms of the service. Fuel in abundance.

To the east the country is rather rolling, being a succession of hills and gullies of rather gentle slope and practically free from timber and brush.

To the south and southwest is a flat, very highly cultivated, having an elevation of about seventy feet above the sea, at the base of the hills, and gradually sloping to the Pacific Ocean, distant some three miles from the camp.

To the west is Santa Cruz, a town of about 15,000 inhabitants, lying on the Pacific Ocean, which is reached by two lines of railway from the north, one the Narrow Gauge, running to San Francisco only, the other the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, broad gauge, running north and south.

It is about four miles from camp to the S. P. R. R. Company depot.

FIRST BRIGADE CAMP.

The First Brigade camp was laid out upon the northeasterly portion of the plateau lying north of the main road through the reservation, and just east of and adjoining the Division camp gate.

The 10,000-gallon water tank was between the Second and Third Battalions; Headquarters being to the east of said tank.

The company streets were laid off at right angles to the road, each company having an entire street.

There were five tents on each side of the street, spaced 15 feet, center to center, with streets 20 feet wide, at the head of which were two tents for the company officers, facing north down the street and at right angles to the other tents.

The officers' tents were next to the road.

There were twelve 9 by 9 feet wall tents to each company.

The companies were separated by a 10-foot alley and the battalions by a 20-foot alley from each other.

The Majors' and Adjutants' tents were placed on the right of their battalions. On the side farthest from the company officers a 30-foot street ran parallel to the road, and the kitchens were placed upon the north side of the street.

The water-pipes also ran along on this side of the street.

The sinks were north of the kitchens, below the crest of the slope, and were well screened by timber.

Regimental headquarters were on the right of the First Battalion, and faced west down the 30-foot street, the regimental staff being to the left, the band and non-commissioned staff being to the rear and parallel thereto.

To the rear of the non-commissioned staff, and 20 feet from the road, was the hospital tent facing regimental headquarters and parallel thereto, and to the right of the hospital and in line with its front were the surgeons.

One hundred feet to the rear of regimental headquarters, parallel thereto, and facing the 30-foot street, were brigade headquarters, with the staff placed on either side; the orderlies' tents being placed in the rear.

To the rear of the brigade headquarters street, near the road, facing east, were the guard-house tents.

The regimental officers' mess was on the right flank of the regimental headquarters street, just below the crest of the slope.

Brigade officers' mess was on the right of the brigade street and a little to the rear.

WATER SUPPLY.

Camp Gage is supplied with water by means of two tanks, one of 5,000, the other of 10,000 gallons capacity, both of which are situated about 30 feet above the ground and the water is pumped into them by means of a temporary plant located on the right side of Branciforte Creek, near the most easterly bridge across the stream, which is situated north of the center of the camp.

The elevation of the pumping plant is 80 feet above the sea, and the water is forced up about 245 feet, through about 1,000 feet of two-inch main, and is distributed throughout the camp by means of two-inch pipes leading from said tanks.

Numerous hydrants, conveniently placed, afford ample facilities. The water is most excellent, and Branciforte Creek furnishes an abundant supply.

WOOD.

Oak wood, cut to stove size, was delivered in convenient piles throughout the camp. The surrounding country can furnish unlimited quantities of fuel.

SURVEY.

On Monday, June 17th, I was ordered to report to Lieutenant Colonel Waln-Morgan Draper at 1 P. M. of that day.

At the appointed hour I accompanied his party on a survey of the country lying to the north of the camp. We visited, by way of Santa Cruz, the San Lorenzo Cañon, going up same as far as the powder mills, then returning to the mouth of Branciforte Cañon, and proceeded up the same to a point six miles north of the camp, where we found Brigadier General Muller, commanding Third Brigade, preparing to bivouac. Returning from there to camp, where we arrived at 5:45 P. M.

PRACTICE MARCH AND TERRANE PASSED THROUGH.

Tuesday morning, June 18th, at 5:30 o'clock, I left with the First Brigade, Brigadier General C. F. A. Last, commanding, on a march to the Big Trees. The brigade took the main road on the south side of its camp, and proceeded northerly about a quarter of a mile, where a road turns to the north, which it followed. The road leads into Branciforte Cañon, along the north slope of the camp, is rather steep, 4 yards wide, and passes through oak and redwood, thick and dense brush, and is about a quarter of a mile long from the plateau to the bottom of the cañon.

The main road is here entered and we followed the same northeasterly, and at 20 yards crossed a bridge over Branciforte Creek, and proceeded about half a mile along the road up the cañon, when head of column was ordered back and we proceeded along the first cañon west of Branciforte Cañon, the road leading to which branches off to the left at the bridge just mentioned.

Proceeding north on the left bank of the stream in the cañon, by an ordinary mountain road about 4 yards wide, at half a mile a school house lies on east side of road.

Hills, rather steep, are covered with a few trees and heavy brush; grade of road not heavy.

About 1,000 yards from Branciforte a road leads off to the right, northeasterly along the left side of the cañon, in which flows a small stream; 50 yards farther on, a bridge crosses said cañon stream, the bed of which is about 30 feet below bridge floor. Bridge is about 20 yards long, and substantial.

Leaving the bridge the road has about a ten per cent grade for a distance of 200 yards, at the head of which a group of houses lie to the left of the road.

Continuing along road occasional short stretches of from 40 to 50 yards of ten per cent grades are encountered until a point distant one and one half miles north from Branciforte is reached. Here the road turns at right angles to the west (nicely kept farmhouse and garden lying to left of road) and crosses small bridge across stream flowing down the cañon, thence ascends slope (about eight per cent grade) of right side of cañon, leaving same and enters upon level stretch of road.

Country rather heavily wooded and covered with brush, through which we have so far passed.

Proceed along a flat lying between hills, cultivated ground on both sides of road, and following a general northerly course, with rather heavy growth of redwood timber. The second mile is reached, in which vicinity some stretches of the road have a ten per cent grade for 30 or 40 yards.

Here a small spring is found on the left side of the road, which now descends rather sharply for 100 yards, and makes a turn of 160 degrees to the left, climbing by means of a newly-graded road a side hill having a grade of twelve per cent for a distance of about 200 yards, when it strikes a flat and joins an old road, running northerly.

Proceeding northerly along the old road, a large flat, several square miles in extent and marshy in spots, is passed through. The road, however, is good.

At three miles a school house is found at a point where the road forks on each side of it, we taking the left-hand road, and proceed northerly across flat, and at four miles a farm house and lily pond lie to right of road. Road has passed over a sandy stretch.

From here road begins to descend, and about 300 yards north of lily pond road enters cañon, at the head of which is a gorge, about 40 yards wide, with a bluff 20 yards high on right bank of stream, which now flows northerly.

Following said stream we pass on down grade, not very steep, through territory very hilly and covered thickly with redwood stumps and some standing timber. The road is about 4 yards wide.

Proceeding in a general northeasterly direction at six and a half miles cross bridge; at seven miles cross bridge over San Lorenzo River, and enter town of Felton, situated on the Narrow-Gauge Railroad leading from Santa Cruz to San Francisco.

Thence from Felton by a good wagon road southeasterly at eight and a half miles arrive bivouac at noon. The bivouac is on the right bank of the San Lorenzo River, whose channel is about 40 yards wide and 10 yards below the adjoining banks, opposite the Big Tree Grove, which lies on the left bank.

The country surrounding is very heavily wooded with redwood trees and covered with brush.

The south side of the bivouac was the road leading across the San Lorenzo River to the Big Trees.

The west side was formed by the Narrow-Gauge switch leading toward Felton, the east side by the river, and the north side undefined, as it is all covered with large and small timber.

The road leading from Felton to Santa Cruz, along which we came, passes about 50 yards west of the bivouac and some 20 yards higher elevation.

On Wednesday morning, June 19th, at 7:30 o'clock, we broke camp and proceeded southerly along the main road to Santa Cruz.

The road is built upon the mountain side, which in places has a slope of nearly 60 degrees, and steep in all places, and is about 7 yards wide with a very easy and uniform grade.

The Narrow-Gauge Railroad passes on the same side of the cañon (the right) as the road, but some distance below it.

Both sides of the cañon are covered with a heavy growth of redwood and other trees. At about two miles south of bivouac the cañon widens out and the railroad and wagon road and bottom of cañon are not much apart, either in distance or elevation.

Going a quarter of a mile farther south, the cañon has dropped off rather abruptly, both road and railroad high above its bed.

At about three miles south of bivouac, road crosses under railroad; at three and a half miles, road is about on level with bed of cañon and powder mills to left of road.

Several isolated buildings of the powder mill lie in the cañon north of the main buildings at this point.

Continuing south and following the road, at six miles Santa Cruz is reached, from whence we took the main road and returned to Camp Gage by the southwest entrance, lying opposite to the one by which we left camp, arriving at our quarters between 12 and 1 P. M.

My physical condition was such on the two days occupied on the march that I was unable to make any sketches or take any notes; hence I am unable to accompany this report with a map of the route, and all matters contained in this report bearing upon the same are written from memory entirely.

Upon my return to camp I reported to Lieutenant Colonel T. Waln-Morgan Draper, Division Engineer, who, in view of my indisposition, practically relieved me of any assignment or detail for the remainder of the encampment.

On Saturday, June 22, 1901, the First Brigade broke camp, it having properly cleaned up, as well as burnt, the refuse of its camp site, and about 3 P. M. proceeded to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company's depot at Santa Cruz, where it took the train, I leaving with the first section at 7 P. M., and arriving in Los Angeles the following day, Sunday, June 22, 1901, at 3 P. M.

I hereto append a plan of the camp of the First Brigade, N. G. C.

Very respectfully,

(Signed:) J. H. DOCKWEILER,
Major and Engineer Officer, First Brigade, N. G. C.

Field and Camp Instructions.

OFFICE OF DIVISION ENGINEER OFFICER,
June 15, 1901.

RECONNAISSANCES.

Nothing should escape the observation of an officer detailed for this character of work. He should note all matters appertaining to the territory traversed, sketching the topography as he travels.

Among the most important matters are: Water supply; fuel; climate; roads, condition of; trails; distances; streams, or other bodies of water; railroads, equipment of same, condition of roadbed and rolling stock; buildings, character of; woods or forest; character of the country, whether hilly, mountainous, level, or otherwise; ascertain points for defense or attack; feasibility of transporting wagons and artillery; possibility of obtaining supplies from the country for a given number of men and animals.

Sufficient details should be given in report to enable the commanding officer to fully understand the situations.

CAMPS.

Sanitary Sites.—Should be located on a divide or saddle, unless too much exposed or too distant from water and fuel; or near the top of a slope, preferably the south side, or on the banks of a stream, unless the same is in a deep valley or ravine.

Unsanitary Sites.—Swamps, or close in their neighborhood; deep cuts, cañons, or ravines.

Defensible Sites.—Are those affording the best protection from fire and observation of the enemy, and at the same time give a free field of fire to the advance of an attacking party.

Non-Defensible Sites.—Those points which can be attacked or commanded from levels greater than the camp location itself. Such a site would be a valley or cañon, or that can be approached by an enemy under cover of brush, woods, rocks, or other obstacles.

Camp Requisites.—In the selection of a camp site, temporary or otherwise, the following should be borne in mind: Proximity of good water, defensibility, fuel, sanitation, grass or forage. When a camp site has been selected, the first duty for the person in command is to secure and guard the water supply from contamination by his own party, or their animals, or from a possible attack by the enemy. Second, the necessary fuel should be secured or located. Third, the excavation of a sufficient number of shallow trenches for latrines, even if the camp is to be for a night only. In leaving a camp these trenches should be filled and marked. All refuse from kitchens and the policing of the camp before its abandonment should be buried or burned.

Proposed Legislation.

Be it enacted, etc.:

That a Corps of Engineers be organized as a part of the National Guard of California.

That the Corps of Engineers shall consist of one chief of engineers, with rank of colonel; one lieutenant colonel; three majors; four captains; and four first lieutenants.

That the enlisted force of the Corps of Engineers shall consist of one company, to be organized as follows: One first sergeant, one quartermaster sergeant, eight sergeants, ten corporals, two musicians, two cooks, thirty-eight first-class and thirty-eight second-class privates; provided, that the Governor may, in his discretion, increase the number of sergeants to the company to twelve, the number of corporals to eighteen, the number of first-class privates to sixty-four, and the number of second-class privates to sixty-four.

The officers of the Corps of Engineers shall be professional engineers, and selected by appointment by the Governor, after due examination as to professional fitness.

The sergeants, corporals, and privates of the Corps of Engineers shall be selected from artisans and classed according to clerical and mechanical skill.

One captain and two first lieutenants may be assigned to duty with the company by the Governor, upon the recommendation of the Chief of Engineers, for such tour of duty as he may find necessary and requisite.

All officers of the Corps of Engineers shall be assigned to duty by the Governor, upon the recommendation of the Chief of Engineers, according to the requirements of the service.

Organization of a Temporary Engineer Corps.

As the Legislature does not meet for a year and a half, it is impossible to organize a regular Engineer Corps, as provided for in the suggested bill preceding this. However, the Political Code of the State of California, Section 1984, provides that the organization of all regiments or battalions shall be the same as that of the Regular Army of the United States, which latter provides, in Section 10 of "An Act to increase the efficiency of the permanent military establishment of the United States," approved February 2, 1901, that each regiment shall have fifteen captains, fifteen first lieutenants, and fifteen second lieutenants, which officers are to be utilized by the regimental commander in whatever capacities he may see fit. The military law of California does not specify, except by detail, for the regimental engineers, but each regimental commander may appoint a properly qualified officer as regimental engineer officer. The Division has its engineer officer and the brigades are provided with engineer officers, and it would seem but proper that each of the five regimental commanders shall detail one of the surplus captains as regimental engineer officer. In this way there would be provided for, one division, three brigade, and five regimental engineer officers, a total of nine. No officer should be commissioned unless he is a duly and properly qualified engineer and should be able to pass examination, not only in military duties, but as an engineer, and should show qualification in that respect.

I would further provide for the enlistment of one hundred men as engineer soldiers, allowing twenty to each of the five regiments. Of these twenty enlisted men, there should be five sergeants, five corporals, five first-class privates, and five second-class privates. These officers would be attached to the regiment and under the command of the regimental engineer officer.

While the officers must be selected for their skill as military, civil, electrical, mechanical, or topographical engineers, the enlisted men should be from every branch of the engineer profession and of mechanical skill: Machinists, steam engineers, blacksmiths, carpenters, plumbers, telegraphers, topographers, draftsmen, photographers, railroadmen, riggers, boatmen, and those skilled in the use of explosives.

Engineer troops are armed and equipped as infantry, so there would be no difference in that respect between them and infantrymen. But their uniform is different, consisting of a dark blue blouse and pants, and stripes and chevrons for the non-commissioned officers are scarlet piped with white. The insignia of the Engineer Corps is a castle.

This would provide the National Guard with a skilled Engineer Corps ready for duty at any time, instead of the present loose and objectionable method, and would attract a class of men which is very desirable to the Guard.

APPENDIX C.

HEADQUARTERS DIVISION, N. G. C.,
OFFICE OF DIVISION SIGNAL OFFICER,
SAN FRANCISCO, August 14, 1901.

TO MAJ. GEN. J. H. DICKINSON,
*Commanding Division, N. G. C.,
San Francisco, Cal.:*

SIR: I have the honor to submit the following report upon the operations of the Signal Corps during the encampment of the National Guard, at Camp Gage, Santa Cruz, from June 15 to June 23, 1901:

When the order for the encampment was published, the Signal Corps found itself sadly in want of the proper equipment for service in the field.

It is true, the Brigade Corps were possessed of heliographs, torches, and flags, a few acetylene lanterns, and a limited number of telegraph instruments; but the heliographs were of an antiquated pattern, the torches of a kind long ago relegated to obscurity by the U. S. Army Signal Corps, and the telegraph instruments, being wound, with few exceptions, to different electrical resistances, were not susceptible of use upon the same circuit.

The corps was entirely lacking in wire, insulators, batteries, telephones, and other electrical apparatus necessary to the maintenance of lines of communication, according to the methods employed in modern armies. This deficiency was a vital defect, and to remedy it was the first duty at hand.

The Chief Signal Officer brought the matter to the attention of the Division Commander, and was empowered to purchase a quantity of No. 16 copper wire with double weather-proof insulation for temporary telegraph lines, and the necessary implements for use in stringing and connecting telegraph and telephone wires. Through the courtesy of the manager of the Pacific States Telephone and Telegraph Company, the Chief Signal Officer obtained the use of six Bell telephones, an operator's telephone, an exchange switchboard, three miles of galvanized iron wire, with insulators and batteries, and other appliances necessary to a telephone system. Suitable telephone poles were furnished by the Quartermaster's Department. Thus supplied, the Signal Corps was enabled to establish a complete exchange telephone system in camp, and to operate to a limited extent a temporary telegraph line.

By Thursday, June 13th, the advance details arrived at camp, and after the supplies had been hauled from the depot to the camp ground, the work of setting up the telephone system was commenced.

A central office was established at Signal Corps Headquarters, located at the head of Cavalry Ridge. Telephones were put in at Division

Headquarters, each Brigade Headquarters, and at the Cavalry stables, all connecting with central by complete metallic circuits.

The Sunset Telephone and Telegraph Company ran a line from their central station at Santa Cruz to Camp Gage central, where a switch was put in, by means of which this line could be connected with the camp system when required, so that communication was possible from any telephone in camp to any point on the general telephone system of California. This arrangement proved of great convenience, and the system was in constant use from early morning until late at night.

The three Brigade Signal Corps arrived in camp on Saturday, June 15th, and having been detached from their respective brigades, in conformity with orders from Division Headquarters, reported for duty to the Division Signal Officer.

The First Corps, consisting of two officers, twenty-six men, three civilians, and twenty-eight horses, under Captain George E. Lawrence, commanding, and First Lieutenant Horace E. Sabine, arrived by rail from Los Angeles.

The Second Corps, consisting of one officer, twenty-four men, two civilians, and twenty-five horses, under Captain E. A. Selfridge, Jr., commanding, proceeded by boat from San Francisco to Alviso, and marched thence to camp. Captain Selfridge brought with his command three ambulances for the Sanitary Corps. He was accompanied also by Major A. A. Hanks, Signal Officer, Second Brigade, and Captain R. Gibbons, Assistant Surgeon.

The Third Corps, consisting of one officer, thirteen men, and fourteen horses, under First Lieutenant Fred L. Martin, commanding, arrived by rail from Sacramento. Major W. W. Douglas, Acting Signal Officer, Third Brigade, accompanied this command.

Major M. T. Owens, Acting Signal Officer, First Brigade, and First Lieutenant E. P. Seymer, Second Corps, were prevented by pressure of business from attending the encampment.

The Signal Corps was organized by the detail of First Lieutenant H. E. Sabine, as Acting Adjutant, Captain E. A. Selfridge, Jr., as Acting Quartermaster, and First Lieutenant F. L. Martin as Acting Commissary.

For ceremonial purposes, the three corps, mounted, formed a squadron, Major Hanks being detailed to command it, with Sergeant W. P. Garfield and Musician R. L. Delamater as Acting Sergeant Major and Trumpeter, respectively.

A detachment of Naval Reserve, consisting of eight petty officers and one warrant officer, under command of Lieutenant T. S. Harloe, was quartered and messed with the Signal Corps and attached to it for administrative purposes.

In addition to the building, maintenance, and operation of the telephone system, the Signal Corps supplied details of signal men to accompany each brigade upon its practice march.

Major Douglas and Lieutenant Martin, with eighteen men, operated with the Third Brigade on June 17th and 18th.

An outpost station of four men was established by them about one mile from Camp Gage and five and a half miles from the brigade camp. This station communicated with Camp Gage by means of heliograph and acetylene lanterns, and was connected with the brigade camp by wire.

Lieutenant Martin's report states that great difficulty was experienced in operating the telegraph line, owing to insufficient battery. Through the oversight of Lieutenant Seymer, who had been detailed Acting Quartermaster before the encampment, the cells of gravity battery, which had been procured from the Western Union Telegraph Company, through the courtesy of its manager, were not shipped from San Francisco, and consequently the cells of dry battery had to be relied upon. These latter proved very unsatisfactory over so long a circuit, although they were later used with facility over shorter circuits.

The outpost station, left unprotected and isolated at a great distance from the brigade camp, was captured early on Tuesday morning, by a superior force of signalmen operating with the First Brigade.

The Third Brigade detail, less the four men captured, returned to camp on the afternoon of June 18th, bringing with them two cavalrymen captured from the First Brigade.

Captain Lawrence was detailed with seventeen men to accompany the First Brigade upon its march to the Big Trees. Lieutenant Martin having taken the available electrical equipment with him, Captain Lawrence had to depend entirely upon flags and acetylene lanterns as the means of communication. His report shows that it was impracticable to maintain communication with Camp Gage during the advance of the brigade, as it would require more men than he had with him to establish a chain of flag stations along the tortuous route of march. The signal operations were limited to flag sending during the maneuvers practiced by this brigade on its return march.

The detail returned to camp on Wednesday afternoon, and presented an excellent appearance as it passed by in the review tendered to the Major General by Brigadier General Last. Captain Lawrence brought with him four men captured from Lieutenant Martin. He reported having lost one man, Sergeant Connor, supposed to have been captured by the Third Brigade. Sergeant Connor had been detailed to take up the telegraph wire captured from Lieutenant Martin, and while so doing, was surprised by the Third Brigade cavalry. He succeeded in escaping, but without his horse and equipments, and arrived in camp on foot. His horse and equipments were recovered later in Santa Cruz.

On Tuesday morning, while both the Third and First Brigades were on the march, a signal station of observation, in charge of Major Hanks, was posted on a hill to the north of camp. From this station was reported the movement of the First Brigade on its outward march, as long as visible, and approach of the Third Brigade to Camp Gage.

On Wednesday afternoon, June 19th, Major Hanks and Lieutenant Sabine, with eighteen men, accompanied the Second Brigade upon its practice march to Capitola.

This detachment maintained excellent communication with Camp Gage by means of telegraph, heliograph, flag, and acetylene lantern.

The country covered by these lines of communication being open, the principal problems for the signalist were the protection of his outposts and the selection of the best locations for stations, both of which problems were solved by the Signal officer in command with judgment and skill.

Reconnaissance detachments sent out from Camp Gage to observe the movements of the Second Brigade reported fully, and Camp Gage was duly apprised of the time the brigade broke camp at Capitola, of the progress of its return march, and of the proximity of its approach to camp.

On Thursday morning Captain Selfridge was ordered to report, with five additional men, to Major Hanks at Capitola, and on that afternoon the entire detachment returned to camp with the Second Brigade.

On Friday morning the Signal Corps notified Division Headquarters, by flag message, of the arrival of Major General Shafter, U. S. A., at camp, in time for firing the personal salute of honor, and later the notice of the arrival of His Excellency, Governor Henry T. Gage, Commander-in-Chief of the National Guard, was sent to Division Headquarters by telegraph, a line having been laid and put into operation for that purpose.

The Signal Corps, in squadron formation, participated in the review held in honor of the Commander-in-Chief on Friday afternoon, being attached temporarily to the First Brigade.

On Saturday morning the work of breaking camp commenced.

The Second Corps started upon its return march to San Francisco early in the morning, accompanied by Captain M. R. Gibbon, Assistant Surgeon. The telephone system was dismantled and the parts packed for reshipment to San Francisco, the main line telephone being transferred to Division Headquarters, where it remained until the closing of camp on Sunday morning.

The First Corps broke camp on Saturday afternoon, and returned to Los Angeles by train.

The Third Corps also broke camp on Saturday afternoon, and slept under shelter tents that night, returning to Sacramento the following morning by rail.

The Naval Reserve detachment was directed to report to the Assistant Adjutant General of the Division for further duty.

It is a matter of regret that the encampment was of such short duration. The Signal Corps was scarcely organized, and the routine of camp duties had scarcely fallen into smooth working order, when the time came to dismantle the lines of communication and break camp.

That the signal operations of camp were successfully conducted, is due to the untiring efforts of officers and men, who toiled with unremitting zeal, and without regard to the specified hours of duty. And this result was obtained in the face of a double disadvantage—first, the corps was without departmental organization up to the very commencement of camp duty; and secondly, the electrical equipment of the corps was insufficient for the work in hand.

The lack of departmental organization is a serious drawback. The three Brigade Signal Corps are widely separated geographically, and completely isolated departmentally. Until this encampment they had, practically, no intercourse with one another. They were responsible to no central authority clothed with power to secure uniformity of instruction and efficiency. Each corps proceeded upon its own individual line of instruction, and it is therefore extremely gratifying to the Chief Signal Officer that the three corps should have harmonized so well in the performance of their varied duties; and it is an earnest of what they will be able to accomplish when they shall have been organized into a separate department, and their signal instruction directed by a single authority. Organization means system, and system is essential to success.

It seems proper to state here, also, that the three Brigade Signal Corps should be of uniform size. This can be accomplished by an order from the Adjutant General's office. At present, the First and Second Corps are of the maximum size, while the Third Corps is allowed but twenty-five men. No valid reason exists why this corps should not be recruited to forty-five men. In fact, there are many things to be said in its favor. It gives a better company organization and allows of a wider range of signal operations. It permits, under the present law, of more than one commissioned officer, which any company commander will affirm to be a distinct advantage in company government. And, lastly, in the present instance, it will afford opportunity for promotion to a faithful and efficient officer. For these reasons I recommend and urge that the Third Brigade Signal Corps be increased to the maximum of forty-five men.

As to signal equipment, I can only reiterate what has been urged again and again: That the Legislature be induced to appropriate a sufficient sum of money to purchase a complete signal and electrical equipment for the Signal Corps. Signal stores can not be drawn, like quartermaster and ordnance stores, from the Federal Government. The special technical equipment for the corps can be secured only by purchase. No appropriation for this purpose has been made since 1889, the year the Brigade Signal Corps were organized. The present equipment is entirely inadequate, and what there is of it is obsolete.

Great strides have been made in means of military communication in late years, principally along electrical lines.

The California Signal Corps should be kept abreast of the times in equipment, so that it may not fall behind other Signal Corps in efficiency. To this end an appropriation by the Legislature, for the purchase of signal and electrical equipment, is absolutely necessary.

In conclusion, sir, I have the honor to report that I found the officers and men of the Signal Corps department capable, intelligent, zealous, and energetic.

On account of the limited number of officers in this department, duties were multiplied and sometimes became burdensome. But they were performed in a thorough and satisfactory manner and without complaint. It would be invidious to make comparisons, although special mention is due to Captain Selfridge, who, in addition to his duties as company commander, undertook those of corps quartermaster, and later was appointed camp forage master, the duties of which office he performed in such a manner as to win high praise from the Division Quartermaster; and to Lieutenant Martin, who assumed the duties of corps commissary in addition to those of company commander.

The men of the advance detail deserve special mention also. Their duties were arduous to a great degree, but they were performed with a faithfulness, an intelligence, and a skill that insured the best results.

Where duties are so many and the knowledge required so varied, it would be most surprising if all the men of the three brigade corps were found equally advanced in every branch of signal work; but it is noteworthy that no duty connected with signal operations was left unperformed for lack of knowledge or ability on the part of officers or men.

This is the first time that the entire Signal Corps of the State has encamped together, and such good results have been derived from their association that the experience should be repeated. I recommend, therefore, that the three corps be assembled together in camp next year, unattached to other organizations, so that the entire time of the corps may be devoted to instruction in the technical duties of this branch of the military service.

Respectfully submitted.

Lieutenant Colonel and Signal Officer, Division, N. G. C., Chief Signal Officer, Camp Gage.

APPENDIX No. 18.

REPORT OF CAPTAIN THOMAS A. NERNEY ON CRUISE OF NAVAL MILITIA, 1901.

U. S. S. "MARION" (3D RATE),
HEADQUARTERS NAVAL MILITIA OF CALIFORNIA,
SAN FRANCISCO, October 23, 1901.

To the Adjutant General, Sacramento, Cal.:

SIR: In compliance with General Orders No. 5, A. G. O., dated August 20, 1901, the several divisions of the Naval Militia of California were ordered to assemble for a cruise and drill on board the U. S. S. "Philadelphia" during the months of September and October, 1901.

Herewith are copies of General Orders No. 5, dated August 31, 1901, from Naval Militia Headquarters, which form part of this report.

On September 23, 1901, the members of the First, Second, and Engineer Divisions, N. M. C., from the U. S. S. "Marion," as per list of officers, warrant officers, and crew hereto attached and made part of this report, went aboard the U. S. S. "Philadelphia" in San Francisco Bay, on which date the ship proceeded to sea and arrived at Point Conception on the night of the 24th. On the morning of the 25th the ship proceeded to Beecher's Bay, Santa Rosa Island. On the afternoon of the 26th the ship left for Santa Barbara, arriving at that point in the evening of the same day, and remained until the 27th, then returned to San Francisco, arriving on the morning of the 29th, when the members of the Naval Militia were disembarked.

The total number of Naval Militia on this cruise was four commissioned officers, three warrant officers, and sixty-five men.

The routine of drill and instruction was as per printed schedule, herewith attached and made part of this report.

The officers and men on this cruise received much valuable instruction and were treated in the best possible manner by both officers and men of the Navy.

The second section, or southern cruise, of the Naval Militia of California, was arranged with the commanding officer to commence on the 4th of October, and accordingly on that date Captain Thomas A. Nerney, Boatswain John J. Foley, Gunner's Mate D. J. O'Hearn, Chief Pay Yeoman H. L. Towers, Cook Kuhl, and two mess boys went aboard.

At 4:30 P. M. of this date the "Philadelphia" got under way for Santa Cruz harbor, arriving at 7:50 A. M., October 5, 1901.

At Santa Cruz one officer and twenty-five enlisted men of the Fourth Division were taken on board at 9:45 A. M., October 5, 1901. (See list attached, which forms part of this report.) Issued twenty-five hammocks, clews, and lashings to Lieutenant Lindsay of this division. Up anchor and under way at 1:30 P. M. for Santa Barbara, Cal., October 6, 1901. Arrived off Santa Barbara at 2 P. M., and took on board Lieutenant Commander Clare A. Noble, together with one officer and sixteen enlisted men of the Sixth Division, N. M. C., as per list attached, which forms part of this report. Took on stores at 3:30 P. M., and got under way at 10 P. M. for San Pedro, Cal.

October 7th arrived off San Pedro and came to anchor at 8 A. M. At 10 A. M. took on board one officer and thirty-four enlisted men of the Engineer Division from Los Angeles, Cal. At 11:45 A. M. got under way for San Diego and arrived off Coronado at 8:45 P. M., same day.

October 8th sent in steam launch and one cutter at 6 A. M. to San Diego for officers and men of Third Division. Purchased supplies and sent off two officers, one pay clerk, and twenty-five enlisted men (as per list attached) to the "Philadelphia," at 10 A. M. The ship got under way at noon and commenced the regular routine drill the same as done with the northern cruise and per printed routine hereto attached.

After the instructions were through with, the "Philadelphia" returned to San Francisco, arriving on the 17th of October, 1901, at 4 P. M. The several divisions were disembarked at the places they were taken on board.

On account of delay in the arrival of the "Philadelphia," the Fifth Division from Eureka were unable to go on the cruise. They came to San Francisco by steamer, but were allowed to return before the arrival of the "Philadelphia." The list of officers and men who came to San Francisco is herewith attached and forms part of this report.

As per itemized list herewith submitted, the total expense of both cruises, including the transportation of the Fifth Division to and from Eureka, was $1,399.85.

That cruises on regular ships of the Navy are both beneficial and instructive there can be no doubt, but unless sufficient notice of the date of the proposed cruise can be given ahead of time, an injustice is done many of the best men and officers.

All those taking part in both cruises were energetic, willing, and enthusiastic in their work, and well deserved the praise given them by the officers of the Navy.

At this time I desire to thank all the officers and crew of the "Philadelphia" for their kindness and courtesy to the members of the Naval Militia, and to mention particularly Lieutenant Commander Hughes, the Executive Officer, who was ready at all times to give instructions and attention to those under my command.

Respectfully,

THOMAS A. NERNEY,

Captain Commanding Naval Militia of California.

APPENDIX No. 19.

REPORT OF MAJOR H. P. BUSH ON ENCAMPMENT, FIRST BATTALION OF ARTILLERY, 1902.

HEADQUARTERS, FIRST BATTALION ARTILLERY, N. G. C.,
815 ELLIS STREET, SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

To the Adjutant General, Sacramento, Cal.:

SIR: In accordance with permission granted by G. O. No. 6, c. s., General Headquarters, this command left its armory on Saturday, June 14th, at 7 o'clock P. M., for the annual encampment at Stockton, arriving there early on the morning of the 15th.

The camp was pitched at a place known as Oak Grove, about two miles from the center of the city and easily accessible by electric car lines. While the tents of the command were in the open, which enabled us to make liberal allowance for intervals between the tents, and wide streets, thus allowing for currents of air and good ventilation, the hospital kitchens, and mess tables were under the shelter of large trees in an adjacent grove. The field in front of the camp afforded ample space for all drill purposes, which consisted mainly of extended order formations both by company and battalion, and such other movements as the space of our armory prevents.

No instruction in guard or sentry duty was necessary, as the command had been instructed therein in the armory during the past six months, a guard being mounted there and sentries posted each drill night. This enabled the command to utilize the time usually required for such instruction for other purposes. The guard duty was well performed and exhibited the careful instruction the men had received at their armory.

The general routine of duty, with but slight variation, was as follows: 5 A. M., reveille, setting-up exercises; 5:25 A. M., breakfast; 6:15 A. M., company drill; 7 A. M., recall; 7:15 A. M., sick call; 7:30 A. M., battalion drill; 8:30 A. M., recall; 8:45 A. M., fatigue call; 9:05 A. M., recall; 9:15 A. M., inspection; 9:45 A. M., guard mount; 10:15 A. M., first sergeant's call; 10:30 A. M., camp open; 12 M., lunch; 5:30 P. M., camp closed; 6 P. M., dinner; 7 P. M., battalion parade; 7:30 P. M., retreat; 10:30 P. M., tattoo; 11 P. M., taps.

On the 21st the battalion was maneuvered against an imaginary enemy, blank cartridges having been furnished to the men. The deployments were well executed and the fire discipline well maintained by the company commanders and squad leaders. The problem was a defense of the camp, the enemy routed, and a counter attack on the part of the defenders. Captain W. N. Swasey was in command of the outpost and subsequently of the counter attack.

The sanitary condition of the camp was excellent, and I have the honor to refer to the report of Lieutenant Colonel G. F. Hanson, Surgeon, Second Brigade, N. G. C. (a copy of which is hereto attached), who kindly volunteered to accompany the battalion, the Assistant Surgeon being unable to attend.

Through the kindness of Major General R. P. Hughes, U. S. A., we were furnished with one of the army ambulances.

Lieutenant J. J. Hyer, of Battery C, acted as quartermaster and commissary, and my thanks are due for his indefatigable attention to these duties.

While the ration was more extensive and in greater variety than the army ration, the expense thereof was but slightly in excess; it consisted of the following:

Breakfast: Beefsteak, mutton chops, potatoes, eggs, mush, bread, butter, tea, coffee, milk, stewed fruit.

Lunch: Cold meats, bread, butter, tea, coffee, fruit, berries.

Dinner: Soup, roast meats, stewed meats, fish, potatoes, bread, butter, fruit, tea, coffee, milk.

The command was reviewed by yourself and Brigadier General R. H. Warfield, and inspected by officers of Major General Dickinson's staff, the General also visiting the camp; while Colonel N. S. Bangham, the Assistant Adjutant General, after whom the camp was named, honored us with his presence for several days.

I regret the loss of the services of Captain G. J. Petty during the latter part of the camp, caused by the sudden death of his brother.

Captain E. G. Eisen, retired, detailed as adjutant of the battalion, was constantly on duty, and to his efforts much of the success of the camp is due.

In closing my report, I consider it but just for me to compliment the officers and men of the battalion for their attendance, discipline, and appearance.

Very respectfully yours,

H. P. BUSH,
Major Commanding.

Report of Hospital Department of First Battalion of Artillery, N. G. C., During Encampment at Stockton in June, 1902.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8, 1902.

To MAJOR H. P. BUSH, Commanding Artillery Battalion, N. G. C.:

SIR: I beg herewith to submit report of Hospital Department of your battalion during the recent week's encampment at Camp Bangham, Stockton, California.

The location of the camp, from a sanitary point of view, proved to be excellent, ground dry, and camp surrounded by level open country, with free access for prevailing westerly coast breeze each afternoon. The kitchens and dining tables being located in a convenient grove of large oak trees, gave the officers and men protection from the heat of the sun and consequent comfort during mess.

The ration proved to be of excellent quality and none had to be condemned. An excavation alongside the kitchens had to be filled and its use as a garbage dump by the cooks stopped.

The latrines, both for officers and men, were commodious and well located, and after being placed in a sanitary condition were easily kept in order.

The general health of the battalion was exceptionally good. Not a case of sickness of sufficient severity to require assignment to the hospital wards occurred during the week among either officers or men. Minor ailments, such as headaches and constipation, and trivial accidents, such as sprains, bruises, and abrasions, appeared in moderate numbers, and the records are now on file with the hospital steward.

Respectfully submitted.

(Signed:) G. F. HANSON,
Lieutenant Colonel and Surgeon, Second Brigade, N. G. C.,
Acting Surgeon.

APPENDIX No. 20.

REPORT OF COLONEL A. K. WHITTON ON ENCAMPMENT OF FIFTH INFANTRY, 1902.

HEADQUARTERS FIFTH REGIMENT OF INFANTRY,
SECOND BRIGADE, N. G. C.,
SAN JOSE, CAL., August 31, 1902.

To the Adjutant General, N. G. C., Sacramento, Cal.:

SIR: I have the honor to report that, pursuant to General Orders No. 4, series of 1902, A. G. O., the Fifth Infantry Regiment assembled for a camp of instruction at Ukiah, Mendocino County, California, and was in camp at that place for a period of more than seven days, exclusive of time necessary for transportation, between June 19 and June 29, 1902.

That previous to the first named date an advance of enlisted men detailed from each company, under command of Captain M. W. Simpson, Commissary and Acting Quartermaster, and Captain C. E. Haven, Fifth Infantry, proceeded to Ukiah and prepared the camp ground for the reception of the regiment. The grounds were regularly laid out according to the regulations, as shown on blueprint thereof accompanying this report.

I have the honor to call your attention to Regimental Orders No. 7, issued from these Headquarters on June 12, 1902, giving the routine of the camp, and to Circular No. 1, issued on the same date, prescribing the details of drill and daily duty and the conduct of the camp, copies of which are also inclosed, which were practically complied with throughout. Recognizing that this regiment is comprised of nine companies from eight different towns of the State, with only this opportunity for regimental assembly, no company drills were held in the camp excepting for extended order, close order drills being by battalion or regiment, as indicated in the routine; these drills followed the movements prescribed, resulting in a satisfactory execution of them, and showed that the officers and non-commissioned officers had devoted considerable time to the study of these movements. At officers' call each day the commissioned officers assembled at Headquarters for instructions; a blackboard was provided and the movements of the morning were reviewed and mistakes noted, and the movements prescribed for the succeeding day were gone over in detail.

The Commissary Department, under Captain Simpson and Lieutenants Caldwell and Foster, purchased the necessary subsistence supplies, and rations were issued in a manner as nearly conformable to the issuance in the regular service as possible. The field ranges issued were used, one for each company, and one for the regimental officers and band, and operated satisfactorily, the rations being prepared by the company cooks. I have the honor to report that this proved most satisfactory, the company mess having the particular oversight of the company officers; the result as to economy I regard as most gratifying, and respectfully refer to the claims submitted in this department as evidence of the attention given and efforts made to keep the expense within proper limit.

I am pleased to report that during the camp no case of serious illness occurred; the location and arrangement of the camp were particularly favorable in this respect. The officers of the Sanitary Corps were assiduous in their attentions. At the inspection hour each day the officer of the day, accompanied by a surgeon, examined the whole camp and saw that it was perfectly in order, particular attention being given to the several kitchens to see that all provisions were covered and not exposed to flies and other insects, that all refuse was removed, and to this I attribute very largely the healthful condition during the camp. While the sinks were somewhat removed, the necessary sanitary precautions were taken with reference to them.

Under separate cover I am forwarding at this time the complete detailed vouchers, in duplicate, for all expenditures, amounting, for the Quartermaster's Department, including transportation, to $1,441.76, and for the Commissary Department $1,351.96, making in the aggregate $2,793.72. I am in receipt of letter from your office that the sum of $3,600 would be available for this camp of instruction, and I have the honor to request that the excess unexpended balance thereof be held for another encampment of this regiment during the term for which the appropriation was made.

In conclusion, I beg leave to report that this camp, in the view of the regimental commander, was productive of many good results; that the work of the last day or two showed substantial improvement over the early days of the encampment, and demonstrated that this annual tour of duty is of vital importance and benefit to the National Guard, fully warranting the expense incurred by the State in that behalf.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

(Signed:) A. K. WHITTON,
Colonel, Fifth Infantry Regiment, N. G. C.

SANITARY CORPS, FIFTH REGIMENT INFANTRY,
SECOND BRIGADE, N. G. C.,
OAKLAND, CAL., October 9, 1902.

To COL. A. K. WHITTON,
*Commanding Fifth Infantry, N. G. C.,
San José, Cal.:*

SIR: In pursuance of your orders of a recent date, I herewith respectfully submit a report of my department at Camp Foster, Ukiah, Cal., for the period beginning June 22d A. M., and terminating June 29th A. M. The selection of the camp site was a most judicious and fortunate one in many respects.

First—Owing to the great number of trees, both large and small, the quarters of both officers and men, and all the kitchens and dining tables of the men were nicely protected from the sun's hot rays, thereby greatly contributing to the comfort of all.

Second—The location of the sinks of both officers and men could not have been better. As they were situated a considerable distance to one side of the camp and in a ravine, infection from that source was reduced to a minimum. As an extra safeguard I gave orders to my hospital steward to see that all the sinks were sprinkled with lime every morning.

Third—The water supply was everything that could be desired. The whole camp was supplied from a large elevated tank on the upper edge of the camp ground. This tank derived its supply from a large running stream in a shaded ravine about three quarters of a mile distant and a considerable elevation above the camp. The water was conveyed from the tank to different parts of the camp through galvanized-iron pipes, thereby rendering contamination almost impossible after leaving the tank.

The weather, with the exception of two pretty hot days, was very pleasant, there being a greater uniformity of temperature than was to be expected at that season of the year and in that section of the State. There was a healthful dryness of the atmosphere, and a total absence of those cold fogs which have always detracted from the pleasure of the various regimental encampments at Santa Cruz and similar localities. The great difference between Ukiah and Santa Cruz, as locations for military camps, was made all the more manifest at Camp Foster by the existing spirit of cheerfulness and numerous expressions of contentment and comfort on the part of both officers and men.

The arrangement of all the kitchens was excellent, and the careful manner in which they were kept was highly satisfactory to the inspecting officers. There seemed to be a great desire on the part of all the cooks to excel each other in cleanliness, and in the orderly arrangement of their kitchens and tables. Each company cook secured large dry-goods boxes for all meats, both cooked and uncooked. These boxes were placed on end, with one side open, so as to admit of the free circulation of air. Orders were given to the various cooks to curtain the open side of these boxes with coarse mosquito netting, to exclude, as far as possible, all flies from the food, and thus prevent the transmission of many forms of infection through this simple but absolutely certain medium. The Surgeon General's office of the U. S. Army contains ample statistics proving that during the Spanish-American War and the early part of the Philippine campaign many of the diseases of the troops were due to the eating of infected food.

Orders were given to all cooks to collect all garbage at a proper distance from their respective kitchens, and these piles of garbage were daily taken out of camp by a wagon.

The quarters of the officers and men were comfortable and were, with a few exceptions, kept in a very tidy and presentable condition. The daily enforcement of the rule of raking into piles all leaves and bits of paper, fruit, etc., found in the streets, and having the same removed from the camp with all other garbage, was a good sanitary precaution, in addition to being an important factor toward making the camp a model one.

The hospital tents, two in number, 20 by 20 feet, walls about 4 feet, were situated under widespreading oaks, in convenient proximity to the Hospital Corps and medical officers. One was fairly well equipped with dressings, surgical instruments, operating table, and drugs for the treatment of all ailments and affections incident to camp life. The health of the camp, in the strict sense of the word, was good during the period of eight days' encampment. The first two or three days of camp there were a number of cases of pharyngitis, accompanied with a slight elevation of temperature, caused by exposure to draughts on train while en route from San Francisco to Ukiah, and carelessness on the part of many in camp by not keeping body properly protected while in a state of profuse perspiration. All readily responded to treatment.

There was, during a portion of the time, a large number of cases of diarrhœa, accompanied by a slight colic. These latter conditions were undoubtedly caused by intemperance in eating, notably large quantities of fresh meat, more than the stomach would digest readily, and also intemperance in drinking large quantities of ice-cold drinks, principal among which were laxative mineral waters from the Duncan mineral springs. All the above cases responded to treatment after giving due heed to their causes.

There was one case of broken jaw, the result of an encounter with a townsman; and a few cases of fainting from excessive heat while in the field.

In addition to all the conditions and ailments above enumerated there was nothing worth mentioning, and the health of the camp was on the whole splendid.

Yours very obediently,

Major and Surgeon, Fifth Infantry, N. G. C.

REPORT OF COLONEL W. R. JOHNSON ON ENCAMPMENT OF SIXTH INFANTRY, 1902.

HEADQUARTERS SIXTH INFANTRY REGIMENT,
THIRD BRIGADE, N. G. C., STOCKTON, CAL.

To BRIG. GEN. GEORGE STONE,
Adjutant General, State of California, Sacramento, Cal.:

SIR: I have the honor to submit herewith the following report: In compliance with G. O. No. 4, dated Sacramento, Cal., April 19, 1902, the several companies comprising the Sixth Infantry Regiment, N. G. C., encamped for discipline and instruction at Merced, Cal., for a period of ten days, from May 15th to May 24th, inclusive. The duty performed was such as required by the Rules and Regulations governing the National Guard in camp, and consisted of company, battalion, and regimental drills in both extended and close order; guard duty, regimental parades, reviews, and guard mount each day; and on one day, a problem in minor tactics was solved in a very satisfactory manner. General improvement in all the above work was closely observed by myself from day to day during the entire period, and I am pleased to say that the benefit derived was highly satisfactory, not alone to myself, but to the entire command.

Attendance was not as large as expected and is attributed to the beginning of the harvest season throughout the San Joaquin Valley, in which all of the companies comprising the Sixth Infantry Regiment are located, and many of the men who belong to the command are thus employed and found it impossible to attend camp. Another reason I might assign for the lack of attendance is the fact that many men who live in this valley and are employed in the cities desire and expect to pass their vacation near the coast, where they may enjoy a change of climate, and such men usually combine their vacation with their military duties in camp; but in this instance, no change could be derived, so I believe that many of such class did not endeavor to attend camp, but preferred to take their vacation later on at the sea-coast. The average percentage of attendance during the camp was 54.43, which, under the circumstances, I consider very fair.

Discipline maintained throughout the camp was excellent, there being but few infractions of the rules governing the camp, but five enlisted men being placed under arrest during the entire period, and those on the last night in camp and for minor offenses.

Guard duty, as performed, was satisfactory in a marked degree, especially during the latter part of the encampment, when new recruits were better enabled to comprehend their duties, which knowledge was best obtained and imparted to them by object lessons and continued practice in such duty.

Sanitary conditions were excellent. The Sanitary Corps in attendance was under the direction of Captain C. A. Rogers, Assistant Surgeon, to whose very exact and careful observation of conditions made the health of the command during the ten days in camp almost perfect. The general cleanliness of the camp was the very best I have ever observed during my service of nearly twenty-five years, and the camp was flatteringly praised by the Division Surgeon, Colonel W. D. McCarthy.

Quartermaster duties were ably performed by Captain W. G. Dozier, Jr., who handled the transportation of the command in a manner which was indeed creditable and satisfactory, there being absolutely no confusion or delays in the arrival or departure of troops and their freight and baggage, and no loss of property, as far as heard from. I found, however, in this department, that provision for a large excess of personal baggage was necessary, on account of troops carrying into camp an unnecessary amount of personal effects and which entails upon this department extra expense of handling, but I have observed that this condition has always existed in too marked a degree in our National Guard encampments and recognize that the fault is hard to remedy.

The Commissary Department was under the direction of Lieutenant J. R. Graham, who was specially detailed to act in the absence of Captain Willis Pike, regimental commissary officer. The supplies furnished were bought in the open market; they were of excellent quality and were issued daily upon proper requisition from battalion commissary officers. Each battalion maintained a separate mess for the enlisted men, and one under supervision of the acting commissary, for the field staff, company officers, non-commissioned staff and band, making four messes for the entire command, with a result which was most satisfactory and a great saving over former encampments in which each company conducted a separate mess. While the stipulated ration in some articles of food was excessive, as commanding officer I approved of the over-issue, for the reason that I found that the allowance was sufficient to justify the same, that none of the food was being wasted, and that a better feeling and harmony prevailed where the men had plenty to eat. The cooking generally was very good and the kitchens were kept in a most cleanly manner, especially that of the Second Battalion, which was a model of its kind and an object lesson well worthy of praise and emulation. The cooks, for the most part, were civil employes, and gave general satisfaction. The tableware used was largely crockery owned by the companies, but in some cases the "service kit" was used exclusively. It was almost the unanimous sentiment of all concerned that the messes of the encampment were the best and most satisfactory ever conducted by the regiment.

General expense of the encampment was considerably within the allowance provided for the purpose, as set forth in the accompanying vouchers, and I would earnestly request that, if possible, the difference be equally distributed to the several companies of the command in lieu of the personal expenses incurred by them.

Respectfully, your obedient servant,

(Signed:) W. R. JOHNSON,
Colonel Commanding Sixth Infantry, Third Brigade, N. G. C.

REPORT OF CAPTAIN CHARLES JANSEN ON ENCAMPMENT OF TROOP A, CAVALRY, 1902.

ARMORY, TROOP A, CAVALRY, SECOND BRIGADE, N. G. C., 28 Golden Gate Avenue,
SAN FRANCISCO, July 14, 1902.

To BRIG. GEN. GEORGE STONE,

Adjutant General of California, Sacramento:

SIR: I have the honor to report that, in accordance with General Order No. 6, Troop A proceeded on a practice march and camp to Santa Rosa, Sonoma County. Started Saturday at 9 A. M., June 21, 1902, by way of Sausalito; halted one hour at Larkspur for lunch, arriving there at 1 P. M.; rode through San Rafael; made Novato at 6:30 P. M.; bivouacked then for the night. "Boots and saddles" Sunday morning, June 22d, 6 A. M.; passed through Petaluma 10 A. M.; reached Santa Rosa 4 P. M.; established camp at Argyle, and named Camp Warfield. Monday morning, June 23d, at reveille, camp duties commenced. Calls were as follows:

First call—Reveille	5:30 A. M.
Roll call	5:45 A. M.
Stable call	6:30 A. M.
Mess call	7:00 A. M.
Sick call	7:30 A. M.
Fatigue call	8:00 A. M.
Boots and saddles	8:30 A. M.
Recall	11:30 A. M.
Mess	12:00 M.
Water call	5:00 P. M.
Mess call	6:00 P. M.
Retreat	7:00 P. M.
Tattoo	10:00 P. M.
Taps	10:30 P. M.

Wednesday, June 25th, "Boots and saddles" was sounded at 6 A. M. and rode to Healdsburg; met General Warfield at the railroad depot, and escorted him to Camp Mathieson, G. A. R. At 2 P. M. left Camp Mathieson, arriving at our camp at 6:30 P. M.; the march was thirty-four miles.

Thursday afternoon, June 26th, General Dickinson and staff were met by the troop at the railroad depot and escorted to camp.

Friday afternoon, June 27th, General Warfield and staff were also met at the railroad depot by the troop and escorted to camp. Colonel Bangham visited Camp Warfield during June 23d and 24th.

Troop broke camp Saturday morning, June 28th. "Boots and saddles" was sounded at 10 A. M., when the homeward march began, returning by the same route whence the troop came, arriving at the armory Sunday, June 29th, at 4 P. M.

The practice march and camp were highly satisfactory to the commanding officer of the troop, as much field and camp duties had been performed, being very instructive and beneficial. All duties were performed cheerfully. Discipline and behavior of the men were excellent.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

(Signed:) CHARLES JANSEN,
Captain Commanding Troop.

APPENDIX No. 23.

REPORT OF COLONEL THOMAS WILHELM ON FIRST BATTALION OF ARTILLERY.

OCCIDENTAL HOTEL,
SAN FRANCISCO, July 22, 1902.

To the Adjutant General State of California, Sacramento, Cal.:

SIR: Upon the suggestion from your office and in just recognition of the progress of the several batteries of the Battalion of Coast Artillery of the National Guard of California, commanded by Major H. P. Bush, I send you this special report as an addition to the one of my muster and inspection of these troops made on the 19th of May.

I have observed this command in its attention to duty, care of public property, and the unusually large number of men who find their way to the drill halls at the stated times for instruction and inspection, and regard it as exceedingly commendable, energetic, and valuable as a military organization.

I have yet to see troops who excel this body of men in military appearance. They are careful of their clothing, accouterments, and equipments generally. Their discipline or subordination to command and requirements is excellent, and no pains should be spared to further their accomplishments in the exercise of the work pertaining to their corps. I therefore recommend that the War Department at Washington be applied to for authority to the end that this battalion may have instructions for a season at the Presidio of San Francisco at such heavy-gun drill as may be designated by that Department, and at such times as may be best suited and most convenient.

I further recommend that upon the occasions allowed for this instruction an artillery officer of the regular service, with several well-instructed non-commissioned officers, be designated to superintend the exercises.

I make these recommendations on account of the well-directed ambition of the battalion, which is in the hands of excellent and responsible officers and which deserves every facility for improvement, and also on account of the convenience of the Presidio, and the equipment at that place, and the known friendly relations existing between the permanent service and the National Guard.

Very respectfully,

(Signed:) THOS. WILHELM,
Major U. S. Army, Retired,
Colonel and Inspector General of Rifle Practice, N. G. C.

	<hr/>
	$433 56
Plus 10 per cent on the above prices	43 36
	$476 92

The amount allowed by the board for the purchase of cloth, etc., for the Naval Militia uniforms was $481.51, and the amount expended for same was $476.92, leaving a balance of $4.59, and it was decided to expend the balance in the purchase of 6 fatigue caps from J. M. Litchfield & Co., at 7½ cents each.

The contract for making trousers and shirts for the Naval Militia was awarded to C. G. Kammerer at $3.25 per uniform, his being the only bid received.

The following articles have been ordered under this arrangement: 85 blue shirts, 95 blue trousers.

At the date of this report the contracts are all under way, and the articles will be shipped to the various organizations upon completion.

Respectfully submitted.
